Loyal Ladies' Masquerade

One of the events of the season among ye Scotch people is the annual masquerade ball of the Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor. It is sure to draw a large attendance and those who attend are assured of a grand good time. Such was the case Wednesday evening. Just at the time when the merrymakers were ready to start for Music hall it began to rain and for a time the rain fell in torrents. It in no way interfered with the attendance, however, and a person at the hall would never have any idea, that it was stormy without, for within all was jolly.

The hall itself presented a very pretty appearance. Streamers of red, white and blue were suspended across the ceiling and along the walls, while on either side of the platform were two large National flags. Among the drapery were numerous Japanese lanterns which added greatly to the effect. The merrymakers began to arrive early, and at 8 o'clock, the hour for the grand march to start, the hall was well filled. The larger part of those present were en-masque.

Almost every conceivable character was represented. There was the overgrown and awkward school boy, the trim little school girl, the sailor boy, circus clowns, girls in white, girls in blue, girls in red and girls in fancy and grotesque costumes. Among these there mingled gorgeous attired court knights, John Chinaman, maids in college gowns, nurse maids with the red cross on their arms, His Satanic Majesty and scores of others representing the sublime and the ridiculous.

Of course Uncle Sam and Victoria were there and to them fell the honor of leading the grand march which they did in good style. Following in their wake were upwards of seventy-five couples. This march was a feature of the evening. No attempt was made to execute any fancy figures, just plain marching. That however was enough. Then came the general dancing which continued until a late, or rather, an early hour Thanksgiving morning.

At the end of the fourth dance the order came to unmask. Then came the surprises. The people you thought you knew turned out to be someone else, and those you were positively sure of, were not there at all. This, however, only added to the jollity of the affair.

Along about midnight came the intermission, and with it refreshments. This over, dancing was resumed and continued through the 22 numbers on the order closing with a waltz to the music of "Home, Home, Sweet, Sweet Home."

Sprague's orchestra furnished music for the occasion and from 8 until 9 o'clock gave an excellent promenade concert.

The ladies in charge of the masquerade, to whom great credit is due for its success, were as follows:

Floor Directress,—Emma M. Savoy. Assistant Floor Directress,—Elizabeth Black. Aids,—Helen C. Troupe, Mamie Kennedy, Jennie S. Norrie, Maggie Spargo, Jeanie O'Hara, Maggie Robertson. Reception Committee,—Margaret Pierce, President; Mary Daly, Vice-President. Committee of Arrangements,—Margaret Pierce, President, Mary Daly, Vice President, Margaret D. McDonald, Secretary of Committee, Katherine Gordon, Jemina Montgomery, Mary Peters, Emma M. Savoy.

Carnival at Coliseum

Notwithstanding the inclement weather and the many attractions on Thanksgiving eve, there was a good attendance at the fancy dress carnival at the skating rink. Music was furnished by the American band of East Weymouth. Many of the costumes were original and striking, making a very pretty effect.

At 9.30 came the grand prize march, and there were so many costumes of merit that it was hard work for the judges to decide who should be awarded the prizes. Three prizes were given to the ladies and three to the gentlemen, as follows:

Most elegantly dressed, to Miss Nellie Smith, an Indian Princess, a dress suit case. Most comical to Miss Mamie Costello, dream in red. Most original, to Miss Jessie Gardner, a Daily Ledger girl.

Best dressed gentleman to Master Arthur Sadler, a court page. Most comical dressed, to William Isaac, a hobo. Most original to Robert Allen, a farmer.

Receiver Appointed.

Ralph A. Stewart, a lawyer, has been appointed receiver of the Milford Pink Granite Quarries at Milford, Mass.

More Firemen More Holidays

The order increasing the number of permanent men of the Fire Department from 14 to 18 men has been approved by Mayor Thompson, and will go into effect January 1, 1906. These appointments must be made from the civil service list. The names on the eligible list are as follows: George W. Leonard, Arthur W. Priest, Charles E. Anderson, William Carroll.

The number of men on duty will not be largely increased as an amendment to the City Ordinances gives each fireman one day off in nine, or 52 days per year including the annual vacation. Two or three of the eighteen men will be off duty every day.

No-License Meetings.

The No-License campaign will be opened Saturday evening at Music hall at Atlantic. On Sunday there will be five meetings, at St. Mary's church in the morning, a Swedish union rally in the afternoon at the Lutheran church and in the evening union rallies at Quincy Music hall, the Wollaston Congregational church and the Park and Downs chapel. The speakers at each of these meetings are advertised in this paper. You can help the movement by attending these meetings.

Membership Growing.

A large number of applications for membership were received at the meeting of the Citizen's Association, Wednesday evening, so that the association now has a membership of about 50. There was a general discussion on matters pertaining to the welfare of the Association and the city.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Gas was first used in Quincy 45 years ago today (Dec 1, 1860.) Many would like to begin to use it today, but only a few of the streets are piped.

It was on Dec. 1, 1873, that post offices were established at West Quincy and Wollaston, so that one comes to expect post office improvements on Dec. 1. This year it is a new post office location for the central office.

Beware of Peddlers.

The danger of encouraging fruit venders was made evident by an incident which happened in Atlantic Tuesday evening. About seven o'clock, a peddler of apples and potatoes stopped at a house on Walker street to sell his wares, and was met at the door by the head of the family. In spite of the man's refusal to even look at the fruit the vender persisted in pushing his way into the hall, until in exasperation, the man tried to shut the door upon the unwelcomed visitor. Immediately, the offended son of Erin snatched one of his priceless apples and threw it with all his force into the face of the offender. As it happened, his aim was not of the best in the dark and the apple struck the man but a light blow on the forehead, but if the vender's legs had not served him a good turn in getting out of the yard, he would have had a few sore spots on his body the next morning to remind him that it doesn't pay to scorn the golden rule.

In Thanksgiving's Birthplace

Boston, Dec. 1.—Thanksgiving day, the holiday which originated among the pious early colonists of the old Bay State, was observed in the usual manner throughout New England. Always particularly a "home" day, it was the occasion of innumerable family gatherings, and thousands of residents of Greater Boston spent the day at their former homes in the rural sections of New England.

One More Football Victim

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 1.—In a mass play during a game of football between two local teams, Leo McNally, aged 21, had his spine fractured and is not expected to live. He is paralyzed from the shoulders down. During a brief period of consciousness McNally made a statement in which he said that no blame could be attached to anyone for the occurrence.

Proved to Be an Abscess

Boston, Dec. 1.—Governor-elect Guild had a small abscess removed from his back yesterday, and will be confined to the house for 10 days. A few days ago he complained to his physician of a pain which he thought was lumbago. An examination revealed an abscess, and it was removed without much difficulty.

Train Killed Newsboy

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 1.—Walter Wentworth, aged 13, a newsboy employed at a railroad station, lost his cap while he was on a train and walked back along the track to pick it up. He failed to notice the approach of another train and was struck and killed.

Schooner Broke In Two

Ellsworth, Me., Dec. 1.—Schooner Ella Fedora of this port, which grounded on a ledge while being towed into the harbor, has broken in two and will be a total loss. Most of the cargo of bricks will be saved. The crew reached shore without difficulty.

Crews Got Away Safely

Duluth, Dec. 1.—Dashed on the rocks, steamer George Spencer and her consort, the Amberl, are wrecks at Thomasville. The lives of the crews were saved. The vessels were bound for Duluth with coal. Fishermen rushed into the surf almost to their necks and aided the sailors to escape.

Lone Woman's Sad Fate

Boston, Dec. 1.—While Mrs. Annie Fountain, a widow, living at the South End, was getting her lonely Thanksgiving dinner, a lamp stove exploded, burning her fatally. The fire was seen by some neighbors and the woman was dragged out, but not before she had been fearfully burned.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

ACTUAL WARFARE

Powers Not Disposed to Try It Upon Turkey

ENGLAND'S FIRST MOVE

Uncertain Political Conditions Will Cause Delay--Bulgaria Meanwhile Preparing For an Attack In Earnest

London, Dec. 1.—While in official circles in London it is admitted that the powers do not expect the sultan to yield as the result of the occupation of Mytilene, it is stated that plans for the next step have not been definitely arranged, the other powers awaiting the British proposals.

The foreign office says that the British government does not know exactly the extent of the coercion which the other powers are willing to employ, but it is certain that none of the powers is willing to resort to actual warfare in order to enforce the demands for the financial control of Macedonia. This view of the situation makes it quite possible that demonstration by occupation may proceed somewhat indefinitely.

The present political situation in the United Kingdom naturally increases the reticence in official circles here, and as Great Britain is taking a lead, the movements of the demonstrating fleet may be delayed for some time, pending the decision of the cabinet concerning its resignation or the dissolution of parliament.

The government has received information from Sofia through official sources that the Macedonian committee has issued what is practically an ultimatum that unless the demonstration of the powers shall be carried to a successful issue the revolutionaries are prepared to announce that they intend to create a situation which will be certain to result in a war between Turkey and Bulgaria.

It is well known that Bulgaria has been preparing for eventualities since the revolution of 1903. An accord having been reached between Bulgaria and Roumania concerning Macedonia, these two governments are now prepared to try conclusions with Turkey should the necessity for such action arise.

No Excitement at Mytilene

Athens, Dec. 1.—People arriving from Mytilene say they are convinced that the porte will hold out until the powers occupy Smyrna. They report that Mytilene is in a state of absolute tranquility and that the Ottoman flag flies from the government house. The chief of police refused to surrender his sword to the foreign sailors, whereupon they took it from him forcibly.

Lyons Held In $10,000

Concord, Mass., Dec. 1.—At the conclusion of an inquest into the accident at Lincoln on the Boston and Maine railroad, when 17 persons were killed and 20 others injured, Horace W. Lyons, the engineer of one of the trains in collision, was held for the grand jury on the charge of manslaughter. This is stated to have been the result of testimony that he permitted his train to pass signals displayed by the local train, at least at too high a rate of speed. Lyons pleaded not guilty and was held in $10,000.

Delicate Task Indeed

New York, Dec. 1.—The delicate task of dismissing three large holiday matinee audiences to avoid a fire panic was accomplished without accident when a fire in a factory threatened to spread to the heart of the East Side amusement district in Fourteenth street. The audiences at the Dewey theatre, Huber's museum and the Palace Music hall left these houses in perfect order.

Philippines' Greatest Needs

Washington, Dec. 1.—Colonel Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, in his annual report to the secretary of war, states that the three most important needs of the Philippine islands today are a market, the opportunity for farmers to borrow money at reasonable rates of interest, and adequate transportation facilities.

Total Payments of 85 Percent

Keene, N. H., Dec. 1.—George A. Litchfield, assignee of the Keene Five-Cent savings bank, paid a dividend of 5 percent to depositors today. The bank was one of three local institutions which were closed 10 years ago. The dividend brings the total payments to date up to 85 percent.

Overdue Steamer Is Safe

Duluth, Dec. 1.—Steamer Corsica, for which grave fears had been entertained, as she had not been heard from in several days, arrived at Ashland last night, having weathered the storm without serious injury.

On the Gridiron

Georgetown university went down to defeat when the Carlisle Indians won the culminating contest of the season by 76 to 0.

The University of Indiana defeated Ohio State university, 11 to 0. The game ended almost in a riot as a result of which C. E. Harris, head linesman, had to be escorted to a hotel under police protection.

The St. Louis university was beaten by Iowa's speedy football team, 31 to 0. Halfback Robinson of St. Louis was carried from the field suffering from what is believed to be concussion of the brain.

JEWS IN AMERICA

Have Helped the Nation Under Influence of Toleration

New York, Dec. 1.—In celebration of the 250th anniversary of the landing of the Jews in America a meeting was held in Carnegie hall at which addresses were delivered by Grover Cleveland, Governor Haggins, Mayor McClellan and others. President Roosevelt, who was unable to attend, sent a letter which was read to the audience. Vice President Fairbanks telegraphed from Washington his regrets and an appreciation of the Jewish character.

President Roosevelt's letter said the lamentable and terrible suffering to which so many of the Jewish people in other lands have been subjected made him feel it his duty, as the head of the American people, to express his deep sympathy for the sufferers. At the same time, he took advantage of the opportunity to point out what fine qualities of citizenship have been displayed by the Jews who have come to this country and have enjoyed the benefits of free institutions and equal treatment before the law.

Mr. Cleveland took for his theme also the progress of the Jews under the free institutions of America and their help in nation building under the influence of toleration and equality. All of the addresses were in congratulatory vein, and references were made to the recent atrocities in Russia only as one of the trials which have beset the Jewish people, but which have not daunted their spirit nor stopped their march to success where conditions permitted.

England's Thoughtful Queen

London, Dec. 1.—Queen Alexandra has sanctioned a unique plan to raise more funds for the unemployed. This will be in the shape of the issue of a Christmas book, which will be entitled "The Queen's Christmas Card." It will consist of poems, stories, sketches, drawings and music by persons prominent in the world of art and literature of Great Britain. The production of the book will be practically gratuitous. It will sell for half a crown and the proceeds will be devoted to the queen's unemployed fund.

The Defense of McLeod

Boston, Dec. 1.—Counsel for Dr. Percy D. McLeod, now being tried on a charge of being accessory to an illegal operation on Miss Susanna Geary, the suit case victim, stated at the opening of the defense that an attempt would be made to show that it was William E. Hunt who dismembered the body of the girl as well as assisting in disposing of the different parts by dropping them in suit cases in the harbor.

Miquelon Losing Her Population

St. Johns, Dec. 1.—There is alarm among the authorities of St. Pierre, Miq., at the extent to which emigration from the colony has grown, over 1000 persons of a total population of 6500 having left there within the past three months. No one will predict what the future of the colony is destined to be. So long as Newfoundland maintains the bait act St. Pierre's fishing industry cannot thrive.

Burning For Over a Year

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 1.—The Enterprise colliery of Scranton, which was on fire for over a year and which was officially declared extinguished last week, was found to be on fire above the water-level last evening. This presents one of the most difficult underground conflagrations to overcome in the history of the coal region. The expense thus far in the efforts to extinguish the fire amount to $100,000.

Deaths In Extraordinary Accident

Au Sable, Mich., Dec. 1.—Mrs. William Gardner and her 5-year-old son, with another woman and the latter's child, were driving, when a wheel of their carriage became entangled in a wire attached to a flag pole. The pole was pulled over, striking Mrs. Gardner and her child as it fell, fatally crushing the heads of both mother and child. The other two occupants of the carriage escaped injury.

Suicide of Army Officer

Vancouver, Wash., Dec. 1.—Captain Alva G. Berry committed suicide here by shooting through the heart. He was recently tried by a general court martial and found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The order for his dismissal arrived yesterday. Berry was a graduate of West Point, class of '96.

FOURTEEN WERE HURT

Passengers on Trolley Car Get a Bad Shaking Up

Hopedale, Mass., Dec. 1.—A trolley car on the Milford and Uxbridge street railway was derailed near Hopedale Corners last night. Of the 30 passengers 14 were injured, none fatally.

While descending a hill the car, which was on its way from Milford to Hopedale, jumped the track at a short curve. The car crashed into a telegraph pole and broke it in two. The rear end of the car was demolished. Several of the most seriously injured were taken to the hospital at Milford, while others were sent to their homes.

Hunting Season Ends In Maine

Bangor, Me., Dec. 1.—Although the moose season closed last night, the total number transported will not be available for two or three weeks, as moose can be transported after the close of the season, if shot in open time. Thus far 206 moose have been checked by the game wardens here, against 204 up to the same date last year. This indicates that the total number for 1905 will be about the same as in 1904, or 221. The receipts of deer are not more than 350 in excess of last year at this date, the total being 4134 for the season.

Mary Rogers' Defense

Windsor, Vt., Dec. 1.—Thanksgiving night found Mary Rogers, under condemnation to die on the gallows Dec. 8 for the murder of her husband, cheerful, hopeful and fully believing that maternity three months advanced will save her from the scaffold. And the daily press of the state now declare that Governor Bell is powerless to take the life of an unborn babe. The woman's lawyers practically admit that the woman has signed a deposition that she is with child.

Tardy Arrival of Winter

Boston, Dec. 1.—Winter conditions have reached New England, following quickly after a warm rainstorm. The thermometer reached a point 8 degrees above zero last night. The Nantucket Shoals lightship reported by wireless to Newport last night that the great ocean highway on which she serves as a guide post was being swept by the heaviest storm of the season, and that the lightship was tumbling about so frantically that the men could not stay in their berths.

Bullet In Watchman's Head

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 1.—The police have made a determined but unsuccessful effort to obtain some clue to the man who shot and probably fatally wounded Daniel Kneeland, a night watchman at the General Electric works. Kneeland is in a critical condition from a wound in the head. A number of valuable tools are missing, and it is the theory of the police that the man who did the shooting came to the works for the purpose of carrying off the tools.

Girl Arrested For Robbery

Biddeford, Me., Dec. 1.—Celia Tarbox, 15 years old, was arrested here, charged with the theft of $400 worth of jewelry, clothing and money from a family in Perth Amboy, N. J., by whom she had been employed as a domestic. The girl left Biddeford on a schooner bound for Perth Amboy a fortnight ago and found employment in a family there, but disappeared soon afterwards. The local police have recovered the alleged stolen property.

Perhaps She Studied Too Hard

Hartford, Dec. 1.—Miss Mabel A. Williams, aged 18, the Wellesley college student whose body was recovered from the Charles river at Wellesley, Mass., where she had committed suicide, was the daughter of Chairman Williams of the high school committee of East Hartford. No reason except possible mental derangement due to overstudy can be assigned by her relatives for her suicide.

Parr Defeated by Olsen

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 1.—Charles Olsen defeated James Parr here last night for the middleweight championship of the world and a side bet of $1000. He won the first fall in 23:10 and the second bout in 10:45.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Four days to election!

Musi hall rally this Sunday!

Through cars to Boston tomorrow.

The first day of the last month of the year.

A house ready for immediate occupancy is advertised to let.

Family gatherings were numerous throughout the city Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Dawson of South street is visiting at her former home in Pittsburg, Pa.

The post office opened in its new quarters Thursday afternoou, a little ahead of Friday.

G. W. Tuttle has removed from Shaw avenue, Braintree, to 223 Independence avenue, Quincy.

To have the prize-winning boys speak at the Music hall rally is a unique and most interesting feature.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Wood and daughter of Boston spent the holiday with Mr. Wood's parents in Quincy.

Cyril Randall, who is teaching at Sutton, is spending a few days with his parents on Winter street, Quincy Neck.

The Fore River team was defeated at association football at Pawtucket on the holiday by the J. & P. Coats team 2 to 1.

The bill-boards all over the city are covered with striking yellow and black posters announcing the big Music hall rally.

Mrs. John Shaw of President's hill passed away unexpectedly on Wednesday evening, although in poor health some months ago.

The No-License League has been very fortunate in getting Father E. C. Mitchell to speak at Music hall, as he is a most interesting and powerful speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eaves, who have made their home in this city for the past few years, have moved to another town, and will be greatly missed by their many friends.

I am surprised that I never knew of this place before, is the remark often made after a good trade at the boot and shoe store of Karl W. Leaf at Brewers corner. He advertises cut prices.

The second attraction of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course was given Wednesday evening by The Pierce society entertainers who presented a very pleasing and new program. Mr. and Mrs. Pierce are young and very attractive people, talented and highly versatile, and have the very best recommendations possible for their work in humorous selections and light drama.

Holiday Weddings

Thanksgiving night after the good old custom, Mr. Samuel A. Murchison and Miss Catherine McLeod were united in marriage at the home of Mr. Hugh Gillis, 46 Albertina street, by Rev. W. B. Barr.

The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Murchison, a sister of the groom, and the best man was Mr. Simon Stewart, a nephew of the groom.

The bride was beautifully gowned in a white Persian lawn trimmed with lace; she wore a bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid was dressed in white lawn trimmed with all overlace and carried a bouquet of pinks.

After the ceremony a supper was served. There were about forty guests present from Boston, Cambridge, Milford, North Abington, Wollaston and the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Murchison received many beautiful ornamental and useful presents.

The supper was served on the second floor in their own apartments which are already furnished for housekeeping. These are two of our very popular young people and their numerous friends extend congratulations.

Stewart—Miller.

Thanksgiving eve, amid showers of rice, Miss Clara A. Miller and Mr. Walter H. Stewart left the home of Mrs. John Farren, Winter street, to be united in marriage at the parochial residence of St. John's church, by the pastor, Rev. John J. Coan. A daughter of Richard Hennessy, Miss Margaret, was bridesmaid and Frederick Stewart of Charlestown, a cousin of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. Stewart and Miss Hennessy were prettily gowned in white and wore bride roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the marriage party proceeded to their temporary home on Marsh street, where a most delightful supper was served, followed by a pleasant evening among a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left on the 11.13 train for Boston and they have the hearty congratulations of a host of friends.

Slavin—Matheson.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Bonum, 32 Broadway, Quincy Point, Wednesday evening at 7.30, when Mr. Frank Slavin was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Margaret Matheson by Rev. W. B. Barr. The bridesmaid was Miss Bertha Ross of Lewiston, Maine, and best man, Mr. Daniel McLeod.

The bride looked very beautiful gowned in white albatross trimmed with white satin and lace. She carried bride roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in white cashmere, also carried roses.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received congratulations and best wishes of those present. A wedding supper was served.

There were about thirty guests present from Quincy, Wollaston, Hingham and Mattapan.

Mr. and Mrs. Slavin received a great many handsome presents. They will go to housekeeping at Quincy Point, where Mr. Slavin works.

D. E. Little won in class A and A. H. Latban in class B at the holiday tournament of the Wollaston golf club. The first round was also played for the Schurmeir cup.

Remember that the Music hall rally begins at 7.30 P. M.

NOTICE.

The business of Funeral Undertaker, for many years carried on in Quincy by the late John Hall, my father, will in the future be conducted by me.

While I know that I cannot fill the place in public esteem that a long life of faithful service gave to him, I wish to say that I shall use my best endeavors to meet the requirements of all occasions that may arise, and I ask his friends and mine to believe that I shall not fail in an earnest effort to make good his loss.

I will add that the business is now thoroughly equipped in regard to men well trained to the duties of the work, and in other respects I am fully qualified to give prompt and efficient attention. JOHN HALL.

Roast Pig Supper

A roast pig supper was the feature of the night before the holiday at the Granite City club. The little squeeler was furnished by President Jones and was done to the Queen's taste. During the first part of the evening the weekly whist tournament was held. Before this was through the well browned piggie arrived and its arrival nearly broke up the game. Dr. Jones laid the little fellow on the improvised operating table and went to work to cut him up. By the time the operation was completed, the whist tournament was over and all hands got busy with the pig and other good things for the inner man that had been prepared by Stewart Rideout. The prizes for the best scores at whist were awarded to W. W. Mitchell and George W. Prescott.

New Diseases.

Editors Daily Ledger:

In looking through the Board of Health "Regulations" I find these original spellings: "diptheria," "membraneous," "epedemic," "seperated." Is this the fault of the printer or doesn't the present Board know any better? W.

The publishers of the Ledger did not print the regulations, but since the misspellings are frequently repeated throughout the book, it seems to be up to the Board of Health. Eds.

Dance at Wollaston.

One of the prettiest dancing parties ever given in Wollaston, was held on Thanksgivng eve, in Wollaston hall. It was a subscription dance given by Mrs. Joseph W. Bartlett, Mrs. Charles R. The hall was prettily decorated with evergreen and Japanese cherry blossoms. Mrs. Frederic C. Allen of Allston and Mrs. Ralph Flanders of Brookline matronized the party. Excellent music was furnished by Weston's orchestra.

BISHOP'S IRE AROUSED

Catholic Attendants at Protestant Wedding Excommunicated

Omaha, Dec. 1.—Bishop Scannell of the Nebraska diocese of the Catholic church has declared excommunicated ipso facto all members of the Catholic church who participated in the wedding of Congressman Kennedy and Miss Pritchett last Monday. There were a number of prominent Catholics present, including Mrs. Edward Cudahy, wife of the packing house magnate. Miss Mae Hamilton, whose individual fortune is rated at over a million, was one of the bridesmaids.

Congressman Kennedy has a divorced wife living, and for that reason the bishop issued last Sunday a pastoral forbidding all Catholics to participate in the ceremony. The bishop yesterday declared excommunicated all members of his church who attended the wedding. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Jenks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Kennedy is a prominent member. The bride of Kennedy, who is a daughter of prominent members of Omaha society, is a member of the Episcopal church. None of the members of either Kennedy's family or his bride's family is a Catholic. Kennedy's divorced wife is a Christian Scientist.

Bishop Scannell declares that the Catholics who participated in the wedding ceremony and also those who attended the reception following are equally culpable, and says that they excommunicated themselves by their action in the face of the warning issued by himself last Sunday.

Considering Meriwether Verdict

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 1.—Except for the announcement of the verdict, after it shall have been passed upon by the secretary of the navy, the Meriwether court martial, insofar as the public is concerned, is at an end. Yesterday was almost wholly given over to arguments of counsel before the court which is trying Midshipman Meriwether on charges, the most serious of which is manslaughter, in connection with the death of Midshipman Branch, after a fist fight in which he and Meriwether engaged. Late in the afternoon the court room was cleared and consideration of the verdict begun.

A London Celebration

London, Dec. 1.—Thanksgiving day was celebrated in London in the time-honored manner by a reunion of leading Americans at a banquet in the grand hall of the Hotel Cecil. The great hall was unadorned except for an American eagle backed up by monster American and British flags above the seat of the chairman. The scene was particularly brilliant because of the presence of many women. The band played American airs and concluded its program with "God Save the King" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Song of the Hair

There are four verses. Verse 1. Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. Verse 2. Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair. Verse 3. Ayer's Hair Vigor cures dandruff. Verse 4. Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. The chorus is sung by millions. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Thanksgiving At Institutions

Thanksgiving is a day of family gatherings, and was not forgotten at the public institutions of the city. Feasts were served and there were home-like gatherings.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Religious services were held on the holiday in five or more of the Quincy churches, including Christ church, Bethany Congregational, the United Presbyterian, St. Marys and the Wollaston Congregational, the last mentioned being a union service of the Wollaston churches.

CITY HOSPITAL.

While it was not possible to serve turkey to all the patients at the City Hospital, everything possible was done to make the holiday a pleasant one for those who by illness were not able to enjoy the day at their own homes. Many of the patients received visitors during the day.

QUINCY HOME.

Turkey with everything that goes to make an ideal dinner was served to the inmates at the Quincy Home. Only the necessary work was done and the day was made one of good cheer to all.

SAILORS HOME.

Thanksgiving at the National Sailors Home was passed in the usual manner. At noon time an old fashioned dinner consisting of turkey all the fixings was served.

AT Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. building was a popular place with the young men on the holiday. The association kept open house, and several members entertained guests.

SNUG HARBOR.

The sailors at Sailors' Snug Harbor were treated to an old fashioned dinner Thanksgiving noon, which included turkey, vegetables, pudding and pie. After dinner the old salts gathered in the smoking room and told stories of the times when they sailed on the briny ocean.

AT DEDHAM JAIL.

Samuel H. Capen, sheriff at the Norfolk County jail and house of correction, treated the inmates of that institution to a Thanksgiving dinner, with about thirty turkeys, a variety of vegetables, mince pies and other pastry. The dinner was enjoyed by ninety-six men and six women. After the dinner, yard liberty was given.

Cold Thanksgiving.

The Thanksgiving temperature was on a toboggan and went down rapidly. At 6 A. M. it was 39; at 9 but 35; at 12 down to 31, the first and only November day with freezing temperature at noon; at 3 P. M. it had dropped to 26, and at 6 to 19. Before midnight it was at 15, and it was but little colder at sunrise.

It was the coldest November 30 for ten years but not the coldest November day. Quincy had colder November days in 1904, 1903, 1901, 1898 and 1897.

Hare and Hound Race

The hare and hound run for boys by the Y. M. C. A. on the holiday was participated in by 18 boys. The hares, Walker and Baker started at 10.14 the hounds nine minutes later. Walker returned at 10.51 followed 4 minutes later by Baker. Of the hounds Bates, Talbot and Miller returned at 10.55 but had missed the trail. Therefore the first hounds to finish were Leathers, Harkins and Murray. The first hare gained two minutes over the hounds. The second hare lost two minutes.

Football at West Quincy

The South Quincys football team was taken into camp Thursday morning on the Ward Four playground to the tune of 5 to 0.

The field was not in the best condition owning to the storm the night before. Then the high wind had a good sweep across the field. But for this the Copelands believe they would have won by a much larger score. There was a large crowd of spectators at the game.

Holiday Football

A closely contested football match took place on the morning of the holiday on the lower field at Merrymount park, when the Makaria Fraternity defeated a Quincy Point team 5 to 0. The touchdown was scored on a long run by Davenport.

The oak-leaves are, like washing, hung
Beneath a winter sky;
Starched by the frost and pined with twigs,

ASKED TO RESIGN

Boston Officials Failed to Comply With the Request

REMOVED FROM OFFICE

Acting Mayor Charged Schoolhouse Commissioners With Gross Extravagance--Probable Result of Democratic Row

Boston, Dec. 2.—After demanding their resignations and not receiving them, Acting Mayor Whelton last night removed from office R. C. Sturgis, Charles Logue and J. J. Corbett, the Boston schoolhouse commissioners. In his letter to the members of the schoolhouse commission Whelton said:

"For gross and unwarranted extravagance in the expenditures of the public moneys, the best interests of the city and the good of public service requires an entire change in the personnel of the schoolhouse commission, and you are hereby removed from the office of schoolhouse commissioner."

Yesterday the members of the schoolhouse commission were in conference with the acting mayor. The contracts for the new high school building in the Charlestown district were taken up, and Whelton charged the commissioners with gross extravagance and demanded that they submit their resignations. A certain length of time was given the commissioners in which to comply with Whelton's demand, and when this period expired without any resignations being received Whelton removed them from office and appointed in their places R. P. Hood, H. V. Macksey and P. F. Tague.

Later in the evening R. C. Sturgis, chairman of the deposed commission, issued a statement in behalf of the commission in which he rehearsed in detail the matter of the contracts for the Charlestown high school and declared that the reason ascribed for their removal by the acting mayor was "merely a subterfuge." Sturgis is a Republican in politics and an architect by profession. The other members are Democrats, and in the recent municipal campaign were active workers in behalf of the candidacy of John F. Fitzgerald, who was the party nominee for mayor.

Acting Mayor Whelton was associated with Martin M. Lomasney, a Democratic leader who was espousing the candidacy of Edward J. Donovan. Previous to yesterday's conference with the schoolhouse commission Whelton was in conference with Lomasney and Messrs. Donovan and Kiley, associated in the Donovan campaign for the mayoralty nomination.

Heney, resigned; to be register of the land office at Roseburg, B. L. Eddy, vice J. T. Bridges, removed; to be receiver of public moneys at Roseburg, J. M. Lawrence, vice J. H. Booth, removed. Heney has had charge of the investigations and prosecutions which have led up to the numerous land fraud cases in the courts of Oregon.

Eminent Doctor Drops Dead

New York, Dec. 2.—Dr. Ambrose L. Ranney of Bloomfield, N. J., dropped dead of heart disease while consulting his attorney. He was an authority on nervous diseases, having held chairs of anatomy and nervous diseases in several colleges, and being the author of several books on these subjects. Dr. Ranney was born in Hardwick, Mass., 57 years ago.

Seaman Lost Overboard

Boston, Dec. 2.—After a thrilling experience in the recent gale, during which she was nearly engulfed by the angry seas, schooner Ambition arrived here from Charlottetown, P. E. I., with a cargo of potatoes. On Wednesday last a terrific gale prevailed. During the height of the storm William Connolly was washed overboard and drowned.

Meriwether Verdict Reached

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 2.—The court martial in the case of Midshipman Meriwether, who was tried on the charge of manslaughter for causing the death of Midshipman Branch in a fist fight, has completed its work and adjourned. No information was given out as to the findings of the court. The verdict will be announced by the navy department.

Martial Law Abolished

St. Petersburg, Dec. 2.—The czar presided at a meeting of the council of ministers. After the close of the session an official communication explained that martial law in Poland having produced the desired effect on the extremists it had been revoked at the request of the governor general of Poland.

Reduced Wages In Oil Fields

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2.—The strike of oil field workmen against a reduction in wages of 50 cents a day has gone into effect in several fields. About 350 men are out. Drillers were not cut, but went out on the score that they needed experienced help.

A Lake Superior Disaster

Ashland, Wis., Dec. 2.—Steamer Ira H. Owen is probably among the lost vessels on Lake Superior with its crew of 19 men. Steamer Sir William Siemens arrived at Ashland and reported seeing wreckage from the Owen.

SEDITIOUS GUARDS

Czar's Life Not Safe Among His Former Pet Soldiers

St. Petersburg, Dec. 2.—The guards arrested at Tsarskoe-Selo Thursday night and Friday morning numbered 250, including 20 officers. All kinds of rumors are current, including the assertion that one of the grand dukes is involved in a conspiracy against the czar, but none of them can be verified. It only seems certain that no reliance can be placed even on the guard regiments. Arrested soldiers are seen every day, escorted by their comrades with drawn swords.

St. Petersburg is swarming with Cossacks, the only troops against whom there is no suspicion of disaffection. It is understood that the whole Cossack forces of the empire, some 450,000, will be mobilized.

A conference was held at Count Witte's residence last night to consider the demands of the telegraphers.

Dollar Clipped Off Fares

Boston, Dec. 2.—The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company has put into effect a new passenger rate between Boston and New York by way of the Fall River line. Heretofore the winter rate has been $3 between the two cities, but the rate now put into effect places the fare at $2. It is understood that this action is due to the fact that a rival line transports passengers from Boston to New York for $2.20.

A London Demonstration

London, Dec. 2.—An attempt on the part of the socialistic element of the unemployed workmen to hold a demonstration in front of the Guildhall was met with police opposition, resulting in disturbances and the arrest of five of the agitators. The crowd became unruly and was dispersed by 300 policemen who were accompanied by detectives disguised as unemployed workmen. Those resisting were arrested.

Charged With Wife Murder

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 2.—Dr. J. B. Mathews was arrested here on a warrant charging him with the murder of his wife, who died last night after suffering excruciating agony for more than 12 hours. Her death, according to Coroner Turner, resulted from a dose of strychnine, followed by a potion of morphine which Turner alleges was administered to the woman by her husband.

Easy Victory For Moderates

Havana, Dec. 2.—The political agitation which began six months ago ended in an election that was so quiet and uninteresting as to cause scarcely a ripple of excitement. The withdrawal of the Liberals from all nominations left a clear field for the Moderates, and every Moderate nominee was elected, from President Palma to the provincial councillors.

Worried Over Finances

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 2.—Under the alias "W. F. Jacobs," Boston, ex-Mayor Parkman B. Flanders of Haverhill, Mass., has spent the past four months in Manitoba, while friends exhausted every means to locate him. Last night he admitted that Flanders was his proper name and that he had left Haverhill to escape financial worries.

Poor Consolation For Depositors

Pittsburg, Dec. 2.—The Post says that the Pennsylvania Development, which controls enterprises in New Mexico, owes the closed Enterprise National bank between $400,000 and $500,000. Perhaps $825,000 will be saved from the wreck of the closed bank, which means little for the 3500 depositors who had $2,700,000 on deposit.

Colonization Scheme Fails

Panama, Dec. 2.—The Russian colony in Chiriqui has proved a failure. Fifty Russian families left Panama Aug. 30 for Chiriqui and arrangements were made by which the same number of Russian families would be settled every month in different parts of the republic. The government was to give each family $300 and 30 acres of land.

Secrecy In Fever Cases

Havana, Dec. 2.—The health authorities, at the request of certain local business elements, have ceased publishing the names of yellow fever patients or of the buildings from which they are taken. This departure from the precedent established by the intervention government is the subject of much criticism.

New York, Dec. 2.—J. Ferdinand Poggenburg of this city won the Eagle trophy, emblematic of the amateur billiard championship of America, by defeating E. W. Gardner of Passaic, N. J., by the score of 300 to 153, in the fifth match of the tourney. The game lasted 27 innings with the odds throughout in favor of Poggenburg.

Missing Student Located

New York, Dec. 2.—Percy Kuttroff, the Princeton student who disappeared several weeks ago and for whom a reward of $5000 was offered, has been located in England. A Broadway law firm announces that they have received a cablegram from England stating that the young man is there with relatives.

A NEW PROFESSION.

IT IS THAT OF ASSISTING THE RICH TO GIVE AWAY MONEY.

Who the Wealthiest People In the World Are and How Some of Them Manage the Business of Donating Fortunes to Charity.

The great majority of people do not need to employ secretaries and bookkeepers and lawyers and experts of various kinds to attend to the dispensing of their charity, but when a man's gifts mount every year into the hundreds of thousands, millions or perchance tens of millions the case is different. Giving then becomes a business in itself, requiring the attention of competent persons in order that the sums of money dispensed may be bestowed upon worthy persons or causes and in a manner such as to produce the best results.

The richest men are not necessarily the most charitable, nor does it follow that those who give the most in this world will stand highest in the kingdom of heaven. But, as a matter of fact, the men at the head of the list of millionaires in America are noted as givers, and, whether their money is in any way tainted or not, they do not have to hunt for those willing to become the recipients of their charity. There are said to be about 10,000 millionaires in the whole world, and of these Uncle Sam claims about half. John D. Rockefeller of course is at the top of the entire list, with a fortune variously estimated at from $500,000,000 to a cool $1,000,000,000. Next come the South African diamond king, Alfred Beit, with about $500,000,000, and J. B. Robinson, the South African gold mine owner, with some $400,000,000. The czar of Russia is ranked next, with about $300,000,000. Andrew Carnegie is placed as low as fifth in the list, with some $250,000,000, but he is giving money away so fast that he will soon be toward the end of the line. Among others who stand well up on the column are William Waldorf Astor, William K. Vanderbilt, William Rockefeller, Marshall Field, Russell Sage, John Jacob Astor, D. O. Mills, J. Pierpont Morgan, J. J. Hill, George Gould, H. H. Rogers, H. M. Flagler, Mrs. Hetty Green, Henry Phipps, James Henry Smith, H. C. Frick, W. A. Clark, Clarence Mackay, J. Ogden Armour, Miss Helen Gould, Thomas F. Ryan, John Wanamaker and Jacob H. Schiff.

Most of these rich men and women show preferences in the bestowal of their bounty. Rockefeller's favorites are colleges, and Carnegie bestows his gifts largely in the form of libraries and organs and endowments for museums or educational institutions, especially those imparting technical instruction. Marshall Field has established a great museum and given money for numerous good causes, and Miss Helen Gould supports a large number of charities and interests herself personally in the work of many institutions and societies which especially appeal to her sympathy. She has a secretary, who has aided her in giving away in relatively small sums an amount estimated at about $4,000,000, almost one-third of her fortune. J. Pierpont Morgan is devoted to art and spends money with the generosity of a prince in the furtherance of his tastes in this direction. He is the greatest patron of art in America, but he is also a large giver to charity and good works of various kinds. Not so much is known about what he does in this field, as he enjoins secrecy about his benevolences and is not in the habit of opening his heart to the public on religious subjects.

Andrew Carnegie maintains a special bureau, organized under the laws of New Jersey and located in Hoboken, for the purpose of looking into the applications made to him and handling the business connected with giving away large sums of money. His chief almoner is his secretary, James Bertram. Upward of $100,000,000, it is said, has been disbursed through this bureau, over which the great ironmaster himself keeps a close supervision. John D. Rockefeller employs a large force in the work of distributing his gifts and preventing unwise use of them. Starr J. Murphy, a lawyer who had a brilliant reputation in his profession before he entered Mr. Rockefeller's service, is at the head of this force and gives his whole attention to the work.

A house ready for immediate occupancy is advertised to let.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

CHARITIES

THE

Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

TENSION GROWING

Turkey Not Disposed to Yield to Powers' Demands

MUCH PRESSURE NEEDED

Sultan's Army Prepared to Do Battle With Bulgaria, Roumania and Greece--Delay Makes the Situation Serious

Constantinople, Dec. 1.—In an interview with a press representative a prominent diplomat said:

"The people of the United States, even the people of Europe, do not realize the seriousness of the present situation. The tension between the sultan and the powers is growing daily and the general feeling of uneasiness is increasing, though there is probably no reason for anxiety so far as the safety of foreigners is concerned, especially in the capital.

"The powers could not have chosen a worse time than the present for their ultimatum. They might as well send an ultimatum to the pope during holy week as to expect the sultan to do anything in the last week of the festival of Ramazan or during the festival of Bairam.

"The sultan and his ministers are this week engaged daily from 3 o'clock in the afternoon in listening to fanatical discourses by the mullahs, or priests, who dwell on the past greatness of the caliphs in a manner which undoubtedly impresses their audience with the impossibility, certainly with the undesirability, of yielding to the powers.

"These performances will soon be over, however, when matters will probably assume a more sane and normal phase, but there is no doubt in my mind that the sultan will need, on this occasion, much squeezing. He may be content enough to see certain islands in the possession of the powers rather than see his hold on the last of his European possessions weakened.

"This feeling, naturally, is shared to a certain extent by the higher army authorities, who would be very much disinclined to see the Turkish territory ceded, or anything equivalent to such cession, without striking a blow.

"Should it be reduced to a question between Turkey and Bulgaria, Roumania or Greece, or between Turkey and all three, Turkey would most assuredly be found spoiling for a fight. She has between 300,000 and 400,000 men in European Turkey today, and she could easily and quickly concentrate 600,000 there. Although Bulgaria has a well drilled and well equipped army, Turkey's great numerical superiority would count for much.

"Turkey clearly is eager to fight on this matter with the bordering country, and every day that passes without witnessing a settlement of the present difficulty makes it increasingly harder for either the sultan or the powers to give in."

American interests in Macedonia are somewhat inconsiderable. With the exception of a few scattered missionary establishments, they hardly extend beyond Salonica and Dede-Agach.

At the great reception Nov. 28, on the occasion of the festival of Bairam, the foreign diplomats were not permitted to occupy the usual seats, but were assigned to others from which they could see nothing. As a consequence most of the diplomats, including Mr. Leishman, the American minister, left the hall of audience.

According to reliable reports, there have been 900 political murders in Macedonia thus far this year.

Veiled Hint of Massacre

Sofia, Dec. 2.—The Bulgarian foreign minister has made a verbal reply to the note presented by Austria and Russia, supported by other powers, warning the governments of the Balkan states to observe neutrality during the naval demonstration against Turkey.

The minister said that the existing conditions in European Turkey would continue so long as the Ottoman government connived with the Greeks in the persistent persecution of the Bulgarian population. If the persecutions provoked an outbreak or led to a massacre, the minister said, the Bulgarian government would repudiate all responsibility for the consequences, because it would be impossible to resist the pressure resulting from popular excitement due to sympathy for the Bulgarians in Turkey.

The minister did not conceal his distrust that the financial control of Macedonia by the powers would result in the prevention of outrages against the Bulgarians.

Albanians on the Warpath

Salonica, Dec. 2.—It is reported that Albanians yesterday attacked the troops at Liuma and captured several cannon, and that Theusi Pasha has gone to Liuma with troops. It is stated that the Albanians are furious at the prospect of the European powers taking over the financial control of Macedonia.

Quartet of Alleged Grafters

New York, Dec. 2.—Four walking delegates were arrested last night in a saloon, charged with having extorted $250 from Morris Jacobson and upon its receipt promising to call off a strike declared last Saturday on three flat buildings being erected by a son of the complainant. The prisoners are John Kingston, a boss mason; L A. Burke and J. J. Galvin, delegates of the Bricklayers' union, and James Doyle, a delegate of the Hodcarriers' union.

NEW BARGE SINKS

Four of Those Aboard of Her Perish Off Minot's Light

Boston, Dec. 2.—But a few months out of the shipbuilders, called by judges a staunch, serviceable craft, the steel coal barge Delawanna, the pride of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway fleet, lies beneath the heaving seas off Minot's light.

Overwhelmed, presumably, by a great wave, the Delawanna carried down with her Captain Munsey, his wife, the engineer and the cook. A lone survivor was rescued by tug Scranton, which had had the barge in tow for this port until the hawser parted. The Scranton searched for the others, but saw no sign either of them or of the sunken barge. Then she came to port and reported the disaster.

It was one of the strangest wrecks that ever occurred along the Massachusetts coast. The barge apparently had not been leaking up to the time that she so suddenly disappeared. A possible solution is that the booby hatch was washed off by the pounding of a particularly heavy sea, that the hold filled with water instantly and that, laden with coal as she was, she went down like a stone.

Proposed Football Legislation

Boston, Dec. 2.—As a result of the agitation against the game of football as at present played by schools and colleges, Alderman O'Toole will introduce an order prohibiting the game within the city limits until such time as the rules have been so amended as to make fatalities and serious accidents an impossibility. Should this order be passed by the city government it would prevent intercollegiate games of football in the Harvard stadium.

Two Victims of Gas

New Haven, Dec. 2.—John Maloney and a woman whose name has not been learned were found in a small clubhouse at West Haven overcome by gas. The man died in a short time and the woman is in a critical condition. It is supposed that they fell asleep, leaving the supply pipe of a gas stove partly open. There were indications that both had been drinking, according to the police. No suspicion of foul play is entertained.

Said to Have "Worked" Alumni

Gloucester, Mass., Dec. 2.—At the request of the police authorities of Rochester, N. Y., Alexander P. Prescott, aged 26, was arrested here upon the charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that by pretending to be a graduate of Queens college, Ontario, Prescott has obtained money from alumni of that institution for the ostensible purpose of visiting his father who, he claimed, was ill in California.

Whole Village Was Threatened

Brownfield, Me., Dec. 2.—Fire which at one time threatened to destroy a large section of the village late last night was controlled this morning by an engine and hose company sent from Portland, 43 miles distant, by special train. Five buildings were burned, entailing a loss of $8300. The fire started in the Pequawket house from a defective chimney.

Hurley on the Mend

Boston, Dec. 2.—Captain Daniel J. Hurley of the Harvard football team, who has been under treatment at the city hospital for a head injury received during the game between Harvard and Dartmouth, left that institution yesterday afternoon for Ossipee, N. H., in order to recuperate. Hurley was accompanied by Ronald McNeil of the city hospital.

Boston Evils Condemned

Boston, Dec. 2.—A statement, signed by leading clergymen of all denominations in this city, in condemnation of evils which were recently brought to the attention of the public, largely by the revelations growing out of the so-called suit case tragedy, has been issued. The statement was prepared at the suggestion of three of the Episcopal clergy.

Ice on the Kennebec

Gardiner, Me., Dec. 2.—The Kennebec river is frozen over five miles south of Gardiner. The Eastern Steamship company's small steamer Della Collins was unable to break through the ice, and a tug has been ordered to tow her to her winter quarters in salt water. Steamer Ransom B. Fuller made her last trip to Boston from here Tuesday.

Massachusetts Is Growing

Boston, Dec. 2.—The corrected returns of the state census show that the population of Massachusetts has reached the three million point. The exact figures are 3,003,635, with voters to the number of 674,171. Boston makes a gain of 1782 by the revision of the figures first given out, the total population now being 595,380.

Apartment House Burned

Danbury, Conn., Dec. 2.—A fashionable apartment house occupied by nine families was gutted by fire last night. The occupants were nearly all at supper when the fire broke out and so quickly did it spread that nothing was saved. The fire was caused by sparks from a plumber's apparatus, it is thought.

Nobody Investigated Explosion

Otter River, Mass., Dec. 2.—Burglars dynamited the safe in the postoffice and general store of Postmaster Noonan, wrecking the safe and getting off with $75 worth of stamps and valuable papers belonging to Noonan. The people of the town heard an explosion but paid no attention to it.

Lasters Want Increased Pay

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 2.—A strike of 40 lasters has been declared at the shoe factory of G. A. Creighton & Sons. The lasters demand an increase in wages of approximately ½ cent a pair on all grades of shoes.

END OF BALFOUR

He and His Liberal Cabinet Prepared to Resign

HAS HAD THORNY PATH

Heralding of Liberal Government Looked For, With Campbell-Bannerman as Premier--Latter's Acceptance Is Certain

London, Dec. 1.—The tottering power of Balfour is about to fall. On good authority it is stated that at last he and his cabinet have decided to resign from the ministry in a body and that they will arrange their resignations at the meeting of the cabinet today.

This decision is made after one of the most remarkable series of defeats ever given the leader of the controlling power of the British parliament. Prime Minister Balfour has been opposed by members of his own Unionist party. They have refused utterly to follow his leadership and that of his cabinet. They have defeated his measures by allying themselves with the Liberals, who were in power prior to the advent of Balfour two years ago.

Twice already has he been formally directed by vote of the house of commons to resign, but from his continued refusal to accede to their demands it was thought he would sit through the present session of parliament and present his resignation when he adjourned the session.

But with his dispirited followers lagging, with his measures defeated, despite the fact that his Unionist party retains the majority of 87, he finds himself faced by a crisis.

At the head of one of the largest majorities, numerically, which any government has had in the house of commons since the reform in 1834, his measures were defeated, greatly through the efforts of the Irish leader, John Redmond.

Mr. Redmond, by his intimate knowledge of parliamentary rules, has succeeded in knocking down the proposal of Balfour for the redistribution of parliamentary seats and the consequent reduction of the Irish representation. And it was through Redmond's efforts that the Irish land commission bill was defeated.

With the Irish party opposed to him on account of his Irish position, and with the Liberals inimical because of his high tariff policy and refusal to consider the preferential tariff scheme for colonies, Balfour finds himself unable to control the government which was his.

Notwithstanding the repeated assertions from the Liberal side that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman would not take office at the present juncture, it is now generally believed that the result of the cabinet counsel to be held today will be the heralding of a Liberal government with Sir Henry as premier.

A few days will be required for the formalities of laying the matter before King Edward, who will arrive at Buckingham palace next Monday to hold a privy council on the following morning. Probably the resignation of the government will be announced on Wednesday, and then King Edward will invite Campbell-Bannerman to form a ministry. Sir Henry's acceptance of the task is regarded as a foregone conclusion, in which case the general election will occur in January.

The Liberal Daily News, in an editorial on the situation, puts the case bluntly in favor of Campbell-Bannerman taking office. It says: "Suppose that in the event of Campbell-Bannerman's refusal Premier Balfour should advise King Edward to send for Joseph Chamberlain. This is doubtless a somewhat wild suggestion, but it cannot be doubted that Chamberlain would seize the opportunity to form a protectionist cabinet."

Vaudeville House In Ruins

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Shea's theatre, one of the leading vaudeville houses in Canada, was destroyed by fire at midnight. The flames were discovered about an hour after a large audience had left the building. They started in the top gallery and quickly spread to the roof, which collapsed, enveloping the whole interior of the building in flames, practically dooming the building before the firemen had fairly begun their work. The loss is about $70,000.

Desertions Less Numerous

Washington, Dec. 1.—A marked decrease has occurred in the number of desertions in the North Atlantic fleet. Less than 100 men from the entire fleet overstayed their shore leave in New York during the visit of Prince Louis' squadron and many of these have since returned.

Roosevelt's Thanksgiving

Washington, Dec. 1.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by two of their children, Archie and Ethel, spent Thanksgiving quietly at Plain Dealing, their country home in Virginia. They will return to Washington tonight.

Steamer and Crew Lost

Constantinople, Dec. 1.—Steamer Boleldicu, belonging to this port, has been wrecked in the Bosphorus and all the members of her crew, numbering 22, are believed to have been drowned.

Relief Fund Near $100,000 Mark

New York, Dec. 1.—Thanksgiving day contributions of $27,582 were made to the Russian relief fund. The total amount raised is now $970,130.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Quincy's population is increased by the revised figures given out today by Chief Pidgin of the Census bureau. The city's total is now 28,076. Twenty cities are larger and twelve smaller. The census usually places the number of legal voters higher than the actual number on the list, and finds 6,009 in Quincy while are there on the list, but 5,302. Brockton with a population of 47,994 has twice as many voters as Quincy, namely 12,080. Brockton has an unusually large per cent. of men, over one-fourth the population being voters, while in Fall River about one-sixth are voters, and in Qnincy over one-fifth.

The correspondence in today's news columns relates to a matter of vital importance to the city. We fully agree with Mr. Schenkelberger's contention and the proposition also has the support of every physician in Quincy. We are told that the total cost of the proposed addition would be under $5000. This sum can be borrowed within the debt limit, and no doubt satisfactory arrangements can be made with the trustees of the hospital. By appropriating the full $5000, referred to by Mayor Thompson, instead of $4000, for maintenance, all cases of contagious diseases could be properly taken care of.

Duncan—Carty.

The people of West Quincy were agreeably surprised to learn of the marriage of Mr. Lawrence D. Duncan, Jr., one of its most popular young men, and Miss Georgiana B. Carty of Roslindale. They were attended by Mr. Richard W. Carty and Miss Susie May Carty, brother and sister of the bride.

The wedding was to be a very quiet affair, but the Copeland club, of which Mr. Duncan is a member, heard of the plans and 35 of the members surprised the bride and groom by gaining admittance to the room where the ceremony was to take place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. J. Sproule of Quincy.

After the ceremony a collation was served and a most enjoyable evening was spent. At an early hour the guests dispersed after showering congratulations upon the young couple. This being the first marriage that has taken place among the members of the Copeland club, great interest was displayed by the members.

—The Carnegie School of Technology Pittsburg, Pa., was born full-grown. 7000 students applied for entrance before the school opened. Only one of the great buildings has been completed, but $3,000,000 has already been expended.

The Voters Will Come Out

Next Tuesday is the date for the annual municipal election. Never before has Quincy had so quiet an election. However, the bulk of the voters can be depended upon to vote, and the total vote will be about as large as usual, excepting only the phenomenal vote of last year influenced some by the Preeidential election.

There are three candidates for Mayor, Hon. James Thompson, Republican, who has been renominated; ex-Councilman George H. Wilson, Democratic, who was a strong candidate in 1902 and 1903 against Hon. Charles M. Bryant; and William J. Whiting. Socialist.

Since the big majority obtained by Mayor Thompson at the Republican caucuses it seems to be the general opinion that his honor will be reelected by a large majority; but Candidate Wilson has come out squarely for municipal ownership of lighting plants which is expected to help him some.

All three parties—Republican, Democratic and Socialist have nominated full tickets of five for Councilmen at large, but the chances are good as in recent years for the election of all the Republicans, four of whom are members of the present Council.

There is a contest this year for one member of the School Committee at large, both parties having nominated new men. Arthur W. Newcomb, the Republican, is an ex-Councilman with several years of service. Dr. John H. Ash, the Democrat, is an ex-member of the School Committee, but has never been elected at large.

Wards Four and Six have contests for School Committee from ward, and all the wards except Wollaston have contests for Ward Councilmen.

There are two questions upon which a yes and no vote will be taken, but if a big NO is recorded on both no mistake will be made. No-license is the policy of Quincy, and also annual elections. It would be contrary to the City Charter to elect a City Auditor for more than one year.

A Candidate For Reelection

Councilman Eugene R. Stone of Ward Two is a candidate for reelection. He has taken a great interest in public and city affairs while a member of the City Council, serving his ward and constituents faithfully, and there is every reason why he should be returned.

Councilman Stone is a ready and able debater and has a good record upon which to stand. About half the members of the present Council have declined a reelection, and it would be unfortunate for the city to have a Council composed mostly of new members. Councilman Stone should be the leading candidate in Ward Two next Tuesday.

Contagious Ward

Views of Mayoralty Candidates Sought

The following correspondence is self explanatory:

Hon. James Thompson, Republican Candidate for Mayor:

Dear Sir: To my mind a contagious-ward addition to our hospital, for scarlet fever and diphtheria, is the one requirement above all others that should be provided by the city of Quincy. With such facilities it would not be necessary to quarantine a private house, greatly inconvenience the inmates and frighten the neighbors for three to six weeks.

Under present conditions it is extremely burdensome to the family, and there is no assurance of proper nursing and medical attendance, or freedom from contagion. The Coddington or some other school must be closed every fall or spring to prevent an epidemic of scarlet fever or diphtheria, and this is simply because these dangerous cases must now be treated at home. The mother has her hands full with the sick child and often thoughtlessly or deliberately finds it more convenient to let the other children go to school. Even if they are kept at home, they lose valuable time and cannot then always be kept from contact with others. Thus the danger of contagion is always present.

There is a law compelling cities to provide contagious hospital facilities. The small-pox pest house may cover the letter of the law, but it certainly does not follow its spirit, and for obvious reasons, parents would be loath to send a child sick with scarlet fever to it.

I write to ask if you favor the proposition, and if you would, as Mayor, commend it to the council for action.

Yours truly,
A. F. Schenkelberger.

Quincy, 27 Nov., 1905.

City of Quincy, Mayor's Office.
November 28, 1905.

Mr. A. F. Schenkelberger, Goffe street:

Dear Sir: Your favor of the 27th inst. received, and I fully agree with what you say relative to the addition of a contagious ward to our hospital. However, before the city of Quincy can provide money to this end. I think legislative action will have to be taken authorizing the city to raise it either by axation or the incurring of a debt. Under the law as it exists today the city of Quincy may donate to the hospital an amount not to exceed five thousand dollars, annually.

Can you give me any idea of the cost of a contagious ward?

Yours truly,
James Thompson, Mayor.

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 29, 1905.

Mr. A. F. Schenkelberger:

Dear Sir: Your letter of Nov. 27th, in regard to the establishment of a contagious ward addition to our hospital, has been received.

I fully appreciate the necessity of some place being established by the City of Quincy for the confinement of persons having contagious diseases, and if elected Mayor will do all I can toward the establishment of the same; yet there may be some question whether the City has any right to make an addition to the hospital for that purpose, for the reason the hospital is a private corporation, which is not controlled by the city. Possibly some arrangement could be made with the hospital trustees toward that end.

Another matter to be considered is whether the City is in such financial condition as to warrant much expenditure in that direction.

If elected Mayor, I shall do all I can to stop large expenditures except for such things as are absolutely necessary. The financial condition of the city needs the utmost care upon the part of the executive to prevent the increase of the city debt and high taxation. Nevertheless the matter which you call to my attention is one which I think entirely worthy and I assure you it will receive, if elected, my careful attention.

Respectfully,
George H. Wilson.

A reply has also been received from William J. Whiting, the Socialist candidate, which will be printed in Monday's Ledger.

Independent Candidate.

John B. Sutherland, Esq., one of the Independent candidates for the City Council in Ward Three is favorably known in South Quincy, having been a dealer in boots and shoes several years at the corner of Franklin and Water streets. He could be depended upon to work for the best interests of Ward Three, and the city at large.

CITY BREVITIES.

Grand Music Hall rally tomorrow!

Eben Crane has taken rooms on South street, Quincy Point.

A new head-watchman has been appointed at the shipyard.

The program for the Music Hall rally is particularly strong and interesting.

There were several skaters on Wollaston meadow yesterday. Bryant's pond is fast freezing and the boys are trying it today.

Just 3935 different men draw pay today at the shipyard. This is the largest number that have been on the roll at one time.

The winners in the boys' prize speaking contest have been rehearsing in Music Hall today, preparatory to tomorrow's big rally.

The Epworth League of Wollaston M. E. Church will be led Sunday evening by Mr. J. A. Sedgwick instead of Mrs. Henry Epes as announced.

T. L. Williams, the jeweler, is the first Christmas advertiser in the Daily Ledger this season. He put in his holiday stock early, and early shoppers obtain the best selections.

Miss Beulah Hatch has charge of the Young People's Religious Union meeting on Sunday evening at the Wollaston Unitarian church, the subject being "Early Unitarians."

Mr. Henry L. Kincaide, president of the Citizen's Association, and Mr. John L. Miller, president of the Granite Manufacturer's Association, will be among the speakers at the grand Music hall rally tomorrow.

Dr. A. H. Gilson nominated for the City Council in Ward One should make an excellent Councilman. His long residence in the city makes him well acquainted both with the city and its people. His children have attended the Coddington school and he is familiar with its needs.

Although the sailing and racing day of the Quincy Yacht club are over for a few months, Commodore Crane does not intend that interest in the club shall lag. To keep this interest alive, a grand concert has been arranged for Tuesday, Dec. 19, at Music hall by the Philharmonic society of Boston.

NOTICE.

The business of Funeral Undertaker, for many years carried on in Quincy by the late John Hall, my father, will in the future be conducted by me.

While I know that I cannot fill the place in public esteem that a long life of faithful service gave to him, I wish to say that I shall use my best endeavors to meet the requirements of all occasions that may arise, and I ask his friends and mine to believe that I shall not fail in an earnest effort to make good his loss.

I will add that the business is now thoroughly equipped in regard to men well trained to the duties of the work, and in other respects I am fully qualified to give prompt and efficient attention.

JOHN HALL.

Atlantic Retrospect

Delightful Suburb Which Has Developed In Thirty Years

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

In the days past, when Billy Reed kept public house at Squantum and people for miles around enjoyed the beautiful drive through Atlantic; the fine dinner and a few strings at bowling in the alley at that noted hostelry; Cheever Newhall of Lynn, viewing the Atlantic plateau as desirable for real estate investment, in April, 1871, by a plan of survey made by Luther Briggs of Neponset, purchased the farm of William Walker, with homestead and twenty acres of land, at $1,000 an acre, paying therefore $20,000.

On the twenty-eighth day of June, following at public auction (Robert Vose, Jr., auctioneer,) Mr. Newhall sold lots at five and seven cents per foot, enough to reimburse him for his entire outlay. A huge tent had been erected near the George Billings farm, on what is now Appleton street and the assembled buyers were lunched upon crackers and cheese, milk, and strawberries and cream, beneath its grateful shade.

The property comprised that part of Atlantic, east from Squantum street to the bay, now intersected by Appleton street; west, along by the Glover field, on what is now Walker street toward Thomas Gurney's store, including the places of Charles Hall and William Aulbach; forking west from north at boundary on Atlantic street, including the James E. Curtin, Mrs. Robert Thomas, Frank B. Thomas and William Russell places.

William Glover's estate, from which the Walker farm and Chase-Pope purchase had been a part (as originally tilled) covered largely the balance of the table land.

David McKay, of Dorchester, a little later erected upon his purchase several large houses(some presently the Fred J. Stewart properties) on Appleton street, one on Walker street, one on Billings street and one on Atlantic street; and Jonathan Vickery of Parsboro, N. S., under direction of Cheever Newhall, built five cottage houses (the Josiah Kendall place, etc,) on Walker, Billings and Atlantic streets. A son of Jonathan Vickery has built some in Atlantic in these later years.

The beautiful boundary had but few families resident upon it in those early seventies. William Glover, Mr. Scott, High Sheriff William Baker, William D. Emery, Thomas Hinckley, Mr. Billings on three separate estates, Mr. Nye and but few others.

Today the houses dotting it are very many. Messrs. Ramsdell, Moxon, Higgins, Boyden, Vickery, Barry and Kilpatrick have successively influenced real estate development along these lines. "Walker street" has been named from the corner on Squantum street —the old homestead (now the property of Joseph Clark) to Newbury avenue; and tribute has been given to the twenty acre purchaser by "Newhall street," applied to a short connection between Walker and Billings street; the latter in consideration for the resident families of that name in Atlantic at the early time.

The present genius has some opportunity for real estate improvement in Atlantic yet, where areas are fair and reasonable hope of success.

A lovely character beams forth in this retrospective view, in the personage of Mrs. Edmund Pope—Ann Walker that was a sister of William Walker from whom the land title of twenty acres was conveyed. Mrs. Pope will be ninety-three years if surviving to March next. She is still selfreliant, neighborly, loving and loved and graciously links the present with long ago.

The Newhalls—Cheever and Charles (his brother) true to their destiny, are grandly developing Brookline properties notably the Mansfield and the Chesterfield. Cheever resides with his brother Charles on Walnut avenue, Roxbury, in a favored abode, beautifully constructed and overlooking Franklin Park.

Lucius A. Bassett.

School Contest

Dr. John H. Ash, the Democratic candidate for the School Committee, is making a contest for the election, but has an up-hill fight against Arthur W. Newcomb, who as candidate at large in 1901 for the City Council received the largest vote. Dr. Ash, however, is not unknown, and has already served on the School Committee from Ward Four and two other boards.

Cars Running

Through Cars Between Quincy And Boston Established Fact

Dec. 2 will go down in the history of Quincy as the day when through car service between City Square and Boston went into effect. Four cars an hour are being run both ways and they are making good time.

It was expected that there would be some delays on the opening day, but there were none.

The first Dudley street car left City Square at 6.02 running via Wollaston Bliss Chapman operated the controller and Frank Sampson saw to it that all fares were collected. The register showed 12 fares collected during the trip.

The second car left the square, running via Hancock street at 6. 17. It was in charge of Conductor John Kelly and Motorman Richard Forrest and carried 20 passengers.

The third car left the sqnare at 6. 32 running via Wollaston and was in charge of Conductor George Dunham and Motorman Henry Loud, and carried 18 passengers.

The first car from Dudley street arrived in City Square at 6.45.

Cars from Brockton, Weymouth Landing and East Milton, which have been running through to Neponset, now run only as far as City square, but go as far as Adams Academy, when they cross over to the outward rail.

As has been stated before, cars leave City Square every fifteen minutes, those leaving at 2 and 32 minutes past the hour running via Wollaston, and those leaving at 17 and 47 minutes past the hour running via Hancock street. Plan to be in City Square on the hour or quarter and you will be in time.

Returning cars leave the Dudley street terminal at 17 and 47 minutes past the hours, running by Hancock street and 22 and 52 minutes past the hour via Wollaston.

The running time between Quincy and Dudley street is 50 minutes as follows: 20 minutes to Neponset, 10 minutes to Fields corner, and 20 more to Dudley street.

Quincy will be more of a street railway centre than ever, all lines of cars making their terminus here, where good connections will be made to all points along the South Shore. By the new arrangement, long waits or delays will be avoided, and thus do much towards popularizing this line.

McLeod Acquitted

The jury in the celebrated suit case crime have acquitted Dr. McLeod, the Back Bay physician. After being out five hours the jury returned a sealed verdict at 10 o'clock last night.

The verdict was opened at 10 o'clock this morning when the court came in. It read: not guilty on any count."

Dr. Percy D. McLeod was charged with complicity in the death of Susan Agnes Geary, the victim of the dress suit case crime.

Following the announcement of the result of the case against the doctor, William E. Hunt and Louis W. Crawford the two men who turned State evidence and attempted to incriminate Dr. McLeod, and who confessed to disposing of the dismembered body of the girl, were sentenced, each from six to seven years imprisonment.

BRAINTREE.

A union service of Thanksgiving and praise was held Thanksgiving morning at Union church. Rev. William Hyde of Trinity Episcopal church, Weymouth, preached the sermon. The pastors of our local churches took part in the service.

Mr. F. A. Galvin, principal of the Noah Torrey school, received a sudden summons to New York on Tuesday, caused by the serious illness of a brother.

Miss Helen M. Cogan, well and favorably known to many friends in Braintree, has added to her laurels as Little Buttercup in "H. M. S. Pinafore," given this week under the auspices of the Cambridgeport Gymnasium Association. She is no stranger to Cambridge audiences in histrionic work, and ranks among the leading amateur actresses of the country. Her finely trained voice and graceful movements won high encomiums, and she received many beautiful floral offerings.

On Wednesday morning the Unity circle of King's daughters with dainty gifts of fruit, candy, cake, and wafers, in baskets adorned with flowers, remembered the aged, the invalids, and the shut-ins. Each gift had a message of Thanksgiving cheer.

The horse belonging to Mr. F. N. Pickett of Liberty street, while being driven by his son, carrying some workmen to the Fore River works, was startled by two dogs fighting in the street, and turning quickly smashed the shafts and capsized the vehicle.

The generosity of All Souls church furnished a Thanksgiving dinner to the needy and unfortunate.

The Sons of Veterans Camp No 32 was inspected last Tuesday evening by division aid, Frank E. Warren of Abington. He entertained the camp with an interesting account of his recent trip to Gettysburg.

Walter Simonds while at Sunset lake a few days ago dropped a decoy duck on his left foot. A projecting rusty nail stuck into the top of the foot, laming him considerably, but on account of proper care no evil effects resulted.

Mrs. A. R. Gillette, who has been receiving treatment at the Quincy Hospital, has returned to her home on Hancock street, somewhat improved in health.

Mr. W. H. H. Bailey of Union street is about town again after seven weeks' illness with fever and rheumatism.

Last Saturday afternoon, Miss Esther Cone of Tremont street, entertained a number of her little friends in honor of her twelfth birthday. With music, games and dainty refreshments the time was pleasantly passed. Among those present were Misses Alice Johnson, Eva Holman, Miriam French, Catherine Krohn and Norma Beckwith, Miss Esther was the recipient of many pretty gifts.

The sunlight dance given by Cuff's orchestra in the Town hall, Thursday was quite successful. It was one of the most select parties of the season.

The Braintree foot-ball team defeated the Randolph club in a hotly contested game on French's common Thanksgiving morning. The score was 10—5.

Union Thanksgiving service was held at the Baptist church Thursday morning at 10.30 the sermon being preached by Rev. William C. Darby of the East Braintree M. E. Church.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Kent and son Gilbert of Wollaston spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kent, Shaw avenue.

The annual ball of the Braintree veteran firemen was held in the Town hall, Thanksgiving evening.

The "Soldiers' Field Chorus," sung by the Harvard students at the Harvard-Yale football game was written by William Gallagher, Jr.

Doris Hubbard of Stedman avenue gave a party to her little friends, Friday to celebrate her eighth birthday. The children had a fine time playing games and at four o'clock a bountiful collation was provided, which was no less enjoyed. Besides guests from town, there were present Lottie and Harold Elms of South Boston, cousins of little Miss Doris.

Grant-Tate Wedding

Miss Gertrude Lillian Tate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Francis Tate of 85 Phipps street, was united in marriage to Mr. Alanson Schuman Grant son of Mrs. Benson Grant of Medford, by Rev. Father Coan of St. John's church at eight o'clock Wednesday evening.

The maid of honor was Miss Mollie Tate. The groom was attended by Mr. Frank Tate.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride from eight until ten; the bride and groom being assisted by their parents and Mr. and Mrs. Esmond, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grant.

The ushers were Frank Tate, Joseph Reddish, John Cronin and Henry De Coste.

The house decorations were very beautiful, consisting of hyacinths, tuberoses and callas, and above the receiving party hung a bell of maidenhair fern and callas,—all a pretty setting for the bride, who was charming in a gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with Irish point lace, and wearing a picture hat of white maline with white plumes. The maid of honor was also in white, wearing a peau de cygne trimmed with cluny lace, and large white hat with pink and white plumes.

A wedding supper was served. During the evening frappe and ices were served by young friends of the bride, all daintily gowned. They were Misses Dollie Bliss, Belle Griffin, Kittie Barrett, Lena Barrett, Mary Swain, Anna Tate, Mollie Tate and Genevieve Tate.

Friends were present from Boston, Randolph, Braintree, all parts of Quincy and neighboring towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant have gone to Calais and Poland Springs, Maine, and the Provinces for the honeymoon.

Silver Wedding.

Twenty-five years ago Mr. Harry S. Bates of Cohasset and Miss Nettie E. Litchfield of North Scituate were married at the home of the bride by Rev. Granville Yager, recently of Braintree and now of Rindge, N. H., and Saturday evening, Nov. 25, the genial couple entertained, at their home 23 Sampson avenue, about 200 relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates were assisted in receiving by Master Warren L. and Miss Elva S. Bates. Misses Nellie Belyea and Marion Fiske ushered; Miss Emma Eaton served fruit punch; Misses Bertha Hobart and Sadie Buzzell received wedding gifts and Miss Helen Gardner received the guests.

The pretty home was decorated with hemlock branches, evergreen and ferns the artistic work of Warren L. Bates.

Upon the parlor shelf there were two fragrant bouquets of white roses the gift of H. Waldecker & Bro. florists. Each bouquet contained twenty-five roses.

The receiving party stood under a silver bell upon each side of which were silver figures, 1880—1905. During the reception Miss Helen Belle Sylvester of Brockton, niece of Mrs. Bates, presided at the piano.

Refreshments were served by Wetherbee & Sylvester of Brockton. The Observer would be pleased to reccommend them to the Braintree people they serve so well.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates were the recipients of many choice gifts in silver, china, cut glass and linen from relatives, fraternal organizations, N. Y., N. H & H. R. R. employees and friends. Guests were present from Braintree, Weymouth, Cohasset Scituate, North Hanson, Whitman, Brockton, Wollaston, Atlantic and Boston.

Mr. Warren Litchfield of North Scituate, father of Mrs. Bates is 92 years old and on account of illness was unable to be present.

Mr. Bates has been a railroad man for 23 years, first entering the employ of the O. C. R. R. He has been a conductor since 1889. Soon after the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Bates they moved to Taylor street, South Braintree. They have resided at 23 Sampson avenue for nine years and their friends sincerely hope they will always live among them. Two children have blessed this union Warren L. and Elva E.

There will be no evening service at Christ church on Sunday evening.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

McLeod an "Innocent Participant" In Geary Case

HE DENIES ALL CHARGES

Counsel Says Hunt Performed First Operation on Chorus Girl and Dismembered Body--A Sealed Verdict Ready

Boston, Dec. 2.—The famous suit case mystery of Boston was last night given to a jury to determine whether Dr. Percy D. McLeod is guilty of being an accessory to an illegal operation upon Susan Geary, the Cambridge chorus girl, whose dismembered body was thrown into the harbor after an illegal surgical operation had caused her death.

Of four persons indicted by the grand jury for complicity in the girl's death, one, Mrs. Sarah Dean, who conducted the house on Winthrop street, Roxbury, where Miss Geary died, has never been located by the police; two, Louis Crawford and William Howard, otherwise known as Hunt, who were arrested in New York, have pleaded guilty to the charge of being accessories after the fact, and Dr. McLeod pleaded not guilty.

Friday's proceedings furnished a dramatic climax to an already sensational case. Dr. McLeod testified in his own defense and stated emphatically that he had not dismembered the body of the chorus girl. He denied that he had ever had any connection with the Bishop offices, where the illegal operation is alleged to have been performed, and swore that he had never been inside the Winthrop street house until summoned to perform an operation to save Miss Geary's life. According to McLeod's testimony, he was called to the Winthrop street house by Dr. J. H. Pettee, who a few days ago testified that he was summoned there by McLeod. McLeod's testimony was a general denial of all the charges against him. He testified that his only connection with the case was the performing of an operation known as laparotomy, the only hope, he claimed, of saving the woman's life.

While the trial of McLeod was in progress yesterday, William H. Stanford, one of the witnesses for the defense, was arrested on the charge of being a fugitive from justice from Philadelphia. It is alleged that, under the name of Reagan, the man was arrested in connection with ballot box frauds in Philadelphia, and was held in bonds of $1500 for trial. The case was called last Tuesday and Stanford defaulted. Stanford is the husband of Mrs. Grace A. Stanford, who also testified here in McLeod's defense.

After McLeod had completed his testimony a few witnesses were called in rebuttal and then counsel proceeded with their arguments. Attorney Vahey, of counsel for the defense, argued that McLeod was an innocent participant in the case; that his only connection with it was actuated by the highest motives, the desire to save human life. Vahey declared that the dismemberment was the work of Howard, or Hunt as he is known, and that Hunt was also the person who performed the first operation on the victim of the tragedy. Vahey also charged that Pettee had called upon McLeod for assistance and then had incriminated the latter in the desire to save his own reputation.

District Attorney Sughrue, in summing up for the government, charged that McLeod was intimately associated with a notorious band of malpractitioners. He said that the testimony of Crawford and Howard, upon which the defense had attempted to cast discredit, must be accepted. He characterized McLeod as a cool, phlegmatic person, skilled in surgery and dissection, and said that he was the only kind of person who could have dismembered the body in so skillful a manner.

Judge Stevens, in his charge to the jury, recited the various counts in the indictment and defined to the jurymen the phases of the case that would warrant a verdict of guilty in the event that they considered that certain allegations had been proven.

Wanted For Election Fraud

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—William Reagan, alias William H. Stanford, who was a witness in the Boston suit case trial, is wanted here on the charge of election fraud. He was under $1500 bail and when his case was called for trial he did not respond. His arrest was due to the efforts of the Boston police who had men here looking up the antecedents of witnesses for the defense in the suit case trial.

Mrs. Grace Ashmead Stanford, Reagan's wife, who was also a witness for the defense, is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Ashmead, who is now serving a sentence for malpractice in this city.

Ten Vessels In Peril

St. Johns, Dec. 2.—Ten vessels, with crews aggregating 100 men, bound from St. Johns to various harbors around the coast, have been driven seaward in a fierce gale. Much apprehension is felt for their safety, because intense cold which followed the gale will probably ice up their decks and rigging, rendering them unmanageable.

Vessel Given Up For Lost

Nantes, France, Dec. 2.—The sailing vessel St. Donatien, which left this port for Australia in May, has not been spoken since July 6 and it is believed that she has been lost with her crew of 19.

BALFOUR'S INTENTION

He Carefully Conceals It From His Political Enemies

London, Dec. 2.—In some Unionist quarters it is considered possible that Premier Balfour may yet elect to dissolve parliament rather than resign. Some Liberals do not hesitate to attribute to the premier a deep laid plot to spring the surprise of a general election on the country at an inopportune moment for the sake of gaining a tectical advantage for his party by forcing the election before the new register of voters comes into operation in January. It is further alleged that the hints of the premier's intention to resign have been spread with the purpose of concealing his real motives from the country.

No matter what decision may be announced next week, it is a fact that both parties already are in the throes of an electoral campaign. A feature of the oratory on both sides is the endeavor to force into prominence the party differences of the respective opponents over the fiscal and home rule questions. The Unionists are representing Campbell-Bannerman and his Liberal followers as tied to the heels of John Redmond, while the Liberals are assiduously emphasizing the divergencies in the views of the Unionists for and against protection.

As far as party organization is concerned, both sides are well prepared for the elections, but there is an extreme likelihood that the varying views on the fiscal policy will produce a crop of three-cornered contests which will render any attempt to forecast the results a very difficult matter.

Alleged Scheme to Defraud

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—Two indictments have been returned by the federal grand jury against President Lewis of the People's United States bank and publisher of the Woman's Magazine and Woman's Farm Journal. One indictment charges a scheme to defraud in using the mails to induce persons to subscribe for stock and deposit money in the bank. The other charges conspiracy to defraud the government out of postage on the two publications of the Lewis Publishing company.

Police Killed Five Rioters

Georgetown, Demerara, Dec. 2.—A strike of wharf laborers which is in progress here assumed a serious aspect when the police were compelled to fire on a riotous mob. Five of the rioters were killed. The strike was the result of a demand for higher wages. As the result of the riot all business has been suspended.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Dec. 2.—The British cruisers Sappho and Diamond have gone to Demerara.

Trade Is Prospering

New York, Dec. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that business conditions certainly warranted a day of gratitude this year more than ever before, but in many industries it is difficult to take time for a holiday without falling still further behind orders and increasing the complaints of importunate purchasers. Christmas trade opens with a volume that promises to eclipse all earlier records.

Charge Eddy's Report

Washington, Dec. 2.—Mr. Eddy, charge of affairs at St. Petersburg, has telegraphed the state department that no Jews in St. Petersburg or Moscow were injured during the recent disturbances. Eddy adds that the assault on the second secretary of the embassy at St. Petersburg was not dangerous and that all proper apologies have been made.

Thoroughbreds as Work Horses

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 2.—At the Woodward thoroughbred horse sales 12 mares were purchased by the American Breeders' association. These will be secretly sent to distant stables for use as work animals and their identity thus destroyed, their blood lines being undesirable.

Commander Hosley's Task

Washington, Dec. 2.—Commander Hosley has been ordered to the command of the Glacier, which, with the assistance of two colliers, will tow the drydock Dewey from Solomon's island to the Philippines. Hosley has made the trip five times through the Suez canal.

Spanish Cabinet Out

Madrid, Dec. 2.—King Alfonso accepted the resignation of the cabinet and requested Senor Moret to form a new ministry. Moret has already drawn up a list.

MUTINEERS FAIL

Five Thousand Men Said to Have Perished

A NEW CRISIS IN RUSSIA

Economic and Industrial Death of Empire Threatened by Strike of Telegraphers, Who Have Cut Off Communication

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—The official dispatches announcing the decisive crushing of the great mutiny at Sebastopol and the capture of all the mutineers, including the fanatical commander, Lieutenant Schmidt, has raised a great load from the hearts of Count Witte and his associates in the government.

At a protracted cabinet council yesterday, long and serious consideration was given to an even graver problem, the general strike of telegraph and postal employes, which has completely paralyzed the interior communication of the empire, and which, if continued, will mean nothing else than the economic and industrial death of Russia.

Rumors were flying thick and fast late last night that Count Witte had decided to sacrifice M. Durnovo, the acting minister of the interior, whose action in discharging the leaders of these employes brought on the strike. It is believed, however, that Durnovo will be given a final opportunity to rectify his error.

According to telephonic information from Moscow, the telegraphers there approached Prefect Midem, who promised to present a petition for the re-employment of those who had been discharged if work was immediately recommenced. The government perhaps will accept this egress from its difficulty in this regard.

The interruption of telegraphic communication with the interior is complete and foreign dispatches are forwarded only by special arrangements.

The situation at St. Petersburg was extremely tense yesterday. In the absense of definite information from Sebastopol, the wildest rumors were in circulation in the city. The revolutionists eagerly seized the opportunity to spread reports that the mutineers had been completely victorious. They worked especially among the troops, button-holing every soldier and sailor whom they encountered in the streets. A panic spread on the Bourse and government bonds dropped heavily.

The government finally recognized that it was a tactical mistake to hold up the news, but the official announcement of its victory at Sebastopol came too late to undo a great deal of harm.

The dispatches show that the resistance of the mutineers, when they were convinced that the government could count on the active support of the troops in the forts, was faint-hearted. As the warship Otchakoff, in the hands of the mutineers, fired only half a dozen shots before hauling down its flag, the damage to the city of Sebastopol may be far less than had been expected.

Lieutenant Schmidt and other leaders of the mutineers will be shown no leniency by the government.

Lieutenant Schmidt for a short time commanded one of the torpedo boats built for Russia by Lewis Nixon. The lieutenant was retired a few weeks ago on account of his participation in the revolutionary propaganda.

The newspaper accounts of the details of the fighting at Sebastopol, which are based on the reports circulating in the city, are very conflicting, but they all say the battle ended at about 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, when the ships of the mutineers surrendered. The Novosti says that 5000 men perished on both sides. The leaders of the mutineers, it is added, have already been executed, two battleships have blown up and mines have been laid at the entrance of the roadstead.

Moscow In State of Panic

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—Advices by telephone from Moscow declare that the city is in a state of panic and that the better classes are hurrying abroad. Mail advices from Warsaw say that the number of arrests of political offenders is on the increase and that the searching of premises by the police is continuous.

Mining Ship Sunk

Sebastopol, Dec. 1.—During the battle between the rebel and loyal vessels of the Black sea fleet a mining ship which had 200 Whitehead torpedoes and other explosives on board was sunk by her commander, who feared that she would be struck by a shell.

Yielded to Artillerymen

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—At rollcall in the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress, the artillerymen demanded the immediate release of the soldiers who were recently arrested at the electrical school. The commander of the fortress complied with the demand.

Vienna, Dec. 1.—The Neue Freie Presse says that the mutineers at Batoum, Trans-Caucasia, have seized an Austrian Lloyd steamer and are holding it for ransom. Count Goluchowski has sent a protest to the Russian government.

Mutineers Seize Steamer

Withdrawing Funds From Banks

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—Fears that the government will soon be forced to a paper money basis has caused somewhat of a run on the banks. It is estimated that over $10,000,000 has been withdrawn since Monday last.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

A Present From an Enemy

By HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1904, by Charles W. Hooke

"DON'T bother to light your lamp," said the traveling salesman. "I can see to drink in the dark."

"We'll get some moonlight if I leave the curtain up," responded the druggist, "though I'm on the shady side of the street."

"I guess that's where you want to be in such a dry town as this," said the salesman. "The shadier you are the more business you can do. Are they making you much trouble?"

The druggist had put some glasses and a bottle upon a table and had glanced toward the window to assure himself that no one could see in from the street. The other side of the way was all in vivid moonlight; the snow sparkled with myriad jewels, and the white fronts of the quaint old stores glared as if the worn paint upon them had been miraculously renewed. In the midst of the brightness appeared the tall figure of a man clothed all in black. He walked briskly to one of the stores and halted, disappointed.

"There's a customer for you," said the salesman. "Your venerable competitor has shut up shop for the night."

"That man will never come over here," said the druggist. "He trades exclusively with Dr. Columbus Hatch, my venerable competitor."

"Matter of sentiment, I suppose. Hatch is an old timer, and you're an intruder."

The druggist tapped the bottle with a pencil.

"It's a matter of that," he said.

"Temperance crank?" queried the salesman, setting down his glass.

"Well, I'd hardly like to call that fellow a crank," said the druggist. "He's a smooth proposition. I'm more afraid of him than of all the others put together. He'll run me out of this town if I don't look sharp."

"Who is he?"

"Minister of the Stone church, up on Court street. His name is Ormond Davis."

The salesman walked to the window and cautiously looked out. The Rev. Mr. Davis was standing on the rickety wooden platform in front of Dr. Columbus Hatch's store and was intently viewing the moonlight on the river. His face was clearly illumined.

"That man looks mighty familiar to me," said the salesman. "How long has he been in this town?"

"A couple of years," was the reply. "He seems to have considerable 'pull,' even with people who don't go to his church or to any church at all. I've had trouble with him, and I'm going to have more.

"This is the first chance I've had to do business for myself," he continued.

THE SALESMAN WALKED TO THE WINDOW.

"I was clerk in a New York store and was on a vacation when I happened to strike this town. It's a great place in the summer. I stopped off here a few days and found that there was no druggist except that old fossil Hatch, who is the worst prohibition crank in the bunch and wouldn't sell whisky even on a prescription.

"Well, I had a few hundred dollars, and I came down here and took this store, getting my stock on credit. In a little more than a year I've squared up everything and have laid some money away."

"Must be a thirsty town," said Barnes.

"It's a town where the thirsty ones have to come to me," said the druggist, "and take what I give 'em and pay my price for it. See?"

"As I sell you most of your back room stock," said Barnes, with a laugh, "I see perfectly."

Barnes was staring out of the window.

"I believe I'll take a closer look at that fellow," said he. "I'll be back in a few minutes."

The Rev. Mr. Davis had turned from his contemplation of the river and had begun to ascend the hill. From his window the druggist saw Barnes cross the street and follow in the minister's steps. It may have been twenty minutes later when he returned to the store. He seemed much perplexed.

"Dr. Sempler, this is a queer case," he said. "I could swear that that fellow is John Davis, whom I used to know fifteen or eighteen years ago in Gloucester."

"Did you speak to him?" asked the druggist.

Barnes shook his head.

"He can't be John Davis," he answered, "because John Davis is dead, and if there's any way to figure out that he is John Davis you don't want him to be put upon his guard just yet."

Sempler showed his excitement.

"You don't mean to tell me that there's anything crooked about this man?" he demanded. "That would be too good to be true."

"I'll give you the facts," said Barnes. "That's all I can do. John Davis was a Gloucester boy, and I used to go there often in the summer. I hadn't any real acquaintance with Davis, but I saw him often. He was clerk in a bank, and the bank was robbed—an inside job. The cashier got most of the money, but Davis was in the game somewhere, and he ran away. They caught him in Bangor and were bringing him back on a steamer. He was stronger than an ox, and the officer who had him was afraid of him, so he had him handcuffed.

"About four miles north of this town, where the steamers run close to Blackburn point, Davis jumped overboard with the handcuffs still on his wrists. That shows what a desperate fellow he was. It was in the evening and quite dark, but the officer saw Davis swimming with his hands stuck out in front of him. Then he sank, and that was the end of him. I wonder that you never heard the story, though it's nearly twenty years old now."

The druggist had started up out of his chair and was leaning forward, staring into Barnes' face. His mouth was half open, but he seemed incapable of speaking. Indeed, his aspect was so strange that Barnes took him by the arm and shook him.

"Handcuffs!" gasped Sempler, and he put up his hands to his forehead.

"What the deuce"— his friend began.

"Barnes," explained Sempler, "since the world began there has never been anything like this. I can't believe it. The thing is impossible."

He walked to the table and poured out some liquor. His hand was so unsteady that the bottle rattled against the glass.

"It's incredible, incredible," he continued, choking with the fiery liquid. "But, listen. In October I was walking in the woods, up along the shore of the bay by Blackburn point. I had these with me." And he ripped open a cupboard and took out a big pair of field glasses. "I started to look out over the bay from a little hill on the point and was adjusting my glasses when I happened to focus them on the top of a spruce tree that grew at the foot of a hill. I saw a queer bunch on the tree, and presently I made it out to be some sort of an iron thing that had grown into the wood—a thing with a piece of chain on it. I took it to be a sort of trap which some boy years ago had hung on the tree and forgotten. Barnes, it was a pair of handcuffs!"

"But—but what was it doing way up there on the top of the tree?" stammered Barnes.

"Eighteen years ago," said Sempler, "that tree wasn't more than six feet high."

"Well?"

"Well, this is what happened," continued Sempler. "Your friend Davis slipped one of his cuffs in the water and managed to get ashore. Then he slipped the other cuff and tossed them away, and they caught on the tree, or perhaps he hung them up, thinking the tree would hide them. At any rate, there they are, and you know well enough that a pair of handcuffs in that out of the way place settles the whole story. If they're not John Davis' they're not anybody's. The man didn't drown, and I've got him!"

"This is the strangest thing I ever heard of," said Barnes.

"When you mentioned Blackburn point," said Sempler, "I thought of the only time I was there, and the look of that thing in the tree just leaped up before me like a picture. I must find it."

"That won't be so easy."

"I will find it!" exclaimed Sempler. "And now tell me more about Davis."

"I don't know any more," responded Barnes. "I left Gloucester a few weeks afterward and never went back."

"See this man tomorrow and make sure of him."

"I'll do that," said Barnes, "but it must be on the quiet. I don't want to be dragged into anything as a witness."

Sempler laughed.

"It will be quiet," he said. "Do you suppose I'll say a word to anybody? Not much! This is a private matter between the minister and me. I'll let him alone, and he'll let me alone. That's all I'll ask of him. He won't make any trouble if I put up a strong enough bluff. He's engaged to Deacon Holland's daughter—Holland lives right up there by the meeting house—and he won't want his matrimonial plans disturbed, for the deacon has a good bit of money. Barnes"—and he tapped the bottle again with a nervous finger—"I'm all right."

"Well," said Barnes, "don't talk—don't say anything to anybody—and here's luck to you."

About a week later, on the morning of the 22d of December, a boy came to the house where the Rev. Ormond Davis was boarding and told him that he was wanted at the church. Rightly judging that the matter had to do with the approaching Christmas observances, Mr. Davis promptly responded to this somewhat indefinite summons.

As he turned the corner into Court street he saw a team of horses harnessed to a sleigh in front of the church, and behind the horses and the vehicle appeared a great green mass which could be nothing but a Christmas tree. It had been Mr. Davis' intention to go out into the woods with some young men of his church that afternoon to secure a tree, and he wondered what member of his congregation had been so prompt and serviceable. His surprise was very great when he perceived that the driver of the team was the new druggist, Edward Sempler.

"Mr. Davis," said he as the minister came close, "we haven't been good friends, but I hope we'll be better. I have brought you a peace offering."

"I can be at peace with you, Mr. Sempler," replied the clergyman gravely, "but I cannot be at peace with liquor selling. I hardly dare to hope that you have decided to stop it."

HE FINISHED HIS SENTENCE BY WAVING HIS HAND.

"No," said Sempler slowly, "hardly that. But I am very careful. I never sell to drunkards"—

"You sell to men who will be drunkards if you don't stop this traffic," said Davis earnestly. "And if you hope to make any change in my view of this matter"—

Sempler checked him with a gesture and walked up to the tree. A bit of gunnybag was wrapped around the trunk near the top. Sempler removed it, and the clergyman beheld with unspeakable amazement a pair of handcuffs grotesquely twisted into the wood.

"By the way," said Sempler, "your first name is John, isn't it?"

"Yes," said the minister hoarsely. "What then?"

"We can cut these things right out of the tree," said the druggist, "and nobody will ever know that John Davis wasn't drowned long ago. Otherwise"—

He finished the sentence by waving his hand toward Deacon Holland's house, where Holland and his daughter were standing by the gate.

"You see, I've loosened these things so that they can be pulled away," said Sempler, pointing to the handcuffs. "Now, speak quick, for Holland and Miss Amy are coming this way."

Indeed they were coming to look at the tree.

"Mr. Holland!" called the minister, at the same time raising his hat. "Please hurry up!"

Sempler looked at him and stretched out a hand to pull away the handcuffs from the tree, but the minister caught his wrist in a grip of iron.

"Mr. Holland," he continued as the deacon and his daughter approached, "I have received a singular Christmas gift, and I want you and Miss Amy to see it."

He released Sempler suddenly, pushing him back so that the man staggered to the church wall. Davis pointed to the handcuffs imbedded in the tree, and then held his wrists closely together.

"Bless my soul!" exclaimed Deacon Holland. "You—you don't mean to tell me that—that those are the very same ones?"

"Undoubtedly," replied the minister. "By some miracle this man has found them and has brought them to me. He seems to know a part of my story, but not the whole of it. He does not know that I was weak rather than dishonest; that I was guilty of nothing worse than an attempt to shield a man to whom I thought myself bound by gratitude. He does not know that I eventually returned to Gloucester, where I was held in custody for a brief time and then released. Above all, he does not know that our whole church has long been aware of the truth and"—

"Do you mean to say," demanded the deacon, "that this fellow tried to—to blackmail you?"

"He suggested that we might be friends," responded Davis. "I make no complaint. I am indebted to him. Two years ago, when I laid my story before the church meeting, I was unaware of the extraordinary capacity for keeping a secret. That is a characteristic of your Maine people. I supposed, with all respect to the gentlemen and especially the ladies of my congregation, that I was laying my secret before the entire community. Yet it appears that it has not been mentioned. At least, the fact of my disclosure cannot have come to this man's ears. Now, I do not care to wear a mask, even in his presence, and therefore I shall accept his gift publicly. I shall take these handcuffs, this badge of my old folly, publicly from this tree, and I shall attempt to extract a moral from it in a brief address. Does this course meet your view, Amy?"

"I trust both your judgment and your honor," said she.

"Sempler," said Deacon Holland, "if you weren't ruined in this community before, you certainly are now. When this story gets around the worst man in town will be ashamed to be seen going into your store."

It remains to be said that this prophecy was fulfilled to all intents and purposes very speedily.

THE JEWISH MASSACRES

Letters From Survivors Tell Tale of Horrors.

BRUTALITY OF RUSSIAN MOBS.

Jewess Dragged Into the Streets and Spiked Through Her Brain—Man's Tongue Pulled Out With Pinchers. Piteous Plea to Relatives In Philadelphia For Aid to Protect Lives From Howling Mobs.

Among the victims of the massacres of Jews in Russian cities during the past month are many who have friends and relatives in Philadelphia. Some of these have received letters from survivors describing the heart rending scenes, says the Philadelphia Press.

Rev. Jacob Chalfin of 537 Lombard street has a letter from his wife in Kovno, in which she says:

"There are 2,000 dead here and 5,000 injured. The brutality of the Russian mobs was frightful. Kovno is no longer a city. It is a mass of ruins, and we live in dread of another attack. It may come at any minute, and we are all defenseless."

Herman Sachs of Kiev writes to Samuel Loudon of 764 South Third street:

"A Jewess, Sarah Goldman, was dragged into the streets, and several spikes, fully seven inches long, were driven into her brain with heavy steel sledges. A man named Kaufman was found in the street near my house with his whole lower lip cut off. He was suffering torture, and no one gave him aid. The man's tongue had been pulled out with pinchers."

Aaron Rothstein, another resident of Kovno, writes to his uncle, Abraham Chabrov, of 342 South street:

"I saw the mob break into the home of a poor woman seventy-two years old. She was asleep in bed, but the brutal men entered her room and stoned her to death. There are 5,000 persons here absolutely homeless and without a kopek to buy food or clothing. The terrible winter is already upon us. God knows what will become of us unless aid arrives soon."

John Baum, a merchant at 527 South street, recently received a letter of this sort from his brother Solomon, who lives in Odessa, and pleads for money enough to take him and his family from the country where they see nothing but doom for their race.

The letter was written on Nov. 5. A part of it, which has been translated by Jacob Ginsburg of the Jewish Evening Post, reads:

"Our people are being unmercifully slaughtered in the streets without any interference from the authorities.

"It is more than two weeks since we took refuge here in the cellar. We are under the dreadful terror of being discovered and killed. We are practically shut up without any food or water, and I fear we will starve unless something is done for us.

"We cannot sleep, for the howling and curses of the unruly mobs ring constantly in our ears. They call 'Kill the Jews!' The streets are strewn with mutilated bodies. Many of them are minus heads, limbs and arms. The gutters of the streets have been turned into small rivulets of blood. We fear any minute we will be exterminated.

"Please rescue us. Take us to America or send us enough money to get over the frontier. We don't ask you to help us for a livelihood, only to protect our lives.

"The Russian newspapers don't mention one-half of what takes place. We pray, O God! O God! that you will be able to rescue us so we can flee from terrible Russia and the awful death that faces us.

"While I am writing this I can hear the awful curses of the howling mob as it passes along the street killing Jews. The mob is made up mostly of soldiers."

A Witty Russian Admiral.

Charles Johnston contributes to Harper's Weekly a timely and authoritative article on "The Dawn of Liberty In Russia," in which he discusses the new men and measures brought forward by the recent reformatory movement. Incidentally he tells an amusing anecdote of Admiral Birileff, the new minister of marine—"a rollicking salt, with a Homeric stammer." At the time when Admiral Shestakoff was in power he passed a rigorous rule that his young officers must not bankrupt themselves buying bouquets for visiting royalties. The empress was to visit a ship on which Birileff served. As her majesty descended to the cabin a huge bouquet of flowers mysteriously appeared, and delighted royalty at once took possession of it. Admiral Shestakoff saw the mass of blossoms in the empress' hands and turned furiously to his officers.

"Did I not give orders," he thundered, "that no one must present flowers?"

"N-nobody did," stammered Birileff. "S-she t-took them h-herself."

The New Religion of Doctors.

Apropos of Sir Frederick Treves' recent lecture, contending that disease is beneficent, C. D. writes in the Westminster Gazette:

Who'er thinks well to cure a cold
Or cough, himself deceives.
No lozenge, linctus should be sold—
Teste Sir Frederick Treves.

Neuralgic twinge should make you glad.
Sing praises if you sneeze.
Mere microbe slaughter is not sad;
Their deaths are not disease.

The gaping wound should cheer the soul,
Bring joy each broken bone;
The healed are sick; the ill are whole
Alive the dead alone.

MAY BE AN AMBASSADOR.

Lloyd Griscom, Uncle Sam's Minister to Japan, and His Career.

The American legation at Tokyo, Japan, is soon to be raised to the status of an embassy, it is said, and if Lloyd C. Griscom becomes ambassador of the United States to that country he will be the youngest man in the diplomatic service of our government to occupy a post of that rank. He is very boyish looking, but has shown ere this that he is no amateur in diplomacy. Ambassador Griscom was born in Riverton, N. J., in 1872 and is a son of Clement A. Griscom, former president of the International Navigation company. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1891 and studied law at that institution and also at the New York Law school. He entered the diplomatic service in 1893, when he became private secretary to the late Thomas F. Bayard, then ambassador at the court of St. James, but was afterward a newspaper correspondent and in the war with Spain was a staff captain in the volunteer army. He has been minister to Persia and was appointed minister to Japan in 1902.

A REAL OLD HOMESTEAD.

Relics of Colonial Times Preserved by a New England Family.

The old Whitney homestead near Westminster, Mass., is visited every year by hundreds of lovers of the antique because of the relics of olden times which it contains. In it is a kitchen which remains just the same today as it was over a century ago. The house was built by Nathan Whitney 150 years ago. He was a captain of militia previous to the Revolution and in the war for freedom from English rule fought on the American side and was noted for his courage and patriotism. He died in 1803 and bequeathed the homestead to his son, David, who in turn bequeathed it to Calvin Whitney. The latter's widow, a son and two daughters now occupy it. In front of the big open fireplace in the kitchen are the roasting spit and food warmer. Powderhorns, warming pans, a spinning wheel and many other old time household articles are about the room, while homespun garments are hung on the walls.

JOHN R. HEGEMAN.

Life Insurance President Who Has Large Income.

John Rogers Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who testified recently before the Armstrong investigating committee, had to face a rigid cross examination by Chief Inquisitor Charles E. Hughes. His testimony showed that in addition to his annual salary of $100,000 he had made money through syndicate transactions and that he had received rebates on interest from banks. The fact was also brought out that so called "industrial insurance," which constitutes a leading feature of the business of Mr. Hegeman's company, is about twice as expensive as insurance in which the premiums are paid annually. He was born in New York in 1844 and became president of his company in 1891.

Communion services and reception of new members will be held at the Sunday morning services at the Wollaston M. E. church.

The Quincy Charitable Society will hold their regular meeting on Monday afternoon Dec. 4th, at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Porter, Adams street.

Mrs. Charles R. Safford of Clive street, Atlantic has offered the use of her home to the Quincy Day Nursery association for a food fair for the benefit of the Nursery. It will be held on Dec. 8th, afternoon and evening.

Walter M. Packard, nominated in Ward One as a candidate for the City Council, has on many occasions shown interest in the Coddington school and his election would help along an appropriation for a new building.

The Independent Club of South Quincy endorsed Mayor Thompson at a largely attended meeting held last evening in Cahall's hall, and will give their hearty support. The club is also in favor of municipal ownership of lighting plants.

William Nelson, 62 years of age, was assisting E. J. Sandberg yesterday in moving away a small L of the Dr. French house on Maple place, when he was knocked over and injured by a falling timber. He was taken in the ambulance to the City Hospital. The injuries were not serious.

Two Democratic Independents are making a contest in Ward Three against the three Republican candidates, John B. Sutherland and James A. Hayes. Only one of the Republicans, William T. Spargo, is a candidate for reelection, Messrs. William H. Deacon and George Hunter being new candidates.

The annual fair of the Woman's Guild of Christ church will open next Wednesday evening in the parish house for three days. The ladies have been making the arrangements for some weeks. The chairmen of the different tables are: Mrs. Frank Brewer, Mrs. Hazen Ricker, Mrs. Samuel Oxford, Miss Gertrude Babcock, Miss Emily Wilde, Mrs. Amos Litchfield, Miss M. M. December Magazines.

One function of the up-to-date magazine is to reflect the moving spirit of the time, and this is the striking thing about the December McClure's. As befits a holiday number, it is filled with good, strong fiction, there is a Jack London story, one of his best, and six other short stories; but first in importance are the contributions of William Allen White, Ray Stannard Baker and the Rev. Charles D. Williams. William Allen White, who, as a judge of public men has become almost the national oracle, cool, incisive, unerring, fixes the place of Folk in national affairs. He tells of his great accomplishments in Missouri, measures the man, and finally shows he is not big enough yet for Presidential timber.

A distinct Christmas flavor found in Lippincott's Magazine for December adds to the general interest which is never lacking. This is a season of happiness and Lippincott's is happy too. Jolliness, humor, and pathos are there, but the deeper tragedies of life have no place in this issue. The opening novelette, "Of the Lion's Breed," is by Grace MacGowan Cooke in collaboration with Vond Reed; and it is good enough to indicate the quality of the seven shorter stories which follow. It is a picturesque romance of the coal fields, strongly dramatic, yet treated with the utmost simplicity. "Walnuts and Wine" have caught the prevailing happiness and reflect in spirit in joke and verselet.

The Ben Greet Plays.

For the first week of the Ben Greet engagement at Jordan hall, Boston, the bill will be "Henry V," which will be given Dec. 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9 evenings and Dec. 6, 7, 8, and 9 afternoons. The second week, "Much Ado About Nothing," and "The Merchant of Venice" will be given. Third week "Macbeth" and the fourth week "Julius Caesar." Tickets are on sale at box office, Jordan hall.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Next Monday evening, the first Clyde Fitch production of the season will be made at the Castle Square Theatre. The play selected is "The Climbers," one of the most brilliant of Mr. Fitch's satirical comedies of modern society. It portrays life exactly as it is lived among the ambitious Americans who have acquired wealth without social position, and it shows clearly their frantic struggles to win a place among the "four hundred." "The Climbers" will be acted at the Castle Square by John Craig, Lillian Kemble and the other members of the excellent stock company at that house, and the stage will be under the personal supervision of William C. Masson.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The City Girls, a double quartet of singing and dancing young women, under the leadership of Truly Shattuck, head the vaudeville program at Keith's the week of Dec. 4. The act is taken from the "Prince of Pilsen," by special arrangement with Henry W. Savage, and it is claimed to be one of the best vocal offerings of the season. The young women are stunningly costumed, each representing a large city of the United States. Truly Shattuck, who sings the part of "the widow," is an adoption from musical comedy, and was last season one of the principals with George M. Cohan in "Little Johnny Jones."

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Only two weeks more of "As Ye Sow" at the Majestic theatre is the warning now being sounded to the thousands of theatre goers who have still to witness a performance of this remarkably successful play. The management expected to keep the play here until the beginning of the new year at least but unexpected developments made it necessary to take it to the Garden theatre, New York, where it will remain indefinately.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

At the Empire Theatre next week the attraction will be an elaborate production of Justin McCarthy's play, "If I were King," written for and produced by E. H. Sothern only a few seasons ago. This great dramatic creation proved a brilliant success throughout the country and has elements which appeal to a great public. Its romantic story is constantly interesting, its characters are well drawn and its scenes and incidents well planned. The scenic and costume effects designed for Mr. Sothern's production will be duplicated in that at the Empire, affording a series of stage pictures of rare beauty. Fully one hundred people will take part in this production.

The Cochato Club.

The bowling tournaments were postponed this week.

Thanksgiving day Mrs. F. S. Perry won at bowling the ladies' prize, a cut glass dish, and Mr. E. B. Bird the silk umbrella.

Both bridge and whist were enjoyed Tuesday afternoon. There were eleven tables in play. Mrs. I. W. Readmund and Mrs. G. E. Williams won highest scores in bridge. Miss Graves of Weymouth and Mrs. J. E. Arnold were the most successful in whist.

In spite of the heavy rain storm Wednesday evening sixteen tables were used for progressive whist. During the play from 8 to 9.30, Craft's orchestra rendered soft sweet music. Prizes were awarded as follows: canary sherbet glass, Mrs. C. Frank White; glass vase, Miss Sara Kelly; smokers ash trays, George H. Wetherbee and George E. Sampson. Dancing was then enjoyed until 11.30 by about sixty couples.

Craft's orchestra of four pieces were highly complimented by the party and it is hoped by absent members that they will be engaged again. The committee of arrangements were successful in making everything good except the weather.

This evening refreshments will be served by Mrs. George E. Williams, Mrs. Frank Rhoades and Mrs. Plummer C. Spring.

Thayer Academy Notes.

The academy closed Wednesday for the usual Thanksgiving recess. Work will be resumed Monday.

The girls' basket ball team opened up its season Wednesday afternoon by competely outclassing Randolph, winning by a score of 38 to 2. The game was characterized by the team work of Thayer and the individual goal throwing of Misses Faxon and Varney, while for the visitors Miss Kelliher did very creditable work at guard and Miss Caroline Sewall at forward. The line-up was as follows:

No License Convincing Arguments At Sunday Meetings

The attendance at the Sunday evening No-License rally at Quincy Music hall was surprisingly large for so inclement a day, in fact a full house. And it was a good meeting, with strong argument why Quincy should continue in the No-License column.

The City band played selections on the street previous to the meeting, and also in the hall.

On the platform beside the speakers were: Henry M. Faxon, R. D. Chase, Rev. S. L. Carlander, Arthur W. Newcomb, Councilman George Adams, Secretary Gay of the Y. M. C. A., Melville Hayward, Theophilus King, W. H. Cobb and F. F. Prescott.

Dr. C. T. Sherman, president of the Citizens' No-License League, opened the meeting, speaking briefly. He said the league had lost its most valuable member in the death of Henry H. Faxon and we all ought therefore to redouble our efforts.

Rev. E. C. Mitchell of St. Mary's church was first introduced. He said the temperance cause was near and dear to his heart and spoke vigorously against license. We should not place a stumbling block in the way of the weak-kneed. The saloon keeper detests his business and deserves no kind word.

If possible we should get after the express men who bring liquor into our city. The speaker described an intemperate home and crime. He said Boston was rotten to the core. Judge Emmons did a good work there but was not upheld. It is a question of duty to vote "No" on Tuesday. He would not blame a father if he used a shot gun on a saloon keeper who sold his boy the first glass of wet damnation.

Ex-Councilman Alex Clark, a South Quincy business man said the question of No-License is one which should interest every man, and woman in Quincy. No-License removes temptation; is best for local trade, and best for women and boys. Keep license away as far as possible. Quincy is much better off than 23 years ago. The duty of the voters is to vote "No."

Henry L. Kincaide, president of the new Citizens' Association, said the association was interested in No-License, and in a leaflet setting forth the attractions of Quincy, placed near the top: "No-license for 24 years." It has weight with manufacturers about to move to a new location or establish a business. He knew there were business men who claimed business would be better with license, but he believed they were mistaken. With license half a million dollars would annually go into the saloons, to the loss of some one. License would mean poverty and privation.

John L. Miller, president of the Granite Manufacturers, said a comparison of our clean city of today, with Quincy of 30 years ago, stirred his pride for Quincy. He paid tribute to the late Henry H. Faxon, and criticised the careless voters who do not vote on the license question. He claimed that we have the cleanest city of the size in the United States. There were no better housed or clothed people than in Quincy. One of our greatest curses is the two-cent politicians who hold beer parties, and start boys on the downward career.

A collection to pay campaign expenses was taken at this time, the City Band playing a selection.

An interesting feature was the speaking of the three boys who won prizes at the prize speaking contest a year ago, Elliot Johnson, Joseph Garrity and Harry Glover, who added new laurels.

Dr. H. M. Willard was the last speaker. Recent elections, he said, had illustrated the fact that when people rise in their might their power is great. There should be an avalanche of No votes this year. Let us keep Quincy a clean town. All the time there are influences at work against No-License, and we should show that public sentiment is against intemperence. The work of the late Henry H. Faxon should become our work.

The meeting closed with the singing of America.

SWEDISH MEETING.

There was a very large attendance Sunday afternoon at the no-license meeting at the Swedish Lutheran church. The addresses were by Rev. John A. Bernhard, Rev. E. C. Blomquist, Rev. John B. Bjork, Rev. S. L. Carlander of Quincy and Rev. O. Linbegren of Boston. Music during the services was by the Mission and Swedish Lutheran church choruses and the Swedish Lutheran Orchestra.

AT WEST QUINCY.

The no-license meetings at West Quincy were held at St. Mary's church and were in charge of the Paulist Fathers. Six masses were held throughout the day and there were no-license talks at each. The services were all very largely attended, especially at the evening service when the talk was by Rev. Fr. Gleason S. J.

Mr. Charles H. Johnson delivered a stirring address on No-License at the Methodist church, West Quincy, Sunday evening. During his remarks he paid a touching tribute to the memory of the late H. H. Faxon.

AT WOLLASTON.

Wollaston also had a good No-License meeting at the Congregational church on Sunday evening, addressed by prominent citizens of the ward.

AT QUINCY POINT.

The closing rally of the No-License campaign will be held this evening at Unity club hall at Quincy Point, when the speakers will be Rev. A. F. Roche, Rev. A. R. Atwood, Frank F. Parlin, the superintendent of schools, and others.

PARK AND DOWNS.

The No-License meeting at the Park and Downs chapel Sunday evening was addressed by Frank C. Blake, Dr. H. M. Willard, Theophilus King, Dr. F. J. Peirce and Councilman William M. Chase, interspersed with chorus singing.

AT ATLANTIC.

The No-License rally at Music hall, Atlantic, Saturday night was largely attended. H. O. Cassidy presided. The speakers were Rev. A. F. Roche of West Quincy, Levi H. Turner, W. W. Whitcher and W. F. Cummings. Music during the exercises was by the Boys' Brigade.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Among the discharges of mortgages recorded last week is noticed that of Albert Crane to the City Hospital of Quincy which means that very soon the hotel property at the corner of Washington and Coddington streets will be torn down and the land thrown into the library grounds.

Now all that remains on the corner is the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company office, which will probably be the next to go which will make the corner the most beautiful in town. Mr. Crane is Quincy's greatest benefactor and the library with its beautiful lawn surroundings will be a perpetual reminder of the Crane family.

The home of the late Henry H. Faxon should be moved around the corner onto Coddington street and in its place erected a handsome building in keeping with the prosperity of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Then if the city could be induced to enlarge the lot purchased by the government for the post office building, to take in the Nightingale corner, with proper widening of Temple and Washington streets, it would be hard to find a finer section in any city than this could become with proper treatment.

Two Deaths From Gas

Providence, Dec. 4.—Frank Martin and John L. Oliver, each aged 24 and residents of Bath, Me., were accidentally asphyxiated while visiting at the home of Martin's sister, Mrs. Francis MacCauley. It is not known whether the gas jet valve had been completely closed when the men retired, or whether it was accidentally twisted after the light was extinguished.

Little Hope For Mary Rogers

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 4.—Governor Bell has left his home in Walden for Chicago. He is expected to return here the night of Dec. 7, and will therefore be out of the state until just before the day set for the execution of Mary Rogers at Windsor, so that it will be hardly possible for him to take any action regarding another stay in the death sentence.

Why Corbin Declined

Washington, Dec. 4.—Explanation of the reason for the declination of General Corbin to serve as chief of staff of the army is contained in a letter written by him in which he suggests that the duties of that office should be performed by an officer of less rank than the senior general officer, whose period of service shall extend at least to the end of the administration by which he has been appointed. As for himself he asks that he be given some command commensurate with the rank of lieutenant general.

Bomb Makers In Explosion

Geneva, Dec. 4.—A number of Russians were severely wounded by an explosion here while they were preparing bombs in a private residence. An investigation by the authorities led to the discovery of a number of explosives, fraudulent passports and a secret printing press. Two of the men wounded in the explosion were taken to a hospital, but the others evaded arrest.

Italian Cabinet to Resign

Rome, Dec. 4.—At a meeting of the council of ministers four ministers placed their portfolios at the disposition of Premier Fortis. The premier said he would prefer to receive the resignation of all the members of the cabinet. It is expected that these resignations will be handed in as soon as the measures now pending in parliament have been discussed.

An Unaccountable Shooting

Harrisburg, Dec. 4.—After shooting Mrs. Mary Chard, aged 42, in the neck with a revolver, while on the street near her home, Roy C. McCurdy fatally shot himself. McCurdy died without making a statement. The woman is not badly hurt. Neither she nor McCurdy's friends can account for the shooting.

Acquitted of Being Accessory In "Suit Case" Crime

SIX YEARS FOR OTHERS

Fate of Crawford and Hunt, Who Tried to Escape by Turning State's Evidence--Geary Girl to Be Buried by Mother

Boston, Dec. 4.—Acquitted by the jury which had been sitting in trial on his case for a week, Dr. Percy D. McLeod walked out of the court room a free man, while at the same time Louis W. Crawford and William E. Hunt, who had been charged, as was McLeod, of being accessory to the death of Susie Geary, and who had pleaded guilty, were marched into the dock to receive a sentence of not less than six years nor more than seven years in state prison. Thus ended the trial of the "suit case mystery."

When the announcement of the jurors was made, Mrs. McLeod, wife of the defendant, fell sobbing into the arms of her husband, while his counsel and a group of friends crowded around to congratulate him on his deliverance. Nearby sat Mrs. Geary, mother of the dead girl, and two of the latter's sisters. They displayed no emotion at the result of the trial.

They went away to claim the remains of their relative, which, up to that time, had remained in the possession of the government, at the Harvard medical school, and to complete the plans for giving them a Christian burial, while Dr. McLeod walked out of the court room with his wife.

Meanwhile the jurors had been dismissed. Their conclusion satisfied them, however disappointing it may have been to the commonwealth. The point that seemed to impress them more than anything else was the fact that McLeod, on his own statement and on all the evidence against him, stood out cleanest among those who were alleged to have had any connection with the case.

Hunt and Pettee were self-confessed participants. Dr. Pettee admitted that he had done work for the Bishop office and that he had even performed criminal abortions. McLeod denied that he had ever had anything to do with the Bishop office, or that he had ever committed abortions.

Then, again, there was the feeling that, even if they were all in it together, the others were, in a certain sense, "quitters," and that they were trying to escape, by turning state's evidence, a portion of the punishment that otherwise might have been accorded them.

District Attorney Sugarue took the verdict with his customary philosophy. While he believed McLeod guilty, believed him to be "the man of ice and iron" who did the dismembering of the body, and asked for a verdict on that ground, he had no comment to make upon the failure of the jury to take his point of view.

The jury appears to have been favorable to the defendant from the start. The first ballot was 10 to 2 for acquittal, and it remained so until the two for conviction were finally brought around to agree with the opinions of the majority, after it had become apparent that the majority would not change.

After the cases of Hunt and Crawford had been disposed of, Mrs. Geary walked up to the judge's bench and chatted with Judge Stevens for three or four minutes. The judge was extremely sympathetic, shook hands with the woman, and then talked with her about the case. Mrs. Geary, it is understood, was anxious to ascertain whether she could now have possession of the body of her daughter, which has remained at the Harvard medical school, and has been told that it will be delivered to her undertaker whenever she sends him after it.

Cruelty on Oyster Boats

Baltimore, Dec. 4.—The revenue cutter Windom has returned from a six days' cruise of investigation of charges of cruelty to seamen employed on oyster boats. During the trip three captains of oyster vessels were arrested on charges of cruelty and four members of crews were taken off their vessels because they complained of ill-treatment, while one man was sent ashore, being too ill to work. As a result of this cruise the government will probably send a cutter out for a similar purpose two or three times each season hereafter.

Protest From Seed Dealers

Washington, Dec. 4.—Thirty of the leading seed dealers of the country have sent President Roosevelt a petition protesting against the free distribution of seeds by members of congress. The intent of the original act authorizing seed distribution, the petition says, was that the seeds should be obtained from remote corners of the earth, and be for the purpose of increasing the wealth of the nation.

Has Investigated Massacre

Washington, Dec. 4.—A cablegram received at the state department from Minister Rockhill at Pekin says that Consul General Lay at Canton has completed his investigation into the recent murder of five Presbyterian missionaries at Lienchow. No details of the result of the investigation are given. The report will be forwarded to Washington by mail.

READY FOR WORK

Both Branches of Congress Meet at Washington

WEEK OF ORGANIZATION

Emergency Appropriation For Panama Canal May Be Speedily Passed by the House and at Once Be Disposed of by Senate

Washington, Dec. 4.—Nothing but preliminary work will engross the attention of the senate the first week of the session. The senate is already organized, as it is a continuous body, and besides there was a special session last spring when the new senators were sworn in. Senators Brandagee (Conn.), Warner (Mo.), Frazier (Tenn.) and Lafollette (Wis.) have not yet taken their oaths. The two former had not been elected when the special session adjourned.

There was a very short session today and the senate adjourned out of respect for the late Senator Platt of Connecticut as soon as the necessary formalities at the beginning of a new congress were concluded. Tomorrow the president's message will be received and read and Wednesday is likely to be devoted to the introduction of bills. A short session will be held Thursday and the senate will then adjourn until the following Monday.

It is likely that a Republican caucus will be held Tuesday or Wednesday for the purpose of authorizing the appointment of a committee to fill committee vacancies in the senate and for the selection of a steering committee for the session. It is not expected the committee vacancies will be filled very early in the session.

If the house of representatives should pass an emergency appropriation bill for the Panama canal the senate will at once take it up and pass it, but this measure is not expected in the senate until the second week of the session.

Very little besides the organization of the house will be accomplished the first week of the session, although it is possible that an emergency appropriation for the Panama canal may be passed the last of the week. Until the committees are appointed such a bill would have to be considered by unanimous consent, or under a special order. It will depend upon the needs of the canal finances whether the emergency appropriation will be rushed through this week or go over until the week following. The leaders of the house have been informed that the emergency appropriation will not be needed until Dec. 15, and consequently the bill may not be passed until next week.

Today was taken up with the election of a speaker and other house officers. They were those nominated by the Republican caucus Saturday night. It is already understood that the rules of the last house will be adopted after the members have been sworn in. The biennial lottery for seats was a feature of today and at its conclusion adjournment followed. Tuesday will be devoted to the president's message and that will probably close the real business of the house for the week.

Speaker Cannon has not yet completed his committees, but it is expected he will be ready to announce them early in the session. Bills will be introduced every day that the house is in session from the beginning and will be printed and referred to the committees when appointed. It is expected that many important propositions will be presented during the early days of the session.

Americans Stranded at Antwerp

Antwerp, Dec. 4.—Numbers of American sailors who are shipped on board foreign vessels in American ports are discharged on their arrival in Europe. They are unable to obtain return engagements owing to the prejudices of foreign owners, and the local authorities cannot assist in their relief. As a consequence many of these sailors are now destitute in this port.

Brilliant Football Event

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 4.—Army 6, navy 6. This score briefly tells the story of the Annapolis and West Point football game. The contest probably was one of the most exciting ever played between the two academies. From all sections of the United States came distinguished spectators, President Roosevelt and other notables being present.

Cannot Arrest Congressman

Havana, Dec. 4.—Congressman Guerre, who has been missing for several days and who, it is alleged, has been trying to organize an insurrectionary movement, made his appearance in the town of Pinar del Rio Sunday with two companions. The latter were arrested and released on bail. The congressman is exempt from arrest.

War Bill of $400,000,000

London, Dec. 4.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Tokio sends a dispatch outlining the provisions of the Japanese budget. It is estimated that the total expenditure called for will be $515,000,000, of which sum $400,000,000 may be set down as the outcome of the war.

Crew Barely Escaped

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—The steamer Twilight sank in 20 feet of water in the Monongahela river, the crew of 12 men escaping with their lives by hurrying to the roof the boat, from which they were taken off in skiffs.

A Candidate For Reelection

Councilman Eugene R. Stone of Ward Two is a candidate for reelection. He has taken a great interest in public and city affairs while a member of the City Council, serving his ward and constituents faithfully, and there is every reason why he should be returned.

Councilman Stone is a ready and ble debater and has a good record upon which to stand. About half the members of the present Council have declined a reelection, and it would be unfortunate for the city to have a Council composed mostly of new members. Councilman Stone should be the leading candidate in Ward Two next Tuesday.

NOTICE.

The business of Funeral Undertaker, for many years carried on in Quincy by the late John Hall, my father, will in the future be conducted by me.

While I know that I cannot fill the place in public esteem that a long life of faithful service gave to him, I wish to say that I shall use my best endeavors to meet the requirements of all occasions that may arise, and I ask his friends and mine to believe that I shall not fail in an earnest effort to make good his loss.

I will add that the business is now thoroughly equipped in regard to men well trained to the duties of the work, and in other respects I am fully qualified to give prompt and efficient attention. JOHN HALL.

Contagious Ward

Candidate Whiting Replies to Mr Schenkelberger

In the Daily Ledger of Saturday James Thompson and George H. Wilson, two of the mayoralty candidates expressed themselves relative to a contagious hospital. The views of William J. Whiting, the Socialist, follow:

Quincy, Mass., Dec. 1, 1905.

Mr. A. F. Schenkelberger:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 27th ult. duly received. In reply would say your proposition to have the city provide a contagious hospital is certainly to be commended, the present accommodations for smallpox cases, etc., by no means meet the requirements of the law, which you have correctly pointed out, as there are other kinds of contagious diseases which are a constant source of danger to the community.

Action of this kind is in line with the principles and programme of the Socialist Party, being included in its specific demands. However, we seek to avoid any quarrels with individuals, while we sometimes use them as illustrations of the workings of a system—the capitalist system, which must be changed for a co-operative system, resting on common ownership of the means of production, land and machinery; and this object cannot be achieved by any of the reforms of which we hear so much in these days, as they do not touch the principles involved, and aim only to patch up or modify in some slight degree the present order of things.

Even if these ante-election promises were carried out, they would amount to little or nothing, and it is well known that no attempt is made to put them into execution, even though perchance there were good men in power, for whatever conflicts with the interests of the ruling class fails to become a law; or if it should find a place on the statute books, it fails of enforcement.

The statemanship of our time goes on repeating the errors of a less enlightened age in its treatment of crime and disease by dealing with the effect instead of the cause. The cause of these evils is in the conditions in which men are compelled to live, in the fierce struggle for existence among the masses, in the amount of labor required for a bare subsistence, and the uncertainty even of employment for small pay together with the unsanitary surroundings of both the workshop and the home, in a word, excessive toil, poor food, insufficient clothing and shelter.

What can be the inevitable result of this state of things, which nobody denies exists throughout this broad land? Under these conditions hospitals and reformatories are essential, and no exertion should be spared to make them adequate to present needs. But Socialism aims to make these institutions, together with prisons, the gallows, and other life-taking instruments unnecessary. It may all be summed up in this statement:—

Abolish poverty, and you abolish crime and disease; poverty can be abolished only by doing away with class monopoly and class privileges which are the chief crimes of the ages, and are prolific of most of the evils which afflict society, and stand in the way of the triumph of justice and humanity throughout the world.

Yours sincerely,
William J. Whiting.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

MISSILE BROKE GLASS

Heavy Plumb-Bob Hurled at President Roosevelt's Train

Washington, Dec. 4.—Some unknown person hurled a heavy iron plumb-bob through a window of one of the cars of President Roosevelt's special train Saturday night on the run from Princeton to Washington. The missile, which was thrown with terrific force, crashed through the transom of a window of the combination car Salvius and narrowly missed the head of Major Hayes, a son of the late President Hayes, who was a guest of the president on the trip to the army and navy football game. Fragments of broken glass fell on Hayes, who was sitting with his back to the window reading, but did not injure him in any way. The frame of the window was broken where the plumb-bob had struck it, so great was the force with which it had been hurled.

The train at the time was running comparatively slow. A dense fog which prevailed rendered it almost impossible for the engineer to see a train-length ahead. Broad street had just been crossed when the crash of glass aroused the occupants of the car. The Salvius was the first car of the train and in appearance might have been mistaken very easily for President Roosevelt's private car which, however, was at the rear of the train. It was remarkable also that Hayes from a profile view strongly resembles the president and that, sitting at the window in the position he occupied in reading, he might have been mistaken for President Roosevelt.

The implement thrown at the train was a most unusual one to be in the hands of a boy, who might, in a spirit of deviltry, throw a stone at a train. It is cast iron and weighs about three pounds. Had it struck Hayes on the head, as it certainly would if it had passed through the window a foot lower, he would have been injured very seriously, if not killed.

Expected American Aid

Seoul, Dec. 4.—The emperor has directed that a state funeral be accorded to Min Yung Whan, who committed suicide as a protest against the Japanese protectorate. Former Premier Chaom and several minor officers have committed suicide in consequence of the action of Japan. There is some disposition to connect these deaths with the withdrawal of the American legation, as the Koreans had looked upon America as the most likely nation to interfere, and when they realized that they had been entertaining false hopes they were keenly disappointed.

Gilhooly Jury at Last Secured

Chicago, Dec. 4.—After eight weeks and the examination of 5000 venire men a jury has been secured to try Charles Gilhooly, who is charged with causing the death of a non-union workman during a strike. Gilhooly, it is said, was the hired "slugger" of the Carriage Workers' union and severely beat a number of non-union men. There has been great trouble in securing the jury because of the reluctance of many of the venire men to serve, and hundreds of them have declared themselves prejudiced against labor unions.

To Force Home Rule Question

London, Dec. 4.—Evidence of the intention of the Unionist party to force the question of home rule for Ireland to the forefront in the impending election struggle is shown in a message sent by Premier Balfour to a Unionist candidate in a bye-election, in which the premier says he hopes the electors "will set an example of determined resistance to those home rule proposals which once again threaten the country."

Ore Steamer Battled With Storm

Detroit, Dec. 4.—Sheathed in ice, the steel steamer Angeline, over whose safety there was much apprehension, arrived at Detroit for fuel last night after one of the most thrilling voyages ever made by a vessel on the Great Lakes. After leaving the head of the lakes with a cargo of iron ore for a Lake Erie port, the Angeline was struck by tempest and for two days had a terrific battle against the storm.

Six-Day Race Is On

New York, Dec. 4.—The annual international six-day bicycle race was started in Madison Square Garden with 16 teams of two riders each competing. Five of the teams are composed of foreigners and many of the riders, both from this country and abroad, are making their first appearance in a six days' contest. The prizes this year amount in the aggregate to $4850.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Parks Carle, 16 years old, of West Princeton, Me., was skating when he broke through the ice and was drowned.

Albert C. Andrews, a farmer of Williamstown, Mass., committed suicide by shooting, the bullet entering his head, causing instant death. It is believed that he was temporarily insane.

The annual report of the United States civil service commission contains a recommendation that congress should authorize the collection of a fee from applicants for examination for the government service.

Simon Salaway, a real estate agent of Chelsea, Mass., has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are scheduled at $60,437 and he has no assets.

Charles A. Marston, a prominent lumberman and former member of the Maine senate, died at his home at Skowhegan, Me.

REVOLT IN PALACE

Russians Consider It Possible In Near Future

INTENSE ALARM EXISTS

Telegraphic Strike Extends to Finland, Paralyzing Communication Throughout the Empire--Troops In Open Mutiny

St. Petersburg, via Berlin, Dec. 4.—Intense alarm prevails here. Communication with the outer world ceased Saturday, when the Finnish operators joined their Russian comrades.

The embassies, legations and banks are hastily organizing courier services to both the Finnish and German frontiers.

The population is almost in a state of panic, fearing that the railroads will stop running and that the inhabitants will have no mode of flight in the event of the cataclysm which they seem to fear is imminent.

Stories of the spread of dissatisfaction in the guard regiments are in everybody's mouth and the revolutionaries continue to boast that the troops will no longer fire on the people. Newsboys openly hawked fly sheets in the streets containing an account of an alleged revolt at Tsarskoe-Selo and crying out "the emperor's palace guard has mutinied."

According to reliable information, the only foundation for these stories is the arrest of the soldiers of the guard at Tsarskoe-Selo Thursday. Nevertheless, in their excited state the people give ready credence to all rumors and this adds to the general alarm.

The air is also filled with stories of the alleged revolution at the palace Friday, in which Grand Duke Boris is said to have attempted the life of the czar. These stories likewise are untrue, but they prove that a revolution in the palace is considered possible at any time.

This situation has greatly increased the dangers of a financial crash. The people, even the commercial interests, are withdrawing their money from the banks, converting it into gold, hoarding it, or demanding foreign exchange which the state bank is issuing upon the foreign balances of the government.

It has just been learned from a high authority that the situation in the Baltic provinces has grown exceedingly grave and that the troops at Reval and neighborhood are in open mutiny. This was the real cause of the extraordinary cabinet meeting which was held at Tsarskoe-Selo Saturday night.

All attempts to secure details of the uprising have thus far failed. According to reports, the attitude of the troops in the Baltic provinces is regarded by the government as the most dangerous factor that has thus far been developed. A strike of the policemen and house porters of St. Petersburg is scheduled for today.

Count Witte continues to refuse to deal with the telegraphers, declaring that for the government to yield would be equivalent to its abdication at their order. Nevertheless, the surrender of the government to their demand for the dismissal of M. Durnovo, acting minister of the interior, is regarded as inevitable. Instructions to the governors and the local authorities are being sent with great difficulty over the railroad telegraph lines.

Jews Fear Another Massacre

Odessa, by Special Courier, via Podwoloczyska, Galacia, Dec. 4.—This dispatch is sent at the request of the Jewish community, which fears a fresh massacre by the local garrison. It is asserted that a proclamation is being circulated in almost every regiment, calling on the soldiers to exterminate the Jews and to destroy the newspaper offices in revenge for the groundless accusations against the troops of their participation in massacres and in pillage and in the protection of rowdies.

In view of the fact that this city is entirely cut off from St. Petersburg and thus is altogether in the hands of the local authorities, the Jewish community implores all civilized nations and their governments to take all possible measures at St. Petersburg to prevent a catastrophe which may exceed anything that has yet occurred.

Nothing Can Stop Liberty

Paris, Dec. 4.—The correspondent of The Journal at St. Petersburg sends the text of a further revolutionary manifesto issued Sunday in reply to the expressed intention of the government to return to repressive measures. The manifesto says:

"The government continues to defy a people now on the road to liberty where nothing can stop it. All police measures and the armed intervention of troops can only result in sanguinary conflicts for which the government will be responsible."

The correspondent says that animated discussions are proceeding at the palace of Tsarskoe-Selo, the czar favoring the granting of concessions and the re-establishment of the public services at any price, with Count Witte in opposition, the premier refusing to grant the demands of the government employes on the ground that they had no right to combine.

Mutineers Beaten at Kieff

London, Dec. 4.—The Daily Mail's Kieff correspondent, in a dispatch forwarded by way of Podwelocyzska, says: A company of sappers, dissatisfied with their martinet commander, mutinied and persuaded a second company to join them. A body of Cossacks allowed the rebels to pass them in the street. Finally the mutineers arrived at the barracks of the artillery division and the Azoff infantry regiment. The Azoff men answered their appeal with insults and the rebels opened fire upon them. The Azoffs answered with deadly volleys. Finally the rebels fled, throwing down their arms. Two hundred of them surrendered. Fifty dead and 100 wounded mutineers were left on the ground. A court martial has been convened and a notice issued that any further attempt at mutiny will be quelled by artillery.

Tide Too Strong For Witte

London, Dec. 4.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times expresses the belief that the Union of Unions will resolve on a general strike. He says that reaction is rapidly gaining the upper hand at Tsarskoe-Selo. Troops are being drafted to St. Petersburg and bloodshed appears to be imminent, with Count Witte powerless to stem the tide.

Finnish Telegraphers' Attitude

Helsingfors, via Copenhagen, Dec. 4.—The striking telegraph operators of Finland passed a resolution energetically protesting against any attempt to restrict their union or the liberty of Finns and expressing their determination to prosecute the strike until it is declared ended by the central union at Moscow.

Naval Battalions In Revolt

St. Petersburg, via Eydtkuhnen, Dec. 4.—The most elaborate precautions have been taken against a feared outbreak by the troops as a result of the Sebastopol mutiny. The naval battalions have been completely gained over by the revolutionaries. They have been deprived of their arms and are almost beyond control.

Martial Law at Kieff

Kieff, via Warsaw, Dec. 4.—There has been serious street fighting between mutinous sappers and Cossacks and between workmen and bands of the "Black Hundred." Scores of persons have been killed or wounded. Martial law has been proclaimed.

Sebastopol Panic Increasing

Vienna, Dec. 4.—Advices from Sebastopol declare that the panic there is increasing. The members of the so-called military party are holding meetings in all the barracks, and this fact greatly increases the anxiety for the future.

Foreign Mail Held Up

Warsaw, Dec. 4.—Seven hundred post and telegraph officials are on strike here. The strikers pour vitriol into the letter boxes. Two hundred bags of foreign mail are lying here unopened.

To Guard American Embassy

Berlin, Dec. 4.—A guard for the United States embassy at St. Petersburg passed through here Sunday. The men, who were dressed in civilians' clothes, are believed to be from the cruiser Minneapolis, which is at Gravesend, Eng.

Prepared For Emergency

Washington, Dec. 4.—Ambassador Meyer is now on his way to St. Petersburg and his arrival there is expected daily. While neither he nor any other member of the embassy at St. Petersburg has made any request for anything in the nature of a guard for the embassy, state officials say, yet it is suggested here that the presence of additional trusty household attendants will give a greater degree of security to the members of the staff in the event of any demonstration that might occur.

Miners' Delegates Unhampered

Mahanoy City, Pa., Dec. 4.—The majority of the 700 delegates who will attend the tri-district convention of the United Mine Workers on Dec. 14 have been chosen without instructions as to how they shall vote on the principal questions of an eight-hour day and recognition of the union. There is a strong sentiment in favor of the continuation of the conciliation board for the peaceful adjustment of differences.

Fears For Missing Vessels

St. Johns, Dec. 4.—Three of the 10 schooners driven seaward during the heavy gale of last Thursday have reached port safely, but no word has come from the others and fears are felt as to their safety. Many fishing vessels were driven ashore during the gale and much damage was done to fishing property.

Demonstrators Dispersed

Dresden, Dec. 4.—The Social Democrats held several largely attended meetings here to protest against the electoral law of Saxony. After the meetings the protestants paraded, but the police interfered and finally had to use their sabres, wounding a number of the demonstrants and making several arrests.

Dissatisfied Doctors

New Orleans, Dec. 4.—The entire state board of health, with the exception of Dr. Stephens, have tendered their resignations to Governor Blanchard. The board declared that no attempt was made to suppress the facts as to yellow fever here when convinced of its existence.

Bogus Vanilla on the Market

Mexico City, Dec. 4.—The vanilla planters at Papantla say they are losing money owing to the fact that many substitutes for vanilla are being manufactured in the United States, which has caused a great falling off in the demands for the genuine vanilla.

MEN ARE POWERLESS

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff, and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.

When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Rival Claims

Democrats Hopeful Republicans Confident

The Democrats have been putting up a quiet but aggressive campaign in the interest of George H. Wilson for Mayor. The leaders claim this morning that he will win out. After a careful canvas they place his plurality at 30.

On the other hand the Republicans have not been idle. They have had a systematic canvas of the city made and they believe that there is no doubt of Mayor Thompson's reelection, the only question being the size of his majority.

Memorial Service Of the Elks

In spite of the storm Sunday afternoon there was a good attendance of ladies and gentlemen at the Memorial service held at Greenleaf hall under the auspices of Quincy lodge, B. P. O. E.

Exhalted Ruler Frederick W. Tirrell, had charge of the exercises. They were opened according to the ritual of the order, music during the ceremony being by a quartette composed of James Lee, Miss Josephine McCarthy, Miss Angela McCarthy, and William Biganess.

The program included a duet by the Misses McCarthy, recitations by Miss Anna M. Egenhoff, solo by James Lee, solo with violin obligato by Miss Angela McCarthy and Miss Marguerite McCarthy, and eulogy by Rev. William E. Gardner. John Mahan was accompanist.

Rev. Mr. Gardner said that he was pleased to give an eulogy when no one had died. What do you stand for if not to take things of God's nature and make them a part of your life. When we close the coffin and cover it with God's earth that is not the end. There is something infinitely more.

Your emblem reminds us we should be alert in good work, gentle with one another, and womanly in our manhood. We come out today to think think about that thread that leads up to the unkown. These seventy-five years of ours on earth are preparatory for the great hereafter.

Who knows but a year from now we may be hand in hand holding a memorial service in the unknown. You meet that the good in us may be brought out and carried into the world. God grant that the time may come when every minister, no matter what his creed, can be called in and he will be glad to come and give you the benefit of his study and thought. That he may tell you of the larger. If God allows one single sinner to perish as a living hereafter, Father he can not be to no man. He will never allow one of us to perish. The time will come when we will learn that the church stands not only for this life but the world beyond.

The memorial service closed with the audience joining in singing the closing ode.

Basket Ball.

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. teams were simply not in it on Saturday. In the league series in Boston the senior team was dofeated by the Bostons 51 to 11, and the second team was defeated 51 to 1.

At Quincy the Malden intermediates defeated the Quincy intermediates 45 to 3, and the Boston juniors defeated the Quincy juniors 40 to 4.

At Quincy Point in the Unity club hall a No-Licence rally will be held tonight.

Vote tomorrow.

Quarries Company To Reorganize

A second meeting of the creditors of the Quincy Quarries Co. was held Saturday at Music hall. After some discussion it was voted to accept the proposition of the reorganization committee to reorganization upon the plan outlined.

This plan in brief is that the creditors shall prove their claims and receive therefor common stock in the company. That for the purpose of obtaining a working capital creditors are to pay into the coporation in cash a certain amount of their claims, not exceeding eight percent, for which they shall receive preferred stock.

The reorganization committee are Theophilus King, Charles A. Howland, Frank Ferdinand, John K. Hayward and William B. Winslow.

Children's Entertainment.

Friday evening December first the children of First Church Sunday school assembled in the chapel to enjoy an entertainment by W. A. Coles, the blind entertainer, humorist, impersonator and ventriloquist. The entertainment was given at an early hour so that even the youngest child could be present.

It was hard to believe that Mr. Coles was blind, every movement was so assured. He delighted the children; with his humorous stories and the talking dolls were especially fascinating to them.

The entertainment was given free to the Sunday school children, teachers, parents and friends, being arranged by Mr. Charles H. Johnson superintendent of the school.

Fatal Accident

John A. Spogberg, aged 40 years of 10 McDonald street, Quincy, was run over at the corner of North and Union streets, Boston, on Saturday afternoon by a two-horse wagon owned by Wason & Co. He sustained a fracture of both legs above the knee. His right hand was also badly crushed. He was removed to the City Hospital Relief station where he died later. He leaves a widow.

Referred to Ordinance Committee.

COTTAGE AVENUE.

A public hearing was held at 8 o'clock on the petition to widen and accept Cottage avenue. This hearing was necessary because the order passed accepting this street some weeks ago was vetoed, as proper notice had not been given to some of the abutters. The order was recommitted to the Committee on Streets.

A public hearing was held at 8.20 o'clock on the petitions of the N. E. T. & T. Co. for attachments on Woodward avenue, Whitney road, Walker, River, Charles and Silver streets. The order was then recommitted to the Committee on Streets.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

MUNICIPAL LIGHT.

The Special Committee on Municipal Lighting reported an order to submit to the voters of the city the question of establishing a Municipal lighting plant. Under the Revised Laws this order must be passed by two successive City Councils and then be submitted to the voters at a special or regular election.

The report was accepted and the question came on adoption.

Councilman Burgess moved to lay on the table.

Councilman McLane opposed. Many members had received letters from a certain organization. If we lay on table we dodge the matter until after election. Should give people a chance to vote on the question.

Councilman Stone was in favor of the laboring man but did not propose to have any man tell him where he stood We should go careful on this question. We should look into the matter before we involved the city in a large expenditure.

Councilman Gassett thought the matter should go to the people.

Councilman Burgess said we ought to go slow. This report was made up in thirty minutes.

Today's Election

Vote Will Be Much Larger Than Was Expected

It is not expected that the vote at the City election today will reach the grand total of last December when 4,356 were cast. But for the efforts of the No-License league to arouse the voters, and a little flurry over the issue of municipal ownership of lighting plants, the vote would have been light. Indications, however, are that over 4,000 votes will be cast today, and that Mayor Thompson will be reelected by over 500 plurality.

Last year the totals for the Mayoralty candidates were:

THOMPSON, R.	2,582
FALLON, D.	1,518
BATES, S.	189
Blanks	67

Last year Mr. Thompson carried five of the six wards, Ward Four being the only one to go Democratic, the plurality there being 205 for Mr. Fallon. Thompson's pluralities were: 348 in Ward One, 53 in Ward Two, 197 in Ward Three, 498 in Ward Five, and 173 in Ward Six, a net total of 1064.

Indications are that Mayor Thompson will carry at least four wards this year, and possibly Ward Four. Mr. Wilson is expected to carry Ward Two and counts on Ward Four.

Here is the vote by precincts at the last City election, and the number of names on the voting lists last year and this year:

	Voters 1904.	Voters 1905.	Voted 1904.
Ward One, Pre. 1,	468	475	398
Ward One, Pre. 2,	532	540	422

At 2,	351	336	355	364

When Mr. Wilson was a candidate in 1903, he led Mr. Bryant in precinct one, but it is probably to-day that Mayor Thompson will lead in both precincts.

Some independence is being shown by the voters for Councilmen from Ward, and Walter M. Packard may give one of the Republicans a close call.

Prompt returns are promised by the election officers.

WARD TWO.

The Quincy Point ward, in common with the other wards of the city, is getting out a large vote today.

Aside from the interest in the mayoralty question, there is an added interest over the election of ward councilmen, and it is over this question the fight is coming.

This ward last year gave Mayor Thompson a small majority, and while some claim that this year the Democrats will wipe out that majority, others claim that the ward will stand by the Mayor.

On the contest for ward councilmen there seems to be a doubt as to which one of the nominees will get left. There are two Fore River men running for councilmen, and the Fore River voters are supporting them in the hope of securing two representatives in the City Council.

The friends of No-License are also making an earnest effort to get out a large No vote, and there is quite an element working in favor of license.

The auditorship question is also receiving some attention, and the ward will probably vote no on this matter.

The vote at 11 o'clock was ahead of last year.

WARD THREE.

South Quincy, the home ward of Mayor Thompson, is getting out a large vote, the early morning voting at both precincts being larger than a year ago. Precinct one cast 88 votes the first hour and precinct two 60. That the ward will stand by Mayor Thompson and give him a rousing majority there is no doubt.

Aside from the fact that this is the home ward of Mayor Thompson there

GOOD AFTERNOON.

President McCurdy of the Mutual Life Corporation has decided to resign and it may be that soon the McCurdy family will be singing, "Everybody works but Father."

A long list of patent medicines containing alcohol are to be listed with alcoholic drinks and taxed as such. The economical Peruna or Bitters "jag" will then be a thing of the past.

Undoubtedly ex-Mayor Bryant is envious of his successor, Mayor Thompson, because through cars between Quincy and Boston have been established under the latter's administration. No one questions but that Mayor Bryant worked hard to secure this improvement, scarcely a week passing without a communication to the Old Colony street railway, the Boston Elevated railway, or the Railroad Commissioners and there were interviews and hearings. But somehow Mr. Bryant antagonized the companies and when he attempted to force the issue he was not successful.

Mayor Thompson has worked more harmoniously and with the cooperation of President Nichols of the City Council and Representative-elect Hultman, brought about an agreement between the two companies, so that cars are now running every fifteen minutes both ways between Quincy and the Elevated. Next summer the companies may see the wisdom of running cars every ten minutes, perhaps every five minutes. On the other lines cars should also be run oftener.

Quincy should join hands with the united improvement societies of Dorchester and South Boston in their movement in behalf of a new boulevard from Dewey square, Boston, to Neponset.

If such a boulevard is built, it can readily be connected with the Quincy shore boulevard now under construction. There would then be a continuous boulevard from Dewey square via Neponset and Quincy to the Blue Hills reservation.

It is claimed that the proposed new boulevard can be built at a small expense and that it would be of inestimable value to Dorchester and the towns along the South shore.

The proposed route from Dewey square is via Atlantic avenue to the new Cove street bridge then a short distance on Dorchester avenue, to the former roadbed of the Old Colony railroad and thence to Crescent avenue. From that point the proposed boulevard parallels the railroad first on the east side to Pope's Hill, and then on the west side to Neponset.

The improvement is respectfully referred to the Citizens' Association.

BALFOUR RESIGNS

Climax of Cut-and-Dried British Political Program

NEW CABINET PREPARED

Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal Leader, Will Be New Premier --Said to Have Irish Home Rule Policy Which Is Satisfactory

London, Dec. 5.—The political crisis in the United Kingdom reached a climax when Premier Balfour formally tendered the resignations of himself and the members of his cabinet to King Edward, who accepted them. The king will offer Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman the mission of forming a new cabinet. Sir Henry will accept the task and within a few days, even within a few hours, a new government will be formed.

It would now appear that the entire program has been cut and dried for some time and it is even probable that the Liberal leader has already completed his cabinet, though this, like everything else in connection with British officialdom, must be left to surmise.

It may be stated as certain that Lord Rosebery will be entirely ignored in the make-up of the new cabinet and that John Morley will be one of the chief advisors of Sir Henry in drawing up the list of his official family which will be presented to the king. Morley himself is considered likely to go to the Indian office, and it is probable that Mr. Asquith will be chancellor of the exchequer. The foreign affairs portfolio will go either to Lord Elgin or Sir Edward Grey. Aside from these there is a degree of uncertainty.

One thing is certain—that Campbell-Bannerman has explained his attitude on home rule for Ireland to those Liberal leaders who are known to be opposed to home rule on the lines of the last bills introduced in parliament. Since his speech at Stirling, which raised such a furor, Sir Henry has not made any statement, but it is confidently asserted in the Liberal clubs that he is ready with a policy which will secure the adhesion of the Nationalists and at the same time avoid raising the issue as one of the most prominent planks in his platform.

There is some uncertainty as to when the dissolution of parliament will be effective, but it is not considered probable until after the new year.

An interesting feature of the political situation is the prospect of a closer alliance between the Irish and the labor parties in the new parliament. James K. Hardie, the Socialist and Independent member, in a political speech last night, frankly invited such an alliance. He pointed out that 45 labor members, combined with 75 Irish members, would provide a voting strength which no government, however strong, could afford to ignore.

The London newspapers are full of speculations as to the constitution of the new cabinet, but these differ so widely that they are useless as a guide to the distribution of portfolios. The ministry of Campbell-Bannerman must, of necessity, be largely composed of new men, and difficulties will arise from the abundance of eligible candidates. It is believed that the Earl of Aberdeen will be the new lord lieutenant of Ireland and that Herbert Gladstone will be named as secretary of state for the home department.

Mr. Balfour's next public appearance will be among his own constituents at Manchester next Saturday, where he will make a speech explaining the reasons for his resignation and possibly outline the Unionist electoral campaign. The most sanguine members of the Conservative party appear to have not the slightest hope of success at the general election.

Explosion Shook Up "Tenderloin"

Buffalo, Dec. 5.—Buffalo "Tenderloin" was startled last night by a terrific explosion, followed by a shower of bricks and timber. A two-story brick building was completely demolished by an explosion of gas and the windows in all the surrounding houses were smashed by the flying debris. Florence Hogan had gone into the cellar with a lighted taper to locate a leak in the gas pipes. She was terribly burned by the explosion and her body was crushed in the wreckage of the building. Her death is expected.

Abe Hummel's Plea Fails

New York, Dec. 5.—Abraham H. Hummel, the lawyer indicted for conspiracy in connection with the Dodge-Morse divorce case, contended that the newspaper publications regarding the divorce case had been such that a fair trial in New York county was impossible and applied for a change of venue. Justice Truax of the supreme court denied the application.

SUFFOLK GRAND JURY

New District Attorney Refuses to Recognize It

Boston, Dec. 5.—John B. Moran, who was elected district attorney for Suffolk county as a candidate on nomination papers, opened his term of service by refusing to appear before the grand jury to present evidence in the cases which had been submitted to that body by the lower courts. Moran declined to give any reason for his action or to discuss the matter in any way.

After the jurors had waited for some time for the district attorney's appearance they filed into the superior court room and requested Judge DeCourcey to instruct them. The court informed the jurors that the consideration of the cases was in the hands of the district attorney and that they should do as he told them. Subsequently the grand jury adjourned until today. A large number of witnesses who were present were also excused.

The explanation of Moran's attitude, suggested at the courthouse, was that he was dissatisfied with the personnel of the jury. It was recalled that during his canvass for the office he made a public statement that if he were elected the present grand jury would do no more indicting, that they would go to their homes and that their conduct would never be imitated by their successors.

Favored Schedule as Maximum

Washington, Dec. 5.—A new plan for preventing discrimination in railroad rates is the most striking suggestion put forward by Attorney General Moody in his annual report. In essence this plan contemplates giving to some administrative body the power to fix as the "reasonable" rate in a given case of discrimination the special rate given to the favored shipper. Mr. Moody believes that the mere existence of this power would work to restrain both the railroads and those stronger shipping interests which now try to secure special rate favors.

Gold Heart For President

Washington, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt was yesterday presented with a heart of unalloyed gold, enclosed in a handsome case, bearing this inscription: "From the heart of the Rocky mountains, this symbol of pure Colorado gold is sent by men, women and children, rich and poor, sharing alike to Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, whose great heart brought peace to the people of Japan and Russia. Thanksgiving day, 1905, A. D." The money to pay for the gift was raised by popular subscription.

President Discusses Football

Washington, Dec. 5.—Among President Roosevelt's guests at luncheon yesterday were W. T. Reid, head coach of the Harvard football squad, and Herbert White, connected with the athletic association of the same institution. It is stated that no conclusions of a definite character were reached. The president is anxious that the game of football, as a college sport, should not be abandoned, but he strongly favors a modification of the rules.

Failure of Contempt Cases

Kansas City, Dec. 5.—Judge Philipps has decided that his court is without jurisdiction in the cases brought here by the federal government, charging the Missouri Pacific, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and other railways with giving rebates on shipments of salt in Kansas and on coal in Colorado, and other products in violation of the Elkins act. The motion of the railways to quash the proceedings was granted.

Dispensaries Must Pay Tax

Washington, Dec. 5.—The supreme court of the United States has decided that the national government may properly tax the state liquor dispensaries of South Carolina. An action had been instituted by the state of South Carolina to recover $20,000 paid to the revenue officers of the national government on account of the sale of liquors by the state and county dispensers under the dispensary law.

Laborers Wanted For Canal

He is prepared to enter into contracts with them, which can be enforced either in the courts of Jamaica or in the canal zone.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. CZAR IS IN PERIL

Situation In Russia More Desperate Than Ever

NATIONAL RUIN IS NEAR

Mutiny of Troops and Deadly Rioting--Czar Reported Ready For Flight--Sinister Aspect of the Russian Capital

London, Dec. 5.—More desperate than at any time since the internal troubles began is the situation in Russia, as shown by the brief news items sent out from the strike-ridden empire by correspondents. The empire is almost entirely cut off from the outside world by the telegraph strike, and the most momentous events may have occurred before this without the knowledge of the rest of the world.

Complete chaos reigns through the dominions of the czar, another great mutiny of troops has taken place in the Baltic provinces, deadly rioting has occurred at Kieff, and the Hebrews of Odessa momentarily expect another terrible massacre. Efforts are being made by the autocratic party to oust Count Witte and proclaim a military dictatorship.

Everywhere it is believed that the life of the czar is in peril and that national ruin is near.

In Moscow the situation is desperate, the city is practically cut off from the rest of Europe, troops fill the streets, and it is feared that serious rioting has occurred.

A decisive meeting of the League of Leagues is expected to be held today in St. Petersburg, where a project for a constituent assembly will be adopted and a demand for its acceptance will be presented to Premier Witte. The league will wait for an answer until Wednesday, and in case the government refuses to grant the demand the League of Leagues is resolved, it is understood, to act independently in accordance with what it declares to be the wishes of the people.

It is reported from Cronstadt that a German squadron has been sighted in the Baltic sea, near the Russian coast. Rumor attributes the appearance of the squadron as preparatory to the flight of the Russian imperial family.

Agrarian and anti-Jewish outbreaks are reported to have occurred in the governments of Chernigoff, Terek, Kursh and Kasan.

According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris Journal serious difficulties have arisen in the ministry, resulting in an acute crisis. The Socialists, the correspondent, says, have informed the government that if the postmen should be replaced by soldiers an appeal would be made to the people to take up arms against the government.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris Matin describes the sinister aspect of the Russian capital. He says that patrols are everywhere, that the doors and windows of houses are closed, that stores are barricaded, and that Cossacks are camping in the streets. There is no news from other parts of the empire, says the correspondent, who adds:

"The postal employes held a great meeting at which a commissary of police appeared. He advised the employes to disperse and threatened that if they did not do so they would be suppressed by the military. The chairman of the meeting told the commissary that the men were prepared to offer armed resistance. The meeting then continued without further interruption."

Dowager Empress' Good Offices

Helsingfors, via Stockholm, Dec. 5.—Five of the members of the new senate were banished during Governor General Bobrikoff's term of office and two others deprived of their posts by the central administration. The new president of the supreme court was exiled in 1904, while five other members now reappointed to the supreme court were dismissed. The papers attribute the appointment of the new senate to the influence of the dowager empress.

Finns Importing Munitions

Stockholm, Dec. 5.—Great quantities of arms and ammunition are being imported to Finland. Every steamer departing for Finland from Sweden carries 100 pounds of ammunition, the limit allowed under Swedish law for passenger steamers. Every available revolver has been shipped, as well as large quantities of discarded Swedish army guns.

Deity and Czar Rejected

St. Petersburg, via Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, Dec. 5.—News comes from a little village on the borders of the Baltic, where the people have organized the "republic of Novargansk," that they have issued a manifesto abolishing the rule, not only of the czar but of the Deity, which has been read in the churches and the popular assembly halls.

Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America presided at a meeting of the national executive board in session at headquarters. Mitchell has recovered from his sickness.

"Open Shop" For Typos

Washington, Dec. 5.—The Washington Typothetae have posted notices in all their shops containing the announcement that after Jan. 1, 1906, their business will be conducted as "open shops."

Three Concerns Burned Out

Middleboro, Mass., Dec. 5.—A fire, which at one time threatened the entire business section of the town, broke out this morning and before it was under control had destroyed property valued at $30,000. The principal loss falls on Jones Bros., undertakers and furniture dealers, in whose store the flames were first discovered. The fire soon spread to the store of the Miller Supply company, grocery dealers, and from there to the small store of W. H. Ladbury, sporting goods.

Lenient Board of Pardons

Hartford, Dec. 5.—The state board of pardons yesterday heard the petitions for freedom of 27 prisoners and granted pardons to five. Of the prisoners to be liberated was John Leverty, who was serving a term of 15 years for criminal assault, while another, Charles H. North, was serving a 10-year term for assault with intent to kill. The others were serving short terms.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

MADE A DIRECTOR

Brockway's Reward For Insuring In the Mutual Life

SALARY OF $300 A WEEK

President Burnham Demanded $6000 From Him and Got It to Secure Publication of Articles Favorable to the Company

New York, Dec. 5.—The most interesting development in the legislative life insurance investigation yesterday was contained in the testimony of Horace H. Brockway, a hotel proprietor and director of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, who said that he had given $6000 to President F. A. Burnham of that company at the demand of Burnham in 1898.

Mr. Brockway told the committee that Burnham told him that if he would take out a policy in the Mutual Reserve that he would make him a director. Brockway then took out policies amounting to $6000. After having been a director for some time he was put on the payroll of the company at $300 a week, received that salary for four months and then it was cut to $200 a week.

Asked what he did to earn that money, he said he looked over some loans for the company, was consulted by policyholders as to whether the company was a good one to insure in and did whatever he was asked to do. He had been getting $300 a week eight weeks when Burnham demanded the $6000.

What Burnham did with that money was shown by the subsequent testimony of G. D. Eldredge, vice president and actuary of the Mutual Reserve, who told the committee that Burnham told him he had given it to Pilary Bell, a newspaper man and publicity agent of the company, to secure the publication of articles favorable to the company at a time when it was being criticised in the newspapers. Bell said that he could accomplish much more with the money if he were not compelled to report to the company just what he expended it for.

Mr. Brockway said he is still a director of the company. The reason why Burnham was not called before the committee was given by his physician, who told the committee that Burnham is too sick to appear or even make a deposition.

Vice President Eldredge also told the committee that his company had much trouble with Andrew J. Clunie when he was superintendent of insurance of California, and in six years from 1897 paid Thomas J. Clunie, the commissioner's brother, $7500 in counsel fees to represent the company before the insurance department and legislature of that state.

Mr. Hughes was investigating the returns of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company with the New York state insurance department when the committee adjourned until today. Vice President Eldredge had been on the stand nearly all day.

Senator Armstrong, chairman of the committee, says that the committee expects to finish its work by Dec. 31, but that if it does not, the committee will not pass out of existence when the legislature assembles unless that body so orders.

Football Is Dangerous

New York, Dec. 5.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of Harold R. Moore, who was killed while playing half-back for the Union college football eleven during a game against New York university, returned a verdict stating that death was due to an accident and that "said game as now played is dangerous to life and limb."

Rioters Wrecked Pressroom

Budapest, Dec. 5.—The hostility to universal suffrage manifested in some quarters developed into riotous scenes last night when workmen attacked the offices of the Budapest Hirlap, broke all the windows and entered and wrecked the pressroom. The occupants of the building fired on the rioters, who finally were dispersed by the police.

Sensation Failed to Develope

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick was taken into the federal bankruptcy court upon her own request for the purpose, as she stated, of completing her testimony as to some of her financial dealings. Nothing of importance was brought out and the hearing ended with Mrs. Chadwick in a condition bordering on collapse.

Wants Murderers Executed

Hong Kong, Dec. 5.—Julius G. Lay, the American consul general at Canton, who has just completed his investigation into the recent murder of five Presbyterian missionaries at Lienchau, insists on the execution of the murderers before the commission of inquiry leaves Lienchau.

Steamer Sunk on Reef

St. Johns, Dec. 5.—The Swedish steamship Lagom was blown on a reef off Tilt Cove, N. F., during a severe blizzard and sank within 15 minutes. The crew was saved. Four schooners were driven off shore in the storm and none of them has yet returned here.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Vermont Farmer Charged With Killing a Woodchopper

Woodstock, Vt., Dec. 5.—William Allard, the Bridgewater farmer, who was arrested Saturday night, charged with killing Thomas McCormick, a woodchopper, with an axe, was, after a hearing before Justice Cox in the local court, held without bail for a special session of the Windsor grand jury.

Ten witnesses were heard, the principal one being the wife of the accused man. She said that the two men were quarreling most of the day, McCormick claiming that he ought to receive more wages. The dispute became so heated that Mrs. Allard went to the village to get an officer to take McCormick away. She returned without one and in the evening went to a neighbor's house and persuaded two of them to go home with her. When they arrived McCormick's body was lying on the steps. Several other witnesses heard the men quarreling and one or two saw them drinking together.

E. A. Thomas, the local jailor, said that Allard was apparently sober when he was brought to the jail, and he heard him say to himself: "I suppose I shall have to hang for this."

Finding In Railroad Disaster

Concord, Mass., Dec. 5.—Judge Keyes, before whom the inquest on the fatal railroad wreck at Baker Bridge was held, finds that Horace M. Lyons, engineer of the head engine of the Montreal express, was the cause of the wreck. The Boston and Maine railroad is severely censured for its system of running express trains so close behind local trains and for "detailing new and inexperienced and overworked engineers to such dangerous runs as these of express trains." Lyons had been promoted from fireman to engineer five months before, and had never run an express passenger train in the night.

Carnegie at Boston Banquet

Boston, Dec. 5.—With Andrew Carnegie as the chief guest of honor, the Scots' Charitable society last night celebrated the 248th anniversary of its foundation with a reception and banquet at the Hotel Somerset. Hon. John D. Long responded to the toast "The United States." There was no response to the toast "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts," owing to the illness of Governor-elect Guild, who was to have represented the state. The toast "Old Scotland and New England" was responded to by Carnegie. When he was presented to the gathering there was a great demonstration.

Express Train's Narrow Escape

Wakefield, Mass., Dec. 5.—Investigation following an unusual occurrence resulted in the discovery of the fourth unsuccessful attempt to wreck a train at this point by lodging a fishplate in the switch. The swerving of the engine and the fact that the wheels left the track caused the engineer of the North Berwick express to reverse his brakes and bring his train to a standstill on the Boston and Maine railroad near the Boston Ice company's storehouse at 5:30 yesterday afternoon. The investigation followed.

Female Prisoner Tries Suicide

New York, Dec. 5.—Several score of women prisoners, locked in their cells in the workhouse on Blackwell's island, were thrown into a panic last night when Lena Hoffman, 28 years old, attempted to burn herself to death by setting fire to her clothing which she had thrown into a corner of her cell. The woman was removed to a hospital, suffering from severe burns about the head and body.

Caught In Tunnel and Killed

New York, Dec. 5.—Three laborers were killed and four others seriously hurt in the Erie railroad tunnel in Jersey City. They were struck by a train which rounded a curve a short distance from them and was upon the little party before the men had time to step off the track where they were working.

TO SUCCEED PLATT

Federal Official Says That It Is Roosevelt's Ambition

New York, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt will be a candidate to succeed Thomas C. Platt in the United States senate when Platt's term expires in 1909, according to the statement of a high federal official here, who claimed to have received direct advices from Washington. Republican politicians here are electrified over the announcement.

The only precedent is that of John Quincy Adams, who, after retiring as president, in 1824, became a member of congress. Roosevelt's ambition to remain chief of his party in his home state, as well as in the nation, after handing over the presidency, as he hopes, to Elihu Root, is furnished as one explanation of his reported plan to succeed Platt.

The president's intervention in the state leadership fight, which so puzzled politicians, is alleged by the same authority to have been merely a move to clear the way for himself. The one man he believes to be in his path is Benjamin Odell, Jr. And he has, it is said, announced his determination to dethrone Odell.

Trying to Find Mrs Dean

Boston, Dec. 5.—Circulars bearing the photograph and description of Mary S. Dean, who is now being sought far and wide as the one person needed before the last chapter of the "suit case" atrocity may be written, are to be prepared and sent broadcast by Chief Watts. Against Mrs. Dean there stands an indictment by the grand jury charging her with being the principal in the events that brought about the death of Susan Geary, the "suit case" victim.

Senator Clay Has Bad Spell

Washington, Dec. 5.—Senator Clay of Georgia was attacked with acute indigestion while on the street. He staggered into the hallway of a house, moaning, "I am dying. Get a doctor at once," and fell in agony on the floor. A physician was promptly summoned and it required two hours' work before he pronounced Clay out of danger and had him removed to his apartments. The senator is improving slowly.

Railroads In Receiver's Hands

Cincinnati, Dec. 5.—The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the Pere Marquette railroads have been ordered placed in the hands of a receiver by Judge Lurton, and Judson Harmon was appointed receiver, giving bond for $200,000. Application for receiver was made by Walter B. Horn of New York, a creditor of both roads, the defendants admitting the principal charges of insolvency.

Last Effort For Mary Rogers

Hoosick Falls, N. Y., Dec. 5.—C. A. McCarthy of this place left here last night for Rutland, Vt., where he will confer with Messrs. Butler, Moloney and Flinn with regard to legal efforts to save Mary M. Rogers from the gallows on Friday. This is a final conference, and one of the attorneys named will be selected to approach Governor Bell in the interest of the condemned woman.

Cold Water on Dunne Hobbies

Chicago, Dec. 5.—A triple reverse was administered to Mayor Dunne at last night's session of the city council, for the aldermen rejected his policy both on gas rates and municipal ownership of street railways. A resolution providing for the investigation of gas rates and cost of production by a committee was passed in opposition to the wishes of the mayor.

Prosecutions Not Looked For

Havana, Dec. 5.—The court has ordered the release on $300 bail each of upward of 20 persons who were charged with attempting a rebellion against the government. While evidence is being taken against persons suspected of participating in the insurrectionary movement, it is not likely that any of them will be prosecuted.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

A bit more heat in the Atlantic station would be appreciated these cold mornings.

Election Extras of the Daily Ledger tonight at 6, 7, and 8 o'clock with the latest returns.

Ex-Councilman H. M. Federhen Jr., was in town Monday, and was at City Hall in the evening.

Miss Mabel Drew of Walker street was one of a selected quartette at West Quincy on Sunday evening.

Mrs. W. W. Ewell, of Foster street, will entertain the Harmony whist club, at her home on Friday afternoon.

Walter E. Loud of Washington street returned Saturday from a five weeks' concert trip through the southern states.

Silsby lodge, K. and L. of H., of Brockton, will visit Maple lodge in Wilson's hall tomorrow evening, arriving on a special car.

Miss Helen Curtin of Atlantic street, who has been home for the Thanksgiving vacation, has returned to her school duties in New Hampshire.

There will be a fine social and entertainment at the Quincy Point church on Thursday evening. A charge of 25 cents will be made for the supper, but it is worth more.

A grand bazaar opens this evening at the Universalist church, when a baked bean supper will be followed by a dramatic entertainment. On the tables will be found very acceptable holiday gifts.

The influx of visitors into Atlantic on Thanksgiving day indicated the extending of hospitality among the towns people rather than the acceptance of it from friends and relatives outside.

The No-License campaign was closed last evening by a rally in Quincy Point ward at the hall of the Unity club. The speakers were Rev. A. R. Atwood, Rev. E. C. Mitchell, Frank E. Parlin and Daniel Higgins, one of the candidates for the City Council.

Miss Alice Coe of Billings street gave an invitation sale of hand-painted china at her home on Saturday afternoon. The display was eloquent of Miss Coe's talent, and those who attended availed themselves of this excellent chance to purchase Christmas gifts.

Election Extras Tonight

As usual on the date of the City Election, the Daily Ledger will print Election Extras early this evening, which will be for sale by all agents. It is expected the returns will be prompt.

Newsboys are wanted at 6 P. M. Boys unknown to the Daily Ledger must make a deposit of 25 cents before they can obtain papers to sell, which later will be refunded.

Election Officers.

Owing to the resignations of Walter M. Packard as warden of Ward One, precinct two, and of Andrew Anderson, deputy inspector of Ward Four, precinct two, both being candidates for councilmen, Mayor Thompson has made appointments to fill the vacancies, as follows: Phillip D. Cook has been appointed warden of precinct two, Ward One, and Alfred J. Le Croix as inspector. In Ward Four, Robert J. Hayes has been appointed deputy inspector in precinct two.

Thompson and No.

A largely attended and enthusiastic rally under the auspices of the Scandinavian club was held last night at Plumers hall. Theodore Hermanson presided, and addresses were made by Mayor Thompson, Principal Assessor C. H. Johnson, Councilmen Piper and Crane, Assessor Julius Johnson and Representative-elect E. J. Sandberg. The club voted to support Mayor Thompson and to vote No on the license and auditor questions.

MAYORALTY VOTE FOR 12 YEARS.

Quincy does not always go Republican at City elections, but in the past twelve years has elected six Republicans, five Democrats and one Independent. In 1893 James Thompson received 1386 votes and was defeated. In 1904 he received 2582 votes, the largest total of any mayoralty candidate since Quincy became a city, and was triumphantly elected. Here is the vote for twelve years:

The order granting the Old Colony Street Railway Co., a location for a double track on Hancock street, and a relocation on Sagamore street, took its second reading. The rules were suspended, and the order passed to be ordained.

Annual Ball,

The first annual concert and ball of the Quincy Associates was held Monday evening at Music hall, and was largely attended. From 8 to 9 o'clock there was a promenade concert which was followed by dancing. The floor was in charge of Benson E. Myett, Michael F. Scannell, James E. Moorehead, John W. Fitzgerald, Joseph J. Kelley and a large corps of aids.

John A. Connell was chairman of the executive committee, Joseph J. Kelley the secretary and James E. Moorehead the treasurer.

The reception committee was headed by Benson Myett, the president of the club.

is quite a contest on hand over the election of Ward Councilmen. Besides the regular Republican nominees there are two candidates whose names appear on the ballot by nomination papers. These are John B. Sutherland and James A. Hayes. Both of these gentlemen have a large following and feel confident of election.

On the other hand, the chances are that the ward going Republican on the head of the ticket will greatly favor the election of the three Republicans.

The first precinct, which is the one whose returns are usually the last to be received, promise this election to get their returns in more promptly.

WARD FOUR.

The early morning hours at West Quincy were marked by heavy voting. The usual rush hour in this ward is between 12 and 1 o'clock. Today, however, they are voting early. This is true not only of precinct two, the Republican precinct, but also of precinct one, the Democratic precinct. Both parties are claiming the ward. The Democrats claim that the ward will hold its old-time place as the big Democratic ward of the city. On the other hand, the Republicans claim that the vote here will surprise people.

The Republican rallying committee have been hard at work, and the claim is made that it would not be at all surprising if the ward went Republican this year as it did in the time of the Hammond campaign. It is, however, certain that the three Democratic councilmen will be elected.

WARD FIVE.

The Wollaston ward is about holding its own with a year ago. Everything about the polls is quiet. One reason is that there are are no local contests. But three have been nominated for Councilmen and as three are to be elected. Messrs. Hull, Nichols and Polk will have a walkover.

The voting during the morning hours was a little less than a year ago, although at noon, the total vote cast was practically the same, namely 460.

But the rush was expected between 12 and 1 o'clock so that at the latter hour there were, but a few votes different in the total.

That the ward will give Mayor Thompson a good majority there is no question.

The ballot box is not working just right. It does not mangle the ballots as at one election, but it does not register correctly. Up to noon the number on the box was 26 behind the actual number of votes cast.

WARD SIX.

Things are lively in the Atlantic ward although the total vote at noon was but little more than that of a year ago. In precinct one 240 votes had been cast at noon, while at precinct two the number was 215.

Aside from the office of Mayor, there are two local contests that are bringing out the votes, so that it is expected that the ward will cast a larger vote than last year.

Of the local contests that which is exciting the most interest is Ward Councilman. Four names appear on the official ballot, three Republicans and Democrats. The friends of Councilman McLane feel sure that he will be one of the three elected, and it is also believed that Councilman Sawyer will be returned. Who the third man will be is a question of doubt. Some say Hobbs, and others Moir.

The second contest is for school Committee from the Ward. The feeling is about divided between Dr. Bruce the Republican candidate and Mr. Duggan the Democratic candidate. Both are good men.

If Mothers Only Knew!

Nine times out of ten when children are out of sorts a few doses of Dr. True's Elixir will make them well, strong and happy. If worms are present they will be expelled. If there are no worms True's Elixir acts as a gentle tonic laxative. It cleans out the stomach and bowels, and turns the scale in favor of health by aiding and strengthening the digestion. Unsuspected Worms cause so much illness in children that it is a custom in many families to give

Over Two to One.

Mayor Thompson Handsomely Re-elected by Increased Plurality.

Vote Against License Was Over Three to One; Yes Vote Smaller.

Councilman Sidelinger and McLane Defeated for Reelection; Also James F. Burke of School Board.

Municipal ownership did not "cut much of a figure" in the Municipal election in Quincy yesterday. George H. Wilson who stood on that platform received an unusually small vote.

It was not upon that issue, however, that the election was fought, nor was it particularly a Republican triumph, but a grand victory for Mayor Thompson, who was a candidate for reelection.

The Mayoralty vote was as follows:

THOMPSON, R.	2,822
WILSON, D.	1,178
WHITING, S.	147
Blanks	67

The total vote was only 140 less than the big total of last year, but Mayor Thompson's vote is larger, and his plurality of 1644 is over fifty per cent larger than his phenomenal plurality of last year.

The Republican candidates at large for the City Council are all elected by handsome pluralities, having twice as many votes as Patrick W. Driscoll the leading Democrat.

Two Councilmen from ward who were candidates for reelection were defeated, W. F. Sidelinger, Republican in Ward Two, and B. A. McLane, Democrat in Ward Six, so that the City Council of 1906 will have only ten experienced members, viz: Messrs. Bass, Chase, Crane and Piper at large; Stone in Ward Two, Spargo in Ward Three, Flaherty in Ward Four, President Nichols and Mr. Polk in Ward Five, and Sawyer in Ward Six.

Ward One has an entirely new delegation, Messrs. Cannon, Gelotte and Gilson.

Arthur C. Beal of Ward Six is a new Councilman at large.

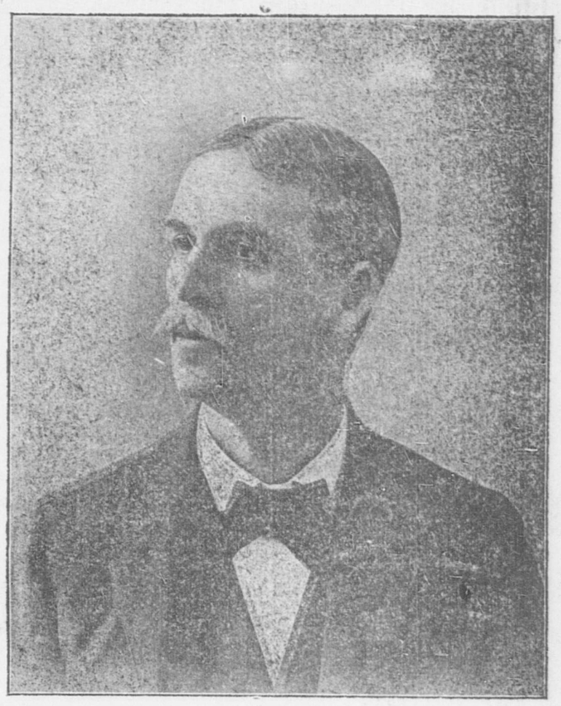

William T. Donovan and Hermann W. Gross are new Councilmen from Ward Two, and William H. Deacon and George Hunter from Ward Three.

TO-NIGHT!

SALE and SUPPER

At First Presbyterian Church, Water Street. Useful and Fancy Articles, Groceries, Ice Cream and Candy.

Admission, 10 cents.
Supper from 6 to 8 o'clock, 15 cents.
Dec 6. 1t

Ward Four sends a new Democrat, Charles J. McGilvray, and by way of surprise sends J. Leonard Ferguson, a Republican.

Ward Five will initiate Wendell H. Hull and Ward Six send as new men Ralph W. Hobbs and John Moir.

The turn over in the School Committee could not be more complete. James H. Churchill at large and Dr. F. J. Pierce did not care to make a contest and both parties made nominations for both places. Arthur W. Newcomb, Republican, is elected at large by 734 plurality, and John A. Duggan, Democrat, wins by a close vote in Ward Six. In Ward Four there was a surprise when James F. Burke was defeated for re-election by Charles H. Owens, Republican.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Congratulations to Mayor Thompson upon his handsome reelection as the executive of the City of Presidents for the year 1906. In a total vote 140 smaller than last year, His Honor is elected by a plurality 580 larger. A plurality of 1644 in a city with only 5300 names upon its voting lists, where there were three candidates for the mayoralty, is almost unprecedented. It was tremendous.

Mayor Thompson in joking with a friend at City Hall on election night, facetiously enquired, what would have been the plurality if "weak" appointments had not been made? But it could not have been much larger than it was.

The Mayor's total is over 200 larger than last year, while Mr. Wilson received over 300 less than Peter T. Fallon, and Mr. Whiting about 50 less than G. B. Bates. Mayor Thompson has every reason to feel very proud of the endorsement of the voters.

The city is to be congratulated upon the largest No-License majority ever recorded. The No vote was larger than ever. Perhaps the most encouraging feature, however, was the fact that the Yes vote fell below 1000. It is the first time since 1892.

Since 1902 the Yes vote has been dwindling from 1346 to 1170, to 1094, and now to 957. The blank votes on the license question were also smaller than any year since 1899, and is another very pleasing feature.

It is gratifying to note that Quincy is to continue as strong a No-License city since the death of Henry H. Faxon as before. That the work of this great apostle of temperance will be a power for many years there is no doubt, and it is as he would have wished.

No-License means continued prosperity for Quincy, and has become the settled policy of the city. May there never be a wavering or a change.

Quincy's enviable record since the local-option law went into effect follows:

Money Needed For Canal Work

Washington, Dec. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw sent to Speaker Cannon estimates aggregating $16,500,000 for continuing the work on the Panama canal from Dec. 1, 1905, to June 30, 1906. Secretary Shaw sent with the estimates a letter from acting Secretary of War Oliver, in which he urged immediate action.

Labrador Illustrated

The Men's club of Christ Church held its third monthly meeting of the season on Monday evening. There was a full attendance and an excellent program.

After the business meeting President W. L. Thomas introduced Col. Edward Anderson who spoke on "Labrador." The address was illustrated by fifty lantern slides, those of Dr. Grenfelt and his work receiving the most applause.

The entertainment included vocal solos by Mr. William Wardle, Mr. J. H. Stedman and Mr. John R. Emery; whistling solo by Mr. Arthur Thomas and a buck and wing dance by Mr. Westley A. Beaulieu; Mr. Wendell Luce was the accompainest. Refreshments were served at ten o'clock. The next meeting in January will be the annual banquet and ladies' night.

CHARITIES.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)
The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889
The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.
Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble Institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.
The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CITY BREVITIES.

Two teams from the Jamaica Plain A. A. will play basket ball with the St. Mary's at West Quincy on Saturday evening.

Some guesses have already been recorded on that big lump of coal in the office window of C. Patch & Son, which is said to weigh less than a ton.

—The Christmas music at the Channing Unitarian church, Newton, will be excellent. The soloists at this rich suburban church will appear with the Philharmonic Orchestral Club at the concert to be given under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht Club in the Music hall, Tuesday evening, December 19. They are William F. and Carl W. Dodge, violinist and 'cellist of almost national reputation.

NOTICE.

The business of Funeral Undertaker, for many years carried on in Quincy by the late John Hall, my father, will in the future be conducted by me.

While I know that I cannot fill the place in public esteem that a long life of faithful service gave to him, I wish to say that I shall use my best endeavors to meet the requirements of all occasions that may arise, and I ask his friends and mine to believe that I shall not fail in an earnest effort to make good his loss.

I will add that the business is now thoroughly equipped in regard to men well trained to the duties of the work, and in other respects I am fully qualified to give prompt and efficient attention. JOHN HALL.

Negro Suspected of Murder

Kingston, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Oscar Harrison, aged 23, was murdered at a lonely spot in the country near here. He was previously seen in company with a negro named Cornell Van Gaasbeek. Harrison's body was found in Van Gaasbeek's cabin, the skull crushed apparently by a hammer. A search for Van Gaasbeek is in progress. After being away with a theatrical company since last September young Harrison returned home Thanksgiving day. He constantly was in the company of Van Gaasbeek.

Human Bones In a Cellar

New York, Dec. 6.—While the police of the "Tenderloin" precinct were examining a house from which the occupants were dispossessed under police proceedings they found a human skull in a pile of rubbish in the cellar. The floor of the cellar was torn up and 20 human bones found. Coroner Scholer said that everything pointed to murder. He found a fracture at the base of the skull and in his opinion the teeth missing from the jaws had been knocked out by a blow with a heavy instrument.

BAY STATE ELECTIONS

Result of Mayoralty Contests and Local Option Vote

Boston, Dec. 6.—Where national politics obtained, the Republicans were generally successful in the annual elections held in 13 Massachusetts cities. There were no material changes in the political sentiment, but one city, Fitchburg, after a year of liquor selling, decided against the sale during the coming year.

Socialists showed strength in the shoe cities of Brockton and Haverhill. In Fitchburg, Gloucester and New Bedford candidates for all the offices ran on independent tickets or nomination papers. Of the eight mayors who were candidates for re-election, seven were successful, and one, Mayor Eldredge of Taunton, was badly defeated. Following is a list of mayors elected and the vote on the license question:

		Yes.	No.
Brockton	F. Bradford (R)	3,478	4,627
Fit'burg	J. McMahan (I. C.)	2,232	2,527

Five Weeks of Misery

New York, Dec. 6.—Steamship Gerty, from Austrian and Italian ports, has arrived with 790 immigrants. For the better part of the trip they were shut between decks because of rough weather. They had been frightened into at least one panic, a woman had gone insane from terror, fire had started down in the engine space at night, the ship had been in total darkness, the drinking water got salty, a passenger was choked and robbed and death had claimed three victims during the five weeks' trip.

Macedonia Reforms Accepted

Constantinople, Dec. 6.—The council of ministers has agreed to yield to the demands of the powers in principle. It seems that the war minister refused to sign the ministerial note on the subject, which is couched in conciliatory terms, and pronounces in favor of the acceptance in principle of the requirements of the European concert. The sultan is waiting unanimity on the part of the ministers before sanctioning their action.

Big Concerns Consolidate

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 6.—One of the largest consolidations in the history of Alabama has been reported to the secretary of state by officers of the Southern Steel company of Gadsden, a corporation with a capital stock of $16,000,000. The new company represents a consolidation of all the interests of the Alabama Steel and Wire company of Gadsden and the Underwood Coal and Iron company of Blount county.

Roundabout Communication

Washington, Dec. 6.—In response to a cable inquiry from the state department as to the state of communication between Berlin and St. Petersburg, Ambassador Tower replied that telegraph communication between the two capitals is entirely suspended and that rail communication exists only from Berlin to Eydtkuhnen, a town on the border between German and Russian Poland.

Against Ticket Speculators

Albany, Dec. 6.—The right of a theatre manager to refuse tickets sold by a sidewalk speculator was upheld by the court of appeals. The action was brought by W. H. Collister, a ticket speculator, who sought to recover $4000 which he alleged he lost through the action of the defendants in preventing him from carrying on his business in front of their theatre.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address:

IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

Royal Society of Good Fellows Will Be Wound Up

Boston, Dec. 6.—Judge Lowell has appointed Frederick P. Cabot of Boston receiver of the supreme assembly of the Royal Society of Good Fellows, a Rhode Island fraternal benefit association, with subordinate offices in this city. The association was created by a charter of the Rhode Island legislature granted Feb. 23, 1882.

By the action of the court the supreme assembly of the Royal Society of Good Fellows is practically dissolved, as the receiver is empowered to wind up the affairs of the organization. The estimated assets amount to $25,000 in hand. This fund is to be applied as far as it will go to the liquidation of $168,000 in death claims accrued at the time the bill for the receivership was brought. It is expected that the beneficiaries will realize about 10 percent on their claims. Receiver Cabot qualified by presenting his bond of $20,000 to the court and having it approved.

Change In District Attorneys

Boston, Dec. 6.—United States District Attorney M. O. Adams has announced his resignation from office. He was appointed Jan. 2 of this year, succeeding H. P. Moulton, who died Dec. 5, 1904. A. P. French, district attorney for southeastern Massachusetts, has been named as Adams' successor. Adams' resignation has been forwarded to Washington and accepted, but just when it will take effect has not been decided. The resignation came as a great surprise to Adams' associates, who had no idea he was contemplating such a move.

Suspected of Being Firebug

Boston, Dec. 6.—I. H. Jennings, watchman of a large building on Sudbury street, in which there have already been a number of fires, one of which endangered life, was arrested early this morning as he was fleeing from the building, in the basement of which another fire was burning briskly. Jennings was locked up on suspicion. The fire was soon extinguished, but an examination showed that it was of incendiary origin.

DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION.

Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution held their Decemeber meeting on Monday afternoon at the birthplace of President John Adams. Owing to the cold weather and it being almost impossible to heat the house comfortably only a few members were present. Hon. Charles Francis Adams is to assist the chapter in securing a fine oil painting to be placed in the room in which John Adams was born and the chapter has decided that its next work will be the proper fitting up of the room. In January on the 27th the chapter is to celebrate its tenth anniversary. Just in what manner has not been decided but probably will be at the regular meeting on New Years' day.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

In Mrs. Decker's greeting in the December Federation Bulletin she expressed three wishes, two of which we quote as follows: "First, I wish that we may study and learn happiness. It is not, as we have believed, an inheritance, a birthright. No, it is a science to be studied and practised, like any other grace or accomplishment. As I tore off my quotation calender this morning, I read this—a good omen: 'Blessed are the happiness-makers: they represent the best forces of civilization. They are to the heart and home what the honeysuckle is to the door over which it climbs. There are bitter, heart-breaking sorrows for all of us, it is true, and we must bend to them at times; but the minor ills of life, the daily pin-pricks, the usual disappointments, may be conquered by a persistent taking hold of one's self and a resolve to see only the bright side. If we practise laughter instead of weeping, in a generation there will be no need for hospitals for the insane. "The second wish is that the clubwomen may have work, not only the home duties, the loving ministrations of wife, mother, teacher and friend, but a bit also of the world's work. There is no pleasure like it, there is no education of books equal to it, there is no satisfaction to be compared to that which one feels in having been even the smallest factor in the world-building process—work, cheerful, happy work, with the hands, head and heart.

Monday was home afternoon with the Milton Woman's club. The meeting was held in the parlors of the First Parish church at Milton Centre, and was in charge of Mrs. Arthur L. Hibbard. Miss Beal of the Consumers' League was the speaker, and spoke most interestingly.

One of the objects for which the educational department of the Brockton Woman's club is working is the acquiring of funds sufficient to start a kindergarten among foreign element of the city.

Several clubs are preparing to observe "President's day" among them the Brockton club the date being Jan. 15.

The Reading Women's club has secured Mr. Marshall Darrack of New York to recite "Twelfth Night" at an open meeting of the club on the afternoon of Jan. 12th.

The last meeting of the Dorchester Woman's club was not only exceedingly entertaining but instructive as well. Miss Flora MacDonald spoke on "Interior Decorations" a plea for the home beautiful and artistic. She used for illustration, wall paper, textiles for draperies and made suggestions for inexpensive floor coverings. On Dec. 12th Rev. Henry G. Spaulding will speak on Hawthorne's "Marble Faun," illustrated by stereopticon views.

The Newton Federation of Women's clubs has nominated a woman for the school board of that city, who also has received the indorsment of the Democrats Independent Republicans and the citizens. A woman on the Quincy board might be of benefit to the city.

Over Two To One.

The new law permitting the election of City Auditor for a term of three years was not accepted.

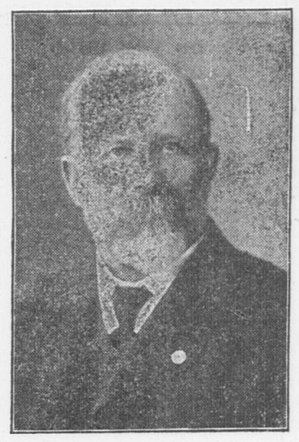

The revised figures and totals for all candidates are given at the bottom of the first page.

THE RETURNS.

The returns both official and unofficial came in promptly and one hour after the polls closed it was known that Mayor Thompson had been reelected. The only question was the size of his plurality.

The first unoffical returns came from Ward one, precinct two, the vote of the head of the ticket being announced four minutes after the polls closed. Precinct one of the same ward was announced at 4.14, and it was then seen that Mayor Thompson's plurality in this ward was 324, against 348 last year.

Telephone reports were received a few minutes later from other wards and being satisfied that he had been reelected Mayor Thompson left his office at City Hall and went home to dinner. He returned an hour or so later to find a large number of his supporters waiting to extend him their congratulations. His Honor's face had that smile that won't come off.

COUNCILMAN-ELECT GILSON.

He was well pleased with the result and said so. Entering his office he was immediately surrounded by friends. Each and every man wanted to take him by the hand, and when he got through shaking hands his arm must have ached.

The Mayor remained at City Hall until after all the official returns had been received. He then went to Republican headquarters where he received an ovation.

COUNCILMAN-ELECT GROSS.

The crowd of voters seeking returns did not begin to arrive until nearly 7 o'clock. Then the corridor was crowded. It was a perfectly orderly gathering and there was a notable absence of persons who had been drinking. In fact there was no one that showed the least signs of liquor.

Among the crowd were several of the gentlemen who had been elected to the Council. These included Messrs. Piper, Donovan, Cannon, Crane, Gilson, Stone and others. The new members were introduced to the old members, and to each other, and a general air of satisfaction prevailed.

It was a happy go lucky crowd. Everybody seemed satisfied, except Mr. Bowditch who was defeated for Councilman at large. He took his defeat keenly, declaring that there was knavery in the party, and that this was the last time he would call Quincy his residence.

The official returns were received in City Clerk Keith's office, and the room was kept clear of all but the newspaper men who were tabulating the returns.

The first official returns came in at 4.51 and were from precinct two of Ward Three. Precinct one, Ward One, followed at 4.54, and from that time up to 6 o'clock they came in about as fast as they could be handled.

Ward Two, precinct one, came in at 6.11, and all that then remained was precinct one of Ward Three. There was some speculation as to what time the returns would arrive, as it is always the last precinct to be heard from.

PRESIDENT NICHOLS.

At 7.47, the door opened and in walked the officer with the missing precinct. They were now all in and shortly after City hall became deserted.

Following is the time the official returns were received at City Hall from each precinct, and the total vote both last December and this year:

	Returns Received.	1905 Vote.	1904 Vote.
Ward One, Pre. 1,	4.54	385	398
Ward One, Pre. 2,	5.23	439	422
Ward Two, Pre. 1,	6.11	261	279
Ward Two, Pre. 2,	5.18	352	365
Ward Three, Pre. 1,	7.47	450	468
Ward Three, Pre. 2,	4.51	358	379
Ward Four, Pre. 1,	5.33	398	408
Ward Four, Pre. 2,	5.33	403	441
Ward Five,	6.03	602	666

Ward Six, Pre. 2,	5.13	250	251

COUNCILMAN FLAHERTY.

MAYOR INTERVIEWED.

Mayor Thompson when interviewed by a representative of the Daily Ledger this morning expressed himself as both gratified and flattered by the extraordinary plurality giving him at the election yesterday. He feels that the work performed during the current year meets approval of the citizens and is an endorsement of the efforts of the administration to meet the needs of the city. For the ensuing year he promises, with the cooperation of the citizens, to further in every possible way what may be deemed by them necessary to advance the material interests that make for the progress of the city.

ELECTION EXTRAS.

The Daily Ledger printed the election returns promptly in extra edition. It could have printed the mayoralty vote of the city about five o'clock but waited for complete ward returns, and the first extra at 6.05 contained the complete figures for eight of the eleven precincts.

The second extra contained at 7 P. M. all but one precinct, and the complete vote was printed at 8.05, about fifteen minutes after the last returned reached City Hall.

The demand for papers was not as large as usual but over 2000 Ledgers were printed and the figures were unusually correct for an election night.

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. basket ball team lost both games at Melrose on Tuesday night. The first team was defeated by a score of 75 to 3, and the junior team by a score of 33 to 1.

Decrease in Contagious Diseases

In the annual report of the State Board of Health for the year 1904 which has been out a few days, there is the following summary of the health conditions in Quincy which was prepared by the health authorities of the city and sent to the State board for publication:

"This year as in past years, the board has endeavored to carry out the work of improvement of the city's sanitary condition through the enactment and enforcement of the rules and regulations. Having that object in view, our efforts have been rewarded in a measure, and we note with satisfaction a decrease in contagious diseases over previous years. The number of cases of infectious diseases reported to the Board of Health the past year has been less than in the previous year. The death rate, based on the estimated population, has been 12.57 per thousand, as against 13.51 in 1903.

"Rules regulating barber shops have also been enacted, copies of which have been posted in every shop, that the public may know what is required from barbers in the way of cleanliness and bygiene.

"The collection of garbage has been done in as satisfactory a manner as could be expected, with the limited means at hand. The various locations known as dumps have been inspected at intervals and kept free from nuisance.

"The bakery shops have also been inspected, and made to comply with the statutes as much as practicable.

"The following licenses were issued by this board in 1904: plumbers, 32; undertakers, 6; scavenger, 1; garbage, 30."

Hill---Johnson Wedding

At the home of Mrs. Susanna E. Johnson, 2 Gothland street, was solemnized at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the marriage of her daughter Annie S. Johnson and Mr. Frank P. Hill. Rev. C. J. Wigren officiated. The maid of honor was Miss Lily Jacobson and the best man Carl J. Johnson. Miss Annie Jacobson at the piano played Mendelssolm's wedding march.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served to twenty-five relatives, and in the evening a reception was held from eight until ten. The bridal couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother and the maid of honor and best man. William Johnson and J. Fredrick Johnson ushered the guests.

During the reception ice cream, cake, hot chocolate and coffee were served, and each guest was given a box of wedding cake before departing.

Miss Johnson made a very pretty bride, her blond coloring being enhanced by her bridal robes of white silk muslin over white silk. She wore a long tulle veil and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor wore a flowered white silk muslin and carried white carnations.

The house decorations were palms, potted plants and cut flowers. During the reception congratulations were received by telegraph from New York, Worcester and other friends unable to be present. Among the presents was an onyx clock from associate workers at the Quincy Daily Ledger office, where the groom has been foreman for several years, and the bride a compositor since her graduation from the Woodward Institute a few years ago. The Ledger staff was well represented, almost the entire force attending the reception to personally extend congratulations and good wishes.

Capt. Garst Ready for Duty

The commander of the battleship Rhode Island, built at Quincy, will be Captain Perry Garst, U. S. N., who arrived at the Charlestown Navy Yard this week, and reported to the commandant, Rear Admiral Albert S. Snow, for duty, when that ship is placed in commission. Captain Garst has been serving as executive officer of the Portsmouth Navy Yard. The command of the Rhode Island, which will be the largest of our battleships in active service when her commission whip is broken out, is deemed one of the most desirable billets in the naval service.

Asa P. French Nominated

President Roosevelt sent to the Senate on Wednesday the nomination of Asa P. French of Randolph to be United States District Attorney to succeed Melvin O. Adams, who has resigned.

Mr. French was recommended by Senators Crane and Lodge. He is at present district attorney for the Norfolk-Plymouth district, and was a very promising candidate this year for the Republican nomination for Attorney General.

He has made an excellent record as district attorney and as a lawyer, being a fearless and aggressive prosecutor of those charged with crime.

Asa P. French was born in Braintree Jan. 29, 1860. He was educated in the public schools, at the English high school, Boston, Adams academy, Quincy, and at Yale, being graduated from college in 1882. For a year he was instructor in Latin and French at Thayer academy and then he entered Boston university law school. His legal instruction he received there and in the office of his father and that of George Fred Williams.

He is serving his second term as district attorney, being elected in 1901, and reelected in 1904. Probably he will not resign until January, when Gov. Guild will fill the vacancy.

A Quincy Candidate

One of the most promising candidates for District Attorney of Norfolk County to succeed Asa P. French who has been appointed United States District Attorney, is John W. McAnarney of this city. He is said to have the support of the Quincy Bar Association and as this Association has upwards of thirty members their support should be a factor.

Fair of the Woman's Guild

The Parish House of Christ church, Elm street, took on a very festive and holiday appearance when the annual sale of two days opened on the afternoon of December sixth. In the main room on the first floor there are nine tables covered with white and decorated with evergreen and red.

On these tables are to be found a very attractive display of articles suitable for holiday gifts. The tables are in charge of the following:

There are three special features of the fair. A very unique and inexpensive church calendar is for sale. This calendar contains a beautiful half-tone of the present church and rectory and also of the old church built in 1728 and standing for over a hundred years in the ancient burial ground on School street.

Another feature of the fair is a humorous reproduction of Paragon Park. Above the stairs of the parish house one finds himself in the noisy park atmosphere. In the centre is the tower of light and around it are the Johnstown flood, a trip to the Klondike, the house of mirth, the cave of the winds, a trip to the North pole and the Zoo. A fortune teller and pop corn venders are in evidence. The park is run by the Manet club under the direction of Miss Sarah Thomas and John Emery.

The third feature of the fair is to be an entertainment given by St. Margaret's guild on December 13. The entertainment is entitled "The Magazine," the contents being music, poems, prose, drama, and plenty of humor and beautiful illustrations.

Two Recounts Probable

It is probable that recounts will be asked by Councilman Sidelinger who was defeated for reelection in Ward Two by Dr. Gross by five votes, and also by Councilman McLane who was defeated for reelection in Ward Six by Ralph W. Hobbs by nine votes. Petitions for recounts must be filed before 5 o'clock Friday night.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Mayor Thompson received a larger plurality than was given any of the thirteen mayors elected in Massachusetts on Tuesday.

Four cities voted No-License on Tuesday—Quincy, Brockton, Waltham and Fitchburg—an enterprising quartet. Fitchburg changed from license. In the other cities most of the license majorities were smaller.

Congratulations to Councilman Polk, who received the largest vote given to any Councilman from Ward, an even 500. Mr. Cannon of Ward One was second. At large Councilman Bass had a big lead over all others.

Two Thompsons were elected mayors on Tuesday, one in New Bedford as well as one in Quincy. The former was pictured in the paper in overalls and shirtsleeves, but then he was a People's candidate, and the people are coming to the front.

That even and well rounded 2000 votes against license which was the goal of the No-License League, looks well in the summary of the vote on the License question in the different Massachusetts cities. We congratulate Brockton and Waltham upon increased "No" majorities, and also Fitchburg upon changing its policy to No-License, but Quincy desires to be know as the banner No-License city.

The 59th Congress began its session at twelve o'clock Monday, the 5th of December. The scenes of the opening session were those with which the country has been made familar through the press. There were nearly four hundred members on the floor of the House and seventy-five senators in the chamber at the other end of the Capitol. There were no flowers and the spectacle of certain members sitting behind magnificent floral arrangements was lacking. This is a custom which, in the future, will be more honored by the breach than the observance. No one, except perhaps the florists, will regret its discontinuance. The galleries were crowded with ladies, many of them visitors to Washington, and others, the wives, daughters or friends of members and Senators on the floor. Miss Alice Roosevelt with a party of friends was in the Executive Gallery, as was also Mrs. Fairbanks, the wife of the Vice-President, and her daughter.

Among those conspicuous by their absence were Senators Mitchell of Oregon and Burton of Kansas, and in the House, Mr. Hermann and Mr. Williamson of Oregon. These gentlemen are expected to serve their country in another capacity and other localities.

Distinguished and long familiar faces were missing on the Senate floor—George Frisbee Hoar, so long a Senator from Massachusetts; Orville Platt of Connecticut and his colleague, John R. Hawley; Mathew Stanley Quay of Pennsylvania; and Vest and Cockrill of Missouri. Of these distinguished men who may almost be said to belong to another era, Senator Cockrill is the only one living, and is now a member of the Inter-state Commerce Commission.

It is almost incredible, but over four thousand bills, and resolutions were introduced in the House on the first day of the session. Of this number there were five hundred and thirty-one measures of a public character. The remainder of them were private bills, the vast majority of them being for pensions.

Mr. Brownlow, of Tennessee, presented the largest number, nearly four hundred in all, but Mr. Smith of Michigan was a close second with more than three hundred and fifty bills. Mr. McGuire, of Oklahoma, presented the first bill which was for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as a joint state with seven representatives in Congress.

A number of insurance bills were introduced incited by the widely published insurance scandals and investigations. One by Mr. Morrell, of Pennsylvania, has for its object the inspection of insurance companies by United States authorities with inquisitorial powers, and another bill upon the same subject by the same author, is for the purpose of placing insurance companies under the supervision and control of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

FUNDS FOR CANAL

Criticism by Both Sides In Debate In the House

THE SALARIES RUN HIGH

Twenty-Six Employes of Isthmian Project Get From $5000 to $30,000--"Press Agent" Is Said to Be In Evidence

Washington, Dec. 7.—A report presented in the house of representatives gives an idea of the remunerative salaries paid employes on the isthmian canal project. Twenty-six receive from $5000 to $30,000, six from $4000 to $5000, 55 over $3000 and less than $4000, 136 over $2000 and less than $3000.

With an opportunity for unlimited debate on the subject of the Panama canal, the house exhausted its oratory on that subject in a session of 4 3-4 hours. The bill appropriating $16,500,000 for canal work, which was the subject of discussion, will be read for amendment and placed on its final passage today.

The feature of the debate was the criticism indulged in by both Republicans and Democrats regarding the incompleteness of the statement of expenditures and estimates furnished by the canal commission. Mr. Hepburn, in charge of the bill, made some effort to show that, while detailed estimates might be much more satisfactory, members of the house were not in a position to pass critical judgment on estimates for such work prepared by expert engineers who held responsible positions and had been selected entirely because of their fitness.

Mr. Cockran (N. Y.) took decided exception to this attitude on the part of Hepburn, and arraigned it as decidedly the wrong attitude of legislators. To enforce his argument he read the sentiment of the president in his message for economy and scrutiny of appropriations.

Mr. Fitzgerald (N. Y.) said he had been informed that $10,000 a year was being paid to a press agent, but Hepburn said he knew nothing about that report.

Mr. Williams declared the canal a non-partisan undertaking, and said no one could claim credit for it. He intended to offer an amendment to reduce the sum of $16,500,000 to an amount actually necessary to carry on the work to Jan. 1 next. Mr. Williams said he would object to the issuance of bonds as long as there were $40,000,000 on deposit in national banks without interest.

Mr. Mann said two employes of the commission were receiving $10,000 a year salary; one was Mr. Ross, purchasing agent, and the other was Mr. Bishop, secretary.

Senators Get Busy

Washington, Dec. 7.—The senate has begun business in earnest. The session was of only little more than two hours' duration, but in that time several hundred bills and resolutions were introduced and referred to committees.

There were resolutions dealing with the question of the national regulation of insurance companies, the incorporation of interstate railroad companies and the contribution of funds to political parties by national banks.

The nearest approach to a controversy arose over a resolution presented by Mr. Newlands, directing the interstate commerce commission to draw a national incorporation act for railroads. Mr. Spooner criticised the proceeding as unworthy of the senate. Objection was made to consideration of a resolution offered by Mr. Tillman for investigation of the subject of national bank contributions for campaign purposes and the resolution went over for a day.

Forgot Bonaparte's Nomination

Washington, Dec. 7.—Through an oversight the nomination of Charles J. Bonaparte to be secretary of the navy was not confirmed at the executive session of the senate. It is customary to confirm the nominations of cabinet officers at the first executive session of the senate. Senator Hale, chairman of the naval commietee, was not present to move the confirmation of the nomination of Bonaparte and he was overlooked.

Government Service Expenses

Washington, Dec. 7.—The annual book of estimates of the appropriations required for the government service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, was transmitted to congress by Secretary Shaw. The total for all departments is $622,723,151. The appropriations for the current fiscal year were $629,738,097 and the estimates for the current fiscal year were $619,669,852.

Senate Confirmations

Washington, Dec. 7.—In executive session, the senate confirmed the nomination of Elihu Root to be secretary of state, Robert Bacon to be assistant secretary of state, and ex-Senator Louis E. McComas to be a justice of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia. In all these cases the formality of a reference to committees was dispensed with.

Senator Proctor May Resign

Washington, Dec. 7.—An intimation by Senator Proctor of Vermont that he might retire from the senate March 3, 1909, two years in advance of the expiration of his term, has caused the report that he will resign in the near future, but he has made no definite statement as to his future intention.

"OLD IRONSIDES"

Boston Sentiment That Historic Frigate Should Be Saved

Boston, Dec. 7.—Acting Mayor Daniel A. Whelton has issued a call for a public meeting of citizens to protest against the suggestion contained in the annual report of the secretary of the navy as to the historic frigate Constitution, which is now tied up at the Charlestown navy yard.

In his report, Secretary Bonaparte, dwelling upon various suggestions as to preserving the Constitution, suggested that so much of the materials of the present Constitution as can be shown to belong to the original Constitution be transferred to a new vessel to be named the Constitution and that the remainder of the ship be broken up. The secretary further stated that if, for purely sentimental reasons, it be thought that the ship be entitled to a maritime end, it might be used as a target for some of the ships of the North Atlantic fleet and sunk by their fire.

The secretary's suggestions have been met by protests from many citizens of Boston and Whelton believes the matter to be of sufficient consequence to justify the holding of a public meeting. He has designated next Saturday evening as the time, and Faneuil hall as the place of the gathering.

Leonard Peaches on Pals

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 7.—During the trial of Charles Bassett, Edward Leonard and Joseph Cenesky, held for the murder of Thomas C. Lockwood, Leonard made a complete confession, giving every detail of the plot to assault and rob the aged recluse. He said that Bassett was responsible for the death of Lockwood; that he clubbed the old man until he was unconscious. Leonard said that it took a month to complete the details of the plot thought out by Bassett and that their reward was the finding of a cheap watch in Lockwood's house. Lockwood was supposed to have had thousands of dollars in a trunk in his house.

May Develop Into Murder

Kezar Falls, Me., Dec. 7.—Daniel Varney of Porter, aged 80, was shot and seriously wounded last evening by some person who afterwards took $200 which Varney had in his pockets. Varney is in a critical condition. The victim of the shooting lives with a sister on a farm in an isolated section of Porter township. It is supposed that Varney's assailant secreted himself in the barn and when Varney went to feed his stock he was shot from behind.

Strikers' Demands Granted

Hartford, Dec. 7.—The strike of over 200 hands employed by the Electric Vehicle company of this city, which went into effect last Tuesday, was settled last night by the company's granting the men their request for time and a quarter for all overtime work. The strike was independent of the unions, the men comprising different classes of mechanics throughout the shops.

Phonograph as a Witness

Boston, Dec. 7.—A phonograph, reproducing the noise made by trains on the Boston elevated street railway structure, was put in evidence and operated at the trial of a suit for damages against the railroad company in the superior court here. The court admitted the evidence, subject to an exception taken by counsel for the road.

Many Overcome by Smoke

Boston, Dec. 7.—Families in three tenements over a grocery store on Connant street were rescued with difficulty by firemen last night while smoke from a fire in the store permeated the entire building. Several persons were taken out unconscious, but later recovered. The monetary loss caused by the fire was insignificant.

He expects that these credentials will be referred to a committee before which would then come the question as to whether the island was American territory.

Explosion Wrecks Cartridge Mill

Chagrin Falls, O., Dec. 7.—A cartridge machine in the Austin Cartridge company's cartridge mill at Falls Junction exploded last night as about 75 employes were leaving the place. The detonation caused a second explosion of some powder nearby which wrecked the building and shook the whole countryside. Two boys were severely injured by the explosion.

Its carrying capacity is nearly double that of the ordinary fisherman.

A PERSONAL PLEA

Lawyer Patrick's Effort to Secure New Trial Fails

IS SENTENCED TO DEATH

Court Names January Next as Time of Execution--Appeal to Be Made to Supreme Court of the United States

New York, Dec. 7.—After making a final personal plea to the court in his own behalf, Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer, convicted of the murder of William M. Rice, last night was sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week beginning Jan. 22 next. Sentence was pronounced by Justice Rogers in the criminal branch of the state supreme court.

Notice was at once given that an appeal to the supreme court of the United States on a writ of error will be taken. The application for the writ, it is said, will act as a stay of execution. Patrick was returned to the death house at Sing Sing last night.

The passing of sentence upon the lawyer, whose case has been one of the most noted in criminal annals, followed a series of arguments by his counsel, who at first contended that the supreme court did not have jurisdiction to set a new date for the execution, the last stay in the case having been granted by the court of appeals, and later appealed that sentence to be deferred at least until the appeal to the higher court could be perfected. District Attorney Jerome opposed all the contentions of the defendant's counsel and moved for immediate action.

Patrick listened twice yesterday afternoon to a rehearsal of all the details of his case by the district attorney. Once during the proceeding he had been asked by Justice Rogers if he had anything to say before sentence should be passed upon him, and had remained silent under the direction of his lawyers. As the case neared a close Patrick arose unexpectedly and pleaded to be heard.

His action caused a stir in the crowded courtroom, and the lawyers held a hurried consultation, while Patrick stood pale and anxious, awaiting the court's permission to proceed. This permission finally was granted and Patrick spoke for nearly 15 minutes. His voice, at first a bit husky, grew clearer as he proceeded, and all in court listened attentively.

Earlier in the afternoon Patrick had been called before Justice Stover, in the supreme court, but after hearing the record of the case the judge ordered that the proceeding be transferred to the criminal branch. Patrick, accompanied by the guards from Sing Sing and his attorneys, walked from the civil courts building to the criminal courts, apparently enjoying the exercise. A crowd of several hundred followed at a respectful distance. The crush to secure admittance to Justice Rogers' branch of the criminal division was so great that police reserves from several stations were summoned to preserve order in the corridors of the court building.

When Patrick had been allowed to proceed in his own behalf he urged that there was no direct evidence that Rice had been killed and reiterated his claim that he had been convicted on manufactured evidence. Justice Rogers then ordered Patrick to stand up and sentence was pronounced.

Trying to Keep Irish at Home

Dublin, Dec. 7.—The Catholic bishops of Ireland are making another attempt to stem the tide of Irish emigration. A circular has been ordered to be read in the churches throughout Ireland warning the younger generation of the evils of emigration, appealing to the people not to be allured by the enticements held forth in letters from the United States and especially dilating on the dangers that beset the path of girl emigrants.

Charge Against a Millionaire

Conejos, Col., Dec. 7.—District Attorney Pilcher has filed an information against Herman Schiffer, a New York millionaire, his brother, Abraham Schiffer, and their cousin, Isaac Schiffer, charging them with conspiracy to defraud in connection with the failure of the bank of Alamosa. Abraham and Isaac are now in jail. Herman is named in the joint information on the ground that he was one of the owners of the bank.

Church and State Separated

Paris, Dec. 7.—The senate, after a long debate, adopted the bill for the separation of church and state by a vote of 181 against 102. The vote was announced amid enthusiastic scenes and cries of "Long live the republic," and "Long live liberty." The council of state will devote three months to the framing of the administrative details of the new regime, which has become effective.

No More Dead-Head Riding

Philadelphia, Dec. 7.—President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company and of the Central Railroad company of New Jersey announces that those roads will issue an anti-pass order similar to the one made public by the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Depew Resigns as Director In the Equitable Life

RESIGNATION OF M'CALL

Rumor Has It That He Will Leave New York Life--President of Security Mutual Life Gives Inside History

New York, Dec. 7.—The resignation of Chauncey M. Depew as a director of the Equitable Life Assurance society is one of the most interesting developments in the situation growing out of the life insurance investigation.

The senator's resignation was tendered to President Morton of the Equitable society in a brief note, which merely said: "I hereby tender my resignation as director of the Equitable Life Assurance society."

The report was published last night that President McCall of the New York Life Insurance company will resign from that company before the annual meeting of the trustees in April, and that if he does not tender his resignation at a meeting of the trustees next Wednesday he will refrain only at the request of the trustees, who, the report said, do not wish to have to elect a temporary president. The published report also stated that the presidency of the New York Life Insurance company has been offered to John Claflin, a trustee of that company and president of the H. B. Claflin company, and that Claflin has refused to accept the office.

The attention of the legislative investigating committee was devoted yesterday chiefly to the affairs of the Security Mutual Life Insurance company at Binghamton, N. Y., whose president, Charles M. Turner, was on the witness stand most of the day. His testimony and the reading of many contracts served to describe in detail the organization of the Agency and Investment company of Binghamton in 1893. This company paid the salary of the president of the Security Mutual Life Insurance company at first, advanced it money amounting to $87,000, agreed to furnish it with insurance business at the rate of $5,000,000 a year and received in return a 5 percent commission on all new premiums on the insurance written by the company. The stock of this agency company, which amounted to $125,000, Turner said, was issued to himself and his associates in the Security Mutual Life in payment for the money they advanced to the insurance company. It covered also, he said, a $10,000 compensation to himself and what Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the committee, called "$28,000 of velvet."

President Turner testified that the agency company collected its commissions, but did not furnish the insurance it promised. After two years the stock of the agency company was increased to $175,000, and of the $50,000 increase $40,000 was advanced directly to the insurance company and $10,000, Turner said, was advanced to Morton D. Moss, a general agent of the company. A new contract was then made between the two companies by which the insurance company agreed to pay to the agency company enough money annually to pay the salary of Turner, the expenses of the agency company and also 12 percent dividends on the whole of the agency company's stock. President Turner said that contract was still in force. He testified that he now holds $30,000 of the agency company's stock, and that most of the officers and directors of the Security Mutual Life Insurance company own stock in the agency company.

Mr. Hughes asked Turner if he adopted the agency plan in preference to making the insurance company into a stock company. Turner replied that he could not have made the insurance company into a stock company and that the company needed the advances which were made by the agency company.

Witness said four of his relatives are employed by the Security Mutual company. They included his son, who is paid $2400 a year as assistant secretary; his son-in-law, now an auditor, at $2400; his wife's sister's husband at $1800, and his wife's nephew, who gets $1200 a year as assistant cashier.

Cabinet Making Is Difficult

London, Dec. 7.—The process of forming a new cabinet evidently will be a slow one. No appointments have as yet been announced, but there is an increasing probability that Lord Elgin will be the new secretary for foreign affairs and that Sir Edward Grey will be made secretary for the colonies.

Swedish Warships Go to Russia

Stockholm, Dec. 7.—The gunboat Pslander and the steamer Wrangel have sailed for Cronstadt. The steamer Drottning Sophia and the cruiser Ornen have left Karlskrona for Riga. The mission of these vessels will be to protect the Swedes as well as to bring home those who wish to return.

SEEKING A REPRIEVE

Mary Rogers' Attorneys Hope to Be Successful

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 7.—Attorneys for Mrs. Mary Rogers, whose execution is fixed for tomorrow, have not given up hope of obtaining another reprieve from Governor Bell, who is now on his way home from Chicago. After an extended conference last night the governor's private secretary was called on the telephone and it was learned that the governor would probably reach Montpelier early tomorrow morning.

While the nature of the new plea for the postponement of the execution could not be learned, it was ascertained that several papers had been prepared for the governor's examination, and which it is hoped will result in another stay of the execution.

Governor Bell left Chicago yesterday, but stopped at Frankfort, Ind., for a few hours. Preparations were made by one of Mrs. Rogers' attorneys to go north for the purpose of intercepting the governor on his way home and presenting to him the papers prepared last evening.

Governor Is Unrelenting

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 7.—"If ever a woman should hang Mrs. Rogers is that one," was the declaration of Governor Bell of Vermont, who was the guest of Aaron Jones here. Governor and Mrs. Bell, accompanied by a member of the governor's staff, left last evening for Vermont. The governor said all that remained in the case of Mrs. Rogers was to see that the sentence be carried into effect. He says he is not concerned about the case at present.

Want Mary Rogers' Life Spared

Cleveland, Dec. 7.—The executive board of the United Women of the Republic, in session here, sent the following telegram to Governor Bell of Vermont: "The United Women of the Republic hereby ask you to extend clemency to Mary Rogers. It would be a shame and a disgrace in this enlightened day to execute a woman who for her actions was irresponsible at all times. We pray God will show you the way to avoid the execution of this woman."

Prominent Lawyer a Blackmailer

New York, Dec. 7.—Thomas P. Wickes, former assistant corporation counsel, was found guilty of blackmail in the criminal branch of the supreme court. He was remanded for sentence next week. While occupying a prominent place among his fellows in the legal profession and enjoying a high reputation, Wickes, under the name of Lewis Jarvis, which he assumed for the purpose, wrote hundreds of letters to persons who were interested in cases with which he was connected. Some of these letters were confined to praise of Wickes and his ability in the legal profession, but others had other ends in view and it was one of these which resulted in the undoing of Wickes.

A Suicide Proposition

New York, Dec. 7.—Coming to the United States to lodge a formal protest against the establishment of the Japanese protectorate over Korea, Min Yueng Schan, late Korean minister to France, was informed upon his arrival of the suicide at Seoul of his brother, who was formerly Korean minister to the United States, who took his own life as a protest against the Japanese protectorate. In Korea when a man takes his own life it is the custom for his brother also to commit suicide. Mr. Min said, however, that he could not prophesy his future action.

Policemen In Shanghai Plot

Philadelphia, Dec. 7.—Carrying his broken arm in a sling, Edward Casey, aged 19, called at detective headquarters and told the authorities that he had been shanghaied and brutally treated on board an oyster boat in Chesapeake bay. He implicated a man already under arrest here charged with shankhaling and two Philadelphia policemen, who, he said, were instrumental in getting him and another man to go to Baltimore under promise of work in a restaurant.

Chilean Gold Reserve In America

Washington, Dec. 17.—The Chilean government has made an arrangement with the National Bank of Commerce of New York for the deposit with that institution of $3,000,000 in gold which is to serve as a part of the nucleus of a gold reserve for that country. Arrangements for the deposit of gold in the banks of England and France by the Chilean government are already in existence.

Away Below the Record

New York, Dec. 7.—One half of their journey completed, the riders in the six-day bicycle race at Medison Square Garden continue to lag behind the records of former years. Ten teams of the 16 originals remain in the race. The Bedell brothers, who still are leading by one lap, are more than 250 miles below the record.

Repentant Man Kills Himself

Philadelphia, Dec. 7.—Edward Newton, who shot George Nevelle, his business partner, during a dispute over a small sum of money, committed suicide by shooting. Neveile is recovering from his wound.

REGIME TOTTERING

Many Believe That Witte's Downfall Is Imminent

St. Petersburg, Dec. 7.—Premier Witte's task is hourly becoming harder, and many persons sincerely believe that his downfall is imminent. The reactionary influences are now openly clamoring for repression and a dictator.

In the meantime the distracted premier, upon whose shoulders everything falls, in addition to the many problems with which he is confronted, continues his negotiations with the zemstovists, whose aid in the present crisis he regards as vital.

Another government note appealing to the people to have patience and promising the issuance of temporary statutes covering the guarantees of the manifesto and making them operative until the national assembly meets, has been issued.

The government made an effort to resume the post and telegraph services yesterday, but it was a dismal failure so far as the latter was concerned.

Russian General Assassinated

London, Dec. 7.—A St. Petersburg dispatch dated Dec. 5, sent by way of Edytkuhnen, East Prussia, says: Lieutenant General Sakharoff, former minister of war, was deputed to visit the province of Saratoff for the purpose of quelling the agrarian riots there. A woman belonging to the so-called "flying column" of the revolutionary movement called at the house of the governor of Saratoff today and asked to see Sakharoff. She fired three revolver shots at the general, killing him on the spot. The newspapers print harrowing details of the whipping order by order of General Sakharoff of the peasants whom he was sent to pacify.

Extension of Monroe Doctrine

Paris, Dec. 7.—The Temps, in a leading article, discussing President Roosevelt's message to congress, says: "The Monroe doctrine is extended against the simple seizure of custom houses, which is the sole means of effective reprisal against delinquent southern republics. President Roosevelt did not present this objection three years ago against the triple action of Germany, Great Britain and Italy against Venezuela. Why has he chosen the moment when France may be obliged to adopt measures of the same kind against Venezuela?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. POINTS ON LIVING

Mark Twain Gives Them Out at Birthday Celebration

EXPLAINS HIS "SYSTEM"

Scheme of Life Which Would Kill Anybody Else Is the Rule For Attaining Old Age--Sleep, Diet, Tobacco and Drink Humorously Touched Upon

New York, Dec. 6.—Mark Twain was the guest of honor last night at a dinner at Delmonico's, given by Colonel George Harvey, in honor of the humorist's 70th birthday. The guests were confined to writers of imaginative literature only and about 170 authors were present, nearly half of them women. During the dinner a congratulatory cable message was received from England signed by 40 of the most distinguished writers. President Roosevelt and Joel Chandler Harris sent letters, and several notables spoke or presented poems.

When Mark Twain arose to speak he could not proceed for several minutes on account of the cheers that were given in greeting. He said:

"The 70th birthday; it is the time of life when you arrive at a new and awful dignity; when you may throw aside the decent reserves which have oppressed you for a generation, and stand unafraid and unabashed upon your seven-terraced summit and look down and teach—unrebuked. You can tell the world how you got there. It is what they all do. You shall never get tired of telling by what delicate arts and deep moralities you climbed up to that great place. You will explain the process and dwell on the particulars with senile rapture. I have been anxious to explain my own system this long time, and now at last I have the right.

"I have achieved my 70 years in the usual way—by sticking strictly to a scheme of life which would kill anybody else. It sounds like an exaggeration, but that is really the common rule for attaining old age. We have no permanent habits until we are 40. Then they begin to harden, presently they petrify, then business begins. Since 40 I have been regular about going to bed and getting up—and that is one of the main things. I have made it a rule to go to bed when there was not anybody left to sit up with, and I have made it a rule to get up when I had to. This has resulted in an unswerving regularity of irregularity.

"In the matter of diet—which is another main thing—I have been persistently strict in sticking to the things which didn't agree with me until one or the other of us got the best of it. Until lately I got the best of it myself. But last spring I stopped frolicking with mince pie after midnight; up to then I had always believed it wasn't loaded. For 30 years I have taken coffee and bread at 8 in the morning and no bite nor sup till 7:30 in the evening.

"I have made it a rule never to smoke more than one cigar at a time. I have no other restriction as regards smoking. I do not know just when I began to smoke. I only know that it was in my father's lifetime, and that I was discreet. He passed from this life early in 1847, when I was a shade past 11; ever since then I have smoked publicly. As an example to others, and not that I care for moderation myself, it has always been my rule never to smoke when asleep, and never to refrain when awake.

"As for drinking, I have no rule about that. When the others drink I like to help; otherwise I remain dry, by habit and preference. This dryness does not hurt me, but it could easily hurt you, because you are different. You let it alone.

"Since I was 7 years old I have seldom taken a dose of medicine, and have still seldomer needed one. But up to 7 I lived exclusively on allopathic medicines. Not that I needed them, for I don't think I did; it was for economy. My father took a drug store for a debt and it made cod liver oil cheaper than the other breakfast foods. I was the first Standard Oil trust. I had it all. By the time the drug store was exhausted my health was established and there has never been much the matter with me since.

"I have never taken any exercise, except sleeping and resting, and I never intend to take any. Exercise is loathsome. And it cannot be any benefit when you are tired; I was always tired.

"I have lived a severely moral life. But it would be a mistake for other people to try that, or for me to recommend it. Very few would succeed; you have to have a perfectly colossal stock of morals, and you can't get them on a margin; you have to have the whole thing and put them in your box. Morals are an acquirement—like music, like a foreign language, like piety, poker, paralysis—no man is born with them. I wasn't myself—I started poor.

"Three score years and ten. It is the Scriptural statute of limitations. After that you owe no active duties; for you the strenuous life is over. You are a time-expired man, to use Kipling's military phrase. You have served your term well, or less well, you are mustered out. You are become an honorary member of the republic; you are emancipated, compulsions are not for you, nor any bugle call but 'lights out.' You pay the time-worn duty bills if you choose, or decline if you prefer, and without prejudice—for they are not legally collectible."

MODES FOR THE MANY.

Importance Attached to the Waist Line—Three Piece Velvet Suits.

Great importance is attached this winter to the waist line, and a smart belt is a feature of the well put up costume.

A tiny thread of gilt braid edges the tucks on some stunning gowns, as also do fancy braids harmonizing with the dress material.

On velvet suits are seen bands of satin trimming, the skirts in many rows, and also tiny lines of fur.

Three piece suits in velvet are considered very smart. The waists are usually made with a chemisette and deep cuffs of lace or embroidery. The coat is a chic empire affair.

Postilion effects will reign supreme. They appear on both evening and day coats and bodices.

Coats with the fronts cut like a man's evening waistcoat will be prominent.

An unbecoming violet blue has taken the place to a great extent of the more attractive Alice shade.

Gowns have long, graceful lines, and the dressy costumes show skirts with decided trains that sweep the ground in front and at the sides.

A black jet buckle on a white belt is one of the newest fancies particularly affected by women who like black and white combinations.

The waist in the cut is of French flannel in turquoise blue. The wide box plaits in front are braided in a looped design with black and white soutache. Girdle and sleeves are treated with the same braiding.

HOLD-UP SCHEMES

Systematic Bleeding of Insurance Companies

A LAWYER GOT $15,000

Had Threatened to Ask For a Receiver For Mutual Reserve --License to Do Business In Missouri Cost $3500

New York, Dec. 6.—Instances in which the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company paid an aggregate of about $20,000 in what Vice President Eldredge of that company called "hold-ups" were related to the life insurance investigating committee by Eldredge. In one case Eldredge testified that in 1898 the company paid $15,000 to John McDonald, a Philadelphia lawyer, who had been active in organizing the policyholders of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company into a movement which charged President Burnham of that company with mismanagement and demanded his removal

The charges also reflected upon Eldredge's management as vice president and threat was made to ask for the appointment of a receiver for the company. Engaged in this movement of the policyholders also was J. S. Hoffecker, a former auditor of the company who had been dismissed or who had resigned. Before leaving the company Hoffecker informed Burnham that he resigned because their ideas as to common honesty differed so much and because he knew of so many questionable transactions of which Burnham had approved.

Mr. Eldredge declared that Hoffecker was not dismissed until he had demanded an increase in salary from $35 to $100 a week and practically had said it was safer for the company to keep him than to let him go, in view of what he knew about the company.

Another instance of a "hold-up," Eldredge said, was in 1890, when Max Behler, a "so-called examiner" of the Iowa insurance department, came to New York with his son as an assistant, examined the Mutual Reserve company and presented to it a bill for $489 for the examination. Rather than pay the bill the company withdrew its business from Iowa, but a little later paid that bill and another of $348 to Max Behler for a verification of his previous examination in order to get permission again to do business in Iowa.

Mr. Eldredge told also how he tried to secure a license for his company to do business in Missouri in 1898 and found that it would have to employ W. H. Phelps as attorney before it could do so. Phelps got the license for the company in three days and was paid $3500 as "illegal fees," Eldredge said.

Mr. Eldredge told the committee also that he is certain there is no truth in the statement made to a Canadian investigating committee by James D. Wells, former vice president of the Mutual Reserve, that President Burnham of that company had told Wells that he had to raise $40,000 to pay to the New York insurance department in 1899 when Louis F. Payn was superintendent of insurance.

The witness had previously stated that a portion of a report made by Isaac Vanderpool, an examiner of the New York insurance department after an examination in 1899, was eliminated after a hearing before the insurance department and before it was placed on file. The part struck out recommended that the company be not allowed to call its lease of its home office an asset and include it in its surplus. Mr. Eldredge declared that the Mutual Reserve paid no money to the New York state insurance department in 1899 except for the examination.

Big Station Out of Commission

London, Dec. 6.—Ninety feet of the roof of one end of the Charing Cross railroad station collapsed without warning, carrying with it 40 workmen who were engaged in repairs on that section of the roof. Two persons are known to have been killed, two persons are missing and probably buried beneath tons of debris, eight are seriously injured and 20 slightly injured. The station, which is the busiest in London, will be closed for some days.

All Lost but One

Halifax, Dec. 6.—Eleven lives were lost as a result of the striking of the steamer Lunenburg on the rocks off Amherst Harbor, near Magdalen islands. The men, including R. J. Leslie, M. P., of this city, one of the owners of the steamer, were attempting to reach shore in a small boat after the steamer had begun to break up. A sea struck the boat and only one person, Captain Pride of the ill-fated steamer, escaped.

Concealing True Facts

Havana, Dec. 6.—Persons arriving from the Isle of Pines say that President Raynard of the American club there refused to make public Secretary Root's letter defining the attitude of the United States government toward the proposed formation of a territorial government. Raynard, they say, is not aware that the letter has been published elsewhere.

In Interest of Emigrants

Kingston, Jam., Dec. 6.—The government has introduced a bill in the legislature to amend the law for the protection of emigrants, under which only authorized recruiting agents will be able to engage laborers to work in the Panama canal zone or elsewhere.

Great Seabird Reservation

New Orleans, Dec. 7.—President Roosevelt some time ago directed that five islands off the coast of Louisiana be set aside as a game preserve under the title of the Breton reservation. Supplementing that action, the Lake Borgne levee board has rented to the Audubon society of this state 17 islands in the vicinity of Breton reservation with a total area of 3000 acres. The purpose is to raise wild seabirds. It is planned that the islands shall become the greatest bird breeding locality in the world.

The Disposition of Immigrants

New York, Dec. 7.—The statement that over a million immigrants have come to the United States during the past year, and that the south and west, the sections of the country which needed and wished for these new citizens, did not get them, was made by Commissioner General of Immigration Sargent in a speech before the National Civic Federation meeting. Sargent proposed that the United States hereafter take steps to distribute immigrants according to the needs of the country.

Only Wanted to Kill One

New York, Dec. 7.—William Brown, a negro, walked into the crowded cardroom of a negro organization known as the Cedar Social club last night, shot and killed William Butler and mortally wounded Thaddeus Washington. Men and women fought each other in efforts to escape from the room through doors and windows. Brown surrendered to the police, saying he had been persecuting him. Washington died late last night.

China and Japan Coming to Terms

London, Dec. 7.—A Shanghai dispatch says that the negotiations between China and Japan are about to reach a conclusion. China recognizes the transfer of the lease of the Liaotung peninsula to Japan and the plan for the joint working of the Yalu timber concession by China and Japan. Japan, on the other hand, abandons her proposals for the extension of the railroad and of the Japanese posts and telegraphs.

Strong For Home Rule

Dublin, Dec. 7.—The Nationalist convention has resolved itself into an uncompromising home rule meeting. Resolutions were passed denouncing the government of Ireland, outlawing William O'Brien and his supporters unless they signed the party pledges, expressing disbelief in the promises of the Liberals and pledging absolute support to John Redmond as leader of the Irish parliamentary party.

NOTICE.

The business of Funeral Undertaker, for many years carried on in Quincy by the late John Hall, my father, will in the future be conducted by me.

While I know that I cannot fill the place in public esteem that a long life of faithful service gave to him, I wish to say that I shall use my best endeavors to meet the requirements of all occasions that may arise, and I ask his friends and mine to believe that I shall not fail in an earnest effort to make good his loss.

I will add that the business is now thoroughly equipped in regard to men well trained to the duties of the work, and in other respects I am fully qualified to give prompt and efficient attention.

Quincy Tax Rate
Smaller in But 16 of the 33 Cities

That Quincy has about an average tax rate is shown by the figures below, giving the tax rates of all the Massachusetts cities, and showing clearly the increases and decreases over 1904:

	Rate.	Increase.	Decrease.
Springfield	$15.40	$0.80	—
Boston	16.00	.80	—

Chicopee	21.00	2.40	—
Medford	21.40	2.60	—
North Adams	22.00	1.50	—

Sixteen of the thirty-three cities have a smaller tax rate, and sixteen as large or larger.

The average between the lowest of $15.40 in Springfield, and the highest of $22.00 in North Adams is $18.70, which is forty cents higher than in Quincy.

Only seven of the cities have a smaller tax rate than in 1904, while one is the same.

Seventeen of the thirty-three cities made a larger increase than Quincy, our tax rate being but 30 cents larger. Two cities jumped their rate over $2 and three others over $1.

Nine cities have tax rates higher than Quincy ever had. In only six years has Quincy had a tax rate of $18 or over, but in the list above, over one half the cities pass that mark this year.

In this connection, the Daily Ledger reprints a clipping from an Ohio paper, the New Vienna Reporter, which makes the tax rate of Quincy look pretty small:

"Lynchburg is still in the lead with the lowest tax rate. Glance over the list below and then be thankful that you don't live in—any of those extravagant places. What makes their taxes so high? Is it "graft?" says the Lynchburg Record.

Lynchburg per $1,000	$29.00
Leesburg " "	31.00
Wilmington " "	31.00
Clarksville " "	31.00
Sabina " "	35.40
New Vienna " "	36.00
Hillsboro " "	38.50
Greenfield " "	39.20
Blanchester " "	40.40

Half a Million Dollars Involved

A great contest is being made in the courts of Oregon over the will of Mrs. Amanda W. Reed, who was a sister of the late John A. Wood of Quincy. The Oregon Daily Journal says in part:

Arguments of counsel in the Reed will contest were concluded Nov. 22, and the case was taken under the advisement by the judges of the circuit court. On the ultimate decision of the question whether Mrs. Amanda W. Reed was domiciled in Oregon or in California at the time of her death hangs the disposition of half a million dollars, one-third of the magnificent endowment which she proposed to give for the founding of Reed institute in Portland, Oregon.

Judge Martin L. Pipes made the closing argument in defense of the validity of the will, presenting clearly and forcibly the grounds on which it is contended that Mrs. Reed retained her domicile in Oregon to the time of her death. He reviewed the authorities submitted by counsel for the contestants and insisted that they were not inconsistent with the position taken by himself and his associate, Senator Simon.

Judge Pipes prefaced his argument with a narration of the circumstances under which Mr. and Mrs. Reed came to Portland half a century ago, and made it their home. For 40 years they were a part of the life of the community and here Mr. Reed built up his fortune. When he died his property passed to Mrs. Reed, impresssed with his wish that the bulk of it should be used for the founding of an institution of learning in Portland. Mrs. Reed's relatives, who are now contesting the will, have no real natural right to it, said the attorney, for it was the property of Mr. Reed, not of his wife. For this reason all doubts should be resolved in favor of the validity of the will.

Domicile was defined by Judge Pipes as "a relation, not a physical fact," and he explained the definition by the statement that it is the relation which an individual bears to a government, state or national. Domicile of origin is fixed by birth, but domicile of choice is determined by every person for himself. Mr. and Mrs. Reed clearly established their domicile in Portland, when they came to this city to reside and counsel insisted that the law would presume that a domicile once established had continued. The burden of proof would rest on any one asserting that the domicile had been changed.

When Mr. Reed's will was probated in 1895 the fact was then established that at the time of his death he was domiciled in Oregon, though having a home in Pasadena, and this could not now be disputed. Mrs. Reed's domicile was necessarily the same as her husband's up to the time of his death, and the mere fact that she continued to reside in Pasadena was not inconsistent with the theory that her domicile continued to be in Portland.

Judge Pipes dwelt on the strong evidence afforded by the will, in which Mrs. Reed describes herself as "of Portland Oregon." That document was the most solemn utterance she could make, it was framed with the greatest care and now came as a voice from the dead, bespeaking the intention and the mind of the testatrix.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reed qualified as directors of Oregon corporations, after their departure from this city, and they must have known that they could not serve in such capacity unless residents of this state. As the courts would presume that they knew the law, the only conclusion is that they regarded Portland as their domicile. Similar evidence was afforded by a number of deeds in which Mr. and Mrs. Reed described themselves as "of Portland."

Owing to the large amount of property at stake it is supposed that whatever the decision of the circuit judges the case will be taken to the state supreme court for ultimate decision.

High School Bonds

City Treasurer Fay opened bids on Thursday for $113,000 3.65 per cent 6 1-3 year average high school bonds, dated Dec. 1, 1905. Bids were also received at the same time for $13,700 3.65 per cent loan, dated Dec. 1, 1905, maturing $200 in 1906 and $1500 annually from 1907 to 1915 inclusive.

But three bids were received by the City Treasurer for the bonds, and all were within a few cents of each other, the percent being 3.65. The bonds were awarded to Blake Bros., the highest bidders at $1,000.60. The other bids were: R. L. Day, $1,000.59; Esterbrook & Co., $1,000.50.

A food fair for the benefit of the Quincy Day Nursery is being held this afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. Charles R. Safford, Clive street, Atlantic.

Mrs. Rogers Hung
Met Death At Windsor At 1.14 This Afternoon

Windsor, Vt., 1.20 P. M. Mrs. Mary Rogers was hanged in the State prison at 1.14 this afternoon for the murder of her husband Marcus Rogers, three years ago.

The hanging of Mrs. Rogers had become an incident of world-wide interest. Governor Bell has been deluged with petitions and counsel for the Rogers woman have used every means possible to have her sentence reprieved but to no purpose.

In spite of all these protests Gov. Bell has stood firmly by his decision that the law must take its course.

Faxon's Estate $730,000

An estimate of the value of the property of the late Henry H. Faxon places the amount at $730,000, of which $700,000 is real estate and $30,000 personal estate. The real estate is almost wholly in the city of Quincy, but there is some in Chelsea, and some in Boston.

The will of Mr. Faxon was allowed by Judge Flint on Wednesday at a session of Norfolk County probate court held at Dedham. Henry M. Faxon, only son of the testator, was appointed executor and gave bonds for $50,000 without sureties.

The executor is given full authority to sell, assign, transfer and convey the whole or any part of the estate.

Highland Park.

Highland Park now presents a very wintry aspect as far as out-door sport is concerned, the only missing link being a good fall of snow, and continued cold weather. Everyone who is interested in skating and tobogganing is anxiously awaiting the appearance of Jack Frost's well known work, in order to start the "ball a rolling" at the Park. Hockey, curling, polo, skating carnivals, prize contests and masquerades, are being looked forward to.

FARMER VARNEY DEAD

Nephew Suspected of Being In a Plot to Murder

Kezar Falls, Me., Dec. 8.—David Varney, the aged farmer who was shot down in his barn in the town of Porter Wednesday night, died yesterday afternoon without regaining consciousness. Wesley Chick, a nephew of the dead man, was taken into custody by the Oxford county authorities last night, and it is expected that he will be given a hearing today on the charge of murder. There is a theory that two persons were concerned in a plot to kill Varney, and it is said that a second arrest may be made within a short time.

The authorities have decided that the murderer stood behind a partition in the barn at a distance of about nine feet from Varney when the shot was fired. The shell used in the gun of the murderer contained double B shot. Two wads and a double B shell were found in the stable.

Chick, a nephew of Varney, explained how he obtained the sum of $140 which was found in his pockets by the officers. Chick has been working at various places, including Kezar Falls and Freedom, N. H. He said that he had saved $50 of the amount a year and a half ago, and that he recently received a similar amount from a man in Freedom by whom he was employed up to six months ago. The remainder, he claimed, was paid him by his father, who is in Bath.

Reply of Unitarians

Boston, Dec. 8.—A reply to their exclusion as Unitarian delegates from the Interchurch Conference on Federation at New York has been prepared by Messrs. Hale, Long and Eliot, and this has been forwarded in the form of a letter to the pastors of all the Unitarian churches of Greater Boston. It will be read from the pulpits next Sunday morning. In their letter the delegates say that it seems timely for them to affirm anew the simple truth, "proclaimed of old by Christ himself, that righteousness of life and spiritual efficiency, rather than orthodoxy of belief, is the test of Christian discipleship."

Horseplay Kills a Boy

Newton, Mass., Dec. 8.—Roy S. Stevens, 12 years old, lies dead at his home, the result of horseplay of three companions who were accompanying young Stevens in his democrat wagon delivering milk last night. All three were riding together on the seat, with Stevens driving. The boys commenced to pinch and pull each other. Suddenly one of the boys shoved Stevens off the seat and he fell to the ground, the vehicle passing over his body and killing him.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff Is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. THEIR LAST HOPE

Mary Rogers' Friends Rely on Question of Sanity

WILL APPEAL TO BELL

But Little Confidence That the Governor Will Grant Reprieve --Murderess Apparently Insensible to Fate Hanging Over Her

Montpelier, Vt., Dec. 8.—A final attempt to prolong the life of Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers, whose execution has been set for this afternoon, will be made today. Governor Bell, who has been in the west, left Montreal last night for White River Junction, where he has arranged to remain today in order to be within easy reach of the state officials and attorneys.

E. B. Flinn, one of the lawyers who has been laboring in behalf of the condemned woman, left Montpelier last night for St. Johns, P. Q., where he planned to intercept the governor. It was Flinn's purpose to talk over the situation with the governor and inform him of the last steps being taken to have Mrs. Rogers reprieved.

Charles A. McCarthy of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., the home of Mrs. Rogers' relatives, will board the express from Montreal at Montpelier Junction. Flinn and McCarthy will proceed to White River Junction and present a number of affidavits which McCarthy has in his possession to Governor Bell if the latter will receive them and agree to grant a hearing.

The affidavits relate largely to the reported presence of insanity in Mrs. Rogers' family, and form the basis of the only hope for a reprieve, which would enable the lawyers to take the case before the supreme court of the state once more on the ground of newly discovered evidence. McCarthy appeared to be quite confident that the governor would consent to grant him and Flinn a hearing.

Attorney General Fitts passed through Montpelier last night on his way to White River Junction, where, with High Sheriff Peck of that place, he will confer with Governor Bell. Those who have followed the ins and outs of the celebrated case express little confidence that the governor will alter his decision not to grant another reprieve. Personally, the governor is opposed to capital punishment, but he has taken the stand that the law must be carried out so long as it remains on the statute book.

The execution is set for this afternoon between 1 and 2 o'clock, and all arrangements have been made for it at the state prison at Windsor.

Mrs. Jessie Partlon of Cincinnati, who bears 43,000 signatures in favor of saving the life of the condemned woman, arrived here last night and left for Montpelier Junction to board the train which carries the governor.

Windsor, Vt., Dec. 8.—Sheriff Peck formally read the death warrant to Mrs. Rogers yesterday afternoon. She listened without apparent emotion. Because of the many movements in the case, this was the third time that the document had been officially read to the woman.

It is not expected that Mrs. Rogers will collapse, for her apparent insensibility to the fate which hangs over her is the same as it has been ever since she was imprisoned.

So far as visits from without the jail were concerned the only person to see Mrs. Rogers yesterday was Rev. C. C. Delany, the Roman Catholic priest of this town, who has attended her while she has been in prison. He administered to the woman the sacrament of the Holy Communion, following her confession to him Wednesday. Of his visit to Mrs. Rogers, Delany said that she was still firm and in control of her feelings.

General Porter's Patriotism

New York, Dec. 9.—General Porter has written a letter to Congressman Rainey requesting that the congressman abandon his proposed intention to move an appropriation by congress to reimburse him (Porter) for the sums expended in the work of recovering the body of John Paul Jones. General Porter regards the work as a purely personal undertaking, having been performed without any intention of looking to the government for reimbursement.

Tower Tumbled on Train

New York, Dec. 8.—Three passenger coaches on the New York Central railroad jumped the track at Mott Haven and ran into a switchman's tower. As the tower came down in fragments about the cars, the coach windows were shattered and many passengers were severely shaken up. Two men in the tower jumped before the coaches ploughed through their building.

Stallion Brought High Price

New York, Dec. 8.—Watercress, the famous stallion, was auctioned off for $71,000 to J. B. Haggin, himself a part owner of the horse. The bidding started at $10,000, with Harry P. Whitney as Haggin's leading competitor. Watercress is the sire of Waterboy and Nasturtium.

A Thrilling Chapter from SIR NIGEL

THE GREAT SERIAL BY Conan Doyle AUTHOR OF Sherlock Holmes, Etc.

JUST BEGUN IN The Boston Sunday Post's Sunday Magazine

READ IT—'Twill Make Your Blood Tingle—READ IT

A FEW WORDS OF INTRODUCTION

The story of "Sir Nigel" opens shortly after the scourge of the Black Death in England in the 14th century. The Monks had oppressed the knightly house of Loring, of which Squire Nigel, then 22 years of age, was the head, gradually taking possession of the estate. A conference of the abbot and his assistants, at which still harsher measures against young Nigel Loring are proposed, is interrupted by a stampede of the Monks, who are trying to control "Pommers," the fiery yellow horse of Crooksbury, which they have taken for debt. Several Monks are injured by the horse, and young Nigel comes to their rescue. He is given the great horse, "hide and hoofs, tail and temper." He proceeds to tame the steed.

The Taming of "Pommers," the Great Yellow Horse, By Young Nigel

(Copyright, 1905, by A. Conan Doyle. Copyright in Great Britain. All rights reserved.)

"I am your man, Pommers, and you are my horse, and this night you shall own it or I will never need horse again. My spirit against thine, and God hold thy spirit high, Pommers, so that the greater be the adventure and the more hope of honor gained!"

Whilst he spoke young Nigel had climbed onto the top of the wall and stood there balanced the very image of grace and spirit and gallantry, his bridle hanging from one hand and his whip grasped in the other. With a fierce snort the horse made for him instantly, and his white teeth flashed as he snapped; but again a heavy blow from the loaded whip caused him to swerve, and even at the instant of the swerve, measuring the distance with steady eyes, and bending his supple body for the spring, Nigel bounded into the air and fell with his legs astride the broad back of the yellow horse. For a minute, with neither saddle nor stirrups to help him, and the beast ramping and rearing like a mad thing beneath him, he was hard pressed to hold his own. His legs were like two bands of steel welded onto the swelling arches of the great horse's ribs, and his left hand was buried deep in the tawny mane.

Never had the dull round of the lives of the gentle brethren of Waverley been broken by so fiery a scene. Springing to right and swooping to left, now with its tangled wicked head betwixt its forefeet, and now pawing eight feet high in the air, with scarlet, furious nostrils and maddened eyes, the yellow horse was a thing of terror and of beauty. But the lithe figure on his back, bending like a reed in the wind to every movement, firm below, pliant above, with calm, inexorable face and eyes which danced and gleamed with the joy of contest, still held its masterful place for all that the fiery heart and the iron muscles of the great beast could do.

Once a long drone of dismay rose from the monks, as rearing higher and higher yet, a last mad effort sent the creature toppling over backward upon its rider. But, swift and cool, he had writhed from under it ere it fell, spurned it with his foot as it rolled upon the earth, and then seizing its mane as it rose swung himself lightly onto its back once more. Even the grim sacrists could not but join the cheer, as Pommers, amazed to find the rider still upon his back, plunged and curveted down the field.

But the wild horse only swelled into a greater fury. In the sullen gloom of its untamed heart there rose the furious resolve to dash the life from this clinging rider, even if it meant destruction to beast and man. With red, blazing eyes it looked round for death. On three sides the five-virgate field was bounded by a high wall, broken only at one spot by a heavy four-foot wooden gate. But on the fourth side was a low gray building, one of the granges of the Abbey, presenting a long flank unbroken by door or window. The horse stretched itself into a gallop, and headed straight for that craggy 30-foot wall. He would break in red ruin at the base of it if he could but dash forever the life of this man, who claimed mastery over that which had never found its master yet.

The great haunches gathered under it, the eager hoofs drummed the grass, as faster and still more fast the frantic horse bore himself and his rider toward the wall. Would Nigel spring off? To do so would be to bend his will to that of the beast beneath him. There was a better way than that. Cool, quick and decided, the man swiftly passed both whip and bridle into the left hand, which still held the mane. Then with the right he slipped his short mantle from his shoulders, and lying forward along the creature's strenuous, rippling back, he cast the flapping cloth over the horse's eyes.

The result was but too successful, for it nearly brought about the downfall of the rider. When those red eyes straining for death were suddenly shrouded in unexpected darkness the amazed horse propped on its forefeet and came to so dead a stop that Nigel was shot forward onto its neck and hardly held himself by his hair-entwined hand. Ere he had slid back into position the moment of danger had passed, for the horse, its purpose all blurred in its mind by this strange thing which had befallen, wheeled round once more, trembling in every fibre, and tossing its petulant head until at last the mantle had been slipped from its eyes and the chilling darkness had melted into the homely circle of sunlit grass once more.

But what was this new outrage which had been inflicted upon it? What was this defiling bar of iron which was locked hard against its mouth? What were these straps which galled the tossing neck, this band which spanned its chest? In those instants of stillness ere the mantle had been plucked away Nigel had laid forward, had slipped the snaffle between the champing teeth, and had deftly secured it.

Blind, frantic fury surged in the yellow horse's heart once more at this new degradation, this badge of serfdom and infamy. His spirit rose high and menacing at the touch. He loathed this place, these people, all and everything which threatened his freedom. He would have done with them forever; he would see them no more! Let him away to the uttermost parts of the earth, to the great plains where freedom is! Anywhere over the far horizon where he could get away from the defiling bit and the insufferable mastery of man!

He turned with a rush, and one magnificent deer-like bound carried him over the four-foot gate. Nigel's hat had flown off, and his yellow curls streamed behind him as he rose and fell in the leap. They were in the water-meadow now, and the rippling stream 20 feet wide gleamed in front of them running down to the main current of the Wey. The yellow horse gathered his haunches under him and flew over like an arrow. He took off from behind boulder and cleared a furze-bush on the farther side. Two stones still mark the leap from hoof-mark to hoof-mark, and they are 11 good paces apart. Under the hanging branch of the great oak tree on the farther side (that Quercus Tilfordiens is still shown as the bound of the Abbey's immediate precincts) the great horse passed. He had hoped to sweep off his rider, but Nigel sank low on the heaving back with his face buried in the flying mane. The rough bough rasped him rudely, but never shook his spirit nor his grip. Rearing, plunging and struggling, Pommers broke through the sapling grove and was out on the broad stretch of Hankley Down.

And now came such a ride as still lingers in the gossip of the lowly country folk and forms the rude jingle of that old Surrey ballad, now nearly forgotten, save for the refrain:

The Doe that sped on Hinde Head,
The Kestril on the winde,
And Nigel on the Yellow Horse
Can leave the world behinde.

Before them lay a rolling ocean of dark heather, knee-deep, swelling in billow on billow up to the clear-cut hill before them. Above stretched one unbroken arch of peaceful blue, with a sun which was sinking down toward the Hampshire hills. Through the deep heather, down the gullies, over the watercourses, up the broken slopes, Pommers flew, his great heart bursting with rage, and every fiber quivering at the indignities which he had endured.

And still, do what he would, the man clung fast to his heaving sides and to his flying mane, silent, motionless, inexorable, letting him do what he would, but fixed as Fate upon his purpose. Over Hankley Down, through Thursley Marsh, with the reeds up to his mud-splashed withers, onward up the long slope of the Headland of the Hinds, down by the Nutcombe Gorge, slipping, blundering, bounding, but never slackening his fearful speed, on went the great yellow horse. The villagers of Shottermill heard the wild clatter of hoofs, but ere they could swing the ox-hide curtains of their cottage doors horse and rider was lost amid the high bracken of the Haslemere Valley. On he went, and on, tossing the miles behind his flying hoofs. No marsh-land could clog him, no hill could hold him back. Up the slope of Linchmere and the long ascent of Fernhurst he thundered as on the level, and it was not until he had flown down the incline of Henley Hill and the gray castle tower of Midhurst rose over the coppice in front, that at last the eager outstretched neck sank a little on the breast, and the breath came quick and fast. Look where he would in woodland and on down, his straining eyes could catch no sign of those plains of freedom which he sought.

And yet another outrage! It was bad that this creature should still cling so tight upon his back, but now he would even go to the intolerable length of checking him and guiding him on the way that he would have him go. There was a sharp pluck at his mouth, and his head was turned north once more. As well go that way as another; but the man was mad indeed if he thought that such a horse as Pommers was at the end of his spirit or his strength. He would soon show him that he was unconquered, if it strained his sinews or broke his heart to do so. Back then he flew up the long, long ascent. Would he ever get to the end of it? Yet he would not own that he could go no farther while the man still kept his grip. He was white with foam and caked with mud. His eyes were gorged with blood, his mouth open and gasping, his nostrils expanded, his coat stark and reeking. On he flew down the long Sunday Hill until he reached the deep Kingsley Marsh at the bottom. No, it was too much! Flesh and blood could go no farther. As he struggled out from the reedy slime with the heavy black mud still clinging to his fetlocks, he at last eased down with sobbing breath and slowed the tumultuous gallop to a canter.

Oh, crowning infamy! Was there no limit to these degradations? He was no longer even to choose his own pace. Since he had chosen to gallop so far at his own will, he must now gallop farther still at the will of another. A spur struck home on either flank. A stinging whip-lash fell across his shoulder. He bounded his own height in the air at the pain and the shame of it. Then, forgetting his weary limbs, forgetting his panting, reeking sides, forgetting everything save this intolerable insult and the burning spirit within, he plunged off once more upon his furious gallop. He was out on the heather slopes again and heading for Weydown Common. On he flew, and on. But again his brain failed him and again his limbs trembled beneath him, and yet again he strove to ease his pace, only to be driven onward by the cruel spur and the falling lash. He was blind and giddy with fatigue.

He saw no longer where he placed his feet, he cared no longer whither he went, but his one mad longing was to get away from this dreadful thing, this torture which clung to him and would not let him go. Through Thursley village he passed, his eyes straining in his agony, his heart bursting within him, and he had won his way to the crest of Thursley Down, still stung forward by stab and blow, when his spirit weakened, his giant strength ebbed out of him, and with one deep sob of agony the yellow horse sank among the heather. So sudden was the fall that Nigel flew forward over his shoulder, and beast and man lay prostrate and gasping whilst the last red rim of the sun sank behind Butser and the first stars gleamed in a violet sky.

The young squire was the first to recover, and kneeling by the panting, overwrought horse he passed his hand gently over the tangled mane and down the foam-flecked face. The red eye rolled up at him; but it was wonder, not hatred, a prayer and not a threat, which he could read in it. As he stroked the reeking muzzle, the horse whinnied gently and thrust his nose into the hollow of his hand. It was enough. It was the end of the contest, the acceptance of new conditions by a chivalrous foe from a chivalrous victor.

"You are my horse, Pommers," Nigel whispered, and he laid his cheek against the craning head. "I know you, Pommers, and you know me, and with the help of St. Paul we shall teach some other folk to know us both. Now let us walk together as far as this moorland pond, for indeed I wot not whether it is you or I who need the water most."

And so it was that some belated monks of Waverley, passing homeward from the outer farms, saw a strange sight which they carried on with them so that it reached that very night the ears both of sacrist and of abbot. For as they passed through Tilford they had seen horse and man walking side by side and head by head up the manor-house lane. And when they had raised their lanthorns on the pair it was none other than the young squire himself who was leading home, as a shepherd leads a lamb, the fearsome yellow horse of Crooksbury.

Tillman Wants to Know If Banks Contributed

INSURANCE DONATIONS

Senator Does Not Want McCurdy Family to Get Fat on Dividends Belonging to Others --Congratulations For Platt

Washington, Dec. 8.—The subject of campaign contributions by insurance companies came up in the senate in connection with Mr. Tillman's resolution calling for an investigation of national banks' aid in politics. In an address Mr. Tillman dealt with the president's recommendations for the punishment of bribery in elections and said that the comptroller has means of getting information which others have not and added that if he would "push his probe he can make discoveries that are worth while." He added that his reasons for requesting the information is found in the revelations concerning the insurance companies.

"It has been shown by the testimony or confession of a member of this body," he said, "that for 10 years the insurance corporations have been making annual donations to the Republican party with the understanding that they should be protected from adverse legislation at Albany."

He went on to say that such revelations were not agreeable. "I am the holder of a small policy in one of the Mutuals," he said, "and I don't like to have my dividends cut down in order to give Mr. McCurdy $150,000 and his sisters, his cousins and his aunts $75,000 each." He expressed doubt as to the right of the federal authorities to take control of insurance companies.

Mr. Bailey asked whether the insurance company contributions to the Republican national committee had been returned to the donors.

"I understand," replied Tillman, "that the president was going to have Mr. Cortelyou return them, but I don't know whether he has done so. I know that I haven't got my share."

Mr. Spooner—"Is yours a life policy?"

Mr. Tillman—"It is."

Mr. Spooner—"Then it is not yet time to realize on it."

Mr. Tillman replied that it was dividends and not the policy itself that he wanted paid.

"These," he said, "were pitifully small, while McCurdy has been getting fat without doing anything."

Mr. Bailey said he had not supposed that the president would make a second recommendation on the subject of punishing campaign contributors until the money had been returned.

"Ah, Mr. President," responded Tillman, "all the Turveydrops and Pecksniffs are not dead yet, although I would not for a moment be understood as comparing our strenuous occupant of the White House with those characters. What we want is results, and those we do not seem to have procured so far."

Quoting the testimony of Senator Platt before the New York committee, Tillman congratulated that senator upon his straightforwardness. "There was no dodging," he said, "and I do not believe that a dollar of the money ever stuck to his fingers." He added his conviction, however, that the contributions had had the effect of controlling the New York legislature in the interest of the insurance companies.

Mr. Tillman quoted the charges made by Judge Parker in the last campaign connecting the Republican campaign contributions with the fact that Chairman Cortelyou had recently retired from the office of secretary of the department of commerce. He also quoted the president's reply, which he said was "red hot," and added that not a dollar had been needed to elect the president. Notwithstanding this fact, he said, that it had been shown that $1,900,000 had been contributed for that purpose—that is, if the newspaper men may be believed, "and," he added, "they are about as reliable as any other class. They will lie sometimes as we do, and occasionally they get orders that such a man shall be fly-blown. Then they proceed to plant the microbes, but upon the whole they may be depended upon."

He also made reference to the charge that large expenditures had been made by the Democrats in the Cleveland campaign, saying it would have been fortunate for the Democratic party if Cleveland had never been elected. He closed with an appeal for a thorough investigation, saying that such a course was necessary to restore the confidence of the public.

The resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to report whether the reports of the national bank examiners show that the banks have made campaign contributions in recent years was adopted at the close of Mr. Tillman's remarks.

$11,000,000 For Canal Work

Washington, Dec. 8.—An appropriation of $11,000,000 was voted by the house toward the construction of the Panama canal. The amount was a compromise between the $16,500,000 carried in the bill under consideration and an estimate of something over $6,000,000 recommended by the Democratic leader, Mr. Williams, to carry on the work until the middle of January. The bill was amended by directing the president to require annual reports from canal construction officers covering all details of the work; requiring such employes to give congress any information it may desire, and restricting all expenditures to money appropriated by congress and to that received by the operation of the property of the Panama railroad. The bill contains a provision removing a tax disability against the proposed canal construction bonds, thus placing the bonds on a footing with other government bonds as available for security for national bank circulation. The bond provision in the bill occasioned considerable discussion.

Minister Takahira's Popularity

Washington, Dec. 8.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, who starts for home on an extended leave of absence, was host at a stag reception last evening, when his friends in social and official life paid him a marked tribute of regard. The secretary of state and other members of the cabinet, the members of the diplomatic corps and officers of the army and navy, who, as a special courtesy to the minister, appeared in uniform, assisted in making the affair a brilliant one. President Roosevelt was represented at the reception by his military aide, Colonel Bromwell. The guests tendered the minister their wishes for an enjoyable rest and for his early return as Japan's first ambassador.

Senators In Bad Standing

Washington, Dec. 8.—Following his message resigning the chairmanship of the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals, Senator Mitchell has telegraphed Vice President Fairbanks that he does not care to be appointed on any committees. His action establishes a precedent in relation to the active service of senators convicted of criminal offenses, which will be communicated to Senator Burton. Mitchell's request will be respected and he and Burton will be left off of all committees.

Gunboats For Santo Domingo

Washington, Dec. 8.—Reduction of the American naval force in Dominican waters from a squadron of protected cruisers to a "mosquito fleet" of gunboats has been determined upon by the president. With the assembling of congress it is thought the responsibility of this government for the conditions there is to a large extent transferred from the state department to the Capitol.

For Porto Rico's Benefit

Washington, Dec. 8.—Governor Winthrop of Porto Rico is in Washington in the interest of Porto Rico's needs. He is anxious to have a small duty imposed by this government on coffee coming into the United States from foreign countries. The governor believes that with this advantage coffee growing would be greatly stimulated in Porto Rico.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Frank Dingley, editor of The Journal, of Lewiston, Me., had an interview with President Roosevelt, during which the tariff question was discussed informally. Mr. Dingley believes that the existing law should not be disturbed at present, at least.

Killed Wife and Mother-In-Law

New York, Dec. 8.—Alfred P. Frelich, a pharmacist in the Presbyterian hospital, shot and instantly killed his wife and her mother, Mrs. Anna Hoeflung, in his home in Brooklyn. After the shooting he stepped over his wife's body and walked out of the house. He gave himself up to a policeman and was locked up after refusing to make any statement. A doctor who examined the prisoner at the station house said Frelich was suffering from nervous prostration.

Victory For Pat Crowe

Omaha, Dec. 8.—Pat Crowe, who has been on trial on a charge of shooting with intent to kill Officer Albert Jackson, last night was acquitted. Crowe was remanded to jail to await trial on the charge of highway robbery, in connection with the alleged kidnapping five years ago of Eddie Cudaby. There was no law covering kidnapping at the time the alleged crime was committed and for that reason a highway robbery charge has been placed against Crowe.

Girlies Paraded In Nighties

Selin's Grove, Pa., Dec. 8.—To show their dissatisfaction at new rules for the government of the women's department the "co-eds" of Susquehanna university last night donned night robes over their street costumes and paraded the campus in front of the men's dormitory singing "How'd You Like to Spoon With Me?" The men looked on, but hadn't the nerve.

Banks' Holdings of Bonds

New York, Dec. 8.—A canvass of the holdings of bonds by American banking institutions, covering nearly 4000 banks and trust companies, shows that those institutions hold $1,770,000,000 of bonds, not including government bonds. This equals about 17 percent of the deposits of these banks or their total stock and a large portion of the surplus.

CRIMINAL ACTION

It May Possibly Follow Insurance Investigation.

PAYMENTS OF $134,000

Made to Widow of Former President of Mutual Reserve Since His Death--Mysterious Payment of $8000 to Burnham

New York, Dec. 8.—Attention was directed to the possibility of criminal action growing out of the investigation of life insurance methods by a visit paid by District Attorney Jerome to the legislative committee while it was holding its hearing Thursday. Mr. Jerome said that he wanted to find out when he could get possession of a copy of the report of the committee. Chairman Armstrong already has said that he hopes to have it ready for the legislature when it meets next January.

One of the points brought out by Mr. Hughes in yesterday's hearing was the fact that the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company has paid $134,000 to the widow of Edward B. Harper, the former president of that company, since Harper's death in 1895. The money is derived from commissions which Harper drew on all the business written by the company. His widow, who has since remarried, continues to receive the commissions.

J. A. Hyland, bookkeeper of the Mutual Reserve, identified entries in the books of the company showing payments of $600 each to Mrs. Harper in 1895 and 1896. Some of them were checked with the initials of Frederick A. Burnham, president of the Mutual Reserve company.

Mr. Hyland said Mrs. Harper is now Mrs. Orlando P. Dorman, having married since Harper's death. The total amount paid to her by the Mutual Reserve company under the bill of Edward B. Harper, witness said, was $134,067, and she is still being paid one-third of 20 cents on each $1000 insurance in force prior to 1895.

Incident to this inquiry, Hughes discovered an instance in which $8000 had been paid to President Burnham of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company in 1896 and concerning which Vice President Eldredge of that company testified that he knew nothing. The bookkeeper, who made the payment from a contingent fund, said he did not know what it was for.

The affairs of the Security Mutual Life Insurance company of Binghamton, N. Y., again were under investigation. One of the interesting facts brought out was the statement of President Turner of that company that he had employed a few years ago D. H. Keefer, one of the clerks in the office of the superintendent of insurance at Albany, to act as consulting actuary of the Security Mutual company at $1000 a year. For all Turner knew, he said, the arrangement is still in force.

Evil Deed Charged to Strikers

New York, Dec. 8.—Some unknown person or persons cut the guy ropes of the derrick on a new building in course of construction by Post & McCord, the contractors against whom the structural iron workers are waging a strike. Nearly 50 men were about to begin work when a shout of warning was heard. Just as the workmen escaped, the derrick fell with a crash. There was a similar occurrence recently at another of the Post & McCord buildings. The employers charge that it was the work of strikers.

Conspiracy Conviction Stands

New York, Dec. 8.—The United States circuit court of appeals has handed down a decision affirming the conviction of former Customs Examiner Browne, who was accused of conspiring with A. S. Rosenthal & Co. to defraud the government by passing silks at underestimated weights. He at present is out on bail. A. S. Rosenthal was indicted also for conspiracy and put under $30,000 bail. He furnished the bail and fled to Europe, where he has remained ever since.

Witte Losing Heart

London, Dec. 9.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail says: Prominent military commanders everywhere are requesting permission to resign. The minister of war himself has asked the czar to allow him to retire. The minister of the interior and others have followed the example of the minister of war. Count Witte stands alone, but even he is losing heart.

Planned Wholesale Murder

London, Dec. 8.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph reports that a secret meeting at Chinampho of the leaders of a conspiracy to assassinate all the Korean ministers who signed the treaty with Japan was surprised by Japanese troops, who arrested 10 of the conspirators.

Attempt to Steal Angelo Treasure

Rome, Dec. 8.—Thieves entered the church of St. Lawrence, at Casellina Torri, and tried to remove from a wall a beautiful bas-relief representing the 12 apostles, the work of Michael Angelo. The effort was not successful, but the work has been badly defaced.

Mysterious Double Tragedy

NOTICE.

The business of Funeral Undertaker, for many years carried on in Quincy by the late John Hall, my father, will in the future be conducted by me.

While I know that I cannot fill the place in public esteem that a long life of faithful service gave to him, I wish to say that I shall use my best endeavors to meet the requirements of all occasions that may arise, and I ask his friends and mine to believe that I shall not fail in an earnest effort to make good his loss.

I will add that the business is now thoroughly equipped in regard to men well trained to the duties of the work, and in other respects I am fully qualified to give prompt and efficient attention.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Four Tracks

Railroad Begins Work For New Bridge Over Neponset

The "Old Colony Railroad," shortly before its lease by the New York, New Haven and Hartford, had so far committed itself to improvement, that a book was published—and some copies of the same are extant—informing the public that "the railroad has four lines of track from Boston to South Braintree," and other changes the road contemplated having effected by the time that the book was to be given to the public.

But the New Haven road, taking possession soon after, inaugurated improvement along other lines—of grade, etc.,—and having accomplished the purpose for which several years and immense sums of money were expended, without further obstacle, and with intent to forward with all reasonable dispatch, the improvements as originally contemplated are now going forward.

Workmen are engaged laying double lines of track from South Braintree to Whitman; and from Nantasket to Cohasset.

The Neponset river is being temporally bridged, for the four track double roller bridge already purchased to supplant the old bridge and Assistant General Superintendant A. W. Martin of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., asserts that the four lines of track from Boston to South Braintree, will no longer remain an indefinite matter but are well defined, and will be an accomplished fact, soon.

Councilman Gassett and other gentlemen of the City Council of Quincy waited upon the assistant to the president, T. F. Brynes, of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. some time ago, with regard to much needed improvements at Atlantic station, and Asst. Gen'l Supt. Martin has written to Mr. Brynes (who is now in New Haven), urging that if the officials of the road can determine, in the forward move, just how to accomplish at once, what is manifestly required at this station without conflicting with present plans, that the assurance of this bettering as given by Mr. Brynes at the interview held, be accomplished without further delay.

Much comment by the travelling public about the delapidated condition about Atlantic station has not escaped the hearing and notice of the N. Y., N. H. & H. railroad authorities for some time.

A SENATE PUZZLE

Nothing to Guide Action on the Death of Mitchell

HE HAD MANY FRIENDS

They Would Like to Give the Usual Testimony of Esteem--Death of the Oregonian Came Rather Unexpectedly

Washington, Dec. 9.—News of the death of Senator Mitchell of Oregon occasioned great surprise at the Capitol. It has raised a delicate question as to the duties of the senators toward their late associate. Ordinarily, when a member dies a committee is appointed to represent the senate at the funeral services and at the earliest opportunity the colleague of the deceased member formally gives notice of the death and announces that later he will make more extended remarks. The senate then adjourns out of respect to the memory of the deceased.

After numerous conferences the point was raised as to whether the senate would be warranted in following the usual program in the case of Mitchell. It was argued that at the time of his death he stood convicted of an offense under the federal laws and in violation of his oath as a senator of the United States. On the other hand, it was pointed out that the senate has not been notified officially of his conviction and that judgment had been arrested by an appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Vice President Fairbanks has not appointed the usual committee, and the impression prevails that he will postpone action until the senate convenes on Monday. It is thought likely that the vice president will leave to the senate the decision as to what its course should be. Senator Fulton, Mitchell's colleague from Oregon, will give notice of the death of Mitchell when the senate meets on Monday, but it has not been determined whether he will ask the senate to adjourn as a tribute to Mitchell. There is no precedent for the guidance of the senate.

The late senator had many warm friends in the senate who remained loyal to him throughout his trial. These senators would like to give a testimonial of their regard for him and testify to the value of his long service, but they will be governed by future conferences.

Senator Mitchell's death was brought about from loss of blood following the extraction of teeth. For five hours physicians worked unceasingly before the flow of blood could be stopped temporarily. The severe mental strain which the senator has undergone for the last year, owing to his connection with the land fraud trials in Oregon, left him in a too weakened physical condition to withstand the loss of blood.

Senator Mitchell was born in Washington county, Pa., in 1835, and went to Oregon in 1860, after a few years' residence in California. He became more prominent gradually, and by 1866 came within one vote of being his party's choice for United States senator. He incurred the bitter hostility of William L. Hill, a lawyer, who was then editor of the Portland Oregonian.

Hill learned that Mitchell was living under an assumed name, and made a trip to Pennsylvania, where he traced Mitchell's antecedents. It was discovered that Mitchell's real name was John Hipple, and that while very young he had married a poor girl by whom he had several children. He left his family and disappeared, and in due time turned up on the Pacific coast as "John H. Mitchell." His identity having been established, The Oregonian printed an exposure which caused a sensation in the state.

Mitchell did not deny the truthfulness of the story. Instead, he took the people of Oregon into his confidence, admitted that he had changed his name and asked the people to judge him by his record as a man among them rather than by the errors of his youth. He took steps to have his new name legalized, and made peace with his former wife by legal settlement.

The people of Oregon took Mitchell at his word and the attecks upon him were unavailing. In 1861 he was elected to the state senate. The next year he formed a law partnership with the late Senator Dolph, enduring until 1873, when Mitchell was elected to the United States senate. A Democratic legislature in 1879 failed to return him to the senate. In 1885 he was re-elected to be senator. He failed to be returned in 1897 and followed his profession until 1901, when he was again elected to the senate.

It was only when his connection with a conspiracy to defraud the government of its public domain was made manifest by his conviction in the federal court that he lost the political influence which he had held for a greater part of a half century. From his 70th birthday, June 22 last, the day on which his guilt was decreed, Mitchell had rapidly declined.

Senator Mitchell's wife is in Paris, where she has spent a large part of her time since the marriage of their daughter to the Duke of Rochefoucauld. A son, John H. Mitchell, Jr., resides at Minneapolis. Lieutenant Hiram Mitchell, U. S. A., is also a son of the senator.

Democrat Will Succeed Mitchell

Portland, Or., Dec. 9.—Governor Chamberlain will appoint a successor to Senator Mitchell within a week. It is almost a certainty that the new senator will be a Democrat, as the governor is of that party.

RUBBER TRAVELING CASE.

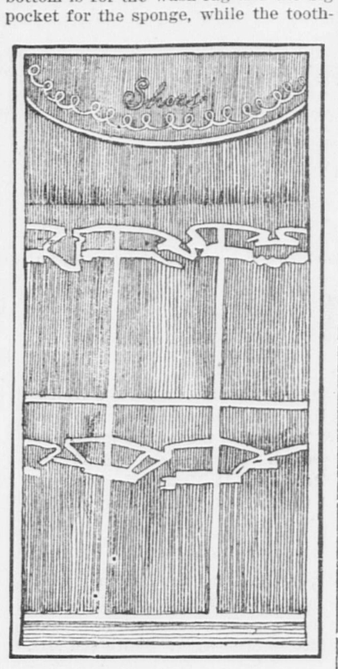

Christmas Gift That Will Please an Orderly Person.

It's always a question what to do with sponge and toothbrush or a wash rag when you're traveling, if it's only the tiny overnight trip. So, if you're thinking of making a Christmas gift for some one who is going away, try a rubber case for these very things.

Get sheet rubber (the light color is best) and tape (there's regular tape that comes for binding rubber), and for covering a thin silk, or, better still, one of the linen or cotton washable stuffs, so that the wet things can't stain it.

Cut your rubber sheeting twenty-four inches long and nine or ten wide and cover on one side, being careful to baste the rubber and covering together close to the edge. Bastings will pull out of the cloth without leaving a mark, but make tiny holes in the rubber, which grow larger in spite of the most careful handling.

Line pieces of the covering with the rubber for the patch pockets and stitch rubber lined bands for the comb and brush holder. The long pocket at the bottom is for the wash rag and the big pocket for the sponge, while the toothbrush is stuck through the three loops at the top. Then the case is folded or rolled, according to how full it is, and tied with an inch wide ribbon.

At the top of the case is a compartment for shoes.

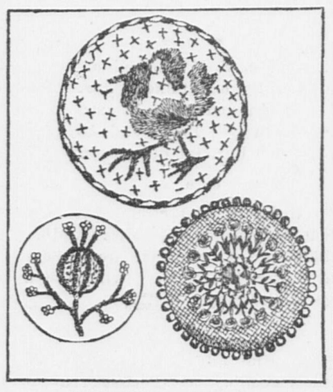

Denim, linen taffeta and cretonne are all good materials of which to make such bags.

Each row of pockets is made in one, with the divisions made by tapes stitched flat, and each pocket is a big box plait, with a casing running clear across, through which a strong elastic is run to keep the tops from sagging down.

The decoration at the top is a form of buttonholing, with the stitches widely spaced, or featherstitching, with a heavy mercerized cotton, may be used.

Embroidered Buttons.

Smart shirt waists this winter are fastened with buttons made of the waist material worked in harmonizing shades of embroidery silks. Conventional designs are the ones most used. The illustration shows three styles of these buttons. In one a dainty spray of coral is the motif; another has a stiff floral arrangement radiating from a single flower in the center, while a third boasts a cross stitched effect as a background for a couple of saucy little chicks. A set of such buttons would make a pleasing Christmas gift.

Dainty Bags as Presents.

Ribbons make beautiful opera bags by overcasting the selvage, leaving a heading of several inches and lining them with a corresponding color.

Bags to hold large pieces of fancy work are made from two strips of wide ribbon put together to give the effect of a huge ball. One, in flower pattern, was formed by felling together the selvages of two strips three-quarters of a yard long. The outer selvages were then gathered into tight knots, forming the poles of the ball. There ends of the ribbon were hemmed, inclosing a strip of whalebone which kept the ball in shape.

Vanity Bags as Presents.

Vanity bags designed as Christmas gifts are shaped like money pockets and are easily thrust into the corsage. Delicately scented ribbon is used, and the case and flap are neatly bound in narrow white ribbon. Inside is a watch shaped chamois bag with several slits cut in it to let the powder out. A prolongation of this bag forms a cover to stay over the slit side. The edges of the flap are pinked. In the pocket is also a round mirror, and several safety pins are also caught to the case.

I'm Growing Old Fast And you know why, too. It's those gray hairs! Don't you know that Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair? Well, it does. And it never fails, either. It stops falling hair also, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. Do not grow old so fast! No need of it. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

RAILROAD IS CRITICISED

Engineer Lyons Not Responsible For the Lincoln Disaster

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 9.—Horace W. Lyons, the engineer of the pilot locomotive of the Montreal express train which ran into the rear end of a local train near Lincoln on the Boston and Maine railroad Nov. 26, the accident resulting in the death of 17 persons, was discharged from custody by the Middlesex county grand jury, for which body he had been held on the charge of manslaughter. In returning a "no bill" against Lyons the grand jury took occasion to make a special report on the disaster in which the Boston and Maine railroad is severely criticised on the ground that its operating rules are insufficient for the protection of passengers.

The grand jury also condemned the railroad for its alleged practise of assigning inexperienced engineers to fast passenger trains. Lyons was found to have been greatly at fault in not slowing down sufficiently and in disregarding precautionary green lights which indicated that the local train was not over five minutes ahead and for disregarding red fusee signals, indicating that the local train was behind time. The grand jury did not, however, conclude that there was criminal liability.

Chick Held For Murder

Kezar Falls, Me., Dec. 9.—Wesley Chick, the young farmhand, was formally arrested on a warrant issued last night charging him with the murder and robbery of his great-uncle, David Varney, aged 78 years, on Wednesday night. Chick was arraigned immediately before Justice Wadsworth of Hiram, who found probable cause for holding him to await the action of the grand jury. Chick was kept under guard in a room in the local hotel over night and was taken to the county jail at South Paris today.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 9.—Three sticks of dynamite, discharged in a sewer trench in which 11 city workmen were digging, critically hurt Frank Early and injured two other men. Vaughan, one of the men at work on the tower, was thrown to the roadway and suffered injuries which caused his death.

Beauty's Christmas Tree

By WILLIS EMERY

Copyright, 1904, by Charles N. Lurie

THE northern half of the attic had been transformed into a studio under Varick's personal supervision, and it suited the young artist admirably. There was light, there was space enough for all his things and for "distance" when he was at work, and there was seclusion such as every person engaged in an artistic pursuit should have, for his own sake and for the peace of mind of those who love him.

When the heavy door was closed Varick could swear in French, German or English without fear that his two old maid sisters would hear him, and on good days, when Satan had departed out of crayons and brushes and a beneficent spirit had come to animate them, the door could be opened so that the "girls" might hear their brother sing as he toiled.

It was not a good day, and the door was shut. Some one knocked. Varick, who was putting up a curtain made of two sheets across a corner of the studio, pounded his thumb with a hammer as he turned to say "Come in." He was sitting on the top of a stepladder nursing his thumb when the door swung open.

Immediately Varick assumed the pose of one who listens, and with raised finger he checked his sister, who would have spoken. She also listened, smiling.

"That's what I came to tell you," said she at last. "Florence is here."

"I'm glad she's feeling better," responded Varick.

"Better?"

"Oh, she hasn't been ill that I know of; just blue."

"How do you know that?"

"Because she hasn't been over," he replied. "When Florence isn't getting on with her work she stays away. She won't burden me with her discouragements."

He laughed grimly at the notion that the burden could be taken from him in such a manner.

"I think she paints very well. I"—

"No, she doesn't," responded Varick, with decision, "but if she fights like a soldier and works like brimstone blazes"—

"She's only a girl."

"A girl with a future!" he exclaimed. "But she will have to win her way to it with sword and fire. However, I haven't time to talk to her about it today. I have troubles of my own."

A voice from beyond the door said, "What are they?" and Florence entered.

Varick from the top of the stepladder surveyed her keenly for an instant, then he descended briskly and advanced with extended hand. His heart was full of love, but his head was in control, and not a trace of sentimental weakness marred the perfect picture of good comradeship which he presented.

"The top o' the morning to you," said he. "You're more than welcome. I need you."

"That's cheering," she replied. "I'm glad that a demand for my services exists somewhere."

"It exists everywhere," said he, with spirit, "only you won't see it. "You're low in your mind again, Florence; that's all. Take a new grip on yourself. Get into the battle and fight harder. And, by the way, what's gone wrong this time? Is it that cover design?"

"Yes. But never mind. Let's talk about your work. What have you there, behind that curtain—a tree?"

"A Christmas tree," said he.

"Aren't you a little in advance of the season? It's three weeks to Christmas."

"This tree," said Varick, drawing aside the curtain, "is sacred to art and not to beneficence. We may make a real one of it later, however. At present this is the game—I'm illustrating Hawley Chase's new book, and"—

"Isn't that fine?" exclaimed the girl. "You will make a big hit, I'm sure."

There was true good will in her tone, quaintly mingled with a touch of envy.

"I must," responded Varick, with decision. "I suppose that Chase stands at the head of the younger popular authors. This book of his is sure of 150,000 circulation. It will be read everywhere. I tell you, Florence, this is a great chance for me."

"How long have you had it?"

"About a week."

"I think you might have let me know."

"I was expecting you over here every day, and I've been at work twenty-seven hours out of every twenty-four. The publishers are in a frightful hurry. I guess that's why I got the job; the famous fellows wouldn't rush so. I've made one picture already. What do you think of it?"

He set the picture on the easel, and they regarded it for a moment in silence.

"It's dreadfully sensational," said the girl, with a little laugh, "but it's all right."

"It had to be a bit brisk," responded Varick. "The passage was marked for illustration. Loren—that's the hero—gets into a rather serious mixup with a wild western specimen named—well, never mind; I can't remember his name."

He took up some proof sheets from the table.

"'The plainsman laid a hasty hand upon his weapon,'" he read, "'but before he could fire Loren ran around the end of the long table and leaped through the open window.' I've got him right in the middle of the leap. Full of action, isn't it? What do you think?"

"I think the hero is a splendid mark, and I wonder that he got away," said Florence. "But there's a heap of good drawing in that picture. You've told the truth, no matter what the author has done."

"As to that," responded Varick, "I suppose Chase doesn't know much about shooting. He's made his reputation as a portrayer of simple life and homely characters. That's where he stumps me. I made that picture in two days and had no trouble at all, but I'm going crazy over this one." And as he spoke he set another board upon the easel.

"That little girl is seeing her first Christmas tree," explained Varick. "The heroine—a New York society belle named Livingstone—and Loren, the exschoolmaster, take a fancy to a child between three and four years old and get up a Christmas celebration for her. They set up the tree behind a curtain in Miss Livingstone's drawing room and bring in the little girl—Beauty—without telling her what she's going to see. Here's the passage in the story:

"'Will you draw the curtain or will I?' asked Miss Livingstone.

"'I think you had better,' answered Loren in a gently authoritative tone, reminiscent of his schoolmaster days.

"At that moment Beauty, who had escaped from the maid, came running into the room, exclaiming: 'Where is my Christmas tree? I want it right now!'

"Loren gathered the child in his arms and talked to her wisely of the virtue of patience, while Miss Livingstone darkened the room, so that the lights upon the tree shone through the curtain, 'just like the beautiful stars in heaven,' as little Beauty said.

"At last all was ready, and Miss Livingstone proceeded to slowly draw aside the curtain until the glittering marvel was revealed. Then Loren could no longer hold the child, though he would have liked to have done so. Quick and elusive as a fairy, he was unable to hold her. With outstretched arms, as if to clasp the tree and all its wealth of good things to her little bosom, the eager child sprang forward.

"That's what I'm trying to show," said Varick, "but somehow I can't manage it. The child eludes me just as she eluded Loren in the story. I've had half a dozen models here, but they won't do anything. They just stand still, as if they were hypnotized. I suppose I don't know how to manage them. I'm not accustomed to children."

"The girl in that picture is seventeen years old," said Florence.

"After the children went back on me I got Lucy to pose just on the chance of a suggestion, and Sister Lucy is not in her first youth. She's thirty; that's what she is, though perhaps I oughtn't to mention it. However," he proceeded, "I've got the scheme now. I'm going to reproduce the scene, by jingo! There's my tree, there's my curtain, and I've bought a lot of candles and ornaments"—

"Have you chosen your model?"

"There are the ones I've had here already, of course, but I'd like a new one. Don't you know a little girl who could play Beauty in my scene?"

"I know one who'll look the part," answered Florence, "but whether she can play it"—

"That'll be all right when she has the tree to look at. She'll run for it fast enough. When can you bring her?"

"I'll have her here at 2 o'clock this afternoon."

He thanked her heartily and promised help in return for hers.

"As soon as this job is off my hands," said he, "I'll take hold of your work with you, and we'll thump it into shape. You can't fail, Florence. I won't have it. Just look at it as a matter of life or death and fight your way through."

Promptly at 2 Florence brought the model, and at the sight of the child Varick's joy nearly paralyzed him.

"Ideal, ideal—absolutely ideal!" he cried and repeated the words over and over again as if he had no more in his vocabulary.

The child clung to Florence and exhibited a lively terror whenever the wild eyed artist approached her.

"I suppose a studio is a strange spectacle for her," said Varick.

"At three and a half," responded Florence, "most spectacles are strange. She'll get used to it. That's what living is—'a process of getting used to things.' Nice place, isn't it, Beauty?"

"Yes," said the child.

"What's your name for this afternoon?"

"Beauty," answered the little girl. And she laughed timidly, as if asking permission.

"What are you going to see?"

"Tris'mas tree."

"What is it like?"

Beauty hid her face in the folds of Florence's gown and refused to reply.

Miss Luck Varick summoned her brother to the door just then and delivered to him a large doll which had been sent from one of the stores.

"Florence bought it," said she. "It is one that the little girl has noticed several times in a window. She'll recognize it. Florence wants you to put it in a conspicuous place."

Varick slipped the doll under his coat and got behind the curtain without attracting Beauty's attention. His artistic instinct and training enabled him to place the doll in a spot where it could not escape attention. Having done this, he proceeded to light the candles on the tree.

When all was ready he lowered the shade over the big studio window in order to give better "value" to the brilliant tree.

"Now," said he, addressing the little girl and copying some of the language of Mr. Chase's book, "this tree is all your own. The gifts are yours. They come from our hearts to you. We wish you to remember"—

But Beauty seemed to find this discourse alarming. She hid her face and made a feint of crying. After much petting and whispering by Florence the child was persuaded to turn toward the curtain again and even displayed some small signs of enthusiasm.

"She'll be great when she sees it," said Varick. "Don't hold her too tightly. Let her run. I want to see just how she does it. Now!"

Suddenly he swept the curtain aside, and at the same moment Florence released her hold upon the child. The removal of the gentle hands which had held her frightened Beauty, and she shrank back till she could get a good grip of Florence's skirt. Thus sustained, she stood staring at the tree, her eyes widening and her face brightening. But she was immovable and speechless.

"Just like the others!" groaned Varick. "She doesn't do a thing. But she likes it, though. I can see that. She'll be all right in a minute."

"Like it, Beauty?" asked Florence.

Beauty looked around timidly and whispered an unintelligible word.

"It's all for you, little girl," said Varick; "all yours."

Beauty's pose became less trancelike. She seemed to be struggling with something in the nature of an idea.

"Mine!" she said, with difficulty. "Oh-h!"

She took the least little step forward.

"Yes, yours," whispered Florence; "all for you."

Slowly the child crept forward step by step and dragging Florence after her. It was a wonderful display of courage. Beauty braved the unfamiliar, dazzling, menacing apparition in the corner for the sake of the dolly which lay in its embrace. Having won that prize, she retreated hastily and sat down in a far corner, with the dolly clasped to her bosom. The neglected Christmas tree was behind her.

* * * * * * *

"I'm going to draw the thing just as it happened," said Varick half an hour later, "and Chase and his publisher may do what they please. Chase is evidently a donkey. He is ignorant of life. As a matter of fact, I knew that already. But I had a few illusions in regard to myself. This little experiment has dispelled them, and I see myself for what I am."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

He took her hand, but not as he had done earlier in the day.

"I have been just as silly about you," said he, "as Chase has been about his little girl. I've neglected the plain facts of human nature. I've been trying to fill your heart with a man's courage; I've been trying to make you fight as I fight, hope as I hope, endure as I endure, and it's a monstrosity. No wonder that you always stay away from me when you're blue. It shows your good sense. But try me once more. When the work goes badly come to me, and I will tell you that it doesn't matter a bit, that I love you just the same and always shall, and I'll not tell you to smash things and fight the luck because that's a man's way. I'll not address your dear little head at all, because that's not the right way. I'll speak straight to your heart from my heart, very gently and tenderly—if—if your heart will listen"—

"Yes," said she, weeping happily, "it will."

"OLD IRONSIDES"

Bonaparte Will Not Assume Any "Unauthorized Liberties"

Washington, Dec. 8.—Secretary Bonaparte received the following telegram from A. E. Pillsbury, former attorney general of Massachusetts: "May I not say to meeting called to preserve 'Constitution' that she will not be destroyed?"

Secretary Bonaparte's attitude regarding the fate of the historic old frigate is outlined in this telegram which he sent in reply: "Fate of Constitution in hands of congress. Personally wish to see her arise like a phoenix, but am too loyal to other constitution to take unauthorized liberties with this one."

The excitement regarding the Constitution has been precipitated by a suggestion contained in Bonaparte's report that, in view of the fact that only a few parts of the present Constitution can be identified as coming from the original ship of that name, they be taken out and preserved in a new armored cruiser of modern type to be called the Constitution. He further suggested that the remainder of the present ship Constitution might appropriately be given a maritime ending by setting her up as a target for the North Atlantic fleet at its annual record target practice.

Awful Brutality of Cossacks

St. Petersburg, Dec. 8.—Following the news of the assassination of Lieutenant General Sakharoff, former minister of war, at Saratoff, come stories of great atrocities committed by him and his Cossack soldiers on the people of the country. On his arrival at Havoanschina it is reported he caused the entire population to be corralled, whipped, abused, maltreated, and in several instances so severely injured that they died. The Cossacks tortured the peasants, pulling out their hair and beards and clipping off their ears, noses, pieces of their cheeks or chins and hacking them with knives. Peasants thus maltreated were forced to beat members of their own families or suffer death, while the Cossacks caroused.

Shocking Condition of Affairs

Philadelphia, Dec. 8.—The report of the advisory committee appointed by Mayor Weaver to make an investigation of conditions in the insane department of the Philadelphia general hospital says there are 1800 patients in the insane department of the almshouse, whereas there are accommodations for only 900. There is an utter lack of clothing and many patients are compelled to remain in bed because they have no clothes to wear. In one ward 100 patients out of 125 were without underclothing. The place is so crowded that patients have to sleep on benches and on the floor, and tuberculosis patients are not separated from the other inmates.

Indictment In "Shanghai" Case

Baltimore, Dec. 8.—James Hodges of the firm of Jubb & Hodges, shipping agents, was indicted on the charge of assaulting James McCabe of Philadelphia, whose dead body was found floating in the water some time after he had been shipped as an oyster dredger on the schooner Sadie E. R. Gibson. Hodges gave bail. The indictment is a result of the persistent efforts of McCabe's wife to prove that her husband was "shanghaied" and murdered.

Massachusetts a "Foreign State"

New York, Dec. 8.—Rev. D. S. Ives of Hartford, speaking at the Civic Federation conference on "the distribution of immigrants," said: "Massachusetts is the most foreign state in the Union. Sixty-five percent of the people of southern New England are immigrants and, willing as we may be to welcome them and to acknowledge that they are come to serve our needs, the problem of maintaining the true New England spirit is a difficult one."

Failed to Show Up In Court

New York, Dec. 8.—Edward J. Milan, a Democratic politician who was indicted on a charge of bribery in connection with alleged illegal voting and who was at liberty under $11,000 bail, failed to appear when his case was called in the county court in Brooklyn. Judge Crane declared the bail forfeited and said that a bench warrant for Milan's rearrest would be issued at once.

Japanese Courtesy to Morgan

Seoul, Dec. 8.—American Minister Morgan left Seoul today for America. The Japanese government has especially provided a transport on which Morgan will visit Port Arthur and Dalny en route from Japan to America. Morgan is the first foreign minister to withdraw. The German and British ministers will probably follow him soon.

Senator Mitchell In Hospital

Portland, Or., Dec. 8.—United States Senator Mitchell is said to be in a serious condition from loss of blood following the extraction of a tooth. Mitchell was removed to a hospital.

Drummer Boy's Experiences

The eye-witnesses of the great event of '61-65 are rapidly diminishing in numbers. Of the great leaders of those days scarcely one is left us. Among them all the character of Phil Sheridan has always been of surpassing interest. The public will no doubt be glad to learn that the Rev. Dr. R. L. Greene of Waltham, who was intimately associated with him as orderly, will tell his experiences at the Point church next Tuesday evening at 7.45. He was with Sheridan up and down the lines at Cedar Creek after his famous ride from "Winchester twenty miles away." Dr. Greene is a very able man and an excellent speaker. Those who have heard this lecture speak of it in the highest terms as a very vivid picture of those scenes of which he was a part, especially the Battle of Cedar Creek. The Rev. Edward Anderson will preside and will introduce the speaker. There will be good music, the singing of war songs by a large chorus. A very enjoyable evening is assured.

Nevin Music

The chances are that many of those who attend the concert to be given by the Quincy Yacht Club at the Quincy Music hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 19, will remember that one of the most talented American musicians lived here with us in Quincy for several years, and that some of his best works were finally completed here. Of course we can refer to but one man—Ethelbert Nevin. The Philharmonic Orchestral Club numbers among its thousands of selections, etc., many by Mr. Nevin, some of them orchestrated especially for this combination, such as "Day in Venice," "The Country Dance," "The Tournament," and his world-famous "Narcissus," from his "Water Scenes."

Handsome Fountain.

One of the handsomest soda fountains ever seen in Quincy has been set up this week in the Weeks-Hill pharmacy. It is of pure white marble with silver trimmings. The front part of the fountain is in the shape of a counter at the back of which are the syrup faucets set on a level with the counter so that the operator faces his customer at all times. In the center is an ornamental stand with faucets for drawing the soda. Under the counter are the ice boxes, tumbler washing machine, ice cream holder, milk and Moxie cooler and shelves for glasses, etc.

Has Brought Blessings

Mr. H. M. Faxon on being interviewed concerning the results of the vote on the License question at the municipal election last Tuesday said: "The unprecedented majority of 2000 in favor of No-License at our recent city election is most gratifying to every citizens who believes, as I do, that the unwavering adherence to this policy for the last twenty-four years has brought untold blessings to Quincy and its people."

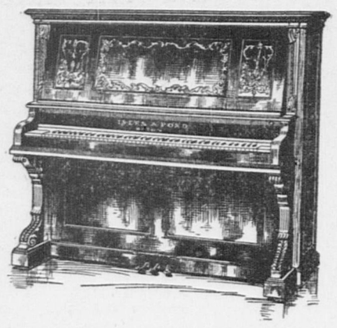

New Boys' Club

Last evening at the Washington Street Congregational church, a large number of people gathered to witness the public installation of the officers of "The Huscarls of the King," a society for young men, teaching purity, manhood and loyalty. This society has an historical foundation. After an address by Rev. Charles S. Bates, officers were elected and installed.

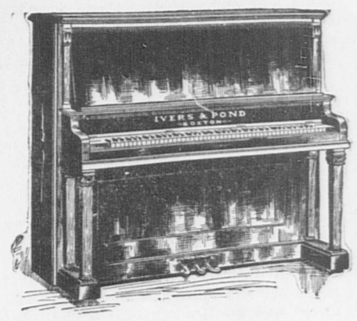

Telephone Building.

The New England Telephone Co. has purchased two lots of land on Merrymount road in the rear of Rogers Bros. store. They will erect a brick building in which will be located the central exchange, the office of the superintendent of the South Shore district, the construction department, etc.

Annexation of Canada Debated

The regular meeting of the Unity club was held in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry, last evening.

The subject for the evening was the "The Dominion of Canada" and the director was Mr. Frank A. Page. Mr. A. B. DeMille, of Milton Academy, gave a very interesting paper upon the government of Canada. Rev. Mr. Hunt then compared the provinces of Quebec and Ontario. "A marked difference," he said, "is that Ontario has the American spirit of 'get there' and Quebec lacks it."

The next subject on the program was the St. Lawrence river, Mrs. Bishop giving a very poetic description of the lower, and Mrs. Parks an equally interesting description of the upper river.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to a debate, upon the annexation of Canada to the United States. Mr. Parlin took the affirmative and his main arguments for annexation were economic values, military necessity, and social interests. Mr. Harper in the negative, contended; 1st, that the Canadians did not wish to be annexed when they had the chance in 1776; 2d they would sacrifice many millions of dollars spent on improvements; 3d, the down-fall of British power; 4th, we do not need the advantages that Canada has.

Mr. Page then read a letter from a Canadian friend, in which he said that the Canadians do not wish to be annexed to the United States.

The discussion was summed up by Mr. Simmons with his usual characteristic wit, bringing to a close a very interesting and profitable evening.

The music of the evening consisted of solos by Mr. Follett, to whom the club is always delighted to listen.

The Spray at Boston

The steam trawler Spray built at the Fore River Shipyard will start on her maiden trip to the fishing grounds next Tuesday. She is now at Long wharf receiving provisions and ice.

Another battleship, the Louisiana, will have her trial trip on Monday next over the Rockland, Maine, course.

Mrs. Burrell's Thanksgiving

One of the happiest events of Thanksgiving which took place in Malden was the re-union of the Burrell family at the home of Mrs. George P. Brett on Eastern avenue.

The event of the first re-union in 68 years and the invitations came from Mrs. Abbie Lavinia Burrell, who is 83 years old, her ten children and 49 grandchildren representing five generations.

Among those gathered around the festive board on this happy occasion were members of the family from points as far away as Wyoming.

After the dinner group pictures of the entire gathering were taken.

Mrs. Burrell formerly lived in Quincy which was the birth-place of all her children, and all were present to share their mother's joy but one, Charles L. Burrell, at one time a Union soldier, but now deceased.

The children present were Thomas J., of Washington, D.C.; Walter S., of Sheridan, Wyoming; and Augustus and Arthur Burrell, both of Malden; Mrs. Carrie Cleverly, of Roxbury; Mrs. Mary Goodnow, of Weymouth; Mrs. Ella J. Kluge, of Barre; Mrs. Stella L. Stevens, of Stoneham; Mrs. Lizzie M. Burrell, wife of the late Charles L. Burrell; Mrs. Ida F. Brett and Mrs. Lilla Thompson, both of Malden.

Mrs. Burrell received a profusion of flowers from her grandchildren and others.

Rev. Alfred Ray Atwood of the Point Congregational church will address the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Mazie Hastings Slade of Wollaston will render vocal solos.

CITY BREVITIES.

Rain or snow Sunday.

Another meeting of the City Council on Monday evening.

Councilman Stone is confined to his home with a severe cold.

Mr. John A. Normyle of Boston is stopping at The Greenleaf.

Louis A. Gomez has accepted a position as aid at the Quincy roller skating rink.

Rev. Edward A. Horton of Boston is to preach at All Souls church, Braintree, on Sunday morning.

It is not the strawberry season but D. E. Wadsworth & Co. have some that look good enough to eat.

Chief of Police Burrell, who has been ill with pneumonia, is convalescent and will be able to be out in a few days.

A power letter cancelling machine has been installed at the Quincy post office, which does the work remarkably quick.

Paul Revere, W. R. C., 103, will have election of officers at the meeting next Tuesday night. All members requested to be present.

The Boston Presbytery of United Presbyterian churches will meet at Cambridge next week on Tuesday evening and Wednesday.

The Juniors of the Y. M. C. A. went to the Association building in Boston this afternoon to bowl the Boston Juniors.

Rev. T. B. Smith will be installed on Wednesday evening next as pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Brockton, by a committee of the Presbytery.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co. are decorating for Christmas the red and green makes the interior of the store bright and attractive. The handkerchief window attracts much attention.

Sneak thieves were about City Square yesterday afternoon. Between 4 and 5 o'clock one entered the studio of F. A. Skinner in the Adams building and stole $35 in cash from the money drawer. There is no clue to the thief.

An interesting course of free Bible lectures was given this week at the Park and Downs church by Rev. Charles E. Hesselgrave, Ph. D., of Chatham, N. J. The first was on Monday evening, and they have been continued each night, closing last night.

The Quincy Yacht club has been fortunate in securing one of the finest musical organizations in Boston for their concert at Quincy Music hall on the 19th. The Phil Harmonic society always commands a large audience and judging by the advance sale of tickets they are going to have a cordial welcome to our city.

Mrs. Moore, mother of Mrs. William P. Barker Greenlef street received quite severe fall at the Quincy depot yesterday. She came from Boston on the 1.49 train. After alighting, her foot caught between the rail and the planking and she was thrown. She fell forward onto her face and was quite badly cut and bruised. She was attended by Dr. Gordon and removed to her home.

The new mercury-vapor lights which have recently been installed in the machine-shop at the shipyard are not giving universal satisfaction. These lights burn with a peculiar greenish glow, giving objects a hue that is often startling. To most of the men, the strange tint merely affords amusement, but one solemnly declared that though one might get used to this in time in so doing his mind would, in all probability become affected and then he would have no use for the lights.

At Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Chase of Sauth Braintree observed their first "at home" Wednesday evening, a large number of their friends being present.

Messrs. Julian Morrow and Frank Allen were assisted in ushering the guests by Masters Geo. S. Hill and Charles Wood. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Foley of Holbrook assisted the bride and groom in receiving.

Miss Bertha S. Hobart and Miss Minnie Annis were in charge of the numerous beautiful wedding gifts consisting of silverware, cut glass, linen, china, etc. Fruit punch was served by Miss Elva S. Bates and other refreshments by Misses Emma D. Eaton, Elberta Porter and Marion A. Fiske.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase will be at home to relatives and friends Wednesdays during this month.

League Report

The Citizens' No-License League in publishing their customary statement of the receipts and expenditures of the recent campaign, desire to heartily thank all those who have given of their time and thought, as well as those who have given financial aid.

Much thanks is also due to our newspapers, the Ledger, the Patriot and the Advertiser for their support.

More money than usual has been spent, though the total amount is less than a cent and three-quarters for each of our inhabitants—a low rate of insurance.

In expressing our deep gratification and thanks for the increased "No" majority which our citizens have given, we must say that it is a splendid testimony to the abiding character of the work in which Mr. Henry H. Faxon had so large a share. And we must acknowledge the splendid work which has been done by the churches throughout the city, particularly the Catholic churches.

The Vote on License Question

An injustice was done the No-License cause in the analysis of the of the vote of 1905 as compared with 1904 the asterisks and daggers becoming transposed.

The only precinct to give a larger "Yes" vote were Precinct one of Ward One and Precinct one of Ward Six.

The precincts to give a larger "No" vote were: Precinct two of Ward One, Precinct two of Ward Two, Precinct one of Ward Four, and both precincts of Ward Six.

All the precincts gave larger "No" majorities except Precinct two of Ward One, Precinct two of Ward Three, Precinct two of Ward Four, and Ward Five, the largest increase being in Precinct one of Ward Four.

The analysis is republished, the asterisks now indicating a smaller vote:

BRAVELY WENT TO HER DEATH

Mary Rogers the Calmest of All at Her Execution

NECK BROKEN BY FALL

Lost Consciousness Instantly and Evidently Suffered No Pain--Feet Touched Floor For an Instant--Showed Stoical Indifference to Her Fate Up to Last Minute--How She Passed Her Last Hours

Windsor, Vt., Dec. 9.—Without a tremor and without a murmur, Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers marched unconcernedly to her death. Holding her head high in the air, this woman bravely mounted the gallows unaided and paid the penalty of murdering her husband, Marcus Rogers, at Bennington, on Aug. 13, 1902. To all appearances Mrs. Rogers was the calmest person in the chamber of death. She faced an ignominious end on the scaffold with the same stoical indifference that has marked her demeanor ever since her arrest, more than three years ago.

GOVERNOR BELL.

Greatly to the relief of those officials who were assisting in executing the death sentence, Mary Rogers' last hour on earth was remarkably free from harrowing incidents. It had been feared that the woman's wonderful nerve would desert her at the last minute, and that she would be carried to the scaffold in a state of collapse.

There were no sensational incidents in connection with the hanging. Although the woman was not officially pronounced dead until 14 minutes and 30 seconds after the trap was sprung, she evidently suffered no pain. Her neck was broken at the second cervical vertebrae by the fall, and she lost consciousness instantly. A few feeble, convulsive movements of her pinioned hands were the only evidences that vitality had survived the first shock.

The drop fell at 1:13 p. m., and Mrs. Rogers was pronounced dead by the attendant physician at 1:27½. The woman's feet barely touched the floor for an instant, but the deputies on the platform of the scaffold immediately tightened the rope and raised the unconscious form a couple of inches.

Although Mrs. Rogers remained calm until the end, she had no desire for food yesterday and ate nothing. Prison Matron Durkee prepared an appetizing breakfast and carried it to Mrs. Rogers' cell, but the prisoner had no appetite and the food remained untasted. At noon another meal was prepared for Mrs. Rogers, and again she refused to eat.

Since the death watch was established some 10 days ago, Mrs. Rogers had eaten heartily and slept soundly. Thursday night she retired at 11 o'clock and woke yesterday morning at 5. Mr. and Mrs. Loukes of the prison staff comprised the death watch, eating and sleeping in the same room with the condemned woman. Margaret, the little child of the Loukes, was a frequent visitor in the death cell, and her childish talk evidently eased many weary hours during Mrs. Rogers' last days and helped her to keep her mind off her own fate. During her last days on earth Mrs. Rogers spent a great deal of time in crocheting tokens for relatives and friends. Every night her crochet hooks were taken from her for fear that she might do herself some injury, but were returned to her the next morning. She read the Bible a great deal, and received a number of calls from Rev. Dr. Hayes, the prison chaplain, and Rev. C. C. Delaney, pastor of the local Roman Catholic parish.

Up to within three hours of her death Mrs. Rogers consoled herself with the hope that she would not be executed. It was shortly after 10 yesterday morning when she was informed that Governor Bell had denied her a third reprieve. A final effort was begun by Mrs. Rogers' attorneys to persuade Governor Bell to grant a reprieve on the ground of newly discovered evidence, but that the governor refused to do.

High Sheriff Peck, who officially was in charge of the execution, in reality did not witness it, owing to heart trouble. All of the deputies rehearsed their gruesome parts Wednesday and yesterday morning were given further instruction. By 12:30 all of the deputies, legal witnesses, guards and the three newspaper men allowed to witness the execution were at the prison. Soon after 1 o'clock two deputies were dispatched to Mrs. Rogers' cell to escort her to the death chamber. The deputies found Mrs. Rogers receiving spiritual consolation from Father Delaney, who the day before had administered holy communion to her. Delaney did not accompany the procession to the gallows.

At 1:06 the death march began. Down three flights of stairs from Mrs. Rogers' cell the procession wended its way. Through the great guardroom and into the west wing, where the gallows had been erected, down another flight of steps, across a short space of brick floor and the foot of the scaffold was reached. Holding her head high, Mrs. Rogers never faltered for an instant as her eyes rested on the scaffold. Unaided, she mounted the steps, stepped onto the trap, and then seated herself in a chair on the scaffold. A moment later she arose, having declined to make any statement on the gallows.

Even at this tragic hour, Mary Rogers thought of others. Just as the deputies approached to bind her limbs, she removed her eyeglasses and, passing them to one of the deputies, she said: "These are for my sister. Please see that she gets them." A moment later the straps and noose were arranged, and the trap was sprung.

At 2:25 p. m., just an hour and 12 minutes after the drop fell, the body of Mary Rogers was taken from the prison to the railroad station. The coffin was placed on board a train and sent to Hoosic Falls, N. Y., where Mrs. Rogers' mother lives. Interment will be at St. Mary's cemetery, that town.

Those who witnessed the execution united in saying that it was successful and humane. Barring the incident of the toes barely touching the floor, there was absolutely no sign of a hitch. Within two hours after the execution Sheriff Peck and practically all of the deputies had returned to their homes. The little crowd of curiosity seekers that had lingered in the vicinity of the prison while the dread ceremony was in progress dwindled away as soon as it became known that Mrs. Rogers was dead, and Windsor returned to its accustomed quiet.

STORY OF THE CRIME

The Killing of Marcus Rogers Was Most Brutal

The crime for which Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers was sentenced to be executed was the murder of her husband, Marcus Rogers, at Bennington, Aug. 13, 1902. At the time the crime was committed Mrs. Rogers was 19 years old. She had been separated from her husband for some time, and was desirous of marrying a young man named Maurice Knapp. On the day of the murder Marcus Rogers went to Bennington to visit his wife, and that night she arranged to meet him in the wods near the Walloomsac river. While caressing him she induced him to allow her to bind his hands, and while he was powerless she chloroformed him. In this she was aided by Leon Perham, a half-witted boy, who was the son of the woman with whom she boarded. Another woman, Estella Bates, was present.

MARY M. ROGERS.

After chloroforming Rogers, Perham and Mrs. Rogers rolled the body into the river, where it was found the next day. In order to divert suspicion the woman wrote a note, to which she signed her husband's name, giving the impression that he had committed suicide.

Immediately after the murder Mrs. Rogers endeavored to collect her husband's life insurance, amounting to $500, and also made arrangements to purchase furniture for the house where she expected to live when she had married Knapp.

A few days after the murder Mrs. Rogers, Perham and the Bates woman were arrested. Perham made a complete confession and both he and Mrs. Rogers were found guilty of murder in the first degree. Perham was sentenced to imprisonment for life, while the sentence in Mrs. Rogers' case was death on the gallows.

Under the Vermont law, the power of pardon and commutation of sentence rests with the legislature, and the law also provides that when a person is sentenced to death a session of the legislature must be held between the time of sentence and the date set for the execution. At the last session of the legislature various attempts were made to commute Mrs. Rogers' sentence, but all failed. Then an attempt was made to pass a law abolishing capital punishment in Vermont, but that also failed. An attempt to secure a pardon for the woman shared the same fate. A bill was then introduced providing for the appointment of a state commission to examine into the woman's sanity. This bill passed the house unanimously, but was defeated in the state senate. Although the vote on the bill in the senate was never made public, it is known that the ratio opposed to its passage was about 3 to 1.

The date set for the execution was Feb. 3, 1905. On Feb. 2, after Mrs. Rogers had received the late rites of the Roman Catholic church, Governor Bell granted her a reprieve until June 2, in order that the claim of her attorneys to newly discovered evidence might be aired before the Vermont supreme court in an attempt to secure for the woman a new trial. The day previous to the day the reprieve was granted Sheriff Peck of Windsor county, to whom fell the task of executing Mrs. Rogers, went to Montpelier, accompanied by his deputies, and petitioned the governor to grant a reprieve.

On May 17 last the full bench of the Vermont supreme court heard the evidence on which the petition for a new trial was based, and a little more than a week later denied the petition.

On June 1 a second reprieve by Governor Bell removed the doomed woman from under the shadow of the scaffold. This reprieve was granted in order that the United States supreme court might pass upon the constitutionality and legality of the proceedings governing Mrs. Rogers' sentence. On Nov. 27 last the United States supreme court refused to stay the sentence of the Vermont court. With the decision of the highest court in the land Mrs. Rogers' last hope for life vanished, as Governor Bell had announced that he would not interfere with the sentence of the court.

Mrs. Rogers was the daughter of Mrs. Josie Callahan of Hoosic Falls, N. Y. Certain disclosures regarding scandals in the Vermont state prison at Windsor, where Mrs. Rogers had been confined, have, it is claimed, affected public sentiment. According to testimony before the prison investigation committee of the legislature, one of the convicts at Windsor had access to Mrs. Rogers' cell some time after the first reprieve was granted. It was alleged that this was part of a conspiracy on the part of certain prison officials to bring about such a condition as would further postpone the execution.

BLAST FOR CAPITALISTS

Rich Are "Real Anarchists," Says J. M. Patterson.

DECLARES THEY ARE ABOVE LAW

As Chicago's Commissioner of Public Works, He Finds That Millions of Dollars' Worth of City Property Is Illegally Occupied by Certain Wealthy Men Without Payment of Compensation.

"Certain capitalists of Chicago are anarchists. I say they are, and with emphasis. I believe men are anarchists, no matter how big their bank accounts, who take the attitude that law does not exist for them and that they are exempt from obeying it.

"Millions of dollars' worth of property is illegally occupied at the present moment in Chicago by rich individuals and corporations who have not a vestige of right to it, and many of whom give arrogant defiance to the law. If that is not anarchy, what is?"

This was the reply of Commissioner of Public Works Joseph Medill Patterson of Chicago when questioned concerning a speech made by him the other day in the University of Chicago, when he put the "real anarchists" in the ranks of the wealthy, says a Chicago dispatch. Mr. Patterson amplified his views then expressed and said some very strong things about his experiences since assuming office with wealthy "anarchists" and their representatives. "Since I have been trying to make people obey the laws," said the commissioner, "and trying to get them to do the legal, the right and the fair thing, I have been brought in contact with a brazen defiance of the law in this city which is amazing.

"Why, it is an absolute fact that many—I do not say all, by any means, but many—of the wealthy men and firms of the city actually believe they are above the law. The law may exist, but it certainly does not exist for them. That is their position. They defy the law, ignore the law, laugh at the law, all with an arrogance that makes my blood boil.

"Wealthy firms occupy city land both on sidewalks and underneath sidewalks without paying a cent of compensation and without an atom of title. They do not pay taxes on the land thus illegally occupied. Again, land belonging to the city in the shape of stub ends of streets abutting on the river is occupied by business men without compensation, title or right. Yet, again, made land is grabbed by private persons who have no title to it. They give no consideration to laws.

"Still again wealthy firms in this city are in the habit of stealing water—it is stealing and nothing else. The water costs the city pumping and labor, and that these firms take outright. Sometimes they steal the water by means of their own pipes and sometimes by changing the meters.

"I am now trying to insist that such firms as we have found acting in this way shall pay the city what is due. I have told some of these firms that exposure will certainly follow their further refusal to settle. At present I will not mention names. Two of the companies, however, who have been stealing water are large brewing companies.

"Still, again, I may mention the railroads which refuse to install gates at grade crossings. The law says they shall install such gates, but they do not care what the law says."

"What is the value of all the property which is illegally grabbed in one way or another?" Mr. Patterson was asked.

"It is very difficult to make a close estimate," he answered, "but the sum will certainly run well up in the millions. In the loop alone, for instance, 1,200,000 square feet of property is illegally occupied by bay windows and other sidewalk encroachments and in other ways. Two hundred thousand dollars should come to the city in the way of compensation each year.

"These men, who are acting illegally, are preventing the people from having the amount in their public treasury that should be there. Proper compensation paid to the city for its property which is being illegally used means to the city and its people more police, better fire protection and generally more money for crying civic needs."

The New "D" Bullet.

The new "D" bullet shortly to be given out to the entire French infantry is described as a cigar shaped cylinder of bronze and not of lead, cased with nickel, as is the old Lebel bullet, says the Paris correspondent of the London Telegraph. On being fired it revolves at the rate of 3,000 turns a second during its flight. At 800 yards it will penetrate the equivalent bulk and resistance of six men standing one behind the other. The new cartridge is absolutely smokeless, producing not even the tiny puff seen with the armament now in use. All the Lebel rifles of the French infantry are being refitted for the "D" bullet with fresh sights up to 2,400 meters.

Veteran's Refusal of $15,000 Pension.

Because he is of the opinion that Christ would not accept money under similar circumstances William S. Elliott, a veteran of the civil war, residing at Greentown, Ind., recently refused to accept $15,000 due to him from the pension department of the United States government, says a dispatch from Richmond, Ind. Elliott's objections are wholly on conscientious grounds. Although he is a Quaker and therefore opposed to war, he enlisted to help preserve the Union, and he has a good record as a soldier.

Financier Ryan Proves a Recalcitrant Witness

TALKED WITH HARRIMAN

Refuses to Tell Insurance Investigators What Was Said--Says That He Bought Equitable to Prevent a Panic

New York, Dec. 9.—The legislative committee which is investigating life insurance conditions has determined to send to District Attorney Jerome a request that he institute proceedings against Thomas F. Ryan, financier and owner of the majority of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society, to punish Ryan for refusing to answer questions before the committee. Ryan had refused to answer when asked what President Harriman of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroad companies had said to him when Harriman tried to induce him to share his control of the Equitable society with Harriman.

Mr. Ryan was asked whether Harriman had threatened that results disastrous to Ryan's interests would ensue, or if Harriman had told him that some action would be taken by the state legislature or any officer of the government unless Ryan consented to share his stock with him.

Acting on the advice of his attorney, P. D. Cravath, Ryan declined to answer those questions, although Senator Armstrong, chairman of the committee, directed him to do so. Ryan, however, did answer one question by saying that Harriman did not tell him at that time that there would be a legislative investigation of the life insurance business unless he gave up part of the Hyde stock.

Mr. Ryan had already testified that he secured control of the Equitable society by paying James H. Hyde $2,500,000 for 502 shares of the total 1000 shares of the society.

When Ryan was asked why he paid nearly $5000 a share for stock that paid only 7 percent dividends, he declared that he did it to avert what he feared would be the "most tremendous panic that this country has ever seen" if the Equitable society were forced into the hands of a receiver by the situation prevailing when he bought the stock. Frightful losses, he said, would have followed such a receivership and his own large enterprises would have been seriously affected. To take this company out of the hands in which it was going to destruction and give it a clean, economical and efficient management and restore its prosperity for the benefit of all honest interests, Ryan testified, seemed to him to be worth doing, and that was one of his reasons for buying control of the property.

Mr. Ryan declared that he regards as ideal the plan now in operation by which a board of trustees votes the stock he bought and that he has promised to make the trust perpetual and intends to do so. If, however, the legislature so decides, he will not object, he said, to the election of a majority of the board of directors by the policyholders direct.

Mutual Life Manager Resigns

New York, Dec. 9.—The resignation of Robert H. McCurdy, general manager of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was presented to the board of trustees and accepted. The resignation takes effect Dec. 31.

Prince Unnerved by Shock

Washington, Dec. 9.—Prince Min Yueng Tchan, the former minister of Korea to France, who has come to this country to try to influence the American government in favor of his country and to protest against the protectorate by Japan over Korea, is ill at his apartments in the Arlington hotel. His indisposition is mostly caused by the sudden shock he received when informed of the suicide of his brother.

Death For Inhuman Wretch

Des Moines, Dec. 9.—William McWilliams, who pleaded guilty to the murder of his wife and five children, was sentenced to death at Independence. McWilliams dashed out the brains of his wife and the babe in her arms with a hammer and called his other children to him one by one, murdering them in the same manner.

Suspected of $75,000 Robbery

Chicago, Dec. 9.—The police have arrested William Bowers on suspicion of being connected with a recent theft in New York, when diamonds valued at $75,000 are said to have been stolen from W. A. La Roche and C. M. Russells. Information given by a man named Frank Brown, who is also under arrest, led to the arrest of Bowers.

Statue Has a Bad Fall

New York, Dec. 9.—While an immense granite statue of former Mayor Hewitt was being hoisted into position on the new hall of records it fell with a terrific crash. The statue weighed four tons, and was near the top of the building when the derrick broke. The head was broken from the statue and the body was badly chipped.

To Review Meriwether Case

Punishment of Trusts

Toronto, Dec. 9.—The charges preferred against the Master Plumbers' association and the Central Supply association of conspiracy in restraint of trade were held to be sustained by Justice Clute, who imposed a fine of $5000 on each organization. There are over 100 indictments pending against the individual members of the associations. Arrangements had been entered into with certain wholesale houses whereby they were to sell supplies to members of the associations only.

Christmas Trade Is Booming

New York, Dec. 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that trade broadens in a healthy manner in response to lower temperature and holiday demand. The movement of Christmas goods promises to add one more to the many new high records established by 1905. Many manufacturers in these lines are unable to fill orders, notably those producing jewelry, candy, toys and novelties.

Twenty-Seven Boxes of Presents

Washington, Dec. 9.—The valuable presents and trophies of Miss Alice Roosevelt's trip to the Orient, which arrived about five weeks ago, were given their turn in examination and appraisement, which was concluded yesterday. A messenger from the White House paid the required duty and a big express van brought the 27 boxes to the White House. The unpacking began immediately.

Racing Man Kills Wife

New York, Dec. 9.—Pasquale Fringo, owner of race horses and a well known character at local race tracks, shot and killed his wife last night in a house next door to the Tenderloin police station. Korean Children.

The children of Korea are extremely quaint and pretty, especially when only a few years old. At New Year's they are generally dressed up in brand new frocks, and though, according to our ideas of taste, we should not give yellow sleeves to a bright red jacket and wear this over a green frock, I must say that somehow or other it looks all right there and relieves the monotony of the sempiternal white garments. The faces of the children are whitened with chalk, and the hair is oiled and parted in the middle, plastered down and tied into one or two small pigtails.—Cornhill.

Look Up When Speaking.

"I don't talk half as much as you do," said the preacher to the lawyer, "yet your voice holds out twice as long as mine. Why is it?"

The lawyer said he couldn't tell.

"The difference in the position of your head when you are talking explains it," said the elocutionist. "A preacher looks down upon his congregation, a lawyer looks up to the judge. That drooping of the head cramps the vocal cords and makes the preacher's voice more difficult to preserve than that of any other professional man."

Your Disadvantages.

Look your disadvantages squarely in the face and see what you can make out of them, and instead of complaining that you have not the right tools use well the tools you have. Go forward into a new battle and on to victory as though there never had been a failure in all your life.—Woman's Life.

FANCIES IN FURS.

Empire Styles In Furs—Sleeves Moderately Large—New Neck Pieces.

The greatest efforts are being made to revive the empire styles in furs. The loose empire modes are apt to be a little clumsy in pelts unless carried out in mole or seal skin. A beautiful coat seen in sealskin has broad bands of galloon, with an empire collar and sleeves trimmed to correspond and lined with wonderfully lovely brocade.

Regarding the sleeves furriers are using there is a wide choice, though most of the coat sleeves are moderately large at the top and comfortably tight at the wrist—in fact, a rather large leg of mutton is the accepted style. This suits a severely cut fur coat perfectly, but the more picturesque models look better with sling or cape sleeves.

There are delightful little ermine boleros or very short coatees cut up to show under frills of lace—dainty, smart, ridiculous little garments that look so well with a beautifully made white cloth skirt and a white hat trimmed with ermine.

The new muffs are huge, flat and much trimmed.

Long wraps of fur are made on the shawl order without sleeves.

The latest fur neck pieces displayed are mostly trimmed with cord and tassels or drops. Few tails are used.

The long broadtail stole illustrated is one of the prettiest models on which tails are employed as ornamentation. It is flat and deep on the shoulders. The ends are in two pieces adorned with short, bushy tails and two small heads. The muff is large, flat and heart shaped. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Spelling In the Year 1408.

By the following, which is an exact copy of the first paragraph in the will of Henry IV. of England, written in January, 1408, it will be seen that even kings are not always good spellers:

"In the name of God, Fadir, Son and Holly Gost, three Persons and one God, I, Henery, sinful wrech by the Grace of God Kyng of England and Fraunce, and Lord of Irland, being in my hole mynd, mak my testament in manere and forme that suyth, Fyrst, I bequethe to Almighty God my sinful soul, the whyche had nevere been worthy of the man, but thro' hys mercies and hys grase, which lyffe I haveth myspendyed thereof I put myselfe wholly in his grase and mercye with all myn herte. Also, I thanke my lordis threw the peple for the trew servyse that they have dune unto me, and I ask them forgyvnis if I hasth mysentreted them in eny wyse."

It will also be noted that Henry, besides not being up to the standard as a speller, had a peculiar habit of spelling one word in from two to five different ways.

Artists as Frame Makers.

The frame for the picture is always a sore question with the average artist, as any one of them will confess and any frame maker testify to. Most painters have definite ideas on how their canvases should be framed, but when it comes to ordering and paying for them, that is another matter. As great an artist as Alma-Tadema always designed his own frames, and not a few New York painters design and make their own. There is one Boston artist who began by making his own frames after his own designs, and his effects were so artistic that several of his colleagues in that city begged him to make frames for them. He consented to do this in a few cases, until the fame of his work spread abroad, and as a result he received so many orders that he set up a frame making shop of his own.

A Lucky Discovery.

"I believe," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "that what a boy is depends largely upon his environment."

"I know it," replied her hostess as she carelessly toyed with her jewel box. "There was my cousin Ebenezer's boy. He never knew what it was to have a well day till the doctors found out that it was his environment and cut it out."—Chicago Record-Herald.

What Was Lacking.

"I've lost all faith in my watch. It won't keep time any more."

"Then it's not faith you want, but works."—Cleveland Leader.

Coins are said to have been invented by the Lydians and were first used in 700 B. C.

TO BREED FROM ZEBRAS

Government Plan to Create New Species of Draft Animals.

OTHER NATIONS ARE WATCHING

William E. Curtis Writes of the Unique Zoological Experiment to Be Conducted by the Agricultural Department—Fleet Zebra Will Be Crossed With the Yankee Horse. Germany's Similar Test.

Secretary Wilson and the officials of the bureau of animal industry of the agricultural department, with the cooperation of Dr. Frank Baker, superintendent of the National Zoological park are about to engage in the most curious zoological experiment that was ever undertaken by a government, says William E. Curtis, the Chicago Record-Herald's Washington correspondent. The Germans are making preparations for a similar experiment, and the Kongo Free State, in Africa, will also attempt it. Robert P. Skinner, United States consul general at Marseilles, who was recently sent to Abyssinia to make a treaty with that government, has obtained, through the Ras Makonnen at Herar, Africa, a pair of Grevy zebra stallions. They are large, powerful and comparatively rare animals, which range in a wild state in the Abyssinian forests. Mr. Skinner endeavored to secure one while he was in that country, but there was none in captivity at that time. Since then Emperor Menelik has had his forest rangers searching for zebras, and the first pair that were captured are now on their way to Mr. Skinner at Marseilles, whence they will be shipped to New York. The department of state has been advised of the shipment.

By crossing these zebras with the American horse and the American mule it is proposed to create an entirely new breed of draft animals which, it is believed, will exceed in speed, strength and endurance every variety of the horse or the mule which we now have in existence. The experiments will be conducted at the Washington zoo under the direction of Superintendent Baker and the zoologists of the agricultural department. They will be watched with the greatest interest by zoologists and live stock men all over the world. Secretary Wilson is advised that the authorities of the German possessions in South Africa have been endeavoring to domesticate the zebra and use it for cross breeding, because it is proof against the tsetse, an African fly whose bite will kill a horse or mule, but does not injure a zebra.

This fly prevails in the German colonies in Africa, and has caused a great deal of trouble. It is believed that a half bred zebra will be as much immune from its effects as a full bred animal; hence the experiment is considered worth trying. The German authorities recognize also the necessity of providing some beast of burden that can endure the climate of Central Africa, for neither horses, mules nor oxen thrive there. Carabaos or water buffalo from the East Indies endure the climate much better, but the zebra, which is a native of that zone, would be even more useful if it could be domesticated.

The inhabitants of the Kongo Free state, and indeed the communities all along the Kongo river, which is now being rapidly settled and civilized, feel a similar need of work and transportation animals, particularly because it is now almost impossible to obtain negro bearers to carry the freight from the rivers into the interior. Until recently all portage and interior transportation was done by natives, but, having learned other methods of making a living, they are seeking lighter labor, and the transportation of freight has become a serious problem. Horses, mules and oxen do not thrive in that climate any better than in the German provinces; hence last spring the government sent an expedition into the jungles in the southeastern part of the state to capture wild zebras and drive them up to the capital. A large herd was found, and 200 or 300 fine animals are now being broken to harness. It is said that they prove tractable and are very intelligent. They have greater strength, better speed and more endurance than any draft animals that have ever been used in that climate.

Cantaloupe Perfume the Newest.

One would not suppose a girl from Charleston, however bright and pretty, would be the pioneer in a fashion, but a maid from that staid city who has been visiting the daughter of Bishop Mackay-Smith in Washington has introduced a new perfume, says the New York Press—that is, she has made it known in American society, for Parisians have had it for many years. It is a scent which is so delicate that it seems a mere suggestion of an odor. So far as a name may be given to it, it may be called "cantaloupe." All the young women are delighted with it, and orders are flying to Paris. It comes in a powder and as a liquid. It makes one think of pleasant fields and the joy of living. Violet, rose and heliotrope seem crude in comparison.

Valley Farm At Braintree

The drama "Valley Farm" presented on Tuesday evening at the Jonas Perkins school hall made a decided hit. A beautiful evening, a crowded audience, a dramatic presentation of modern life, with music both vocal and instrumental combined to produce an enjoyable and pleasing entertainment.

The scene of rural domestic happiness aptly portrayed in the first act was made most realistic by the well-curb and old oaken bucket. The entrance to the country home thorough the door-yard enclosed by a fence and gate and the kitchen door all was plainly visible and an old settle was stationed in the shady foreground. Here flourished the farmer Silas Halcomb, character taken by Lyman C. Williams.' His get up brought down the house with his capable sister "Alvira" (Mrs. Amos J. Loring acted this character) and his charming daughter "Hetty" (Miss Annie Robery was fine in this character.) A country neighbor "Lizy Ann Tucker" (Mrs. Benjamin J. Loring sustained this character with great success) always borrowing never saying nothing, but proving to be a veritable gossip.

The faithful country lover Perry Deane (was well taken by Elihu Oliver) his dispair changing to manly fortitude as the story progressed. Verbena the hired girl at the farm, provoked hearty laughter as she spied at the lovers while drawing water from the well for the chickens. Miss Annie Folland presented this character and scuffed and laughed and put potatoes to boil, etc.

Azariah Keep, the deaf clock-tinker with huge umbrella, makes many attempts to declare his love to the farmer's sister but fails really to pop the question. His attempt to hear and queer replies brought forth laughter and applause. (Joseph Spear was excellent in this character.)

A young man from New York city, (Harold Rutledge) personified by Fred Dexheimer, with his ardeut wooing of Sweet Hetty disturbs the peaceful and quiet country life; for he triumphautly wins the simple country lass and transplants her to a city home.

The New York lawyer David Hildreth was ably represented by David G. Doane, and his fashionable niece Isabel Carney was well done by Miss Ella Folland, so stylish, yet so hateful, so deceitful, so vain. Mrs. Rutledge, the baughty mother of Harold, was represented in good style by Miss Helen Warren.

The second act disclosed the city home in all its sumptuous upholstery. Jennings, the butler, was well presented by Joe Gould and certainly his make-up was perfect. Perhaps only a few realized that the deaf clock-tinker was now the inmovable butler.

The visit of the farmer and his sister to the great city to see their dear Hetty and the contempt shown them by the proud Mrs. Rutledge and her heartless visitor was plainly acted. The unhappiness of the young wife culminated in her sudden flight to her early country-home under the protection of her country lover. This subsequently led to sad complications. However in the last act the city husband seeks his wife and her forgiveness and it is affecting as he listens to her sweet voice singing, "If you knew how I love you." Soon in the plain country farm-house a reconciliation takes place.

Between the acts and before the play music was rendered by the orchestra.

Mr. Charles A. R. Price was in good voice and sang a baritone solo, accompanied by Miss Helen Sulis upon the piano. As an encore he gave a love song. The staging, the costumes and the well-drilled performers all reflect credit upon the association. The entire twelve characters were faithfully conceived and vividly portrayed.

Big Plurality.

The full vote of Norfolk County at the State election for County Commissioner has just been compiled, and shows that ex-Senator Merrill of Quincy was elected by a vote of nearly two to one. The totals were: 13,241 for John F. Merrill, and 6,897 for John Cavanagh of Braintree. Only two towns, Canton and Randolph, gave pluralities for the Democratic nominee.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

CHARTES

OUR HOSPITAL

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

BOSTON THEATRE.

The last week of the phenomenally successful engagement of "The Wizard of Oz" at the Boston Theatre is announced. The popularity of "The Wizard of Oz" is due to the original quality of its fun. One must be a confirmed misanthrope not to enjoy the drolleries of the Scarecrow, the Tin Woodman, the Roaring Lion and the Skittish Heifer.

"Fantana," the most successful musical comedy of the last five years, is the holiday attraction at the Boston Theatre, beginning Monday, Dec. 18. Needless to state, the play's star, Jefferson De Angelis has scored a hit, being one of the best comedians now before the American public. The attraction comes to Boston after a run of nine months in New York and five months in Chicago. In "Fantana" Mr. De Angelis has been fortunate in securing a congenial role, the opportunities of which he thoroughly realizes. His chief assistant in the funmaking is Miss Toby Claude, the little woman who will be remembered for her excellent work in "A Chinese Honeymoon." The chorus is large and liberally endowed with good looks and good voices. The Messrs. Shubert will bring the entire company, scenic equipment and stage accessories to Boston. Seats for "Fantana" will go on sale next Monday morning.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

"As Ye Sow" begins its last week of the phenomenally successful engagement of nearly three months at the Majestic theatre next Monday night. From the very beginning of the engagement each performance has been witnessed by capacity-testing audiences, and it seemed as though theatregoers of Boston and New England were trying not to miss seeing this presentation of a delightful story of Cape Cod life. Now that the end of the stay is announced, there is an even more eager rush to buy seats for the few remaining performances. The cast presenting the characters in "As Ye Sow" has been praised so highly by the press that there remains nothing that can be said. There is a large amount of comedy in the piece, and the realistic scenic settings are creating no end of favorable comment. "As Ye Sow" will go direct to the Garden theatre, New York, when the engagement closes in Boston Saturday night, Dec. 16.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The fame of Keith's Boston theatre for giving big shows is well known all over the country, and the special attention of amusement seekers is directed to the large number of European acts that have been specially booked for appearance on the Keith circuit, and which are to be seen at this playhouse from time to time. The program announced for the week of Dec 11 is quite in keeping with any that has preceded it this season. Among the leading entertainers are the Ellinore sisters, America's foremost comedienes, late of "Mrs. Delancy of Newport"; James J. Morton, the leading monologue comedian in vaudeville; Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane, in a pretty little play entitled "A Yankee's Love for Dixie"; Les Durands, Parisian street singers and musicians; Louis Quertin, skilful novelty jumper, and Eddie Russell and Ekna Tillyne in a comedy and singing skit. The usual new list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

Such an unusual interest has been shown in the great production of Justin McCarthy's romantic play "If I Were King," at the Empire Theatre, that Manager Morrison has decided to once more break the usual rule of weekly production at this play house and announce this play for a second week. The elaborate character of the scenic, mechanical, and costume effects in this production show the resorces of the Empire to fine advantage and make it evident that the management favors the best possible work in all the stage departments. The story of the play is treated with so much skill by the author in the development of his plot, the characters are so well drawn and the dialogue handled so masterfully that "If I Were King" is worthy its high reputation as one of the best of modern plays.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Pleasant memories of "Lady Windermer's Fan" survive among those playgoers who saw this notable comedy by Oscar Wilde upon its principal production in Boston a dozen years ago. Its revival at the Castle Square next week will be notable, for although Oscar Wilde's work stands forth brilliantly among the best of modern English plays, it is rarely presented either by stock or travelling companies. "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be staged at the Castle Square under the direction of William C. Masson, and the cast of characters will include John Craig, Lillian Kemble, and all the other leading members of the stock company.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Half a Million

Value of H. H. Faxon Real Estate In Quincy

Considerable interest centres in the amount of property left by the late Henry H. Faxon of this city, and there have been many estimates. The Daily Ledger obtains the following totals from the books of the Quincy Assessors:

Value Real Estate
$513,975
Value Personal Property
$6,200
Assessed Valuation
$520,175
Total Tax in Quincy
$9,521.20

Mr. Faxon also had considerable real estate in Chelsea, South Boston and elsewhere. Practically all of his wealth, which is placed at $730,000, was in real estate, and over half a million is located in the city of Quincy.

The total assessed value of the real estate of Quincy is $20,168,875, so that over one-fortieth was owned by the late Henry H. Faxon, and was bequeathed to his son, Henry M. Faxon. It has doubled in value in the last twenty years, and probably will double again in the next twenty.

Item by item the property is valued as follows:

Little Change By Recounts

A recount of the votes cast at the recent Municipal election for ward Councilmen in Wards Two and Six was held Saturday evening, and did not change the result as announced by the Daily Ledger on the night of the election. The first recount was held at 6 o'clock of the Ward Six votes for Councilmen. Less than an hour was consumed by the recount. Moir gained one and McLane lost one.

The Ward Two recount for Councilmen was held at 7 o'clock, and was also completed in less than an hour, The only change by the recount was that Gross lost one vote making his majority over Sidelinger four instead of five votes.

Fore Rivers Win Championship

The Fore River football team of this city won the championship of the Merrimack Valley football league, association rules, concluding matches being played on Saturday.

Fore River won two more games than their nearest rivals, the Andover, and also led two points which decided the championship, two points being given for each game won, and one point for each draw.

Andover won more goals than Fore River, but also lost more.

In goals lost the Quincys stood third but in games won and goals won they made a poor showing.

The final summary:

	Games W.	Games L.	Games D.	Goals W.	Goals L.	Points
Fore River,	11	1	1	38	7	23
Andover,	9	1	3	40	12	21
Boston Rovers,	6	3	4	32	25	16
Lynn,	6	5	2	17	19	14
Methuen,	4	7	1	16	22	9
Merrimac,	4*	8	1	17	32	9
Quincy,	2	8*	2	16	16	6
Lawrence,	2	11	0	9	52	4

Games won counts two and draws count one.
*Quincy forfeited to Merrimac.

The league games on Saturday resulted as follows:

At Boston—Fore River 1, Boston Rovers 1.

At Lynn—Lynn 1, Lawrence 0.

At Methuen—Andover 4, Methuen 2.

At Lawrence—Quincy forfeits to Merrimac.

It is the second season that the Fore River team has won the championship, and Councilman Peter Hynes, the manager, has reason to feel proud of his strong aggregation of football enthusiasts.

Y. M. C. A. Games.

Saturday the Basket Ball teams of the Boys' Department went to Boston and met with defeat at the hands of the Boston boys. The games greatly encouraged the Quincy boys, however, as the scores were small, several times Quincy being ahead of Boston. The playing of Captain Harry Glover of the Juniors and of McDonald and McKenzie of the Intermediates were the features of the games. The Intermediate team was crippled by the absence of Capt. Tupper. The Boston Juniors won from Quincy Intermediates 26 to 10, and the second Boston team won from the Quincy Juniors 12 to 8.

West Quincy Games.

The basket ball game at West Quincy, Saturday evening, resulted in a victory for St. Mary over Jamaica Plain 22 to 11. Twenty minute halves were played, and goals from the floor were scored as follows: For St. Marys—W. Duggan 5, D. Duggan 4, and Mullen 1.

For Jamaica Plain—Kai 2 and Glynn 3. Goals from fouls—W. Duggan of St. Marys, and Burns of Jamaica Plains.

The second team of the St. Marys, also won 32 to 11.

Three Alarms For Slight Fires

The fire department was called out twice Saturday evening. The first alarm was from Box 61 at 5.02 and was for a slight fire in the house of Martin Cunniff on Newbury, Atlantic, owned by Lawrence Curtin, caused by a lamp exploding. The damage was slight.

The second alarm was from Box 443 at 6.03 and was for a fire in an unused hen house of John Dunn off West street. The loss was small.

The alarm from Box 35 at 12.20 was occasioned by an oil stove in a tenement of Mr. White on the second floor of the Webb block at the corner of Hancock street and Hancock court. There was no fire but the room was blackened with smoke.

The First Real Snow Storm

Quincy experienced its first real touch of winter on Sunday. The weather all Saturday afternoon looked threatening and during the evening rain fell. It rained quite hard until late into the night when the temperature fell and the rain turned to snow. Sunday morning quite a good deal of snow had fallen and the ground was well covered.

Snow ploughs were out bright and early for the first time this season, and the sidewalks were cleared by church time. It stopped snowing during the afternoon. About the same time the temperature began to fall and the wind to increase. As night drew on the wind had increased almost to a gale, and at 9 o'clock it was howling in good shape. The wind went down before morning, but it continued cold and the weather during the early hours this morning gave promise of a storm before the day is out.

Snow began to fall the first of the afternoon.

80 MILES AN HOUR

Great Velocity of Wind In the Storm on the Ocean

LIGHTSHIP IS DISABLED

Leak Puts Out Fires and Renders Her Helpless Off Nantucket--Nearly Every Craft Got Warning and Reached Shelter

Boston, Dec. 11.—Although the coast storm which reached New England from the south during Saturday night raged with great fury Sunday, especially in Rhode Island and southern Massachusetts, comparatively little damage resulted, and the only serious marine accident was the springing aleak of the Nantucket south shoal lightship, anchored 42 miles out to sea from Nantucket island.

The centre of the storm, around which the wind must have blown at a velocity of between 70 and 80 miles an hour, passed within a short distance of the lightship, on which the crew worked with great desperation to overcome a leak in her fireroom compartment.

The highest velocity reported by the weather bureau from a shore station was 64 miles an hour at Nantucket. Block Island, another breezy place, had 52 miles, and the wind was also heavy on Cape Cod. In the interior, however, the wind was not particularly high, nor was the precipitation excessive. Nantucket reported 1.32 inches of rain and from there going northwest the fall of rain or snow dwindled to only a trace at Northfield, Vt.

Shipping along the coast had a timely warning of the approach of the storm, so that nearly every craft had reached a safe harbor before the storm reached its greatest severity.

There was some anxiety felt for the New Bedford brig Harry Smith, from the Azores, which just missed reaching port Saturday, and was compelled to anchor at the entrance of Vineyard sound. Sunday afternoon it was learned that she had ridden out the storm successfully.

About the same time came the word of the leak on the Nantucket lightship had put out the fires and that the vessel was helpless. It was also learned that the vessel's watertight compartment would probably keep the lightship afloat until help arrived. The lighthouse superintendent for this district dispatched the steamer Azalea to her assistance from New Bedford last evening.

The storm is now well down toward the provinces. Before leaving the coast, the storm caused a loss of many yards of the beaches of Cape Cod, which were washed by a very heavy sea and extremely high tide.

Life Savers' Good Work

Norfolk, Dec. 11.—Sunday was strenuous for the lifesaving crews at the Kitty Hawk, Kill Devil and Nag's Head stations. The first two battled against a terrific sea for several hours in an effort to reach the stranded steamship Aragon and finally succeeded in shooting a line across the vessel's decks. After this the entire crew of 21 men were brought safely to shore in the breeches buoy. The Aragon is high on the beach and in good condition, except for a broken rudder.

The Aragon was light, and towing the barge Goddard, also light. In the storm the vessels encountered outside the capes, they became separated and the Aragon went ashore about one mile south of Kitty Hawk. The barge stranded two miles north of Nag's Head. The Nag's Head lifesaving crew brought ashore her crew of five men in the breeches buoy. The barge is in good condition, but high on the beach.

Held Up by Storm

Richmond, Dec. 11.—The battleship Louisiana, which has just been completed at the Newport News yard and sailed for Rockland, Me., where she is to have her standardization trial, met the northeast storm at the Virginia capes. In preference to facing it, the captain anchored in Chesapeake bay, remaining there until last evening when, the gale abating, the vessel continued on her course.

Demands of Boycotters

Hong Kong, Dec. 11.—At a meeting of the boycott committee of the Chinese guards and American merchants here the Chinese demanded a definition of "laborer," China to approve all United States Chinese legislation and authorization of United States consuls in China to grant certificates of admission to the United States.

Sheet Metal Workers Organize

Boston, Dec. 11.—A temporary organization, which, it is expected, will soon become permanent, of the sheet metal workers of New England, was formed here by representatives from Boston, Springfield, Providence, Manchester, Holyoke, New Bedford, Lynn, Hartford, Brockton and Quincy.

Bullet In Hunter's Lungs

Moncton, N. B., Dec. 11.—John F. Card was accidentally shot and killed in the woods near here by Roy Carson, aged 15, while hunting. Passing through bushes, Carson's gun was discharged and the bullet went through Card's lungs.

Spain Loses Two Torpedo Boats

Cadiz, Dec. 11.—A fire in the Carraca arsenal destroyed two torpedo boats which were under repair and caused other damage to a great extent. One man was killed.

PATRIOTIC BAY STATERS

Rise In Protest Against Destruction of "Old Ironsides"

Boston, Dec. 11.—"Don't give up the ship" was the sentiment nailed on the front of the platform of Faneuil hall and gave the text to every speaker at the public meeting held to protest against the recommendation of Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte that the old frigate Constitution, now at the navy yard here, be destroyed. Acting Mayor Whelton opened the meeting by reading a number of letters protesting against the recommendation of the secretary, and among the number was one from former Secretary of the Navy Long.

The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. William Everett, the Quincy pedagogue and former congressman, who kept his hearers at a high pitch of patriotic excitement by his fervent words and historical references. Dr. Everett referred to Bonaparte's remark that the Constitution had been so changed and made over that there was very little left of the original ship, and drew a simile to the remains of the secretary's ascestor now reposing in state in France.

Referring to the veneration with which the French nation regards the remains of Napoleon Bonaparte and stating that the physical structure of any person undergoes material changes within a short period, he asked what would be the feeling if the President of the French republic recommended that as the body of the great French emperor that was brought back from St. Helena was not that of the victor of Marengo and Austerlitz and that the person who faced the snows of Moscow, the general who fought the battle of Leipsic and the one who was overthrown at Waterloo, should be made a target for the rifles of the soldiers of today.

Garrison's Memory Honored

Boston, Dec. 11.—The memory of William Lloyd Garrison, Boston's famous abolitionist, was honored in many churches throughout the city yesterday, the day being the 100th anniversary of his birth. The principal meeting was at the Zion Methodist Episcopal church, where some of those who worked with Garrison in the anti-slavery days spoke to a large audience composed mostly of those whose ancestors he helped to liberate. Nearly all the Protestant ministers referred to Garrison in their discourses.

Car Conductor Held Up

Boston, Dec. 11.—Surrounded by 10 men who boarded his car shortly after midnight, Conductor Hamilton of a car bound for Charlestown had the tussle of his life. After a short but desperate struggle, the men succeeded in robbing him of $10.05 and escaping. Two of them will remember the conductor for some time on account of a switch stick which he laid over their heads. Hamilton pulled the bell cord for the motorman to come to his assistance, which he did, but too late to be of any service.

Five Families Homeless

Somerville, Mass., Dec. 11.—As the result of the work of an incendiary here last night property valued at $30,000 was destroyed and five families were left homeless. The fire was set in the storehouse of the Derby Desk company, and the flames spread to tenement houses, driving the children and women occupants into the street in their night clothes, and many daring rescues were made.

Wanted In Many Cities

Boston, Dec. 11.—A man who has posed as Lord Ashburton, but whose real name is said to be William Griffis, an Englishman, is being sought by Chief Inspector Watts on a charge of forgery. Griffis, it is alleged, obtained $1474 from a business man in Boston on a check drawn on a Chicago bank. Watts says that Griffis is wanted in many other cities to answer various charges.

Train Struck Two Men

Boston, Dec. 11.—William L. Smith and Herbert A. Leonard, both of Athol, walked out into the yard of the North station to the draw bridge, where both were struck by a train. Smith died of his injuries and Leonard is suffering from concussion of the brain and other injuries which may cause his death also. Both were young men who had been visiting in this city.

Body Under Log In River

Portland, Me., Dec. 11.—The body of James A. Bailey of Westboro, aged 19, who has been missing for two weeks, has been recovered from the Presumpscott river. Friends of Bailey searched the woods for several days, but lately attention was turned to the river and the body was located beneath a log. The body was clothed only in a shirt, trousers and shoes.

Costly Target.

Probably the most elaborate and costly target in the world has recently been launched by the New York navy yard. The target is almost an exact duplicate of a section from the hull of a battleship and is estimated to have cost $50,000.

The Poet's Creditors.

When dusk lay brooding o'er the hill
And all within the house was still
Came hurrying each creditor
And stood without the poet's door.

"A joy I lent thee," spake an hour;
"And I a fragrance," said a flower;
"And I a color," said a dove;
"And I a grief," remembered love.

"I lent thee larger sight," called Mars;
"I let thee stand amid the stars
And see spring's wave of blossom roll
From the equator to the pole."

The poet flung his door awide.
"I can but give myself," he cried,
"For unto me myself ye lent—
Then take it now in settlement."

A GENERAL STRIKE

Its Occurrence In Russia Considered Certain

A CHALLENGE TO LABOR

Arrest of Leader of Industrial and Political Strikes Which Have Terrorized the Government--Witte Is Losing Ground

St. Petersburg, Dec. 11.—Another crisis is at hand involving the indefinite prolongation of the strike, the probable immediate precipitation of a general strike throughout Russia and a possible final struggle between the government and the proletariat.

This sudden change for the worse is the result of the shedding of the first blood in the telegraph strike Saturday evening almost simultaneously with the action of M. Durnovo, minister of the interior, in throwing down the gauntlet to the labor organizations by arresting President Krustaleff of the executive committee of the workmen's council without warning.

About 2 o'clock several companies of Cossacks clattered through the streets leading to the headquarters of the council. Having barred the approaches, a force of troops and police surrounded the building, after which secret service men rushed in and seized Krustaleff. The latter made no resistance and the affair was conducted quickly. It was impossible for Krustaleff to conceal the papers of the organization in which the police evidently expect to find evidence proving the ultimate object to be an armed uprising against the government.

A disturbance in which two strike breakers were killed and a policeman and several others wounded occurred at the same hour in front of the general postoffice. The strikers for two days have been seeking to persuade the volunteer and regular carriers to refuse to work. At the door of the building the strikers, enraged by the refusal of the volunteers to quit, drew knives, whereupon a carrier attempted to defend himself with a revolver. Both the carrier and a companion were fatally stabbed and sank dead on the spot. A squad of policemen was stood off by the strikers and workmen who sympathized with them. Both sides exchanged a fierce fusillade, during which a policeman and several workmen were wounded.

As the strikers were withdrawing a Cossack patrol came galloping to the rescue. One of the strikers turned and threw an imitation bomb and the Cossacks wheeled in order to avoid what they presumed to be a deadly missile. The crowd managed to get into an open courtway close to the door and to escape.

The news of the arrest of Krustaleff created an immense sensation among the workmen. All the socialist, labor and kindred organizations held a meeting at which most inflammatory speeches were made in denunciation of the government and all are talking of a general strike in order to save their leader.

Krustaleff, as he is called, though that is not his right name, is regarded as the brains of the revolutionary movement. He has displayed genius in organizing both the industrial and political strikes which have terrorized the government. His offer of financial support to the telegraphers prevented a collapse of their strike.

In some quarters it is believed that the government, realizing that a great struggle with the workmen and the socialist organizations is inevitable in January, arrested Krustaleff with the intention of deliberately precipitating matters by challenging the organization before they are fully prepared.

Many persons believe that Count Witte's fall is imminent and that when he goes he will leave reaction and revolution face to face. It is again rumored that the premier already has resigned and will be succeeded by Count Alexis Ignatieviff. Another rumor is to the effect that Lieutenant General Mistchenko, one of the heroes of the war in Manchuria, who is now on his way to St. Petersburg, will assume the dictatorship.

From a high source, however, it is learned that Count Witte's position, so far as the czar is concerned, is perfectly secure, and that the czar is giving him the widest co-operation. Nevertheless, the count's failure to accomplish something tangible has caused him to lose ground steadily in public opinion.

Disaffection Among Troops

Warsaw, Dec. 11.—The ferment among the troops is increasing. A hundred soldiers of the Kexholm regiment headed a procession yesterday, singing revolutionary songs. Their way was barred by a detachment of the Grochowski regiment, the commander of which ordered his men to fire. The soldiers refused to do so and permitted the procession to pass. The commanding officer then fled.

Royal Wedding to Occur Soon

London, Dec. 11.—The Daily Mail's Windsor correspondent says he hears that an early date has been fixed for a magnificent celebration of the marriage of King Alfonso to Princess Ena of Battenberg.

Battling With Yellow Fever

Havana, Dec. 11.—The disinfection and mosquito eradicating brigades will be largely increased this week, with a view to entirely stamping out the yellow fever.

MUTINY OF CONVICTS

Two Dying Out of Eighteen That Were Shot Down

Havana, Dec. 11.—The convicts in the penitentiary mutinied last night and a fierce fight followed between them and the guards, in which two of the prisoners were fatally shot, 16 wounded and three of the guards badly injured.

About 160 convicts were proceeding from their quarters to supper in charge of only one officer, who was armed with a revolver, and three guards, who carried machetes.

The prisoners suddenly rushed on the guards and overpowered them, taking their machetes, when the officer fired, wounding several of the prisoners. He was then seized by the convicts and roughly handled, being badly bruised and cut. Hearing the shooting, four more guards, armed with guns, came on the scene and fired into the crowd of convicts, driving them back. The arrival of artillerymen cowed the mutineers and rendered further firing unnecessary.

Two of the convicts are dying and 16 others are suffering more or less seriously from bullet wounds. The prison contains more than 1300 prisoners.

Roumanians Vs. Magyars

Vienna, Dec. 11.—An interesting example of the mixture of races existing in Hungary is given in reports of the beginning of what may prove to be a serious movement among the Roumanian inhabitants of southern Hungary in favor of the emperor-king against the Magyars, who, in the name of Hungary, are fighting against the crown. The Roumanians living in border provinces are holding secret meetings and are even declaring that they will drive out all Hungarians from the provinces bordering on Roumania. The Roumanians number 2,500,000 in Hungary, as against 6,500,000 Magyars.

Brazil Gets After Germany

Rio De Janeiro, Dec. 11.—Following the seizure of a German deserter at the fishing port of Itajahy by the crew of the German warship Panther, Brazilian cruisers have been ordered to sail for Rio Grande do Sul, where the German boat is now, to demand the return of the prisoner to Brazilian soil, on the ground that Brazilian treaties and territorial rights have been violated. And unless Germany at once complies with the request trouble may result between the two countries.

Lakes Claimed Many Lives

Chicago, Dec. 11.—According to figures compiled by the Lake Marine News Bureau, the death list on the Great Lakes during the season now closing has been the heaviest of any year since big steel vessels began to be used on the lakes. A total of 215 lives were lost. Of these 114 were lost during the three great storms of this fall. The remaining were lost by falling overboard and like causes.

Delayed on Maiden Trip

New York, Dec. 11.—The new Cunard line turbine steamer Carmania arrived off the bar yesterday afternoon, but on account of the rough weather and high winds did not attempt to enter the harbor until this morning. The Carmania sailed from Liverpool on her maiden voyage on Dec. 2, touching at Queenstown the following morning. She had been delayed by heavy storms.

Baseball Fielding Averages

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Only 18 points separate the highest and the lowest team fielding averages in the American league for the season just closed. Chicago had an average of .968, Cleveland .964, St. Louis, Detroit and Philadelphia tied for third place with .957, Boston and New York tied for sixth place with averages of .953, and Washington was eighth with .950.

Fresh Marines For Panama

Philadelphia, Dec. 11.—With a detachment of 200 marines on board to relieve a like number on duty in Panama, the cruiser Columbia has sailed from League Island navy yard for Colon. The stop at Colon will only be long enough to discharge the marines on board and receive the relieved squad. The detachment will remain in Panama a year.

Practical Anarchy at Harbin

London, Dec. 11.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent sends a dispatch from Moji giving accounts by refugees of the alleged sacking and burning of Harbin by mutinous Russian troops, the desperate fighting between the mutineers and loyal troops and the massacre of many innocent Russian and Chinese residents.

Beef Magnates' Trial Begun

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Trial of the beef trust packers under indictment for alleged violations of the anti-trust law and for alleged conspiracy to establish a monopoly was called today before Judge Bethea. Thirty-five attorneys appear for the packers, while Attorney General Moody and others represent the United States.

LIBERALS UNITED

Strong Ministry Is Formed by Campbell-Bannerman

APPROVED BY THE KING

It Is Considered Likely to Inspire Confidence at Home and Abroad--Gladstonian Home Rule Is Cut Out--Burns' Rise

London, Dec. 11.—It is officially announced that the new British ministry is made up as follows:

Prime minister and first lord of the treasury, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman; chancellor of the exchequer, H. H. Asquith; secretary of home affairs, H. J. Gladstone; secretary of foreign affairs, Sir Edward Grey; secretary of colonies, Earl of Elgin; secretary of war, R. B. Haldane; secretary for India, John Morley; first lord of the admiralty, Baron Tweedmouth; president of board of trade, David Lloyd-George; president of local government board, John Burns; secretary for Scotland, John Sinclair; president of board of agriculture, Earl Carrington; postmaster general, Sydney Burton; chief secretary for Ireland, James Bryce; lord president of the council, Earl of Crewe; lord of the privy seal, Marquis of Ripon; president of board of education, Augustine Birrill; chancellor of duchy of Lancaster, Sir Henry H. Fowler. The foregoing constitutes the cabinet. The following ministers are not in the cabinet:

Lord lieutenant of Ireland, Earl of Aberdeen; lord chancellor of Ireland, Samuel Walker; first commissioner of works and public buildings, L. V. Harcourt.

Campbell-Bannerman drove to the palace last evening and had an audience of King Edward, at which the king signified his approval of the new government.

The Conservative newspapers are compelled to admit that Campbell-Bannerman has succeeded in forming a much stronger administration than had been thought possible. The Liberal papers are full of enthusiasm and of cordial congratulation to the premier on having not only ably united all sections of his party in the ministry, but on having displayed great discrimination in giving its individual members congenial posts. They express the conviction that such a cabinet will inspire confidence both at home and abroad. The names of Asquith, Grey and Haldane alone, it is held, will give great weight to the ministry and insure that there will be no revival of Gladstonian home rule, despite the fact that the cabinet contains a preponderance of those favorable to home rule. The Conservative organs point out that the most enthusiastic home ruler, John Morley, has been sent to the India office, where he will have little influence on internal politics.

The omission of Lord Rosebery is naturally the subject of much comment and there is considerable curiosity as to what attitude he will adopt. It is noticeable that his son-in-law, the Earl of Crewe, is in the cabinet.

The composition of the cabinet presents no surprising features. It is larger than was expected, the last Liberal cabinet only numbering 16 members. Six of the new secretaries, besides Campbell-Bannerman, have held cabinet rank before, though most of them have held ministerial appointments, while three, George, Birrell and Burns, have never before held office of any kind.

The rapid rise of John Burns from the workshop to the cabinet with a salary of $10,000 a year is a unique feature, indicating the growing importance of the Radical party, and he is being congratulated on all sides on winning a well deserved honor. He will be the first labor member of the house of commons to have attained cabinet rank.

Perhaps the most popular appointment of all is that of Grey, who, after Rosebery, has the highest reputation for statesmanship. He is expected to uphold the best traditions of Great Britain's foreign policy and to inspire confidence abroad.

Among the unexpected appointments are those of Sinclair and Harcourt. The former has had much military experience and has been a parliamentary whip and secretary to Campbell-Bannerman. Harcourt is very popular in society. Baron Tweedmouth will lead in the house of lords, thus succeeding Earl Spencer, who is ill.

Death of Brewer Ballantine

Newark, N. J., Dec. 11.—Robert F. Ballantine, president of the Ballantine Brewing company and head of the firm of P. Ballantine & Sons, brewers, died last night from the effects of injuries received by being thrown from his horse. He was born in Albany in 1836. Mr. Ballantine was known as one of the most charitable men in New Jersey. Ballantine's nephew, R. D. Ballantine, committed suicide at his home in Newark Saturday night. Despondency was given as the probable cause.

Corbett Won't Fight McCoy

New York, Dec. 11.—Kid McCoy last night sent a challenge to James J. Corbett for a fight, the terms of which are to be arranged later, it being understood that a new club in Delaware will offer a purse of $20,000. Corbett, when asked concerning the challenge, said: "I am an actor and my ambition is to become a great actor. I made all the money and got all the fame that was coming to me out of prize fighting."

THE CANAL QUESTION

It Is Likely to Be Generally Discussed by the Senate

Washington, Dec. 11.—The first important measure which will receive the attention of the senate will be the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill, and its consideration will begin this week. Some senators predict that it will become a law before the close of the week, but others have expressed the opinion that final action will be deferred until the week following.

There will be no effort to prevent the passage of the bill in some shape, but there will be some opposition to the proposed restoration of the $5,500,000 subtracted by the house from the amount to be appropriated. Regardless of the sum, the bill will be utilized as a basis for the general discussion of the canal question. It is expected that the debate will deal largely with the question as to whether the canal shall be constructed on the sea level. The general expectation is that there will be comparatively little additional legislation before the Christmas holidays.

The wheels of legislation will be started in the house this week. With the long session ahead, however, no important results are expected until after the holiday recess. That there will be no lack of legislative propositions is indicated by the 5903 bills which have already been introduced in the house since the opening of this session. Many of these are known as private bills, affecting only individual interests.

It is usual to fix the holiday adjournment for about Dec. 21 to allow members to reach their homes for Christmas. While no date thus far has been decided, this adjournment is fully expected on Dec. 21.

Morgan Calls on President

Washington, Dec. 11.—Much conjecture has arisen over an unexpected call upon the president by J. Pierpont Morgan and James S. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York. Political reasons are generally assigned as the cause of the call, in view of recent declarations regarding President Roosevelt's personal interest in New York's political affairs. The "reorganizers," as all New Yorkers are called who visit the White House, had a long talk with the president.

Immigration Problems

Washington, Dec. 11.—In presenting the annual report of the bureau of immigration, Commissioner General Sargent refers to the magnitude and gravity of the problems presented by the growth of the alien population of the United States. "These problems," he declares, "loom so largely in the prospect of our country that all other questions of public economy, relating to things rather than to human beings, shrink into comparative insignificance."

Looks For Efficiency

Washington, Dec. 11.—Postmaster General Cortelyou, in his annual report for the past fiscal year, says that he is less concerned about the deficit in the postoffice department than the efficiency of administration. For the fiscal year 1905 the total receipts were $152,826,585, and total expenditures $167,181,959, leaving a deficit of $14,572,584.

Drydock Needed at Pensacola

Washington, Dec. 11.—Provision for construction of a drydock at Pensacola, Fla., capable of accommodating the largest ships in the navy, is urged by Rear Admiral Capps, chief constructor of the navy, in his annual report. The necessity for a large dock at this point arises from the strategic importance of Pensacola.

Departure of Takahira

Washington, Dec. 11.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, has left Washington for the Pacific coast and will sail in about 10 days for home on an extended leave of absence, from which his return is problematical. If Takahira returns to Washington he will be the first ambassador from Japan.

The Needs of Indians

Washington, Dec. 11.—The necessity for the preservation of Indian music, the establishment of an Indian reform school and the erection of a sanitarium for tuberculosis are new features of the annual report of F. E. Leupp, commissioner of Indian affairs.

The Age of Electricity

New York, Dec. 11.—Thomas A. Edison predicts the end of steam power within 20 years, airships as means of conveyance before he dies, establishment of great electrical power houses at the mouths of coal mines, with the elimination of freightage and a consequent decrease in the cost of electricity to such an extent that it will be used universally for heat; light and motive power in all public places, on all railroads, both for freight and passenger service, and in the homes of the residents of cities great and small.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Fire that is believed to have been caused by an overheated connection in the shafting, totally destroyed the large mill of the Skowhegan Pulp company, Skowhegan, Me., while the adjoining factory of the Maine Spinning company was badly damaged. The losses will aggregate $38,000.

While speaking at a non-partisan rally at Everett, Mass., George F. Foster, 60 years old, was attacked by heart failure and after sinking to the floor was carried to an ante-room, where he died.

Frank Kowloxswfsi, 10 years old, fell over an embankment while rolling a hoop on the railroad track at Central Falls, R. I., and fell a distance of 20 feet, breaking his neck and causing almost instant death.

Mrs. Harry Melendy was severely burned at her home at Milford, N. H., by the breaking of an oil lamp upon a stove and died from her injuries.

Actor Stabbed At a Rehearsal

Domenica Nazzarino of 143 Liberty street was arrested early Sunday morning by Officers Bishop and Broberg for assault with a dangerous weapon on Vincenzo Sulmonti at Quincy.

The alleged assault took place in a house at South Quincy at a rehearsal of a drama to be given by a number of Italians.

The affair which led up to the assault is said to have been some criticism of Nazzarino's acting by Sulmonti. The former overheard the remark and asked Sulmonti what he meant by it. A heated argument followed during which it is alleged that Nazzarino drew a knife and stabbed Sulmonti between the right hip and stomach.

Some little time after Officer Matthews discovered two men standing in a doorway on School street. Upon being questioned they told him that one of the two had been stabbed with a knife on Liberty street, and that they were on their way to the Hospital. He took them to the police station where City Physician Hallowell dressed the wound.

The wounded man's companion then accompanied Officers Broberg, Bishop, and Matthews to Nazzarino's residence, where Nazzerino was placed under arrest. The officers were obliged to force their way into the house and found the man wanted in bed.

A large knife was found in the sleeping room which the prisoner admitted belonged to him.

He was arraigned in court and held in $1000 until next Wednesday.

Surprise Party.

A very pretty surprise party took place at the home of Miss Mary McDonald of Bennington street, South Quincy, on Saturday evening. Just at the hour of seven the surprisers arrived. After a brief speech by Miss Louise Prout, a beautiful ring was presented. The entire evening was spent with games and music. Prizes were awarded Florence Williams, Russell Farquharson, Violet Smith and John Marshall. Refreshments and ices were served and a general good time enjoyed by the young folks.

Among those present were: Florence Williams, Louise Prout, Emma Barnicoat, Violet Smith, Ardell McDonald, Robina Hall, Jennie Hall, Lilla Dixon, Jennie McDonald, Jennie S. What Broke the Little Boy's Heart the Most

"WELL, my little boy," said the kind looking man, "you seem to be in trouble. Have you lost your way?"

"N-n-no," sobbed the child.

"Are you hurt or do you feel sick?"

"N-n-no."

"There, there, don't feel so bad about it. Perhaps you were sent to get something at the store and have lost your money?"

"N-n-no."

"Well, what is the matter, anyway? Tell me all about it. Perhaps I can help you."

"N-n-no, you can't he-he-help me. N-n-nobody can he-he-help me. I runned away from h-h-ho-ome."

"Oh, that's it, eh? Did your parents beat you?"

"N-n-no."

"Then why did you run away?"

"'Cause they wouldn't le-le-le-et me have sugar on my potatoes."

"But sugar isn't good on potatoes. Come, you'd better go back. Where do you live? Won't you let me help you to find your way home?"

"N-n-no."

"Why? Is it because you can't have sugar on your potatoes that you don't want to return?"

"N-n-no."

"Don't your parents give you good clothes to wear and a nice soft warm bed to sleep in?"

"Ye-ye-ye-es."

"Then it seems to me that you'd better go back. Come on. Why do you hesitate? You can't sleep out in the cold, and your parents, I am sure, mean to be kind. You say they don't beat you, and you look like a boy who has had plenty to eat, so why not go home?"

"But when I told them I was g-g-goin' to run away they d-d-didn't neither of them come out to the gate and coax me not to go. Boo-hoo-hoo-ooh."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Proposition An Outrage

Dr. William Everett of this city was one of the most vigorous speakers on Saturday at the indignation meeting held in Faneuil hall to protest against the suggestion of Secretary Bonaparte of the Navy that the historic "Old Ironsides" be sunk with American guns. He is reported by the Herald as follows:

It is not for me to make a speech on this occasion. The moment that recommendation of the secretary appeared in public, Boston spoke, Massachusetts spoke, New England spoke, the whole nation spoke. If Secretary Bonaparte is in doubt as to what the Constitution did he can read what has been written on the subject by Mr. Lodge and also Mr. Roosevelt. I don't care how the practical question stands, or the expense question stands, or the sentimental question stands, I don't propose to analyze my feelings on this subject. I simply know that the proposition is an outrage. (Applause.)

We are to build two fine new battleships every year, costing 2000 times more than it will cost to keep the Constitution in repair yet with peace they will be superseded in 10 or 12 years. Now, the old Constitution as she is, is a better argument for the naval spirit of the United States than all the ironclads you can build. (Applause). What was it that first taught the nations that the United States could fight at sea? It was Paul Jones in the Bonhomme Richard. (Applause). What was it that taught the nations that we were a naval power? It was the Constitution when it conquered the Guerriere, and captured the Java, the Siam and the Levant.

It is not the millions we spend on these towering galleons called warships through which the United States will have the sea for their playground, but it is the memory of the days in which we established the fact that the sea was ours to range in where we pleased. (Renewed applause.) The Constitution would give a nobler warning to foreign nations that the United States could not be insulted with impunity than if we had an ironclad for every state and territory in the Union. (Loud applause.)

Dr. Everett here proceeded to ridicule the various arguments relied on by Secretary Bonaparte, and made much merriment over the notion that because the Constitution has been often repaired she is no longer the same old Constitution. "Did not our bodies change completely, not in seven years, but in as many months, and how about bringing the body of Paul Jones home, when it couldn't by any possibility have been the same Paul Jones of the Bonhomme Richard?

"How, too, about the body of the great Napoleon brought to France from St. Helena and solemnly entombed? Would Secretary Bonaparte, on the ground that it couldn't be the same body, approve of a proposal to have the imperial coffin brought out and and riddled with shot?"

In closing, the speaker said: "If the Constitution is not worth much to the United States as the secretary tells us, then we, the city of Boston and the commonwealth of Massachusetts, will pay the price for her and have her towed to the Marine Park, thus doing what is necessary to keep her in repair for our children and grandchildren. Massachusetts built her and sent her out on a triumphant voyage; and Massachusetts will welcome her back.

If the United States, as represented by the administration, is tired of her, we will take her at the price the nation puts upon her. (Applause.) Send her back to the people who gave her birth, who loved her, and will keep her as their sacred trust as long as the United States exists, and as long as Massachusetts has the pine tree flag by the side of the stars and stripes. (Cheers.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Seven Ages Of Women

This was the idea that was carried out to perfection at the Ladies' Aid fair held Wednesday at Braintree First church from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. Those who attended declared it to be an ideal fair; the decorations of the main rooms and tables being a beautiful display of mountain laurel and cut flowers.

The tables which represented the seven ages began with the infant's table which was in charge of Mrs. Harry S. Patten, who had it daintily trimmed with pure white and heavily laden with everything for the baby. The girl's table was in charge of Miss Margie White and Miss Shaw and was attractively trimmed with blue. The girls and boys soon devoured the toys, and more could have been disposed of. The graduate's table came next, and was in charge of Mrs. C. M. Marstin. The decorations of this table were green, and with the choice cut flowers and foliage was very handsome. During the evening lemonade was also served there.

The debutante's table came next, and was filled to overflowing with sweets of all kinds, and being decorated in pink was one of the prettiest tables seen. This was presided over by Mrs. Wheeler with assistants. The bride's table was filled with fancy articles and was decorated in red and was presided over by Mrs. Wallis. This table was one of the favorites and netted a fine sum. The wedding gifts could not help being attractive and was well patronized, being in charge of Mrs. Frank Dearing. This table was decorated in Japanese effects.

The matron's table was one of the heaviest laden tables and was tastily decorated in shaded yellow. This table was filled with useful household articles and was well patronized, being in charge of Mrs. E. G. McGill. Last but not least of the ages comes the grandmother's table, decorated in violet and in charge of Mrs. E. P. Hayward. The cake was in charge of Mrs. Jennings and was well filled; the supper was in charge of Mrs. H. S. Thayer and Mrs. T. H. Dearing and served chowder at noon, and chicken pies and other eatables at night. Mr. Mayhew must not be forgotten, as the ice cream diminished fast in his charge.

In the evening an entertainment was furnished by home talent under the direction of Miss Elinor Shaw, consisting of "Six Little Grandmothers," the parts being taken by Misses Crocker, Turner, Qualey, Varney and Hunt.

The fair was in general a complete success; a good sum, about $300, being netted.

HOLIDAY MERRIMENTS.

How to Arrange Christmas Exercises For Schools.

A lovely Christmas exercise for schools and Sunday schools may be called "the star in the evergreens," in which the stories of the stars in the Bible may be told and the hymns of the Star of Bethlehem may be sung, with Kirke White's hymn as a solo, wrote the late Hezekiah Butterworth in Woman's Home Companion. The story of this hymn would be a pleasing introduction to the singing of it. It may be found in books of hymnology.

The Sunday school and all benevolent schools figure largely in the holiday entertainments. In the growth of kindergartens we would recommend the telling of Swiss and German parable stories at such entertainments, the humorous tales of Andersen and Grimm and the new German stories in the places where the latter books can be had.

A beautiful Christmas tableau may be made by a procession of children bringing into the church or hall evergreen decorations, the leader holding aloft an illuminated star. The room should be darkened when the procession enters. Where elaborate work can be done the procession may be led by three men in gowns representing the magi. They may sing or a choir may sing the beautiful processional carol, "Angels of Jesus:"

Hark, hark, my soul, angelic joys are swelling!

When the procession is seated under the glowing star, Kirke White's always welcome Christmas hymn may be sung:

When marshaled on the nightly plain.

The stanza of this hymn beginning

Once on the raging seas I rode may be rendered as a solo. Such an exercise as this is very simple and can be easily and inexpensively arranged.

It is sometimes difficult to find very simple words and music for little children. A simple exercise which has a charm in it is to have the texts of Scripture containing the word "star" repeated by a large class of little ones, beginning with, "A star shall rise out of Jacob," and have each recitation followed by the following chorus to the lovely music of the chorus of the well known gospel hymn, "Bringing In the Sheaves:"

Following the star,
Following the star,
Like the magi marching,
Following the star,
We, the little children,
Led by Jesus, are,
Like the magi, marching,
Following the star.

How to Decorate the Table.

Of the many ways of decorating the Christmas dinner table perhaps the most appropriate is the tiny tree all decked out in Santa Claus array with its candles and tinsels and many bright colored balls. These may be bought at different prices, from 50 cents up, ready to put upon the table. But if you prefer you can make one yourself out of a branch of a fir tree. This you can purchase for a very small sum, and then you can put whatever you choose on it in the way of gifts. There is another idea, though, that might be suggested. Make a red rose of something that is firm enough to hold a candle, say a stiffer red paper, and set firmly on a stem with green wound around, or some leaves would make it more natural. You perhaps could take some from the flowers on your summer hat. With a red candle stuck in the middle you could not have a prettier decoration.

How to Make Christmas Cakes.

Little cakes that will please the children either at the table or on the Christmas tree are made as follows: Bake the cakes in little patty or muffin pans and frost the tops with a white icing. Dip a small new paint brush in melted chocolate and draw a face on each. Make some crying and others laughing, the different expressions being made by the curve of the mouth line. The merest outline will be sufficient. Cut a circle of tissue paper of white or any color liked two inches larger than the cake, pink the edge with scissors and run a thread round one inch from the edge. Put a cake in the paper, draw up the thread, and a cunning little cap is formed. The pleasure of small children will well repay the trouble of making these little cake babies.

How to Make Icing.

Almond and sugar icing for the Christmas cake may be prepared as follows: Mix together four ounces of ground almonds, two ounces of sifted sugar and the white of an egg, having beaten the egg very stiffly. Spread this evenly on the top of a cake, using a broad knife. When quite set by a very gentle heat cover with this icing: Take half a pound of icing sugar, sift it very finely, add gradually a small teacupful of water and work the mixture to a very smooth, thick paste; add a few drops of vanilla essence. Spread the icing evenly on the cake, if necessary dipping the spreading knife into hot water. Let this stand in a cool oven, with the door open, till quite hard. Then decorate as desired.

How to Serve Apple Sauce.

If a roast pig graces your Christmas table, a very pretty way to serve the necessary apple sauce is as follows: Select a number of smooth, rosy, well flavored Baldwin pippins; polish them to the last stage of ruddiness, cut a slice off the top and scoop out the inside, leaving a wall of perhaps half an inch, enough to keep the apple in shape. Make a nice apple sauce seasoning, flavoring it appetizingly, and fill the hollowed apples with it. Insert the stem of an apple or any bit of twig by way of a stem, and serve one to each person on a pretty dish or like a sorbet on a doily laid on a pretty plate. Very finely minced orange rind is a delightful flavoring for apple sauce.

City of Quincy.

Whereas:—An allwise Providence has removed from our community an honored and upright citizen and

Whereas:—This body in Council assembled fully appreciate the loss to the city by the death of Henry H. Faxon, be it

Resolved:—That the City of Quincy by the death of Henry Hardwick Faxon loses one of its great benefactors and a citizen who by his untiring acts manifested his deep interest in the welfare of the city, and be it further

Resolved:—That these resolutions be spread on the records of the City Council and an engrossed copy be forwarded to his son, Henry Munroe Faxon.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

Upon motion of Councilman Chamberlin the order for a municipal lighting plant was taken from the table.

Councilman Bass opposed. He considered it a one sided law. It was not a general proposition but a specific one. No one can manufacture gas as cheap as we are led to suppose. If we bought the gas plant we would have to rebuild the entire plant.

People at Atlantic should be allowed to get gas from the Boston Co. The Electric Light plant is up to date, but is not located on the proper site, as it is not on deep water. Water comes to us with very little deteriation. The establishing of a Municipal plant means installment of expensive machinery.

He believed politics would get into it, and there would be a tendency to let plant run out. The day may come when Metropolitan gas commissioners will sell us gas cheap but in the present case we have got to pay the first and second costs. We can not manufacture gas cheap with the present plant.

Councilman Chamberlin thought the law a fair one. They invested their money and it is not fair to take their franchise away unless they are reimbursed. The citizens are competent to decide. They decide who shall represent them in the City Council and should decide this question. That is all we want. To give the people a chance to say if they want a municipal plant. It is a question of right as it is their money. We want a light in front of every house and gas in every house. We want to pay men more for eight hours' work than they are now getting for twelve hours.

Councilman Piper — Our private opinion should be laid one side, and it was for us to take the first step that the people might decide for themselves.

Councilman Chase favored the adoption of the order. He considered Quincy in a very fortunate position to embrace this proposition as they have only got one company to approach. It could acquire the present gas plant at a minimum price and we would then be in a position to establish a thoroughly up to date plant. It was his plain duty to give the people a chance to say what they wanted.

Councilman Adams opposed. It was a broad and deep question. We have a poor gas plant, and the price is excessive. He desired to go on record as against the city taking it. With the electric plant it was different. They have an up-to-date plant. If taken we should loose $5,000 in taxes besides the amount lost by depreciation and interest. This would make the taxpayers pay more for their light than now. This order is not for a referendum vote. We do not submit it to the people by this vote.

LADIES' LIST.

MISS EMMA PETERSON.

Second prizes were offered in each list and are awarded as follows:

Several others in both lists made good gains.

In the ladies' list the candidates for the prizes were much closer. Miss Peterson has a total of 8,625, which is only 835 more than Miss Mahoney while Miss Nina Bates needed but 344 more to win a prize, and Miss Merritt and Miss Manning have doubled their vote since the last publication.

The Daily Ledger congratulates the prize winners, and invites them to call at the City Editor's office any morning before 11 o'clock if convenient.

Representative Hedge of Iowa says, "I can find no oppression in any price I am compelled to pay for steel rails." Maybe he laid in his winter supply of steel rails during the summer when prices were low. Householders should take notice.

What is Bonaparte German, French or an American that he should have such sentiments regarding the disposition of the famous old frigate Constitution? He can hardly be called a patriotic American. Would he approve of taking the bones of Napoleon Bonaparte from the tomb in Paris and throwing them into the Seine.

An Illinois professor has invented an electrical machine for spanking children. This may be as good for the children as the old method but children are more frequently spanked as a relief for their parent's feelings than for the good of the children, and the soulless electrical machine makes no provision for this.

Vice President Fairbanks has taken a larger house in Washington for the winter and is preparing to startle the social world by the variety, number and magnificence of his entertainments during the season. It may be significant of the state of his desires that his new house is several blocks nearer and right on the road to the White House.

RYAN COMES DOWN

Concludes to Answer Questions of Investigators

PROVIDENT LIFE DOINGS

Cost the Company $132,000 For Hadley to Get Control of It--Family of Its President Provided With Positions

New York, Dec. 12.—The legislative life insurance investigating committee appeared last night to have succeeded in its attempt to make Thomas F. Ryan divulge what E. H. Harriman said or threatened to do to influence him to divide his control of the Equitable Life Assurance society. District Attorney Jerome, who was asked by the committee to take steps to punish Ryan for refusing to answer the questions about Harriman, reported to the committee that he had informed Ryan's counsel that Ryan ought to answer. Jerome also wrote to the committee that he was satisfied that Ryan would answer if brought before the committee again.

Mr. Ryan, who bought 502 shares of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society last summer and placed them in a trust to be voted by three trustees, of whom Grover Cleveland is one, was on the witness stand before the insurance investigating committee last Friday. He testified that on the day he got possession of the Equitable stock E. H. Harriman, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads and a director of the Equitable society, asked him for a share of the stock. What Harriman said to him to induce him to part with that stock Ryan refused to say.

The specific questions which Ryan declined to answer were: "Did Mr. Harriman say there would be any result injurious to your interests in case you refused to admit him to share in the ownership?" Also: "Did he say that any action on the part of the legislature or of any official, any officer of the government, would be taken in the event that you refused to accede to his request?"

Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, declined to say when Ryan will be recalled, but it is presumed he will take the witness stand some day this week.

Subsequently Guthrie, Cravath and Henderson, counsel for Ryan, gave out a statement that they have advised Ryan that he should answer the questions and that he is prepared to do so whenever recalled by the investigating committee.

The committee was engaged for a part of the time yesterday in inquiring into the affairs of the Provident Savings Life Assurance society of New York. Mr. Hughes had brought out by questioning Edward W. Scott, the president of that company, that when Frank R. Hadley of New Bedford, Mass., secured control of the company in 1896 he borrowed $162,000 from the company on his collateral notes to pay up for the stock of the insurance company. Scott testified that Hadley never repaid those loans and that the insurance company realized only $30,000 on the sale of the collateral. Companies in which Hadley was interested failed and shortly afterwards he died. "It cost the insurance company just $132,000 for Hadley to get control of it," said Hughes.

Besides the $162,000, Hadley had borrowed $200,000 to pay for the assurance company's stock and had put up that stock as collateral. Scott testified that he bought that stock at auction after Hadley's death and borrowed the money to do it from the New York Security and Trust company. President McCall of the New York Life Insurance company, Scott said, "stood back" of him in the negotiation of the loan.

Other witnesses have testified that the New York Life Insurance company controlled the New York Security and Trust company. After he got control of the company, Scott said, John A. Horan, brother-in-law of President McCall, was made comptroller of the Provident Savings Life Assurance company at $10,000 a year. Scott testified also that his four sons and a nephew are employed by the company of which he is president.

Hadley's Creditors Got but Little

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 12.—The collateral given by Frank R. Hadley of this city in 1896-97 to the Provident Savings Life Assurance society was that of two cotton mill corporations here which failed in the general disaster which overtook that financier. When the local failures occurred in 1897 Hadley's affairs were found to be hopelessly involved and the creditors of the bankrupt mills, of which he was treasurer, obtained but a small percentage of the money due them. Proceedings were instituted against Hadley, but he died before they reached the courts.

Englishmen Want Square Deal

London, Dec. 12.—English policyholders in American life insurance companies are determined to take active measures for the protection of their interests. The policyholders of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York have decided to urge upon the officials of that company that the successor to Richard A. McCurdy must be an insurance man having the confidence of the British policyholders and that these policyholders must be represented on the board of directors.

HOT CAMPAIGN ENDS

Boston Citizens Are Expressing Their Preferences at the Polls

Boston, Dec. 12.—With four mayoralty candidates participating in a contest of oratory, the municipal campaign ended last night. Today the voters of Boston are casting their ballots for mayor, street commissioner, members of the board of aldermen, common council and school committee, and will also determine whether liquor licenses shall be granted.

John F. Fitzgerald is the Democratic nominee, and Louis A. Frothingham is the Republican nominee. Henry S. Dewey is running as an independent Republican, and James A. Watson, an independent Democrat, is seeking election as a supporter of the municipal ownership plan. The real contest is between Fitzgerald and Frothingham.

It is expected by the party managers that out of a registration of 114,000, about 90,000 votes will be polled. While the city normally is Democratic by a wide margin, the election this year will, it is believed, be close. The Good Government association and an organization known as the Citizens' committee waged a vigorous campaign in the interest of Frothingham, and they expect to poll an abnormally large Republican vote. The supporters of Frothingham are also cherishing the opinion that a great many Democrats who are opposed to Fitzgerald will vote for the Republican candidate.

The only question regarding the vote on license is the size of the plurality in favor of the saloon.

Elections are being held in 18 other Massachusetts cities today.

Six Lives Lost In Fire

New York, Dec. 12.—Mrs. John Thomason and her five children, ranging in age from 7 months to 9 years, were burned to death in a five-story apartment house here last night. Mrs. Thomason was found in her room, the bodies of her little ones, badly burned, lying about her. The Thomasons lived on the fifth floor and the mother had heard the cry of fire, but in some manner the latch on the door leading to the hall became caught and the mother and children were penned in.

Prince Min's Complaint

Washington, Dec. 12.—Prince Min, the Korean minister to France, called by appointment upon Secretary Root and told a pathetic story of the treatment of Korea by the Japanese officials who have assumed direction of affairs in his country to a large extent. He seemed to find some satisfaction in the fact that the United States government had not terminated diplomatic relations with Korea, though these relations are hereafter to be conducted through Japan.

Victory For Tobacco Monopoly

New York, Dec. 12.—The right of the American Tobacco company to refuse to sell to small retailers was sustained by a decision rendered by Justice Marean in the supreme court in Brooklyn. E. Locker & Co., retailers, had brought suit against the company, demanding $100,000 for damages which, they alleged, had resulted from the American Tobacco company's refusal to do business with them. The plaintiffs took exceptions.

Teller Stole Unsigned Bills

Toronto, Dec. 12.—E. S. Banwell, teller of the local branch of the Crown bank, has disappeared. An examination of his books shows that $1417 in gold and 400 $50 bills are missing. The bills, however, are unsigned, the package evidently having been mistaken for a similar one containing signed bills.

Steamer Totally Wrecked

Halifax, Dec. 12.—A cable to the agents here says that the Canadian-Mexico liner Angola is a total wreck in the Bahamas. The cable contained no further particulars. The Angola sailed from Halifax on Nov. 30 for Nassau, Cuba and Mexico. She had a full cargo.

Steamer Aranmore Safe

Halifax, Dec. 12.—Steamer Aranmore, which sailed from Boston on Saturday for this port, arrived this morning. The vessel was due here Sunday afternoon and there had been anxiety among friends of the passengers. The steamer was delayed by the severe storm.

Strike of Tunnel Builders

New York, Dec. 12.—Three hundred rock-drillers and iron workers employed in building the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel under the East river have struck, demanding more pay and shorter hours. Other employes in the work may be called out, affecting 5000 men.

Sultan Comes Off His Perch

London, Dec. 12.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Constantinople says: The sultan has yielded. He has accepted the scheme for the financial control of Macedonia as embodied in the last collective note of the powers.

LIGHTSHIP SINKS

Her Crew Taken Off Just as She Went to the Bottom

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 12.—The lighthouse tender Azalea arrived here at 1:45 o'clock this morning with the crew of the South Shoals lightship 58, who were taken off their vessel, on which they were in peril two days, just as she sank.

The lightship had dragged 15 miles northeast of her station and the rescue, made in the teeth of a high sea and fearful gale, was just in time. The rescued crew are frostbitten, but all will recover. The lightship sank while being towed by the Azalea.

Lightship No. 58, which was anchored off Nantucket South shoals, sprung aleak on Sunday morning. The water filled the boiler room, put out the fires, prevented working of the dynamos which operated the wireless telegraph system, and interrupted communication with the mainland. The wireless masts of the vessel require such powerful electric impregnation as to necessitate the constant application of steam power to the dynamos. The destruction of the usefulness of the boilers for this purpose is what prevented the use of the wireless system.

Heavy Suit Discontinued

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 12.—As the result of a conference held in Pittsburg Sheriff Hawley of this city last night went to South Norwalk and released the guard over Charles M. Raymond, the former New York lawyer, whose body was attached for $1,000,000 in a suit brought by John D. Slayback of New York, to recover carbon steel stock and dividends alleged to be held illegally under the control of Raymond. The suit was brought about three weeks ago, and up to last night two deputy sheriffs had guarded the defendant continuously. It could not be learned on what terms a settlement was reached.

Would Not Stop When Ordered

Hingham, Mass., Dec. 12.—Oscar Stebbins, 28 years old, of Hingham, was shot by Chief of Police Tower, from whose custody Stebbins made his escape. He died four hours after being shot. Tower was summoned to Stebbins' home and, at the request of Mrs. Stebbins, her husband was placed under arrest for raising a disturbance. The prisoner was just about to enter the door of the jail when he broke away from his captor and ran up the street. Tower could not overtake his man, so he aimed his revolver and fired. The bullet struck Stebbins in the head.

Police Wound Up the Bout

Nashua, N. H., Dec. 12.—In a wrestling bout here last night between James J. Prokos of Lowell and Paul Sweeney of this city, Prokos was heavily backed by many Greeks, while Sweeney was supported by many citizens of French extraction. Sweeney won the first fall, but Prokos was compelled to quit in the second bout, owing to a broken ligament in his right shoulder. The crowd broke into the ring and for a few minutes Sweeney was roughly handled. The police were called in and cleared the hall.

Bullet In Woman's Breast

Bristol, R. I., Dec. 12.—Manuel Correira, 19 years old, was married nearly a year ago, but lived with his wife only five weeks. Last night as Mrs. Correira and Antoinnette Boscatella were walking on a street Correira appeared and demanded of his wife that she live with him again. Mrs. Correira refused to comply with the demand, whereupon Corriera, it is alleged, shot his wife in the breast. The woman's condition is serious. Correira was arrested.

Alleged Defrauding of Creditors

Machias, Me., Dec. 12.—Walter H. Foss was held here for the supreme court on charges of obtaining goods under false pretenses. It is alleged that Foss, who filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as $45,000 and assets as $1000, concealed a large portion of his stock in barns and vacant houses, where it is alleged to have been found, and that other portions of stock are still concealed.

"Rivers of Blood" Are In Pathway of Russia

STRUGGLE FOR MASTERY

Reaction and Revolution Confront Each Other--The Public Opinion That Witte Must Fall --A Repressive Program

St. Petersburg, Dec. 12.—It is learned on high authority that the government has finally decided against universal suffrage and practically in favor of the old project of 21 workmen representatives and the extension of the ballot to the small rent payers, merchants and the educated classes. However, the law must still pass the council of the empire and receive imperial approval. If the decision is upheld it is apt to end all question of the support of the zemstvoists.

General Parsensoff said last night: "I think we are coming to rivers of blood in which the revolutionary party will lose their game and Russia her liberty."

Certainly the appearance of St. Petersburg and the events here seem to justify this black picture of the future. The capital resembles a great military camp. The patrols everywhere are doubled and grim looking cannon rumble through the streets.

The situation is exceedingly ominous. Public opinion is practically unanimous that the government has entered upon the fatal path of reaction and that Witte's ministry must fall. Reaction and revolution confront each other in a death struggle. Both General Trepoff and General Ignatieff, according to the popular impression, are being held in reserve to execute the program of repression. It is again said that the entire Cossack strength of 400,000 will be mobilized in a supreme effort to crush the revolutionary forces.

What happened yesterday smacked strangely at the old regime. A large workmen's meeting was dispersed by Cossacks. The building in which the executive committee of the League of Leagues meets was surrounded by troops and no one was permitted to enter it, the colonel in command replying to all inquiries, "I have my orders." At the same time a vast meeting of "loyalists" was freely permitted, at which speeches were made extolling the czar and the government.

To cap the climax, the funeral of Lieutenant General Sakharoff (former minister of war, who was assassinated at Saratoff,) with an imposing array of military representing all arms of the service, artillery, horse guards with their shining cuirasses and helmets, and foot soldiers passed up the Nevsky Prospect between sullen crowds.

The remnants of the workmen's council, with delegates from the railroad men's union and other organizations, are holding a meeting to decide the question of a general strike. If the government deliberately plans a challenge now it has chosen its time well, as the funds of the organizations are low and many workmen are tired of the strike and of starvation. It is understood that when M. Krustaleff was arrested yesterday, a cash box containing $4000 was captured. Nevertheless, some of the leaders have lashed themselves into fury and are urging that the government's challenge must be immediately accepted.

Revolution or Coercion

London, Dec. 12.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at St. Petersburg, in a dispatch dated Dec. 10, sent by way of Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, sends an interview with Count Witte, in which the premier indicates that Russia is confronted with the alternative of a revolution or violent coercion. Though the count has not abandoned hope he is not sanguine, and if forcible repression should become necessary he will resign his task to other hands.

Result of Revolution

New York, Dec. 12.—Five hundred Russian refugees, many of them eyewitnesses of the massacres in Russian cities, disembarked here from the steamers Patricia and Chemnitz. Jews who had themselves lain hidden in Odessa houses while mobs searched for them, Russian workmen of Christian faith, strikers from the railroads, a newspaper reporter and Germans who had long lived in Russia, joined at Ellis Island immigration station in declaring that they had been attacked irrespective of religion; that their assailants were led by police disguised in citizens' clothing, and that the massacres were not the result of race persecution, but revolution.

Object Lesson For Middies

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 12.—The city council last night passed unanimously a resolution petitioning congress not to authorize the destruction of the old frigate Constitution, but to have it brought to Annapolis and kept at the naval academy as a memorial of the great deeds of the American navy and an incentive to the midshipmen.

Serious Results of Storm

Halifax, Dec. 12.—Reports are coming in of the great havoc wrought by the storm. At North Sydney four schooners are ashore. Many fishing boats were dashed to pieces on the beach. At Ingonish, C. B., 29 large boats were sunk. At Arichat, C. B., steamer Percy Cann is ashore and full of water.

Washing of Democratic Linen Checked In House

WILLIAMS IS CRITICISED

Adjournment Checks Confusion Over Appointment of Committees--Senate Discusses Rate Legislation and Panama Canal

Washington, Dec. 12.—Mr. Williams, the minority leader of the house, "stepped on the lid" yesterday just in time to prevent revelations in the nature of open criticism of the committee assignments of certain of his colleagues for which he is responsible.

The incident followed the announcement of committees. Lamar (Fla.) submitted and had read a newspaper clipping purporting to quote Williams to the effect that Lamar and Shackleford (Mo.) had been left off the interstate and foreign commerce committees because they had failed to follow the Democratic caucus action of last session on the railroad rate bill. Speaker Cannon suggested that the statement read did not constitute a question of personal privilege which entitled Lamar to the floor.

"The gentleman might proceed by unanimous consent," suggested Payne. "How much time does he want—an hour?" It was here that Williams strode forward from his seat in the rear. He hailed the speaker with word and gesture and when he got his eye he reserved his right to object only long enough to make the statement that in the interest of Democratic "harmony, effectiveness and of general good will which will not be promoted by washing Democratic linen for the amusement of the Republicans of the house, I object."

Immediately the situation became decidedly interesting. Lamar faced Williams, who stood close to him, and charged him with taking the matter into the newspapers. Many Democrats applauded the stand taken by Williams. Lamar demanded that Williams call a Democratic caucus or allow him to proceed. Speaker Cannon wielded his gavel vigorously and declared everybody out of order, and in the midst of the confusion recognized Payne for a motion to adjourn, which was declared carried, and the session was over until Wednesday.

With spirited debates on the subjects of railroad rate legislation, arising through the introduction of a bill by Mr. Tillman to authorize the interstate commerce commission to fix maximum rates, and the Panama canal, due to a controversy over the reference of the emergency appropriation bill to a committee, Monday's session of the senate continuously proved interesting for more than four hours.

An adjournment was taken without a mention of the late Senator Mitchell of Oregon, and so for the first time the death of a member was permitted to pass unnoticed by the senate. The erasure of Mitchell's name from the rolls follows. Chaplain Hale called the situation to mind in his prayer by referring pointedly to corruption and death and by praying that members of the senate be given strength to bear each other's burdens.

The debate on the Tillman bill was engaged in by a number of senators. Mr. Foraker declared that the bill proved that its author believed the present laws were sufficient to correct all alleged transportation evils except excessive rates, and that there was ample provision for the punishment of rebate giving.

Mr. Tillman responded that he had thought the laws sufficient until the investigation begun by Messrs. Judson and Harmon into the Santa Fe case had terminated in a pitiable fiasco. Foraker asserted that the law could not be blamed if "some person" fell short in his duty. Foraker intimated in his discussion that there would be some extended controversies before the railroad rate bills were disposed of this session.

After more than a score of senators had discussed the Panama canal bill it was referred to the appropriation committee by a vote of 40 to 23.

For Uniform Insurance Law

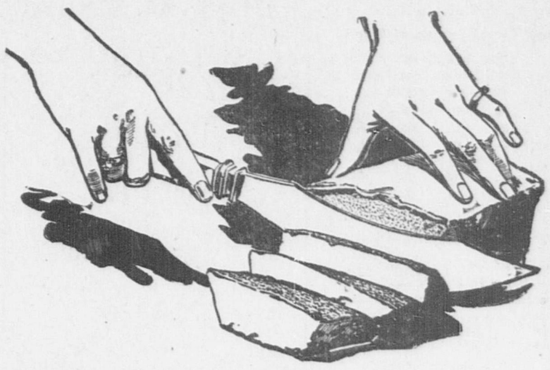

Washington, Dec. 12.—Insurance Commissioners Drake of the District of Columbia, Carroll of Iowa and O'Brien of Minnesota called on President Roosevelt and informed him that a meeting of the governors, attorney generals and insurance commissioners of the states and territories would be held on Feb. 1 next in Chicago, to discuss the question of a uniform state law on insurance and to induce, if possible, concerted action in favor of the enactment of such legislation. The president expressed his hearty sympathy with the movement.

Would-Be Buyers of Constitution

Washington, Dec. 12.—Secretary Bonaparte has received a number of offers for the Constitution, among them one from a man in Boston who offered $10,000 for the old frigate. The secretary has replied that he could not legally consider the offers.

Settlement Is Far Away

St. Johns, Dec. 12.—The colonial government has been informed from England that owing to a change in the British cabinet it is unlikely that there will be any decision respecting the fishery dispute with Americans for several weeks. As herring fishing ends within a month, negotiations will probably be prolonged until next summer.

NOTED ECONOMIST DEAD

Edward Atkinson Succumbs to Acute Indigestion

Boston, Dec. 12.—Edward Atkinson, the aged economist, publicist and statistician, died at the Massachusetts general hospital, whither he had been hurried unconscious form a fatal attack of acute indigestion with which he was seized while driving from his Brookline home to his Milk street office. Mr. Atkinson was in his 79th year.

For 40 years Atkinson had been a prolific writer of papers and pamphlets on banking, competition, railroading, cotton manufactures, fire prevention, the tariff, the money question, imperialism, etc. On these topics he was one of the best known controversalists in the country.

Mr. Atkinson promulgated unusual views on culinary and fuel topics which have been taken half-seriously, half facetiously, by the public and press. One of his activities has been the demonstration, by means of his "Aladdin oven," that it is possible to live well at a cost much below the expenditures of the most frugal household. Since the newspapers stopped poking fun at it it has been rather forgotten by the public. Another idea which Atkinson advocated was the use of bog mud for fuel—not peat, but plain mud pressed into bricquettes—from which both heat and light may be obtained.

Mr. Atkinson was born in Brookline. He was a member of many organizations and had been honored with the degree of LL.D by the University of South Carolina, and a Ph. D. by Dartmouth college. Several children survive him.

White Slaves In Argentina

Berlin, Dec. 12.—An investigation made by government officials has exposed a regular firm established in Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, for the importation to that country of white slaves from Europe. In some cases the slaves were sold for sums varying between $1000 and $2000. Special agents of the firm are scattered all over Europe in quest of young people, and they are paid $30 for each person shipped.

Friend of Kings Divorced

Paris, Dec. 12.—A decision was rendered in the divorce proceedings between Mme. Rejane, the noted singer, and her husband, M. Porel, manager of the Vaudeville theatre, the decree of separation being awarded to Porel. Their domestic life for years was unhappy and there were frequent quarrels. Rejane was once a very intimate friend of both King Edward VII and King Carlos of Portugal.

Opposed to Foreign Influence

London, Dec. 12.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Times sends a long description of what he calls the unmistakeable movement of Chinese opinion, as the effect of the defeat of Russia by Japan, in the direction of the policy of "China for the Chinese" and a deliberate and organized resistance to all foreign influence. He thinks that it behooves the commercial powers to take united action promptly.

Illegal Giving of Rebates

Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—District Attorney Thompson has been granted permission by Judge Holland to present to the federal grand jury bills of indictment against railroad companies with headquarters in this jurisdiction. The charge is allowing rebates. Thompson states that he has 12 witnesses who are prepared to testify that they have been favored by railroad companies.

Exorbitant Insurance Rates

Montreal, Dec. 12.—The city council has instructed the city attorney to immediately begin proceedings against the Fire Underwriters' association, under the section of the criminal code dealing with combinations in restraint of trade. The insurance men, it is alleged, have a combination by which exorbitant insurance rates are fixed.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Councilman Burgess hoped the members would not be influenced by all these questions of law but would vote as their consciences dictated.

Councilman McLane hoped the order would pass.

Councilman Chamberlin said that the order was drawn after that in other cities.

Councilman Bass asked for a ruling of the President if Councilman Chamberlin who had moved out of town had a right to vote.

President Nichols said that Mr. Chamberlin informed him that his residence was still in Quincy, and therefore he had a right to vote.

Upon motion of Councilman Gassett the rules were suspended and the order took its second reading.

The question of adoption of the order was then taken by roll call and failed to receive the necessary two thirds vote.

The vote was as follows:

YEAS—Chamberlin, Chase, Crane, Flaherty, Gassett, Gearwar, Loud, McLane, Piper, Polk, Sawyer, Spargo and Stewart—13.

NAYS—Adams, Bass, Burgess, Hughes, Savage and Sidelinger—6.

ABSENT—Barry, Hynes, Stone—3.

NOT VOTING—Nichols.

Upon motion of Councilman Gassett the vote was reconsidered and the order laid on the table.

CHIEF OF POLICE SALARY.

Councilman Polk offered an order amending the Police ordinance so as to increase the salary of the Chief of Police from $1,000 to $1,300. To joint Committee on Finance and Police.

Councilman Bass offered an order transfering receipts of the Highway department amounting to $688.86 to the appropriation for highway. Adopted.

The order refunding John F. Kemp taxes took its second reading and was referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Adjourned at 10.20 to meet Dec. 18.

School Attendance.

The average daily attendance at the public schools for the four weeks ending Dec. 1 was 5,336, of whom 640 were at the High school. Every school had a percentage above 91, the High leading with nearly 96. The Gridley Bryant had the fewest tardinesses and the Cranch the fewest dismissals. Seven buildings reported truants.

The report follows:

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE.

How to Decorate It and Distribute the Presents.

Strings of white popcorn, balls of snowy popcorn and gleaming candles give the Christmas tree light. Tiny, tinkling bells dangling from the twigs, bits of tinsel caught here and there and golden stars give it cheer, says the Pittsburg Press. Bulky packages at the foot, misshapen rolls in the notches between the limbs and trunk, bright colored gifts with names hidden, give it the charm of mystery. Who has not felt this mystery? Who has not loved it? Who would forget it?

Set the tree in place the day before it is to be used. A Christmas tree cannot be decorated at the last moment and be a success. Make the popcorn balls the day before. Let the children string the corn the day before. The little people get the most fun from the tree that they help to decorate. They can hang the balls to the tree. They can put on the tinsel and can tie on the bells. What difference does it make if the bits of tinsel are not on straight and are not so artistic as mother could have made them? Christmas is the children's day, and they get about as much pleasure out of dressing the tree as their elders do, and the elders often thoughtlessly rob them of this pleasure. We have all been guilty of shutting ourselves up with the tree while the youngsters hung around outside, so eager to see that they have resorted to unsatisfactory glimpses through the keyhole.

Sometimes a well shaped pine tree limb can be substituted for a tree. It can be set up on a heavy base or it can be supported across the corner of the room. When fastened across a corner where there is a window seat, the seat gives an opportunity for stacking up heavy packages.

The Christmas tree may be a number of small limbs built up in the center of the library table. Small gifts can be hung to the branches, the heavy ones set upon the table or about the base.

One family played Santa Claus with a number of branches of evergreen in the center of the dining room table and to each branch attached walnuts from which the meats had been removed and in which had been placed a little rolled note. The name of him for whom the note was intended was written in ink on the outside of the shell. The note said, "Look behind the kitchen door." When the person named looked behind the kitchen door he found another note saying, "Look in the attic chest." Here he found but another note addressed to himself saying, "Look in the potato sack in the cellar." And every member of the family was sent from place to place all over the house until at last he would find a note which would tell him to look in the place where the gift had really been hidden.

This is great fun where the members of the family are not too old to chase all over the house. The search for the older ones, however, can be confined to one room. Grandfather may be told to look behind the clock, another time to look in the secretary or under the library rug and finally in his rocking chair. Let each person conceal his own gifts and arrange the notes and the line of search and mark and put the note into the empty shell and hang it on the pine twig on the table.

How to Roast the Christmas Goose.

Be careful in selecting a goose for Christmas to get a young one, as old ones are very tough and require special cooking to make them fit to eat. The young goose can be distinguished by its soft yellow legs, which are covered with down, while those of an old goose are of a reddish color and have long hairs on them. After the goose is properly drawn wipe it inside and out with a damp cloth and fill it with this stuffing: Boil and mash three or four potatoes and four good sized onions; add while all is hot a tablespoonful of butter and two of milk, two teaspoonfuls of powdered sage, a tablespoonful of sweet marjoram, one of salt, a good teaspoonful of pepper and the beaten yolk of one egg. Sew up the opening and truss. Allow twenty-five minutes to every pound when roasting and baste every ten minutes. Meanwhile stew the giblets for the gravy. Serve good gravy in one tureen and apple sauce in another.

How to Make Popcorn Balls.

For the Christmas tree popcorn balls make a very pretty decoration. In a quart of water dissolve one-quarter pound of sugar and four drams of gum arabic. Boil for about eight minutes. Cut some splints from a new broom, wash them thoroughly and tie them together to form a small brush. Having previously popped the corn and kept it hot, sprinkle the sugar mixture over it while evenly spread out in a dish. Continue sprinkling and mixing until the entire mass of popcorn becomes quite sticky. Then butter your fingers and mold it into balls of various sizes.

How to Make a Christmas Novelty.

A pretty novelty for the Christmas table or for the tree is known as the surprise stocking. The stockings are made of transparent net of various colors and are filled with candy and small articles of no great value wrapped and ribboned or left uncovered, as the taste dictates. A great deal of fun may be had with these stockings, the special foibles and fancies of each member of the family or guest being easily burlesqued in the little gifts.

How to Wash Currants.

When washing the currants for mince meat and the Christmas pudding, bear in mind that if left at all damp they cause heaviness, and if they are dried in a hurry before a quick fire their flavor is spoiled.

Endorsement Or Not?

The Muncipal Lighting Question Before City Council

The question of passing the order now before the City Council relative to a municipal lighting plant is the most important question that has been before any City Council since the purchase of the water plant.

In the debate on the question Monday night there was a wide difference of opinion as to the result of passing the order between Councilmen Bass, Chamberlin, Adams and the other gentlemen who spoke upon the matter.

Councilman Bass and Councilman Chamberlin, both lawyers, have entirely different views. Councilman Bass' claim was that the passage of the order by the City Council meant an endorsement of municipal lighting by the City Council. That is, the City Council virtually committed itself to that proposition. He brought out this point several times in the course of his debate. Also that the order made no reference to a referendum. His claims was also that the city would be bound to purchase the existing plants at an enormous price. Councilman Bass cited the experience of Holyoke and other places that had been drawn into purchasing plants.

On the other hand Councilman Chamberlin claimed that the passing of the order simply meant that the Council was willing to take the first steps, to let the people decide. The simple passing of the order did not commit the Council to anything. His claim was that the city would not be obliged to purchase both plants, but only one of them. His one argument was to give the people a chance to decide.

Councilman Chase thought if the city was only obliged to deal with one company it was his plain duty to give the public a chance.

Councilman Adams argument was that the order had no reference to a referendum and he claimed, as did Councilman Bass, that the passing of the order meant its endorsement.

Section 34 of Revised Laws provides that the vote to establish a municipal lighting plant must pass two successive City Councils by a two-thirds vote, and then be submitted to the people. Should the order favoring the establishment of a municipal plant fail to pass one City Council, two years must elapse before it can again be brought up.

The Herald says editorially: "Municipal ownership made but a sorry showing in the mayoralty fight. The candidate running on that platform hardly escaped from the scattering column. This is the second time this fall that in Boston municipal ownership has been advanced as a plank of a candidate's platform. It brought no strength to Mr. Donovan in the primaries—we believe that he lost votes by his declaration in favor of this policy—and now the municipal ownership candidate for mayor is given only about half a thousand votes in the whole city. In Boston it is evident there is no crying demand for the adoption of that questionable policy. On the contrary, Mr. Watson's vote was much smaller than many political prophets predicted that it would be."

The little snow that fell, together with the continued cold weather, has made very good sleighing.

Time Limit On the High School Enlargement

The Norfolk County Commissioners have rejected all bids for furnishing the Court House at Dedham, a portion of which has recently been vacated by the registry of deeds, and the registry of probate, as they find the total cost will be over $10,000.

Bids were opened on Tuesday and there were three bidders as follows:

The Cobb-Eastman Company of Boston bid $3563.81 for furnishings of district court, $3923.07 for second superior court and $3506.67 for the law library.

Mellish & Byfield Company, incorporated, Boston, bid $6181 for district court, $4785 for second superior court and $2989 for library and $750 for additional chairs and stools.

The Doten, Dunton Desk Company, Boston, bid $3804 for district court, $3343 for second superior court and $3523 for library.

Furnishings Come High

The Commissioner of Public Works asks proposals for the additions and alterations of the Quincy High school building, upon the basis of the completion of the entire work on or before Sept. 1.

Bids will not be opened until Dec. 28, the last Thursday of the year, so that it will not be possible to begin work until January, and the severity of the winter may prevent any work before March.

In six months, however, of favorable weather the work can be completed, and it looks as though Quincy might be equipped next fall so that it will accommodate all who may desire a High school education. Probably the capacity of the enlarged building will be reached sooner than anticipated by many but the accommodations should by ample for a few years.

The Dec. 1 report of attendance shows the whole number at the High school to be 676, with a daily average attendance of 640. This is only 133 less than at the twenty-room Willard school at West Quincy. When the congestion is removed at the High school many who are now diverted to other schools will be glad to attend the High, and the attendance which has increased rapidly each year will then jump.

☞One of the numbers programmed for the Philharmonic Orchestral Club concert in the Music Hall, Tuesday evening, December 19, is a suite by C. M. von Weber, a quintet for strings and clarinet. It is a number that is full of rythmic music, showy arpeggios, brilliant staccato, languid, languishing notes such as only a brilliant woodwind instrument can play. And the instrumentalist—John St. Clair. Ask any good musician who knows musicians, what they think of him and there is but one answer,—excellent. And this term applies to every member of the Orchestral club.

—At basket ball on Tuesday evening, the Milton A. C. defeated the Bay View A. C. 45 to 15. Fish of the Milton team made 14 baskets.

Notice to Contractors.

Quincy, Mass, Dec. 13, 1905.

SEALED Proposals for Additions to and Alterations of the Quincy High School, will be received at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works, City Hall, Quincy, until 4 o'clock P. M. Thursday, December 28, 1905, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read.

Proposals must be marked "Proposals for Additions and Alterations of the Quincy High School" and must be accompanied by a properly certified check for Five Hundred dollars ($500) payable to the City of Quincy, which check shall be returned to the party making the proposal.

A satisfactory bond will be required for 25 per cent. of the amount of the contract for the faithful performance of the work.

Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the Commissioner of Public Works, City Hall, Quincy, also at office of Aaron H. Gould, architect, 17 Milk street, Boston.

Any and all bids must be submitted upon the basis of the completion of the entire work on or before September 1, 1906.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the city.

Congratulations to Miss Roosevelt.

The price of spoons is to be advanced, says the Trade Review. The girls and boys are not bothered about it though.

Only three of the eighteen cities voting this week cast a larger "yes" vote on the license question, while half the cities cast a larger "no" vote.

The American hen, according to the figures of Secretary Wilson laid 18 1-4 dozen eggs for every man, woman and child in the United States last year.

Somerville was the only city in Massachusetts to give a larger majority against license than Quincy. Our majority was 2000 and that of Somerville was 2257.

Mr. James Hazen Hyde recently of the Equitable Life Insurance corporation has sold all his horses and carriages. He will now have to climb to the strap and "step lively" just like plain policy holders.

Senator Depew has been dropped from the New York four hundred. A short time ago a member of that select circle gave out an interview in which he said that the four hundred condemned every crime but kleptomania.

Considerable independence was shown in the election in Boston, and Mayor-elect Fitzgerald did not receive a majority of the votes cast, although he was the sole Democratic candidate in a strong Democratic city. Thanks to Mr. Dewey, who received 11,637 votes, Mr. Fitzgerald was elected by a plurality of 8,095.

It may be that the city, if it votes in favor of municipal lighting, may be required to purchase but one plant, but if the franchise of the Citizens Gas Company is taken, the city cannot manufacture or sell electricity; and if the franchise of Quincy Electric Light and Power Company is taken, the city cannot manufacture or sell gas. Municipal lighting would be a good thing for the city, but the city cannot afford to purchase either plant, and it should have both if it takes any.

HUB'S NEXT MAYOR

Fitzgerald Wins In Four-Cornered Contest

VOTE UNUSUALLY HEAVY

Many of Successful Candidate's Political Enemies Voted the Republican Ticket--Eighteen Other City Elections

Boston, Dec. 13.—The Democrats were victorious in Boston, the municipal election resulting in the success of the party mayoralty candidate, John F. Fitzgerald, in a field of four candidates. Fitzgerald's plurality over his nearest competitor, Louis A. Frothingham, the Republican nominee was 8380. The vote for mayor follows:

John F. Fitzgerald (Dem), 44,316; Louis A. Frothingham (Rep.) 35,836; Henry S. Dewey (Ind. Rep.), 11,637; James A. Watson (Cit. and Ind. Dem.), 515.

An analysis of these figures and a comparison with the mayoralty results in former years are practically impossible, owing to the number of candidates and the factional fights which figured greatly in the final results.

The vote was unusually heavy for a city election, more than 92,000 votes being cast out of a total registration of 114,000. Two years ago the late Mayor Collins was re-elected by a plurality of more than 30,000. In the recent state election the Democratic gubernatorial candidate carried the city by a plurality of approximately 16,000.

It is evident that Fitzgerald did not receive his full party vote. This was particularly noticeable when the returns were received from ward 8, a Democratic stronghold, which gave Frothingham an overwhelming plurality. The eighth ward is the home ward of Martin M. Lomasney, one of the best known Democratic leaders in the city, but who is one of Fitzgerald's political enemies. Lomasney supported Edward J. Donovan in the primaries campaign and after his candidate had been defeated he refused to support Fitzgerald.

In the South Boston district, the home of Congressman McNary, another Democratic leader who is opposed to Fitzgerald, Frothingham received an unusually heavy vote for a Republican candidate, indicating that the dissatisfied element of the city's Democracy had refused their support to the party candidate.

To complicate the situation there were two Republican candidates in the field. Frothingham was the regular party nominee, having defeated Henry S. Dewey in the primaries by a margin of about 200 votes. Dewey claimed that fraud had been practiced at the polls and declared himself as an independent candidate.

Mr. Fitzgerald's plurality is 3257 less than the vote cast for Dewey. As Watson, the independent Democratic candidate, received only 515 votes in the entire city, it is evident that he did not cut very heavily into the vote that might otherwise have been thrown to Fitzgerald. It is known that Dewey was popular among a certain element of the Democrats and it is believed that he also received substantial support from Republican voters.

The city declared in favor of licensing the liquor saloons by a great majority. The board of aldermen and the common council will remain substantially Democratic.

Mr. Fitzgerald is 44 years old, and has been active in politics ever since he became a voter. He has never been defeated at the polls. He is a native of this city and a graduate of the Boston Latin school. He attended Boston college and took a course at Harvard university. He is editor and proprietor of The Republic, a weekly publication. He has served in the Boston common council, the Massachusetts senate, and three terms in congress, representing the Ninth Massachusetts district. He is a resident of the Dorchester district, is married and has six children.

Municipal affairs for the coming year were settled in 18 Massachusetts cities outside of Boston by the election of legislative bodies and a choice in 16 of them of chief magistrate, mayors in two cities having two-year terms. While national issues played no part in any of the elections, national political lines were regarded in all but two of the cities, the Republicans carring 10 and the Democrats four.

Ten mayors were candidates for re-election, but only six succeeded in having their administrations endorsed, although in several instances there the aspirants for re-election were defeated by small votes.

Following is the list of mayors elected and the license vote.

OUR HOSPITAL

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

GIVEN A "CLOSE" YEAR

Meriwether's Sentence Is Approved by Secretary of Navy

Washington, Dec. 13.—Confinement to the limits of the naval academy for the period of one year and a public reprimand by the secretary of the navy is the sentence of the court in the case of Midshipman Minor Meriwether, Jr., tried by court martial at Annapolis on the charges of manslaughter, violation of the third clause of the eighth article for the government of the navy, and conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, all three charges arising from a fist fight between the accused and Midshipman James R. Branch, Jr., on Nov. 5 last. Two days later Branch died. The accused was acquitted of the first charge and found guilty of the second and third.

Secretary Bonaparte approved the findings and ordered that the sentence be approved, but that "so much of the penalty as might debar the accused from service on any practice ship attached to the academy be remitted."

The secretary says there is perhaps room for some doubt whether the punishment imposed might not have been made more justly severe, and disapproves the action of the court in sustaining the challenge of Commander Staunton, as a member of the court, on the ground of prejudice, and in failing to sustain the challenge of Rear Admiral McCormick, retired, on several grounds.

Sentence Meets With Approval

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 13.—The sentence of Midshipman Meriwether was received with general approval here. While many wished Meriwether to be entirely cleared, it was generally recognized that some punishment was necessary. The confinement will begin at once. Meriwether will be able to take part in the usual recreations and the confinement will not be particularly irksome.

Packers' Special Pleas

Chicago, Dec. 13.—The last preliminary to the formal trial of the beef trust cases began here yesterday before Judge Humphrey. The issues to be tried were on 10 special pleas raised by the packers, and which must be settled by a jury trial before action is taken on the indictments returned by the federal grand jury. At the outset the district attorney entered a nolle prosse qui in the case against Samuel A. McRoberts of Armour & Co., one of the defendants, and the case was dismissed. It was late in the day before the first witness was called to the stand.

Workmen Refuse Challenge

St. Petersburg, Dec. 13.—The decision of the St. Petersburg workmen not to attempt a general strike at present may be something of a disappointment to the government if the latter's arrest of Krustaleff was intended to precipitate a struggle. It remains to be seen whether the papers captured by the police will help the government to more effective measures against the revolt. For the present, the workmen content themselves with calling on their fellows to prepare more fully for armed revolution.

No Ship Subsidy Legislation

Washington, Dec. 13.—No ship subsidy legislation will be enacted at this session of congress. This is the edict of Speaker Cannon. It develops that he reorganized the committee on merchant marine and fisheries with the view of preventing legislation. The advocates of a subsidy act have discovered that they cannot command more than eight votes out of the 18 in the committee.

Burial of Senator Mitchell

Portland, Or., Dec. 13.—The body of the late Senator Mitchell was laid to rest in the family plot in a cemetery here yesterday afternoon. From the hour when the body was removed to the city hall until 2 o'clock, when the funeral services were begun, the body of the senator lay in state. During the four hours while the face of Mitchell was exposed it was viewed by thousands.

Aggregate of Advance In Wages by American Woolen Company

Boston, Dec. 13.—Beginning on Jan. 1, 30,000 operatives employed by the American Woolen company of this city will have their wages advanced 10 percent. The increase will become effective in all the 30 plants of the corporation, which are located in seven states, and it is expected that several mills not owned by the company will grant a similar advance.

The Scotia worsted mills of Woonsocket, R. I., controlled by an independent concern and employing 175 hands, posted notices last night announcing a 10 percent increase on New Year's day.

It is estimated that the advance will give the American company's operatives an aggregate of about $1,000,000 more each year than they have been receiving.

Busy Night For Firemen

Boston, Dec. 13.—Six alarms of fire between 6 o'clock last night and midnight gave the Boston firemen plenty of work. All but two of the fires were inconsequential. Two alarms were sounded for a fire in a building occupied by Ingalls & Kendricks, manufacturers of boilers and heating apparatus, but the loss will not exceed $10,000. About midnight fire was discovered in the premises of the Congo Shoe Blacking company. Three alarms were sounded for this fire, but quick work on the part of the firemen kept the flames from spreading further. The loss is about $10,000.

Held For Manslaughter

Providence, Dec. 13.—Judge Rueckert adjudged Frank Kelliher probably guilty of the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Peter McCarthy and ordered that Kelliher be held in $5000 bail for the grand jury. McCarthy, it is alleged, was ejected from a saloon by Kelliher, who is a bartender, and was picked up from the sidewalk a short time afterward with injuries so serious that he died from a fractured skull. McCarthy was 60 years old.

Goggins' Pardon Asked For

Concord, N. H., Dec. 13.—The members of the governor's council have recommended to Governor McLane that John P. Goggin, formerly cashier of the Nashua Trust company of Nashua, be pardoned. Goggin, on May 24 last, was sentenced to serve not less than four years in the state prison. The bank's losses through Goggin's investments amounted to $190,000.

Cool Heads Prevented Panic

Boston, Dec. 13.—A number of children were on the second floor of a branch of the Boston public library in the old Charlestown city hall when the building was discovered on fire. Two librarians quickly guided the children into the street, while in the meantime an alarm was sounded. The fire damage was not heavy.

Higher Wages For Railroad Men

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 13.—An increase in wages of all employes of the Rutland railroad will go into effect Jan. 1, it is announced here. This action was decided upon at conferences between the railroad officials and committees appointed by the workmen. The amount of increase is not stated.

Ice In Poor Condition

Bangor, Me., Dec. 13.—The Penobscot river is closed to navigation from this city to a point below Hampden, eight miles further down. The freeze is a poor one for the ice companies, being full of drift ice which was broken up by the boats Monday. The American Ice company will harvest about 60,000 tons this winter.

Sheriff Killed by Train

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 13.—Sheriff Daniel P. Peabody, aged 73, while crossing the railroad tracks here, was struck by a "Boston flyer" and sustained internal injuries, a fractured arm, fractured leg, and several broken ribs. He died last night. Peabody had served as sheriff of Rutland county for 27 years.

A Dangerous Grade Crossing

New Britain, Conn., Dec. 13.—The Main street grade crossing, where several deaths have occurred, was the scene of another fatality last evening when John Stefanik, the driver of a delivery team, was instantly killed by the cars. Stefanik's body was cut in two. He was 32 years old.

Death From Small Fire

Berlin, N. H., Dec. 13.—During a fire that damaged the dwelling house of J. D. Lary to the extent of about $1500, Xavier Arsineault, a boarder, while attempting to save the household goods, was overcome by smoke and died a few minutes later.

Family Swept While House Burned

Dubois, Pa., Dec. 13.—Six children were burned to death at Lindsey, and William Morgan and his wife, the parents, with their two remaining children, barely escaped with their lives. The fire was discovered by a neighbor, who aroused the sleeping inmates. At that time the whole roof and rear of the house were burning.

Suicide on a Steamer

New York, Dec. 13.—Gregory McLeod of Lowell, Mass., was found dead, with a bullet hole in his temple, lying in his berth in steamer Frank Jones. The steamer was just about to land in New York, having come from Bristol, R. I., when McLeod's body was found. The police say that it is suicide.

Schooner Cannot Be Saved

Halifax, Dec. 13.—The three-masted schooner Ida M. Shaffner, ashore at Isaac's harbor, is a total loss. She was built three years ago. The schooner was valued at $8000. She had coal from Sydney for Halifax.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

Dr. Woodward's Frog Cure

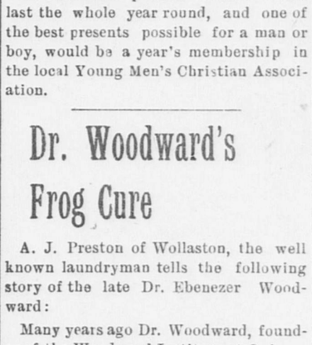

A. J. Preston of Wollaston, the well known laundryman tells the following story of the late Dr. Ebenezer Woodward:

Many years ago Dr. Woodward, founder of the Woodward Institute at Quincy, was much annoyed by a wealthy maiden lady who was very positive she had swallowed a young frog and that it was growing in her stomach. After many attempts to disillusion her the doctor resorted to a strategem. He procured a medium-sized frog, and, placing it in his pocket, visited his patient, and informed her that he proposed to remove the frog. He administered a powerful emetic. He then produced the frog, and she was very happy, and kept the frog as a souvenir.

In less than a week he had an urgent call from the lady, who tearfully informed him that the frog had left one of its family in her stomach. He took the frog, placed him on a table, and with his microscope examined him long and attentively. At last, with a sigh of relief, he exclaimed: "Madame, you are mistaken, the frog is a he one."

RYAN STOOD FIRM

Refused to Yield to the Demand of Harriman

THREATS BY THE LATTER

He Would Exert His Influence Against Ryan Unless He Was Given Equal Share In Control of the Equitable Society

New York, Dec. 13.—Thomas F. Ryan appeared before the insurance investigating committee and told just what E. H. Harriman did and threatened to do when he demanded that Ryan concede to him a share in the control of the Equitable Life Assurance society last June. Mr. Ryan assured the committee that he had meant no disrespect by his former refusal to disclose their conversations and said that he had determined to answer the questions to which he had refused replies on Friday last because District Attorney Jerome said he ought to do so.

Mr. Ryan's version of what Harriman demanded and what he threatened to do upon the refusal of his demands was in substance as follows:

That Harriman demanded one-half of the 502 shares of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society which Ryan purchased from James H. Hyde and which gave Ryan control of the property.

That Harriman threatened, unless he was conceded this share in the control of the society, to exert his political and all other influences against Ryan and his project.

That Harriman declared there probably would be legislative action and that in that event his influence would be important.

That Harriman demanded the right to name two of five trustees to vote the controlling stock in the election of directors of the society.

In reply to repeated questions by Charles E. Hughes, counsel of the committee, Ryan stated that Harriman did not threaten that there would be legislative action unless he was given a share in the Equitable control, but said there probably would be such action. Neither did Harriman threaten any action by an officer of the government. It was a strenuous interview, Ryan said, and was held in the presence of Elihu Root, then Ryan's counsel, now secretary of state, and of Paul D. Cravath, also Ryan's counsel.

Mr. Ryan told the committee that he drew the inference from it that Harriman did not want anybody to control the Equitable society unless he had a share in it. Mr. Ryan also stated that he paid no attention to Harriman's statement that his influence would be important in the event of legislative action and informed him that he wanted no partners in the enterprise. Mr. Harriman did not get the coveted share in the stock.

Mr. Ryan declared that this interview took place within a few days after he got control of the Hyde stock.

United States Senator John F. Dryden of New Jersey, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America, was on the witness stand all the remainder of the day. He testified that his company paid $26,000 to the Republican national campaign fund in 1896, 1900 and 1904. It also paid $5000 to Andrew Hamilton, formerly the New York Life Insurance company's legislative agent at Albany.

New York, Dec. 13.—The Herald says: George W. To Push Statehood Bill

Washington, Dec. 13.—The house will dispose of the statehood question before the holiday recess, according to the plan just formulated. The precise manner in which statehood is to be granted to the four territories will be set forth in what is known as the Hamilton bill, giving statehood to Arizona and New Mexico as one state and to Oklahoma and the Indian Territory as another.

End of Macedonian Dispute

Constantinople, Dec. 13.—The settlement of the Macedonian dispute is largely due to the fact that the powers consented that all decisions of the financial commission must be confirmed by an imperial irade before being put into execution. Some formalities yet remain to be settled, but this recognition of the sultan's sovereign rights virtually terminates the dispute.

Rebates Must Be Abolished

Washington, Dec. 13.—Attorney General Moody has sent a circular letter to all the United States district attorneys, 85 in number, directing them vigilantly to enforce the provisions of the Elkins act against rebates and discriminations of all kinds by carriers. The method of proceedings suggested is by way of indictment.

BLOWN FAR AWAY

Little Gunboat Had Most Trying Experience

BUCKET BRIGADE'S WORK

Saved Vessel From Foundering After Engine Room Became Flooded and Pumps Choked--Made Port Under Old Sail

Newport, R. I., Dec. 13.—The little gunboat Wasp, commanded by Boatswain Sweeney, limped into port under one boiler and several sails after a terrific battle with a north Atlantic hurricane, during which she sprung aleak and was kept afloat, after her pumps choked, through hand-bailing by her entire crew.

The little vessel was blown nearly to the Gulf stream by Sunday's storm, and was nearly two days getting back to port. At one time the water, which came in through a leak in the stern, flooded her entire engine room, and for 10 hours on Sunday the Wasp was at the mercy of the waves. The entire crew of 60 men, a third of whom were naval apprentices, and unused to such boisterous sea conditions, bailed for many hours with buckets and succeeded in freeing the engine room. Hospital Steward White suffered a broken rib.

The Wasp left at 1 o'clock Saturday for the relief of the brig Harry Smith, which was thought to be in a dangerous position at the entrance of Vineyard sound. On getting out to Gay Head at dark Saturday night, nothing could be seen of the brig, as the weather was very thick. At 7 o'clock Saturday night the storm broke and increased so rapidly that the Wasp was hove to. Early Sunday morning a leak was discovered in the stern compartment, and, although the pumps were started, they became clogged in a few hours and the entire crew was compelled to take to bailing with buckets. The water gained rapidly and at dawn Sunday morning it had put out the fires. At one time the water in the after and fireroom compartments had nearly reached the dead lights, but the crew redoubled their energies and Sunday afternoon began to gain on the incoming water.

During the storm on Sunday morning, while the Wasp was entirely helpless, heavy seas came aboard, breaking in the deck house, smashing doors and carrying away the deck fittings. A small fire was kept up in one of the small boilers on the upper deck, but the dynamos were put out of action and oil lights had to be used.

On Sunday night the Wasp had been blown nearly to the Gulf stream by the gale, but the crew had succeeded in practically clearing the fireroom compartment and early Monday morning one boiler was started up. From that time the Wasp headed back toward Newport, using several almost obsolete sails, but never making a greater speed than two knots an hour. She reached here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and anchored near the training station. The gunboat Hist, which went to the relief of the Nantucket lightship, is expected back today.

Woman Sentenced to Death

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 13.—Antoinette Tolla, the Italian girl who shot the man who tried to win her from her husband, was sentenced to be hanged on Jan. 12 next. Standing beside her during the sentence was Jerry Rossa, another Italian convicted of another murder, and he was sentenced to be hanged on the same day as the woman. Mrs. Tolla, who has two children, was in her own home when Joseph Sonta made love to her and she shot him.

Roosevelt on Coolie Exclusion

Washington, Dec. 13.—Representatives Kahn and Hayes of California, after a conference with the president, quote him as saying that he wants the people of the country to understand he is just as strongly in favor of Chinese exclusion as ever, and not only does he want the coolies kept out, but if any person came into this country as one of an exempt class and then became a laborer he would be in favor of deporting him.

Evacuation Plans

Shanghai, Dec. 13.—It has been decided by the Japanese and Chinese commissioners who are conducting negotiations at Pekin that Japan is to evacuate the Liaotung peninsula on the same date that Russia would have had to evacuate it. It also has been decided that the railroad from Changchu to Kirin will be transferred to China after a limited period.

Queen Lil's Modest Request

Washington, Dec. 13.—A petition from ex-Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii asking for the payment of $10,000,000 to her was presented to the senate by Vice President Fairbanks. The petition was accompanied by an autograph letter requesting early and favorable consideration.

King to Visit Bride-to-Be

Madrid, Dec. 13.—It is expected that King Alfonso will go to the Riviera towards the end of the month, where he will meet Princess Ena of Battenberg, who is a guest of former Empress Eugenie. The betrothal of the king and the princess is considered to be assured.

Crops Threatened by Drought

Lahore, India, Dec. 13.—The huge wheat and oil seed areas of the Punjab are already suffering from the prolonged drought and great anxiety is felt for the fate of the usually immense crop.

FUSE FAILED TO BURN

Plot to Blow Up New Railroad Bridge Is Disclosed

Millers Falls, Mass., Dec. 13.—The fact that local officers and the state police have been secretly at work in trying to apprehend those responsible for an attempt last Friday to blow up the Central Vermont railroad's new high bridge over Millers river has just been disclosed. But for the failure of a fuse to burn, the entire structure, as well as many houses in the vicinity, would have been destroyed.

According to the officers, 27 sticks of dynamite weighing 25 pounds were placed beneath the track on Friday night, and a fuse 100 feet long laid along the bridge to the Erving side of the river. The fuse was lighted, but after burning 30 feet went out, owing to a sharp bend around a rock.

The attempt was discovered Saturday morning, but it was decided to keep the matter quiet in the hope of finding the person who purchased the dynamite.

Armed watchmen have since been guarding the bridge, and a persistent investigation has been in progress by Deputy Sheriff Pratt and State Detective McKay, but no arrests have been made.

The reletting of the contract on the bridge several months ago by a company conducting a union shop to one having an open shop caused the discharge of nearly 100 union laborers and the substitution of a non-union force, and it is believed by the authorities that the attempt may have been made by a dissatisfied workman.

Record to Be Ashamed Of

Colon, Dec. 13.—On board the steamship Havana, which sailed yesterday for New York, were Mr. Price, a special agent of the Santa Fe railroad, and Matthew Kenny, a detective of Kansas City, having in charge a man named Fuller, who for the past eight months has been station agent and postmaster at Pedro Maguel, in the canal zone. It is alleged that Fuller already has been convicted of larceny, burglary and arson and that he has escaped from prison three times. It is further alleged that he has been accused of attempted murder, bigamy and forgery.

Hearst's Prominence Not Considered

Washington, Dec. 13.—Mr. Hearst's committee assignments indicate that it is the purpose of the party leaders here to give him the rating to which he is entitled to as a member of the house merely, making no allowance for his general standing in the Democratic party as the candidate for the presidency second only to Parker and as the leader of the socialistic element of the country. He has two places, irrigation, which amounts to little since the passage of the act, and labor, on which he served in the last session.

Lack of Fire Protection

New York, Dec. 13.—Mechanical inefficiency is declared to exist in nearly every detail of New York's fire protective system by Fire Chief Croker in a letter commenting on the recent report of the national fire underwriters to the effect that New York was in danger of a great conflagration. Croker states that the city needs more fire apparatus, a new telegraph alarm system, a better water supply, more modern hydrants, and more stringent rules in constructing buildings and in handling explosives.

Rumor That Beckwith Lives

Oberlin, O., Dec. 13.—A wild story was circulated here last night to the effect that C. T. Beckwith, late president of the failed Oberlin bank, is alive and in Canada. The death of Beckwith occurred months ago, following the wrecking of his bank by the Chadwick expose. The agent of the insurance company which has paid a $35,000 life policy said last night that he saw Beckwith's body several hours after death.

Regiment Was Imprisoned

Cincinnati, Dec. 13.—Because one soldier did not know that the girl to whom he said "Come on, Mollie, and have a drink with me," was the daughter of Major Tillson, the entire eight companies at Fort Thomas were held in the post for 36 hours until the offender was identified. Miss Tillson, with her mother, was waiting for a friend within post limits when the soldier accosted her.

Agreement Repudiated

Washington, Dec. 13.—Homer B. Hulbert, the special messenger from the Emperor of Korea, is in receipt of a cablegram from Korea in which the emperor declares that the agreement between Korea and Japan is null and void because it was obtained by force. He also declares that he will never sign this agreement in its present form.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed locaremedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Twelve days to Christmas.

The warm sun this noon made walking bad in spots.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Graham of Bangor, Me., were in town today.

Mrs. Hannon has moved from Broadway, Quincy Point, to Charlestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cain have moved from Hersey place to North Weymouth.

John R. Richards of Centre street is happy over the birth of a son this morning.

J. A. Johnson of 401 Hancock street, Norfolk Downs, has received another shipment of china.

Mrs. Horatio Tower and son of Cohasset are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Hall of Newbury avenue.

C. F. Pettengill, the jeweller, has a rich display of holiday goods, which are offered at reasonable prices.

Dr. C. B. Underwood has opened an office at Quincy Point, having a room at the home of Mrs. Elijah Brown. A dentist's office is something new for the Point.

A number of Quincy people attended the Calumet Club dance which was held Tuesday evening at Ellsworth hall, East Milton. The Criterion Orchestra furnished excellent music to which 35 couples enjoyed dancing till 11.30.

Although it is usually hard to know just what to give your boy for a Christmas present, yet this year something new in Quincy solves the problem. A membership in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. is as much as any boy would desire, and lasts all the year round. Every live boy wants to join.

Sagamore street has begun to look vital as far as the connection between the Squantum and Quincy cars is concerned. In a week's time there will be no necessity for changing cars at the Atlantic station for Neponset and patrons will appreciate this now that the cold weather has set in. Work on the Hancock street bridge has taken a long time, but the results justifies the delay and inconvenience for, as it nears completion, it is a credit to the city.

—Rev. Albert Marion Hyde was installed on Tuesday evening as pastor of the Porter Congregational church at Brockton.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

One of the most enjoyable meetings of the Quincy Women's club was held Tuesday afternoon at the club house. It was an open meeting and there were many guests. Mrs. Bumpus, president, presided and was given a cordial welcome as she had but recently returned from her country home in the Berkshires.

A brief business meeting was held, followed by a pleasant feature—the presentation to the club of a handsome gavel by Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, who made a neat little speech in which she told that the gavel was made from an oak beam taken from the birthplace of President John Adams, by courtesy of the Adams family. It also contained pieces of wood from the tree at Merrymount which is so prominent in the city realm and known to all historians.

A silver plate was inscribed as follows: "Presented to the Quincy Women's Club by Lillie B. Titus."

The afternoon was in charge of the philanthropy committee Mrs. Welch chairman, and the musical program in charge of Mrs. Frank Moore, who opened with music by the Polymphian quartette who sang "'Tis Morn" by Geibel. In the quartette were Miss Blanche Wilder, first soprano, Miss Ethel Raymond, second soprano, Miss Mary Garey first alto and Mrs. Walter Belcher, second alto. Their singing was much enjoyed their voices being sweet and girlish. Their closing number was Barnby's "Sweet and Low." Mrs. Otho Hayward at the piano, played Grieg's "Spring Song."

Mrs. Welch introduced as the first speaker of the afternoon Mrs. Hatch, who retold by request her experiences as visiting nurse in Quincy. The paper proved equally interesting in its second reading and was new to many of the club members. The club is much interested in her work.

Interest centered in Dr. Brackett and his address on "Possibilities in Social Work," He told of the possibilities for work in this city in the city council, schools, the district court, poor house and the various charities to see that the right thing is being done in the right way. It is impossible to give Dr. Bracketts remarks in full but they were extremely interesting. He advocated neighborliness in charitably work and hoped the club house would become a social centre for neighborliness and social work

Dr. Brackett felt sure the Quincy Women's club would be a power for good for it united all women of the city without regard to church or creed, or section, and such unity could not help but be productive of good. He hoped for great results in years to come. He thought the beginning was good, the work of Visiting Nursing.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Emery and Mrs. Gow. The pourers of tea were Mrs. Frederick H. Smith, Mrs. Otho A. Hayward, Mrs. Frank A. Page and Mrs. Frederic J. Peirce. It was a very enjoyable meeting.

The promenade concert which Mrs. E. C. Bumpus, president of the Quincy Women's club is giving at the club house on Saturday evening promises to be a most delightful affair in every way. A varied program is to be given by Boston artists, Miss Bessie Tuckerman, soloists, Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, reader, and Mr. Stevens, piano. It is the first opening of the club house to men. Besides the concert, refreshments are to be served.

The punch table will be in charge of Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth and Mrs. Herbert Lawton, assisted by Mrs. A. E. Sproul and Mrs. Clarence Burgin.

Coffee will be poured by Mrs. Harry L. Rice, Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. E. E. Davis and Mrs. Frederic Peirce, assisted by Miss Alice G. Coe, Miss Eugenia Hatch, Miss Norma C. Lowe, Miss Etta M. Prescott, Miss Marjorie Rideout and Miss Alice N. Redding.

On the reception committee will be Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, Mrs. George W. Morton, Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick, Mrs. George G. Saville, Mrs. Frederick H. Smith and Mrs. Charles R. Safford.

The introduction committee are Mrs. John Gow, Miss Elsie Russell, Miss Margaret Thomas, Miss Eliza Sheahan, Mrs. Charles M. Bryant, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney and Miss Annie L. Prescott.

Subscriptions are being received by Mrs. Bumpus, Mrs. Lawton, Miss Prescott, Mrs. C. W. Smith of Wollaston and Mrs. Fred Peirce of the Downs.

It is a fine opportunity for the public to inspect the club house.

HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION.

Twenty ladies attended the all day sewing bee of the Hospital Aid Association at the home of its president, Mrs. Joseph C. Morse, Goffe street, on Wednesday Dec. 6th. Ten dressing gowns were completed and a delightful social time was had.

SOCIAL CLUB.

The second in the series of entertainments in the Social club course is to be given this week, Friday evening, in the chapel of First church and is to be a concert. The next in the series will be a Christmas holiday dance on Dec. 29th at Faxon hall which will prove popular as the colleges will be having the midwinter recess, and all the young people will be at home.

JUNIOR FRIDAY CLUB.

Owing to illness and other engagements only ten members of the Junior Friday club were present at the meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Prescott. There were four guests Mrs. Frothingham of Quincy Mrs. Whitney of Wollaston and Miss Emily Baxter of Milton. As the president Miss Hitchcock was absent, also Miss Randall chairman of the afternoon's program, Mrs. Thompson of Wollaston, secretary of the club, presided. The paper and discussions were on the New York period in American literature: the Knickerbocker school and Washington Irving. The hostess served refreshments.

FIRST CHURCH ALLIANCE.

There was a large attendance of women on Monday afternoon at the Christmas meeting of the Alliance. The president announced the various committees for the Alliance Christmas party to be held Friday afternoon, Dec. 22d. Any one knowing children not connected with any Sunday school and who would otherwise be without Christmas cheer is urged to send the names to the chairman of invitation committee, Mrs. N. S. Hunting.

The president asked for fifteen minutes in which Miss Jennie Deans of Manassas, Virginia, might tell of her work among her people. Miss Deans in those few minutes, interested all present in the Manassas Industrial School for colored youths.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. John W. Sanborn and the first number was a solo by Mrs. Ross K. Whiton, "A Christmas Carol." Mrs. Arthur E. Sproul then read selections from the prophecies regarding the Messiah. Mrs. Buckingham sang "Unto you a Saviour is born." Mrs. Wilson Marsh read a very beautiful poem by Coleridge, "A Christmas Carol." Mrs. Hunting sang a "Christmas Song." Mrs. Sanborn then read a very interesting story, "How Christmas came to the Mulvaneys," and the program closed with the singing of some old time carols by Mrs. Buckingham and Mrs. Hunting.

It was a delightful program from beginning to end. The music was fine and appropriate and poems and readings mingled the pathetic and the humorous. Mrs. Sanborn can feel sure that her afternoon was a success in every way and gave enjoyment to all who attended.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

The December meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held on Monday afternoon, Dec. 18th, in Y. M. C. A. hall. Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, president of the Auxiliary, has the program in charge and there will be soprano solos by Mrs. Henry W. Tirrell of South Quincy.

DAUGHTERS of the REVOLUTION.

The State Society of the Daughters of the Revolution are giving a reception and tea party on Saturday afternoon from three until six at hotel Brunswick, Boylston street, Boston. Members of Adams chapter of this city are planning to go.

FRIDAY CLUB

Although several members of the Friday club were unable to attend the meeting last week at the home of Mrs. A. E. Sproul, the program was well carried out by Mrs. Arnold and the afternoon much enjoyed. Another meeting of the club will be held this week with Mrs. Otho A. Hayward of Coddington street. Mrs. George W. Morton is preparing the program the subject being Charles Reade and Anthony Trollope.

PINE TREE CLUB.

The Pine Tree State Association meets Thursday evening in Colonial hall. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock. All natives of Maine are cordially invited to be present. During the evening refreshments will be served and a most enjoyable time is anticipated.

AMONG NEIGHBORING CLUBS.

Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth of Montclair, N. J., recently delivered a very interesting lecture to a large audience under the auspices of the Quinshipaug Women's club of Milford. Her topic was "Lights and shadows of prison life," and she told of the progress made in the last ten years in the methods of relieving the distress of the prisoners' families. She told of her personal experiences in reaching the criminal, caring for him after his release, etc. Her power over the hardened men and women is truly wonderful.

Tuesday afternoon Mr. Henry Turner Bailey addressed the Woman's club of Scituate on "Arts and Crafts."

Mr. Vesper L. George speaks before the Old Colony club of Weymouth on Thursday afternoon on "Household Art."

Municipal Lighting

Holyoke Must Add 5 Per Cent Annually for Depreciation

The litigation of the city of Holyoke over the purchase of the lighting plants in that city is of importance to Quincy taxpayers at this time. The Springfield Daily Republican, in its issue of Dec. 7, publishes a lengthy dispatch from Boston under date of Dec. 6, with the following heading:

"Depreciation on plant stands,—Decision against Holyoke,—Adverse action by gas commission, with review of the case, but the added statement that the company is not as badly off as supposed."

The dispatch is reprinted in full without comment:

Chairman Barker of the gas and electric light commission gives out this afternoon the unanimous decision of the board upon the petition of the city of Holyoke for a change in the method of reckoning the annual depreciation of its plant so that the city will not have to charge off 5 per cent. a year. The board dismisses the petition.

Chairman Barker said this afternoon, when he gave out the statement, that owing to circumstances which had developed since the hearing began, it appears that the city will not have to raise as much it would have had to raised under the supposed conditions, when it made its petition, as it would have had to raise if the petition had been granted, and he did not think that if all the facts had been known, as they appear now, when the petition was presented, it would have been presented at all.

The decision is in part as follows:—

On December 15, 1902, the city of Holyoke took possession, under the general law, of its gas and electric light plant. The total initial expenditure for this purpose was $829,252.21. Since that time the city has expended for additions and improvements $267,722.94, making a total investment in the business up to the present time of $1,096,975.15. Nearly all the cost of the original purchase and of the subsequent additions and improvements has been defrayed out of the proceeds of bonds issued by the city. Of these bonds $98,200 have already been paid, $36,600 become payable in 1906, and the same sum annually for the seven years following, with a smaller amount annually thereafter until 1932.

The interest payments for the year 1906 amount to $28,185.50, the demand for this purpose obviously decreasing steadily with the payment of the bonds as they mature. Interest upon practically the entire debt is at 3 1-2 per cent per annum. During the year covered by the last return the income derived from private consumers exceeded the operating expenses, not including interest or depreciation, by about $40,000. The estimates for the year 1906, as submitted at a hearing at Holyoke, gave:—

Operating expenses	$230,781
Bond payments	36,600
Interest charges	28,185
Depreciation at 5 per cent	54,849
Amount to be provided	$350,415
Deducting estimated income, not including anything for city lights	$228,000
To be raised by taxation	$122,415
Bond payments	36,600
To be raised by taxation for maintenance	$85,815

It was urged at the hearing that to include the last-named amount in the tax levy would impose upon the taxpayers an unreasonable and unnecessary burden and that the city was entitled to relief accordingly.

In the conduct of a business of this character the municipality and the taxpayers seem to stand clearly in the place of a private company and its shareholders, while the relation of the consumers to the owners of the property is not changed. The consumers must bear the full burden of carrying on the business, including the cost of depreciation. The consumers, however, as such are not to be assessed to pay for the plant, and they are not interested in the time or manner in which the money representing original investment is called for from the taxpayers. Whether the city's debt on account of the plant is large or small does not concern them.

As a fair depreciation charge is for the proper protection of the owner's interest, he is primarily interested that its amount should be ample. The fact that the owner is obliged to expend at the same time a large sum on his investment can be no reason for reducing it; it may rather emphasize the importance of keeping it at a proper amount. It seems clear to us, therefore, that the amount of the bond payments ought not to be considered as material to the question of the fair amount of the depreciation charge.

Included in the total investment of $1,096,975 is approximately $110,000 paid for the expense of litigation and $45,000 paid for plant, which was shortly after abandoned and replaced by appliances of a modern and more efficient type. These two items indicate an impairment of the investment already incurred of about $155,000, and constitute an obvious depreciation for which provision should at some time be made. In any well-regulated business law expense is an operating and not a capital charge. Some additional amount is annually accruing from causes common to all enterprises of this character.

The sum already named is so large, however, that if the statutory rate of 5 per cent be required and the depreciation now going on be taken at no more than the 2 per cent suggested by the city, it will require five years from this date, or eight years from the purchase of the plant, to restore the amount already lost. Nor will the 5 per cent requirement be unreasonably burdensome upon the city. It will, in fact, require the inclusion in the tax levy of a somewhat less sum for maintenance than is involved in the suggestions originally presented by the city, as the following figures will show:—

Suggested by the city:—

For operating expenses	$230,781
Interest on bonds outstanding	28,185
For operating and interest	$258,966
Deduct receipts not including city lights	228,000
Leaving a balance of	$30,966
Depreciation at 2 per cent	21,999
Making a total to be put in the tax levy for maintenance	52,905

Since the hearing the estimate for operating expenses has been materially reduced, and the figures resulting from this, and the board's finding will be as follows:

For operating expenses	$196,281
Interest on the entire investment at 3 1-2 per cent, as required by law	38,394
For operating and interest	$234,675
Deducting receipts not including city lights	228,000
Leaves	$6,675
Add depreciation at 5 per cent	54,849
Net for operating and depreciation	$61,524
Deduct from this the difference between the interest to be collected, $38,395, and $28,185, the interest to be paid, or	10,209
	$51,315

That is to say, with a continuance of the present prices to private consumers, the city, as a consumer sharing with them the consumers' obligations, will pay for its lights in the public buildings and streets the sum named.

The board has accordingly voted to dismiss the petition. For the board,
Forrest E. Barker, Chairman.

Hamilton Won Another Challenge

The two-mile challenge run on rollers at the Quincy Coliseum on Wednesday evening proved exciting sport for the 1100 in attendance. The contestants were Clarence Hamilton and George Esson and a silver cup was offered as a prize. Hamilton's time was 10 minutes flat, defeating Esson by 3 seconds, and he was awarded the cup.

Esson promptly challenged Hamilton for another race, and the management of the rink has offered a challenge cup as a prize, which must be won three successive times to pass to ownership, but must always be open to challenge. The first race for the cup will take place at the Coliseum next Wednesday.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

One George Washington Woolsey of New York is the father of twenty children. He doesn't hope to be the father of his country but he is doing what he can for it.

Senator Depew says he will grant no more interviews to newspaper correspondents. It is probable that his "friends from up the country" will also have difficulty in interviewing him.

But one of the mayors elect of Massachusetts is under thirty years of age, while two are over sixty and ten others over fifty. Chelsea's mayor will enter his fifth term, and two their third term, but thirty enter their first or second year. Eight were born out of Massachusetts and two in foreign lands.

It is to be hoped that the High school enlargement will not be delayed because the appropriation is insufficient, as has been hinted. Some have been claiming that they were getting a better building for less money than under the plans rejected in 1904. No one objects to that, but the estimates of 1905 were not as closely scrutinized as in 1904.

If it is a fact that the defeat of the municipal lighting order in the City Council this year will prevent it coming up again for two years, its friends will hesitate before letting it come to a vote again this year. If referred to the next City Council it may be more successful and also save time.

CAMPAIGN PLEDGE

District Attorney Moran Is Keeping His Word

GETS AFTER BIG HOTEL

Alleged Snbterfuge by Which Liquor Law Is Evaded--Asks For Surrender of License and Has Tilt With Board of Police

Boston, Dec. 14.—District Attorney Moran has set about fulfilling one of the pledges made during his recent campaign for office by calling upon John R. Coleman, an employe at the Hotel Touraine, to surrender the license granted to him by the Boston board of police and giving him the right to sell liquor at a place on Tamworth street. Should Coleman surrender or be deprived of his license the guests of the Hotel Touraine, one of the leading hostelries of the city, would be unable to procure liquor on the premises.

Under the Massachusetts law no license will be granted to allow the sale of liquor within 500 feet of a public school. The Hotel Touraine is situated at the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets, a trifle less than 500 feet from the Winthrop school on Tremont street. A narrow lane called Tamworth street runs along the easterly side of the hotel.

Coleman has for several years been granted a license to sell liquor at a room on Tamworth street, and this room is in the hotel structure, being separated from the rest of the building by a party wall. Guests at the hotel who desired to obtain liquor made out orders authorizing the hotel waiters to act as their agents to buy liquor from Coleman. This plan, it was believed, technically covered the law forbidding the sale of liquor in the hotel.

Mr. Moran claims that the delivery of the liquor coqnstitutes a violation of the law, and for that reason he has demanded that Coleman surrender his license.

During his recent campaign Moran declared that if he should be elected to the office of district attorney he would see that the proprietor of the Touraine obeyed the law. For the past few days he has been investigating conditions at the Touraine, and has also drawn upon the police board for all papers in their possession bearing upon the matter. Yesterday he requested the police commissioners to come to his office individually for conferences, but Chairman Cole replied that the board would be pleased to see Moran at the offices of the board if he cared to call. Moran would not call upon the police board, nor would the police commissioners call upon Moran.

The proprietor of the Touraine is J. R. Whipple, who is also the proprietor of Young's hotel and the Parker house. In addition to demanding that Coleman surrender the Touraine license, Moran asked the board if they did not have a record that the liquor law was violated at the Parker house in September, 1903. This alleged violation was based upon the report of a police sergeant two years ago and was to the effect that at the Parker house on one occasion liquor was served as late as 11:25 p. m., the closing time of licensed saloons and hotels, so far as liquor sales are concerned, being 11 p. m.

Cathedral Destroyed by Fire

Halifax, Dec. 14.—Fire broke out in St. Luke's cathedral at an early hour this morning. St. Luke's is the cathedral of the Anglican diocese of Nova Scotia and is the church of Bishop Worrall. Those who first saw the fire are of the opinion that it was of incendiary origin. The cathedral was totally destroyed, together with a number of articles and furnishings of historic interest. The financial loss is estimated at about $60,000.

Senate Confirms Nominations

Washington, Dec. 14.—The senate in executive session confirmed the following nominations: C. A. Stillings, (Mass.) to be public printer; H. W. Furniss, (Ind.) envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Haiti; M. K. Moorhead, (Pa.) consul at St. Thomas, Ont.; B. F. Case, (Pa.) consul at Catania, Italy; J. O. Lyford, (N. H.) navai officer of customs, district of Boston and Charlestown.

France Abolishes Slavery

Paris, Dec. 14.—Minister of the Colonies Clementel has signed a law punishing with two to five years' imprisonment and a heavy fine any one engaging in the slave trade in the French African colonies. The old law referring to slavery only prohibited the importation of slaves by sea. Consequently West African natives were largely traded in.

Deportation For Strikers

Singapore, Dec. 14.—The Chinese dock laborers at Tanjong Pagar refused to aid in repairing the Standard Oil company's steamer Acme because of the Chinese boycott on American goods. The American consul complained to the governor and the strikers ultimately returned to work. It is probable that the ringleaders will be deported.

Triple Skating Fatality

Amsterdam, N. Y., Dec. 14.—A party of 10 boys and girls were skating on a pond here last night when the leader, a girl, fell, breaking the ice and going into the water. Before the nine children who were following her could check their speed or alter their course, all plunged into the rapidly widening hole and three were drowned.

SPEEDY LOUISIANA

New Battleship Makes 18.924 Kno's on Her Trial Trip

Rockland, Me., Dec. 14.—The new battleship Louisiana was sent over a mile course near Owl's Head and easily exceeded the government requirements of 18 knots an hour. The maximum speed developed was 18.924 knots, and her builders express confidence that the ship can attain a speed of 19 knots. She was sent over the course 12 times.

The Louisiana left Rockland this morning on her four hours' endurance test, running straight toward Boston. She will land the members of the naval trial board at Boston light and continue on to Newport News for completion.

The Louisiana is 98 percent completed. Her length on load water line is 405 feet, her extreme beam is 78 feet 8 inches, and her draft on normal displacement of 16,000 tons is 24 feet 6 inches. The horse power of her engines is 16,500. She will have a complement of 41 officers and 778 men. The main battery will consist of four 12-inch breech-loading rifles mounted in two turrets, and eight 8-inch breech-loading rifles mounted in four side turrets. The secondary battery will consist of 20 14-pounder rapid-fire guns, 12 3-pounder semi-automatic guns, two 1-pounder semi-automatic guns, two 3-inch field pieces, two machine guns and six automatic guns; also four 21-inch submerged torpedo tubes.

Compulsory Idleness For Heroes

Washington, Dec. 14.—Secretary Metcalf says that it was with profound regret that the lighthouse board furloughed without pay Captain Jorgensen and his crew of relief lightship No. 58, which recently went down off Nantucket, after their heroic efforts to save the vessel. The law absolutely prohibits the payment of any salaries to men not performing actual duty, the pay of officers and sailors ceasing upon a ship being lost or meeting with any other disaster through which their services could not be utilized.

Longworth to Wed Miss Roosevelt

Washington, Dec. 14.—Formal announcement is made by President and Mrs. Roosevelt of the engagement of their daughter, Alice Lee Roosevelt, to Nicholas Longworth, representative in congress from Ohio. The wedding will take place about the middle of next February. While arrangements for the wedding have not been made, it is expected that it will occur at the White House.

Aside from the dancing class of Miss Lena Crane, Atlantic Music hall is not over taxed by social functions. In the past there have been a few valiant men who have run dances on the assembly plan, some with and some without success, but at present the spirit for entertainment has fallen into lethargy. Every comunity needs social gatherings now and then to bring people into sympathy with one another and to "promote the general welfare." Atlantic should not fall short of its duty in this respect.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.
Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.
The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. CHANGE IN MUTUAL LIFE

Peabody Elected President at Salary of $50,000 to Succeed McCurdy, Who Received Salary of $150,000 a Year

New York, Dec. 14.—Two incidents affecting the life insurance situation in New York have overshadowed the legislative committee investigation. While the committee was inquiring into the conduct of the Prudential Life Insurance company and the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, George W. Perkins resigned as first vice president and chairman of the finance committee of the New York Life Insurance company. He was succeeded as vice president by Alexander E. Orr, president of the New York city rapid transit commission, and as chairman of the finance committee by John Claflin, head of the H. B. Claflin company. Perkins is a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Another important move in the situation was the election by the trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company of Charles A. Peabody to succeed Richard A. McCurdy as president of that company at $50,000 a year. McCurdy's salary was $150,000.

Peabody is a lawyer, the American representative of W. W. Astor, and a director in several banks and other corporations. Peabody also was nominated as trustee of the Mutual Life to succeed Rufus W. Peckham, and Emory McClintock was nominated to succeed Elihu Root. They cannot be elected as trustees until the next meeting of the board.

John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Life Insurance company, again testified before the investigating committee and made a statement to the committee of his reasons for favoring federal supervision of life insurance companies through a national insurance department which, he said, should have high authority over them. This, he said, would benefit both the companies and the insured.

The tendency of the holders of industrial policies in the Prudential and Metropolitan Life Insurance companies to lapse was examined in great detail by Mr. Hughes, counsel of the committee, who quoted a statement of the Prudential company that 72 percent of its industrial policies lapse within five years from the date of issue. Dryden declared that this is much to be regretted from the standpoint of the company as well as from that of the insured, and that the tendency now is toward a greater persistency on the part of industrial holders than formerly. Dryden asserted that industrial insurance, even with high rates and tendency to lapse, is the greatest economic force now in operation in this country.

WHACK AT WILLIAMS

His Leadership Assailed by Two of His Colleagues

Washington, Dec. 14.—The "washing of Democratic linen for the amusement of Republicans," as Mr. Williams, the minority leader, put it Monday, occupied the attention of the house for more than four hours yesterday. The result accomplished was a defi thrown at the minority leader by Mr. Lamar (Fla) and another by Mr. Shackleford (Mo.) The complaint of both resulted from the failure of Williams to recommend their reappointment as members of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. Both made long speeches in which Williams' leadership was assailed from many points.

Mr. Williams replied to Lamar at some length and briefly to Shackleford. His defense was that last session the Democrats on this committee were divided and he deemed it necessary for the good of the party and the country that a united minority report should be made on the subject of railroad rate legislation.

At times there was high tension in the debate. Lamar was particularly bitter in his criticism and openly declared that his heretofore personal friendship for Williams was forever at an end unless the criticism of himself were retracted. He, however, would recognize Williams as the party leader. Shackleford denounced all bosses and placed himself entirely independent of party leadership in the house.

The subject under discussion was the committee distribution of the annual message of President Roosevelt. At the conclusion of the Democratic debate this had not been accomplished and the house adjourned.

Middies Need Chastisement

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 14.—Midshipman Kimbrough was called before a board of officers now inquiring into hazing and similar practices and compelled to answer certain questions. It is said that he had also told some relatives that he had been hazed. As a result of these two things, Kimbrough was compelled to stand on his head, then on his feet and then on his head again, repeating this process for 10 minutes continuously. At the end of that time he fainted and was left in that condition by the hazers. He is in the hospital, but is doing well. Two midshipmen have been suspended in connection with the hazing.

Illegal Rebates Alleged

Chicago, Dec. 14.—The federal grand jury returned an indictment against the Chicago and Alton Railroad company, J. N. Faithorn and F. A. Wann, formerly vice president and general freight agent, respectively, of the railroad company. New York, Dec. 14.—Unless the present situation changes the spectacle will be presented of Mme. FOUND IN BOSTON

Woman Who May Throw Light on Death of Susan Geary

PLACED UNDER ARREST

Jumped Bail at Philadelphia, Where She and Her Husband, Now In Prison, Were Concerned In Alleged Malpractice

Boston, Dec. 14.—A sequel to the Boston "suit case" tragedy developed last evening when Mrs. Mary S. Roberts was arrested on a warrant charging her with being a fugitive from justice.

Mrs. Roberts is known as the wife of William E. Hunt, who is now serving a sentence of from six to seven years in the state prison for being an accessory to the illegal operation that caused the death of Susan Geary, the chorus girl of the "Shepherd King" theatrical company, whose dismembered body was found in three suit cases in the waters of Boston harbor. Hunt, who is also known as Howard and Roberts, was arrested in New York two days after the victim of the tragedy had been identified.

It is alleged that, under the name of Roberts, the man who was sentenced to state prison under the name of Hunt conducted a number of illegal medical establishments in Philadelphia. It is further alleged that a Philadelphia woman, Maud Gilpin, died as a result of treatment received at an office conducted by Hunt. Hunt managed to leave Philadelphia before the police could locate him, but his wife was arrested. The woman later defaulted her bail of $2500.

Although Mrs. Roberts will be held for the Philadelphia police, the chief interest attached to her arrest is in connection with a confession made by her regarding the illegal medical offices in this city. According to the police, the woman, when arrested, threw considerable additional light upon the death of the Geary girl.

Ever since the arrest of Hunt the police have been conducting an active search for Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Dean. Yesterday the officers learned that Mrs. Roberts was living in a house on Union park, in the South End, and there the woman was arrested last evening.

After an extended examination at police headquarters, Mrs. Roberts expressed her willingness to return to Philadelphia without opposing extradition. The woman admitted that she was the person sought by the Philadelphia authorities, but denied that she had ever performed any illegal operations in that city. She made no admissions regarding her acquaintance with Mrs. Dean or knowledge of that person's whereabouts.

The Philadelphia police were notified last night of Mrs. Roberts' arrest and officers will be sent from that city to take the woman back.

An Alleged Malpractitioner

Philadelphia, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Mary S. Roberts, who was arrested in Boston as a fugitive from justice, is wanted by the Philadelphia authorities to answer a charge of malpractice in connection with the case of Katie Himes, a young woman who gave her address as Willow Grove, 14 miles from this city.

Mrs. Roberts was arrested on June 29 and sent to the county prison in default of $2500 bail. She obtained a bondsman and a few days after her release, the detectives say, she left the city. Katie Himes survived and is now under bail as a witness in the case. The Boston authorities want Mrs. Roberts as a witness in another case, and as soon as they are through with her she will be turned over to the Philadelphia police.

Mrs. Roberts' husband, who is serving a sentence in the Massachusetts state prison in connection with the suit case crime, is wanted by the Philadelphia authorities on the charge of being a principal in the case of Maud Gilpin, whose death resulted from an illegal operation. The local police say Mrs. Roberts has no connection, so far as they know, with the Gilpin case.

TEN PERCENT ADVANCE

Increased Wages For Operatives In Many Woolen Mills

Providence, Dec. 14.—Orders were issued last night from the head offices in this city instructing the agents to post notices today in a number of independent woolen mills announcing an advance in wages of 10 percent on Jan. 1. The plants affected are the Coronet worsted mills of Mapleville, R. I., Wickford worsted mills of Wickford, R. I., and the Plainfield woolen mills and the Central yarn mills of Central Village, Conn.

All these plants are independent of the American Woolen company, which on Tuesday announced a 10 percent increase for its 30,000 operatives in seven states. The mills in which notices will be posted today are controlled by Joseph Fletcher of Providence and employ more than 1000 hands. The advance means an increase in Fletcher's payrolls of $10,000 a year.

The Scotia woolen mills of Woonsocket, employing 150 hands, will make a similar advance on New Year's day. It is understood that the Farwell worsted mills of Central Falls, employing 600 hands, and other independent woolen plants will follow the action of the American company.

To Handle Carnegie Foundation

Boston, Dec. 14.—President Henry S. Pritchett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has handed his resignation to the corporation of the institution. His retirement from the institute is prompted by his desire to devote his entire time to the Carnegie Foundation, of which he is president, and which was endowed with a fund of $10,000,000 by Andrew Carnegie about a year ago. This endowment has for its object the pensioning of old and needy professors of American educational institutions.

An Election Blunder

Boston, Dec. 14.—In Tuesday's election the city of Boston failed to have on its ballots a referendum relative to the term of office of the city auditor, in compliance with an act of the last legislature. As a result it is now possible that the city may become involved in a legal entanglement, and, while it is unlikely that it may be necessary for a special election to decide the matter, such a thing is not beyond the impossibilities.

Thinks Coburn Shouldn't Play

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 14.—The Harvard Bulletin, a weekly graduate publication, has an editorial today criticising the action of the Harvard athletic committee in granting permission to Paul N. Coburn to pitch for the university nine in intercollegiate games, notwithstanding the fact that Coburn has pitched three years and part of a fourth for Harvard.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put toge her, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

The Duchess, a dance introduced by Elmer W. Baker, is proving very popular in this city.

Mrs. Dawson of South street has returned from a visit to her former home in Pittsburg, Pa.

Capt. and Mrs. W. B. Crosby of Cotuit, will spend the week-end with relatives in Quincy.

The National Mount Wollaston Bank has issued a calendar for 1906 which is ornamental for home or office.

Two basketball teams from Cambridge will be here on Saturday to play the Intermediates and Juniors of the Quincy Y. M. C. A.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Quincy Point church will meet Friday evening. All young people are cordially invited to be present.

At the whist tournament at the Granite City club Wednesday evening, prizes for the best scores were awarded to Warren H. Rideout and John Curtis.

The Milton High school has a hockey team which opened the season on Cunningham's pond on Wednesday by defeating a team from Winchester High 1 to 0.

Never have the local stores looked more attractive for Christmas than at the present time. Wise ones will avoid the crush and jam in Boston stores and trade at home.

Bibles always make acceptable Christmas gifts, and the beautiful line shown at the store of C. F. Carlson near the Quincy depot is worthy of inspection. He also has a large line of children's holiday books, which he is closing out at half price.

The second meeting of the Alpha club of West Quincy was held Monday evening, at the home of F. Wesley Fuller on Hall place. Twenty-seven members were present. Mr. Wm. Williams, who is attending Boston University, gave an interesting talk on astronomy.

"The Wigwamers," a party of young ladies from Allston and Brookline, whose camp is at Holderness, N. H., held a reunion at the home of Mrs. E. F. Young, at Bellevue park on Wednesday evening, Dec. 6. After partaking of one of Mrs. Young's famous chicken dinners an enjoyable evening was spent spent in story telling, etc. The party returned to their homes at a late hour.

Miss Bessie Bell Collier, the violin soloist at the Social club concert at First church chapel on Friday evening, is a pupil of Kneisel, beginning when only eight years old. She has attracted much attention and is today counted among the few American violinists whose art is to be taken seriously. She is extremely young and girlish in appearance but no amateur on the violin.

THE SPIDER'S WEB.

How to Make a Substitute For the Christmas Tree.

The Christmas tree has by no means passed the day of its usefulness, and let us hope that it never may do so, but a variety is sometimes desirable at Christmas time as well as at other times, and to get it the spider's web may be substituted for the tree, says the Ripley (Ind.) Journal.

The way of arranging it is to have a large spider made of wire and other material suspended from the ceiling or attached to the wall. To this are brought a number of reels or spindles, one or more for each person to be remembered. Each spindle should contain a different colored string or ribbon, and these are then threaded in a bewildering maze through the furniture, from room to room, up and down stairs, and then at the far end of the ribbon is the present.

To secure the present the child must follow the windings of the ribbon wherever it may lead until the gift is arrived at and claimed. Such a plan is productive of much innocent amusement, and the surprise at the end of the ribbon is all the more appreciated for the search it has taken to find it.

For Christmas house parties, either for children or for grownups, the scheme will add much to the pleasure of the occasion and will serve as a means of getting all present better acquainted.

When the sons and daughters and grandchildren return to the old home for the holiday season a spider's web will add to the merriment of the season.

A Clever Silver Gift.

A clever little Christmas gift for the woman who prides herself on having her silver just so, yet who finds it necessary to have it polished every time she brings it out from her treasure chest (which usually happens to be a drawer), is a set of canton flannel cases. Jewelers usually provide cases with sets of silver, but the box cases aren't the satisfactory ones in point of keeping the contents bright. Canton flannel comes in a soft, fine quality that has a nap on both sides and in the prettiest colors—crimson and robin's egg blue and sea green. Hem a square of the material at both ends and fold one end up to exactly the middle of the square. At regular intervals stitch it into divisions, making room for twelve spoons or forks, or, with the larger spoons, for six. Two wing shape bits should be stitched on, one on each side of this lower side, and a piece of tape or of ribbon matching in color tacked on to one edge. Each time the silver has been washed and wiped it should be given an extra little rub and put away, each in its compartment, and the case rolled up, the flaps laid over by way of extra protection against insidious dampness and the tapes tied to keep the covers in place. If such cases are used there'll be practically no tarnishing of your silver. These cases can be made pretty in spite of the rather prosaic service they are to be put to and set off their contents most effectively.

How to Make Mince Pies.

Mince pie has an especial claim to a place at the Christmas dinner, says Country Life. Our forefathers called it Christmas pie. The name was changed by the Puritans and Quakers, whose mouths had to water for it in vain so long as it was called "Christmas." It is interesting to know, by the way, that mince pie developed from a thick stew made of mutton and raisins. In small households Christmas pie sometimes takes the place of the pudding, sometimes reigns entirely in its favor, but, in large ones, one may be as lavish as one can afford, for it is a marvel what unblushed for appetites people bring to Christmas dinners. A good rule for mince is: Be stingy with suet and apples, generous with raisins and currants, and use quite a little brandy for your stomach's sake.

How to Make Raised Doughnuts.

A necessity of the colonial Christmas table was a generous plate of raised doughnuts. A formula for these, which is contributed by a famous New England housekeeper, is as follows: A cupful of lard or butter, two cupfuls of milk, a cupful of yeast, three cupfuls of sugar, four or five eggs, nutmeg and a pinch of salt. Warm together the milk and lard, then add the yeast; stir in flour enough to make a batter, and let it stand overnight; then add the other ingredients. Knead soft, and let it rise again; then roll, cut out, and let it rise before frying. Sprinkle with sugar and spread, not pile, on a platter over which a napkin has first been laid.

How to Prepare Christmas Candies.

A jolly and altogether delightful way of making Christmas candies is with a chafing dish or two and a tableful of guests. All join in and make of the candy making a frolic and entertainment. In making candies granulated sugar is preferable. Candy should not be stirred while boiling. Cream of tartar should not be added until the sirup begins to boil. Butter should be put in when candy is almost done. Flavors are more delicate when not boiled in candy, but added afterward. Butter the hands to prevent sticking when pulling candy.

How to Prepare a Christmas Ham.

A Christmas ham should be prepared as follows: Let the ham soak in tepid water over night, allowing at least twelve hours, then wipe it dry and trim away any rusty places underneath. Make a flour and water crust and cover the ham evenly with it, wetting the edges so as to secure them tightly and keep in the gravy. Place in a moderately heated oven and bake for nearly four hours. Then take off the crust and skin the ham. Cover thickly with dark brown raspings and serve as required.

Free Renewals Incandescent Lamps

At the hearing held before the Electric Light and Gas Commission at City Hall last spring, counsel for the Electric Light Co. stated that it was the intention of the Quincy Electric Light and Power Co. to give free renewals of incandescent lamps at an early date.

This rule has now gone into force as will be seen by an advertisement of the company in another column of this issue.

Treasurer Faxon, in an interview in relation to the matter, said it was the intention of his company to give and maintain the highest service of efficiency. It was well known that the glass globes of incandescent lights, after they have been used for a time, become dull and cloudy. This is due to giving off small particles of the carbon filament which accumulate on the inside and dull the glass.

The dulling of the glass naturally dims the light, and impaires the high service. In order that the high service might be maintained new lamps would be given in exchange for those that had become dull. The only condition was that the lamps exchanged must have been used by consumers of the company, and that whole lamps be returned. The renewals will be made at the office of the company.

NEWSY FASHION NOTES.

Trailing Skirts on Calling Gowns. Overskirt Effects Smart.

Long trailing skirts are to be seen on calling gowns. The sheath skirt promises to be a favorite model of the winter. Great care must be exercised not to get the back too tight. There should be fullness that is not seen, such as that given by inverted box plaits.

Overskirt effects, obtained with the material cut in one, two or three pieces, giving the effect of fitted flounces, are to be smart.

In silks to be made up for separate blouses and worn with street gowns handsome plaids are shown. In some of these waists the plaids run bias, but nearly all combinations are in evidence, and when the leading tone in the plaid matches the gown material these waists are especially desirable. They are made up comparatively plain, the plaids being in themselves sufficient decoration.

Some of the newest petticoats have colored muslin ruffles under their embroidered flounces.

The princess gown shown in the cut is of fine French broadcloth. On the front skirt panel are rows of buttons and simulated buttonholes of velvet. The same effect is carried out on the bolero jacket, which is also trimmed with braid in a conventional pattern.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Consolation Prizes.

The Republicans are getting a little consolation out of the Boston city election. They elected William E. Hannan as street commissioner, also six of the thirteen aldermen and all the five members of the school committee, although three of these had Democratic endorsement.

—Rev. William A. Brown, Ph. D., will be installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Hyde Park this evening. The society is building a church edifice on East River street.

ANGEL OF SMALL BOYS.

Society Woman Turns Prospector and Sells Gold Mine For Their Benefit.

Endowing the Juvenile Court society with the proceeds of the sale of a gold mine is the latest notable act of Mrs. Lida De Mond, society leader and millionairess of Denver, says a dispatch from that city. Mrs. De Mond has been interested for a number of years in the work of the court conducted by Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver. She divides her time and attention between trips to Newport and Bar Harbor and eastern centers of society and the serious work of caring for the poor and needy at home. Lately she decided to give the juvenile court substantial aid.

"If we only had an endowment fund," Judge Lindsey told her when discussing her philanthropic project, "we would be able to do a great deal more good."

So Mrs. De Mond decided to make a donation to the boys of Denver, one that she had earned all by herself. She laid aside the stunning gowns that had been the envy of fashionable women of Capital hill and, arraying herself in corduroy, hied away to Goldfield, Nev., where the gold excitement was at its height. Mrs. De Mond knew something of mining, and what she lacked in knowledge she made up in zeal for the boys' court of Denver.

The great Montgomery-Shoshone mine had just been discovered, and it was decided by experts that the ledge ran north and south. Mrs. De Mond located ground to the west of the discovery shaft, naming her claims after the two burros, Kentucky and Goldenrod, that carried her prospecting outfit into the desert.

About that time Fred G. Shaffer, regarded as the mining wizard of the west, had shrewdly decided that the rich ledge in the camp ran to the west. He offered Mrs. De Mond a small fortune for her claims, and she refused it. Charles M. Schwab of the United States Steel corporation, who was negotiating for the Montgomery-Shoshone mine, had his experts investigate the trend of the ledge, and they reported that it ran into the claims located by Mrs. De Mond.

Mr. Shaffer renewed his negotiations for the claims and secured them for $25,000 on condition that he act as trustee and pay yearly into the treasury of the Juvenile Court association fund at Denver one-fifth of the amount until the sum received for the claims was exhausted.

"Mr. Shaffer will not lack for additional funds when those are exhausted," said Mrs. De Mond. "I know many rich women in various sections of the country who will follow my example. The boys of Denver must be taken care of."

Mrs. De Mond was off in her private car for a trip through the old missions of Lower California with a party of artist friends before the ink was dry on the deeds she gave Mr. Shaffer. She will return by Christmas time, when the annual benefit of the Juvenile Court association, which is one of the social events of Denver, will be held.

PONY'S PLUCKY FIGHT.

Girl Saved From Panthers by Diminutive Steed's Hoofs.

Miss Genevieve Reddington, a twelve-year-old girl of Cullen, Okla., attributes her escape from being killed by two panthers in a canyon near Cullen to her pony, which set upon the beasts which attacked the girl and drove them away by blows from its hoofs, says a Cullen dispatch.

Miss Reddington was riding through the canyon a few days ago when two large panthers rushed upon her from the undergrowth. Her pony stopped at sight of the beasts, which dragged the girl from the saddle, almost stripped her of clothing and were rolling her over and over on the ground when the pony suddenly ran at them and began kicking.

One of the blows from the pony's hoofs struck the girl on the head, rendering her unconscious. A few minutes later, when she regained consciousness, the pony was standing quietly by her side, while the panthers had disappeared.

A CITY'S ALCOHOLIC CURE.

Cleveland to Have Clinic In Connection With Suicide Prevention.

Cleveland, O., is to establish a clinic for the cure of drunkenness in connection with the work of the antisuicide commission, according to the announcement recently made by the Rev. Harris R. Cooley, member of the board of public service and of the commission, says a Cleveland dispatch.

"One-half of all the appeals for aid that have come to the antisuicide commission are patheitc pleas for a drink cure," he said. "Not a single day passes in which I do not receive letters begging me to show some poor drunkard how to become a sober man.

"I will yet establish such a cure, but I cannot begin the work at once because the same professional influence that was brought to bear against the health officers' tuberculosis clinic will be marshaled against me."

To Burbank of California.

[The poet of the Chicago Record-Herald calls on Luther Burbank to produce a boneless fish.]

Don't waste your time on boneless fish.
We have them now. The canned sardine
And boneless cod, as you well know,
In every country store are seen.
But shell-less oysters we would like
And shell-less clams would also hail,
And lobsters and the toothsome crab
Without their horny coats of mail;
Would also like a stingless bee,
Mosquito without song or bite,
A jumpless flea and wingless fly
That will not fly away at sight.
But, if you'd gain the world's applause
And heap up piles of shining cash,
A dogless sausage please invent
And then produce a hairless hash.

Contest Is On

For Presidency of the City Council For 1906

The present indications are that there will be a contest over the presidency of the City Council of 1906 when it organizes on January first. There are said to be two candidates in the field Walter F. Nichols, president of the present city council and Walter E. Piper who represents Ward Three in the present Council but will be Councilman-at-large next year.

Both gentlemen by their length of service are familiar with the routine of business. President Nichols has been a member of the City Council for six years, next year being his seventh. Councilman Piper is now serving his fourth year and will enter upon his fifth year in January.

President Nichols was elected to the presidency at the organization of the City Council in January 1904 and has served two years. During the latter part of the year 1904 there was talk of Councilman Gassett becoming a candidate but it never reached a head as the latter gentleman withdrew before Inauguration day.

President Nichols has made a good presiding officer and has been fair in his rulings and appointments.

During Councilman Piper's service in the Council he has served on such important committees as Finance and Public Buildings. He looks into every matter carefully before he votes and then says yes or no as he believes for the best interest of the city. He is a clear-headed man and never gets excited or rattled. Should the mantle fall on him he would no doubt fill the office with credit.

The locality argument is as usual entering into the contest and the friends of Councilman Piper say that Ward Five has almost had a monopoly of the presidency, Wollaston members having been at the head of the City Council in eight years out of seventeen.

The presiding officers by wards and years have been:

H. M. Federhen, Ward 2,	1889
H. O. Fairbanks, Ward 5,	1890
James Thompson, Ward 3,	1891-92
E. W. H. Bass, Ward 1,	1893-94-95
C. M. Bryant, Ward 5,	1896-97
W. S. Pinkham, Ward 5,	1898
G. A. Sidelinger, Ward 2,	1899
C. M. Bryant, Ward 5,	1900-01
Charles Alden, Ward 6,	1902 03
Walter F. Nichols, Ward 5,	1904-05

Three of the nine presidents have been elevated to the office of Mayor of the city.

—Mayor-elect Fitzgerald of Boston, bears a charmed political life, never having been defeated for any office for which he has been a candidate.

☞Mr. Joseph F. Ryan has opened the Hair Dressing Parlor in the Johnson Building, 1382 Hancock Street, and would be pleased to see his patrons. 14-2t.

Dropped Dead At Fire Station

Thomas Cunniff, a well known resident of Atlantic, dropped dead Thursday evening in the station of Combination No. 2. Mr. Cunniff was formerly attached to this company and was at the station making a call.

He sat down on a bench to talk with some of the members when he fell over dead. He was 41 years of age and resided at 43 Charles street. He was unmarried.

Steam Trawler Off for Fish

The steam trawler Spray, built at the Fore River shipyard in this city sailed this morning from Boston on its maiden trip in command of Capt. Daniel Malone. The Spray is expected to revolutionize the fishing industry of New England.

The trawler has attracted hundreds of visitors while it has been at Commercial wharf of late. The vessel is full of novelties. Even to the storing of the ice for the packing of its fish the steam trawler is different. Schooner fishermen have stored their ice in the hold on leaving for the fishing grounds, in 200 and 300 pound cakes. There was considerable astonishment among fishermen on the dock Thursday when the ice for the steam trawler arrived all ground up ready to be thrown onto the fish as fast as they are dumped into the hold.

Capt. William Hood, an Englishman of 40 years' experience, who is on the steam trawler to show the fine points of working such a vessel, predicts success for the first trip of the Spray. A crew of 11 men has been recruited from former mates of Capt. Malone, some of the best fishermen who have handled a line. The Trawler has provisions for two weeks, although the first trip may not last more than a few days.

—It's pretty hard on the brave crew of lightship 58, after their terrible ordeal, to find they are out of a job and discharged.

—President Eliot of Harvard college says it is next to impossible to develop wealthy children from the habits of laziness.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The football season is over and there is nothing for the student to do for awhile but to study.

Governor Deneen of Illinois proposes to abolish all railway passes except to employees. This would still allow many members of Congress all the privileges of the railroads.

A New York man who advertised for a typewriter "the uglier the better" had four thousand replies by nine o'clock the next day. This shows how badly in need of work four thousand New York women are.

President Roosevelt's message is the longest one ever sent to Congress. It contained 28,000 words but it is supposed that it took that many to get all the way around the tariff without touching it.

The finances of the city of Holyoke on the municipal lighting, as shown in the decision of the Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Commissioners, were an eye opener for Quincy. Less than three years ago the city of Holyoke took possession of the gas and electric plant in that city, and has already expended over a million dollars. It is estimated that the operating expenses of the plant for 1906 will be about $200,000 to which must be added the interest and depreciation.

To purchase and operate the Quincy plants would probably cost about as much, but Quincy having a population of 28,076 where Holyoke has 49,934, the income would be much smaller, and Quincy would have to raise more by taxation and on a smaller valuation.

Townleys In Auto Accident

Washington, Dec. 15.—In an automobile accident in the outskirts of Washington Walter B. Townley, counsellor of the British embassy, sustained minor injuries, and his wife was knocked unconscious and badly bruised. At a turn of a road the brakes were applied suddenly, the machine slipped and overturned and the occupants were thrown out.

China Has Friend In Kaiser

London, Dec. 15.—According to the correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Tokio, the Chinese minister at Berlin has notified his government that Prince Von Buelow, the German imperial chancellor, told him that if the other powers should seize Chinese territory the Emperor of Germany would immediately come to the help of China.

Roosevelt Favors Whipping Post

Washington, Dec. 15.—A whipping post for the District of Columbia will be established if congress should enact a measure which Representative Adams (Pa.) has introduced. Adams talked to the president about the bill and quotes the president as being heartily in favor of the measure.

Not Very Evenly Matched

Knoxville, Dec. 15.—In a wrestling match, catch-as-catch-can style, here last night, Tom Frisbee, the North Carolina giant, defeated Billy Edwards of Portland, Or., claiming to be the champion of Canada. Frisbee weighed more than 300 pounds and Edwards but 185 pounds.

Another Riot at Lodz

Lodz, Dec. 15.—A band of roughs attacked Jewish shops and residences in Zielczna street. Fighting ensued, and 20 persons were wounded with knives or revolvers. Cossacks dispersed the rioters by firing a volley which resulted in the wounding of many more.

Start Made In Beef Trial

Chicago, Dec. 15.—Three jurors, two of whom are carpenters and one a real estate dealer from the interior of Illinois, have been accepted by both the government and the defendant packers' lawyers in the "beef trust" case now at bar.

"IN A TRANCE"

Present Feeling of Miss Roosevelt's Husband-to-Be

Washington, Dec. 15.—A flood of congratulations poured on Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, following the official announcement of his engagement to Miss Alice Roosevelt.

"The engagement isn't of very long standing," he said in answer to a question. "I knew I was engaged, but I did not know officially until the announcement. That's why I had to keep quiet about it."

"Did you plight your troth aboard the steamer returning from the Philippines?" Longworth was asked.

"I really don't know," he answered with a laugh. "I've been in what you might call a trance for so long that I am somewhat mixed up as to dates."

After the wedding in February Longworth said he and his bride would probably take a short trip, to be followed after the adjournment of congress with a European tour.

It is understood that the ceremony will take place in the East room, where Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, was married to Algernon Sartoris, May 21, 1874.

MORAN'S CRUSADE

Boston Saloons Held Illegal Liquor Licenses

EIGHT ARE CLOSED UP

Found to Have Been Nearer School houses Than the Law Allowed--Hotel Touraine Has No License and May Close Doors

Boston, Dec. 15.—The efforts of District Attorney Moran, the new prosecuting officer of Suffolk county, to obtain a more rigid enforcement of the liquor law in this city, resulted in the closing of eight saloons and the surrender or deposit of the liquor license issued to John R. Coleman, connected with the Hotel Touraine, and from whom the guests of that hotel have obtained liquor for the past seven or eight years.

The saloons, which were closed by order of the board of police commissioners on the ground that they were within 400 feet of a schoolhouse, were situated on Columbus avenue, near Roxbury crossing, and on Cambridge street, in the West End.

The license of the Hotel Touraine was surrendered, according to J. R. Whipple, the lessee of the property, but deposited, according to the statement of the police commissioner.

The police commissioners will keep the license which they renewed last May, pending an investigation on their own part as to whether the method employed by the hotel in obtaining liquor for its guests was a violation of the law relative to the proximity to a schoolhouse. A part of the liquor in Coleman's saloon was placed in storage and the guests at the hotel were unable to obtain any intoxicating beverage. The dining room last night, which a few weeks ago was crowded with a brilliant throng of football enthusiasts, was nearly deserted.

Counsel for Whipple states that every effort will be made to comply with the order received from the district attorney, but he refuses to say whether the closing of the hotel's liquor will result in the shutting of the doors of one of Boston's leading hostelries.

The police commissioners held a long session yesterday, but they made no effort to comply with the request received Wednesday afternoon from the district attorney to visit him in his office and respond to interrogations relative to the alleged violation of the law in the issuance of liquor licenses and by those already holding such documents.

It has also developed that the schoolhouse which is situated on Tremont street, within 400 feet of the Hotel Touraine, has two annex schools on Eliot street, which, if considered a part of the main institution, will compel the closing of 10 saloons within the restricted radius on that street. The police commissioners are also investigating this situation.

Where Great Strength Counted

Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 15.—Walter Cavanaugh, former center on the University of Chicago football team, became caught on the main shaft at the plant of the Simmons Manufacturing company. His great strength enabled him to brace himself against the ceiling and keep himself from being drawn into the shaft. He was able to hold out until his clothing was all torn off, and being thus released, he fell to the floor. No bones were broken, but the muscles were terribly strained.

Diplomats Must Be Trained

Paris, Dec. 15.—New regulations have been made whereby colonial officials must undergo thorough training before their appointment to responsible positions. These regulations are intended to prevent scandals in the colonial service similar to those which occurred in the French Congo, and which are said to have been caused through the inexperience of the younger functionaries.

SCOTT'S LETTERS

He Wants Them Ruled Out of Insurance Inquiry

"A SPIRIT OF REVENGE"

View of the Provident Society's President In Regard to Reporting His Relations With the Equitable--How He Bought Control of His Company

New York, Dec. 15.—During the insurance investigation Thursday Edward W. Scott, president of the Provident Savings Life Assurance society, made an earnest appeal to Chairman Armstrong of the investigating committee to exclude from the hearing certain statements bearing on his former relations with the Equitable Life Assurance society, of which he was at one time Australian agent.

Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, had asked Scott whether the Equitable society had not a claim of $100,000 against him. Scott at first declared that there was no such claim and then Hughes produced letters which passed between Scott and President Alexander on that subject in 1897, in which Alexander asked Scott to make a formal admission in writing that his accounts with the society, showing balances of $57,933 due the society, were accurate. In one letter Alexander wrote that Scott had accepted the accounts. Scott's letters to Alexander proposed a conference, but made no admissions as to the acceptance of the accounts.

When these letters had been read Scott made an earnest plea to the committee to rule that this subject is foreign to the investigation. He declared that he had been pursued by enemies for several years; that in 1900 he caused the arrest and indictment of a man who had engaged with the Equitable Life Assurance society to deliver to it records stolen from the Provident Savings Life Assurance society; that a traitorous bookkeeper who was in league with this man was dismissed from the Provident society's employ, and that it was in connection with these matters that his (Scott's) relations with the Equitable were reported to the committee and in a spirit of revenge.

Though Hughes did not uncover just what the Equitable society's claim against Scott was based on, he brought out from him the statement that the Equitable society had made such a claim upon him and that Scott refused to settle it.

Another incident in the testimony of Scott was his statement when he bought control of the Provident Savings Life Assurance society's stock he used $25,000 which had been lent by that company to two of its agents in order to enable him to buy 100 shares of its stock. They did not buy the stock and Scott said he took over the loan and delivered to the society a promise to turn over to it 100 shares of its stock when he gets the stock. It is now held by a trust company to whom he still owes $50,000 which he borrowed to buy it.

Exploding Boiler's Queer Journey

Kingston, N. Y., Dec. 15.—An exploding boiler in the tannery of Roach Bros. wrecked a building 300 feet away and only slightly damaged the boiler house from which the three-ton mass of metal was hurled. The boiler went through the side of the tannery, over the top of a five-story building and landed on the roof of the Weston building, crashing through to the floor, carrying away a large portion of the front wall. Three persons were in the room where the boiler landed, but all escaped serious injury.

Hartford, Dec. 15.—At a meeting of the New England Tobacco Growers' association here the proposed removal of duty on tobacco from the Philippines was discussed. E. N. Phelps and J. H. Pierce, two of the largest growers in the state, were delegated to go to Washington and appear before the proper congressional committee to oppose the removal of the duty on tobacco.

Two Middies Forfeit Positions For Hazing

CAMPAIGN AT ACADEMY

Navy Department Determined to Punish Violations of Rules--Culprits Unlikely to Receive Clemency at President's Hands

Washington, Dec. 15.—Hazing of every kind, it is announced, will be stamped out of the naval academy, regardless of the number of dismissals from the brigade of midshipmen necessary to bring about this result. Two midshipmen will be dismissed from the academy within a few days by the secretary of the navy, the one for hazing and the other for countenancing it by failure while on duty to report its occurrence. Other dismissals will follow as often as midshipmen are found guilty of hazing or countenancing it.

Aroused by the condition of affairs which reports show to exist at the academy, so far as the treatment of fourth-class men is concerned, Secretary Bonaparte last evening telephoned to Superintendent Sands of the academy a request to come to Washington as soon as possible for a conference. This will be the initial step in a new and vigorous campaign to be waged at Annapolis against hazing. Congressional investigation of the conditions at the academy has already been proposed in a resolution introduced in the house yesterday afternoon by Representative Loud of Michigan.

Secretary Bonaparte received an official report from Admiral Sands announcing the suspension of Midshipman Coffin, third-class man, for hazing Midshipman Kimbrough, fourth-class man, by forcing him to stand on his head until he became unconscious, and of Midshipman Vanderveer, second-class man, because while on duty he observed the occurrence and failed to report it. Sands called attention to the fact that Coffin and Vanderveer were guilty of violating a regulation for the government of the naval academy and recommended their summary dismissal in accordance with an act of congress approved March 3, 1903.

That act provides that the superintendent of the naval academy shall make such rules, to be approved by the secretary of the navy, as will effectually prevent the practice of hazing, and any cadet found guilty of participating in or encouraging or countenancing such practice shall be summarily expelled from the academy and shall not thereafter be reappointed to the corps of cadets or be eligible for appointment as a commissioned officer in the army or navy or marine corps until two years after the graduation of the class of which he was a member.

Secretary Bonaparte had a conference with Rear Admiral Converse and a plan of campaign was mapped out. It was first decided that the law was mandatory and that the recommendation of the superintendent would soon be approved and the two cadets summarily expelled. Meantime, however, Bonaparte wishes to obtain from the attorney general an opinion regarding certain phases of the cases which, while exceedingly important, will not affect, it is understood, his final action approving the recommendation for summary expulsion.

No secret was made at the navy department of the determination of the officials to make short shrift of hazing, "running" and all such practices at the academy. In connection with the court martial of Midshipman Meriwether for his participation in a fist fight with the late Midshipman Branch, soon after the latter died, Bonaparte has made a thorough preliminary study of affairs at the academy. He has already been informed of the continuance of hazing at Annapolis and he had evidence that it had been carried on for a long time under the name of "running." Admiral Sands assumed the superintendency of the academy last July. The department has promised him its full support in his efforts to eradicate hazing and other bad features of midshipman life.

If necessary, it is understood, the president will be appealed to to veto any bill that may be passed by congress providing for the reinstatement of a midshipman expelled for hazing or countenancing it. Three midshipmen were reinstated in the navy by special acts of congress, passed during the last session, after having been expelled from the naval academy for hazing. They were required to stand a special examination, but suffered no other penalty.

Hazing Was Most Brutal

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 15.—Midshipman Kimbrough is reported as rapidly gaining strength and in no danger. It is stated in official quarters that the hazing of Kimbrough was even more brutal than was at first supposed, more dangerous in its natural results and more blameworthy in its origin. He was hazed because he testified under compulsion before the investigating board and implicated some upper classmen. It is said that threats were made to kill him. The academy authorities state that if Kimbrough had not received proper attention he would probably have died.

Midshipman Cooper, whose right side and vocal organs became suddenly paralyzed in the classroom Wednesday, is in the academy hospital. He declares that he was not hazed, but the academy authorities are investigating the case.

THE VARNEY TRAGEDY

Neighbor Brooded Over It and Slashed Himself With Razor

Kezar Falls, Me., Dec. 15.—After dwelling upon the recent murder and robbery of his friend and neighbor, David Varney, and brooding over his testimony at the coroner's inquest, at which he identified a shotgun and dinner pail, found back of Varney's barn, as the property of Wesley Chick, who is confined in jail, awaiting a trial on the charge of murder, Melvin Douglass, aged 50, last night attempted suicide with a razor.

He was found by his wife lying in a pool of blood on his barn floor. An artery was severed half way between the elbow and wrist on one arm, and an opening was cut in his windpipe. He had lost much blood and a physician stated that internal bleeding probably would cause death.

Douglas was in a semi-conscious condition when found and when asked if there had been any one about the place shook his head to indicate a negative answer. A razor owned by Douglass was found behind a wagon at one side of the barn, where he is supposed to have done the cutting. From there he crawled to the centre of the barn floor and became exhausted.

In Congress

Washington, Dec. 15.—The senate spent four hours in discussing the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill and when it adjourned the bill was still under consideration. There were set speeches by Messrs. Teller, Scott and Morgan, and they were followed by a general debate which took up the questions of salaries, the control of the Panama railroad and the necessity for general legislation on the canal subject. All indicated that they would support the supply measures, however.

Debate on the recommendation in the president's annual message regarding insurance regulation occupied the house again without a conclusion. The pending resolution refers the question to the ways and means committee.

Historic House Bought by Patriots

Philadelphia, Dec. 15.—The little two-story brick structure at 239 Arch street, where Betsy Ross designed the American flag, has been purchased for the government. Final payment on the property was made yesterday. There are 1,000,000 stockholders of the property living in every state in the union. Shares were sold at 10 cents apiece. The historic house will be turned over to the federal government on June 14, the anniversary of the "birth" of the American flag. The purchase price of the house was $25,000.

A Most Atrocious Crime

St. Petersburg, Dec. 15.—August Von Hennings, a member of the Baltic nobility and assistant chief of his district, was murdered at his residence near Riga by a revolutionary band. Two dragoons who were detailed to guard the residence also were killed. The revolutionaries demanded that Von Hennings give up his sword. On refusing to do so, the revolutionaries shot him. Subsequently his head was hacked off and his body cut to pieces and fed to dogs.

Terrorizing Syrians

New Haven, Dec. 15.—Syrian residents of this city are alarmed by frequent visits made by a man believed to be Ellis Rogers, who is said to be a member of a Syrian secret religious society. They claim Rogers terrorizes them by threats of violence unless they conform to certain religious views which his society upholds, and they have appealed to the police for protection. All are Greek Catholics. The police last night procured a warrant for Rogers' arrest.

Effort to Escape Imprisonment

Paris, Dec. 15.—Application for executive clemency has been made by E. F. Shepard of New York, who was sentenced to three months' imprisonment and $120 fine and to pay $4000 damages to the parents of Madeleine Marduel, who was killed by Shepard's automobile. The purpose of the application is to have a fine substituted for the imprisonment. Premier Rouvier has referred the application to the ministry of justice.

Pushing Rebate Prosecutions

Philadelphia, Dec. 15.—Eight indictments were returned by the federal grand jury against seven shippers, freight agents and common carriers in the rebate cases brought to the attention of the grand jury by District Attorney Thompson, who expresses satisfaction with the progress of the prosecutions and says he will push the cases for trial in February or March.

Inspectors' Acts Questioned

New York, Dec. 15.—William R. Hearst's legal campaign to recount the ballots in New York's recent mayoralty election has been extended to include the acts of many election inspectors. An order to show cause why these inspectors should not appear before the board of election canvassers and correct errors has been signed by Supreme Court Justice Stover.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The pier and freight sheds of the Washington county railroad at Eastport, Me., together with a large quantity of freight, were burned. The loss is about $30,000. The fire is supposed to have been caused by an overheated stove in the office of the sheds.

Rev. George H. McKnight, D. D., rector of Trinity church at Elmira, N. Y., since 1869, died in that city, aged 84. He was an authority in ecclesiastical matters and a constant contributor to religious publications.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

It was on Dec. 20 last year that the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium was opened.

The M. E. church at West Quincy was dedicated 31 years ago today—Dec. 15, 1874.

History says that Quincy had temperature twenty degrees below zero on Dec. 16 seventy years ago.

Several new houses are going up on desirable lots within a few minutes walk of the Wollaston station.

At the dance in Quincy Music Hall Saturday night the first 100 ladies appearing will receive green pinks.

H. O. Parker reports the sale of the house lot at the corner of Faxon road and Edwin street. The new owner will build.

There is excellent skating at the rink on Brook street, Wollaston. Many skaters go there every day and hotly contested hockey games are played.

The show windows about town are so beautiful that one almost wishes it were the Christmas season all the year round. Some exceptionally pretty ones are noticed.

The game of basket ball scheduled for Thursday night, at the Quincy Y. M. C. A. with Chelsea was not played, the latter team having been dropped from the league.

It has been reported to the police that parties unkown entered the hen house of Moses Swartz on Gilbert street Wednesday night and carried off a dozen or more chickens.

The leveling of the hill opposite Music hall on Botolph street, has already improved the appearance of that corner. A new school building will add the necessary touch both in regard to looks and for convenience.

Friends of Harry H. Moody, the captain of the Quincy High foot ball team, have entered him at the foot of the list in the Globe scholarship contest, but there will be an organized effort to reach the goal. Quincy to win however must unite on one candidate.

Mr. Richard Stevens, a graduate from and a teacher at the New England Conservatory of Music, also a pupil of Dennee, is to play at the concert Saturday evening at the Quincy Women's club house, bringing with him one of Henry F. Miller & Son's grand pianos.

The show windows of F. D. Fellows & Co. store in City square contains reminders of acceptable gifts for husband, son, brother or best fellow. One window is devoted to handerkerchiefs and neck wear while the other has seasonable clothing.

A stranger who passes through Atlantic every day on the train made the remark to a resident that one thing about the town he had noticed was its constant industry. He said if men were not at work digging up the street for the Squantum car, they were patching up the car for the street.

The show windows of the men's furnishing store of George W. Jones in the Adams building look very attractive, especially at night, when illuminated. The color scheme is red, and crepe paper is used with good taste. This color makes a good background for the display. One window is devoted to foot wear, and the other to gentlemen's furnishings. Numerous electric lights with fancy shades are used in the decoration.

Death of Former Resident.

Captain Benjamin R. Redman, formerly a well known resident of Atlantic, died at Dedham at the home of his son, Ralph, on Wednesday of this week. Captain Redman was a public spirited man and while he made his home in Atlantic, took active interest in local affairs. The residents, nearly all of whom remember him well, offer their sympathy to his son, and a tribute of respectful reverence to the memory of his father.

—Boston & Northern cars now run through from Sullivan square Elevated station in Boston to Lowell via Wakefield and Reading without change. Work on the large sewer by the city of Lowell has interfered with this service, but it is now complete.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued case of Domenico Nazzarino, for assault with a dangerous weapon at Quincy, was heard. He was sentenced to six months in the house of correction, but appealed and was held in $500.

President,—Mrs. E. Frank Mitchell.
Vice-President,—Victor Richardson.
Secretary and treasurer,—Charles Chase.

Executive Committee,—J. F. Gleason, Mrs. Elmer E. Munroe, John E. Lindsay, Mrs. Blanche Richardson, Mark Gordon and Miss Maud Hickey.

The program for the evening was in charge of E. E. Munroe. Grace Turner and Nina Gage of South Braintree added greatly to the entertainment by the rendering of several fine vocal solos.

During the evening the company were much amused to see an elephant come into the room and march around keeping perfect time to music. Slips of paper were given to each to guess his weight. Miss Grace Turner received a handsome box of stationery for guessing the weight correctly and Mrs. M. E. Greene was awarded the consolation prize.

Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee and cake, doughnuts and cheese, were served. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing.

The proceeds are to be used for a charitable purpose.

To Be Tried in January

Boston, Dec. 15.—Mary Hunt, alias Roberts, alias Mabel Howard, the alleged wife of William Hunt, now serving a six or seven years' term in state prison for his connection with the Susan E. Geary case, who was arrested, charged with being a fugitive from justice and wanted in Philadelphia on the charge of having performed an illegal operation, was in the municipal court and the case was continued until Jan. 10, the defendant being held in $5000 bonds.

Big Problem For France

Paris, Dec. 15.—The abolition of the concordat, following the separation of church and state, involves an extensive change in the existing conditions under which the state carries on thousands of churches, paying the salaries of bishops and priests, and conducting the entire administrative machinery of the religious system. A committee appointed by the minister of public worship has begun to study the change from the old to the new system.

Probable Demands of Miners

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 15.—The tri-district convention of the United Mine Workers of the anthracite coal field opened here with 695 delegates in attendance, representing 108,500 union men. Delegates feel little doubt but that a demand for an eight-hour day and recognition of the union will be incorporated in the report of the committee, along with an increase of wages from 10 to 20 percent.

Hunting Fatalities In Maine

Portland, Me., Dec. 15.—An official record of shooting accidents in Maine during the hunting season, beginning Sept. 20, shows that there have been seven fatal accidents and 12 minor casualties. One fatality and four accidents were assigned to the persons being mistaken for deer and four accidents were due to the careless passing of guns in canoes and boats.

A Lodging House Tragedy

Boston, Dec. 15.—The ejectment from a South End lodging house of a man who has not been identified resulted in the arrest of John H. Norton, the proprietor of the lodging house, who is held pending an investigation into the affair. The man was found at the foot of the stairs of the house and was removed to a hospital, where he died within a few hours.

Fatal Accident to Hunter

Calais, Me., Dec. 15.—The body of Arthur Frost, aged 18, was found in the woods three miles from his home with gunshot wounds in the breast. The wounds are believed to have been inflicted by the accidental discharge of his gun while hunting rabbits. Coroner Johnson deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Heavy Failure In Vermont

Brattleboro, Vt., Dec. 15.—Charles H. Thompson has filed a petition in bankruptcy, naming his liabilities at $101,000 and assets at $18,000. Up to two years ago Thompson was a teller at the Vermont National bank here, and since that time has been president of a local hosiery manufacturing company.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

A New Departure.

Swell front brick houses, which were so graceful and distinctive a feature of Boston's beauty, fifty years ago; are again coming into vogue, and the Dorchester district is being favored by the builders in this manner, considerably.

Henry B. Blackwell will at once proceed to erect on Walker place, off Prospect street, Atlantic, a block of three houses of this character; the block will be of brick with freestone trimmings; two stories in height; granolithic approach; providing seven rooms and a bath for each house, with separate yards; the entire structure covering forty-nine by fifty-four feet, and facing south. It will be remembered that Mr. Blackwell made especial effort to induce the city government to extend Walker street from Newbury avenue to Prospect street; he believes in Atlantic progress.

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

The course was planned by the Domestic Science committee of the club, and there were four lectures. The tickets were fifty cents for members; seventy-five for non-members and each was provided with a note book and pencil so that the suggestions and recipes would not be forgotten. The lectures were popular and helpful because they were exceedingly practical, with suggestions as to the labor saving devices, etc. Mrs. James D. Portland Man Seriously Shot

Portland, Me., Dec. 15.—Frank Sangie was attacked on a street here late last night and shot in two places. One bullet penetrated his body below the right shoulder and inflicted a serious wound. The second bullet struck Sangie's ear. Sangie declared that his brother-in-law, Thomas Doherty, was his assailant. Family troubles are said to have led to the shooting. The injured man is in a critical condition. The police, after a protracted search, found Doherty and arrested him.

The Louisiana's Fine Performance

Boston, Dec. 15.—The battleship Louisiana considerably exceeded her contract requirement of 18 knots an hour in her four-hour endurance run along the New England coast yesterday, an average speed of 18.823 knots an hour being maintained through the revolutions of her propellors at the rate of 127.6 a minute. The run was without special incident except for the almost perfect coal consumption of her boilers.

Two Men Killed In Trench

Canaan, Conn., Dec. 15.—By the caving in of a trench which is being constructed for the Borden Condensed Milk company plant here, William McCormick, 18, and Ernest Weaver, 19, were killed and five others narrowly escaped injury. They were working at the bottom of a ditch about 20 feet deep when the sides caved in and they were buried under a mass of rock and dirt.

Couple Killed by Gas

New Haven, Dec. 15.—John E. Rohan, 78, and his wife, 37, were found dead in bed last night at their home in this city. Asphyxiation was the cause of death. Rohan's wife came from Bristol, R. I., where he married her about four months ago. Medical Examiner Bartlett said he believed death in both cases was due to an accident in leaving the gas jet open.

Children Played With Matches

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 15.—During a fire in Barr's block Mary Manino, 7 years old, was burned to death, and Charles Manino, 2 years old, was fatally burned. The fire occurred in the apartments of Mrs. Manino, who left the children in the house while she went shopping. It is believed that the children playing with matches started the fire.

Think They Are Underpaid

Lewiston, Me., Dec. 15.—The cutters in the shoe factories of Auburn and this city have requested the manufacturers to grant an advance in wages. The cutters claim that their wages amount to from $13.50 to $15 a week, while in other New England cities from $16.50 to $21 is paid for a nine-hour day, against 10 hours here.

Joy Turned to Gloom

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 16.—As she waltzed around among her classmates upon the arm of a young friend in the Newtowne club hall last night, Harriett W. Webb, 17, was taken suddenly ill, fainted and expired without a word of warning to any of those about her. From a happy dance, that of the class of 1905-1906, Cambridge English High school, the occasion became a scene of sorrow.

GOT HIS HAIR BACK.

Was Perfectly Bald When He Started to Use Newbro's Herpicide.

Frederick Manuell, Maryland block, Butte, Montana, bought a bottle of Newbro's Herpicide, April 6, '99, and began to use it for entire baldness. The hair follicles in his scalp were not dead and in 20 days he had hair all over his head. On July 2 he writes, "and today my hair is as thick and luxuriant as any one could wish." Newbro's Herpicide works on an old principle and with a new discovery—destroy the cause and you remove the effect. Herpicide destroys the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair, and finally baldness, so that with the cause gone the effect cannot remain. Stops falling hair at once and a new growth starts. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

HARRIMAN'S TEST

Wanted Hyde Stock to See If Ryan's Motive Was Pure

INFLUENCE WITH ODELL

Railroad Man Is Not Certain Whether He Said He Would Use It as a Warning to Ryan--Planned to Watch Legislation

New York, Dec. 16.—Another chapter has been added to the chronicles of a series of what Thomas F. Ryan called "strenuous" interviews between himself and E. H. Harriman.

Mr. Ryan gave his version of the conversation to the committee a few days ago when he said that Harriman, at the time of the acquisition of the James H. Hyde stock, demanded an equal share of the Hyde stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society, and threatened to use his political influence against him if he did not surrender it. Yesterday Harriman recited to the committee his version of the affair and added some interesting statements affecting his relations with former Governor Odell, chairman of the Republican state committee, and as to a request to watch legislation affecting the Equitable society which he had made upon Governor Higgins and the late S. F. Nixon, speaker of the New York state assembly.

In substance, Harriman stated to the committee that when Ryan bought the Hyde stock, carrying control of the Equitable society, he asked Harriman to co-operate with him in saving the property; that Harriman agreed to do so if satisfied that Ryan was acting upon pure and unselfish motives; that Ryan did not satisfy him as to the purity of his motive, and that Harriman notified him that he would use his influence against him.

The test which Harriman said he applied to determine Ryan's purity of motive was an offer to take one half the Hyde stock and to name two trustees of the society. Ryan refused to agree to that. Harriman testified that Ryan ought to have assumed that he (Harriman) would use his political influence against him. He was not certain whether he said anything about legislative action as a warning to Ryan, but declared that he had nothing to do with starting the present insurance investigation.

Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, informed Harriman that it had been charged that he got his political influence through his relation with Odell. Harriman said: "Well, I should think Mr. Odell had political influence because of his relations with me." Laughter followed the remark. Later Harriman said to a press representative that the remark was meant in a jocular sense.

Mr. Harriman declared to the committee that he did not confer with Odell about the advisability of legislative action and that he had not yet taken any action to thwart Ryan's plans.

Last spring, Harriman said, when the management of the Equitable Life Assurance society was divided into two factions, one headed by President Alexander, and the other by James H. Hyde, an attempt was made by the Alexander faction to induce the legislature to mutualize the society. Harriman said he asked members of the legislature to watch out for any legislation favorable to the Alexander faction and to report to him if it appeared. He was averse to disclosing the names of the men to whom he made this request and only consented to do so after repeated urging on the part of Messrs. Armstrong and Hughes, and after he had been allowed to consult with his counsel. He then stated that it was Governor Higgins and Speaker Nixon whom he had asked to watch out for the Alexander legislation. He added that no such legislation was introduced and that he took no steps through Higgins and Nixon to prevent it.

Senator Armmstrong stated last night that just before finishing the investigation, about Dec. 30, the committee may go to Albany to examine the state insurance department, holding sittings at the capitol.

Decision Not Satisfactory

Brockton, Mass., Dec. 16.—At a meeting of the Brockton Joint Shoe council it was voted to make an attempt to settle the difficulty at the factory of E. E. Taylor & Co. The council adopted a resolution condemning the decision of the state board of conciliation and arbitration which recently fixed the wages for operators of "pulling-over" machines at the Taylor factory.

Fishermen's Launch Foundered

Rockland, Me., Dec. 16.—The revenue cutter Woodbury rescued four fishermen from Great Duck island, where they were marooned by the foundering of their gasoline launch. Their vessel sprung aleak in a heavy sea and sank. The men escaped in a dory and landed on the island. The Woodbury took the men to their homes at Southwest Harbor.

End of Fishery Patrol

St. Johns, Dec. 16.—The British warship Latona, which has been stationed at Bay of Islands on fishery patrol duty, has been ordered to proceed to Halifax. This action is taken to indicate that the fishery quarrels are ended.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Dec. 16.—The city council has formally prohibited the playing of football here until the game has been radically modified.

A GENERAL ADVANCE

Happy New Year For Many New England Mill Operatives

Boston, Dec. 15.—Independent woolen manufacturers in this state, Rhode Island and Connecticut, employing about 5000 operatives, announce that they will follow the action of the American Woolen company, which recently decided to advance the wages of the 30,000 hands in its 30 mills 10 percent on Jan. 1. It is expected that other manufacturers, which usually follow the wage schedule of the combine, will adopt the new scale on New Year's day.

Notices announcing the advance have been posted in the mills of the Farr Alpaca company of Holyoke, employing 1700 persons; Coronet Worsted mills of Mapleville, R. I.; Wickford (R. I.) Worsted mills; Plainfield (R. I.) Woolen mills, and Central Yarn mills of Central Village, Conn., all employing about 1000 hands. The Leominster Worsted company of Leominster, Mass., has also given notice of the increase to its 200 operatives.

The Centredale Worsted company, which owns mills in Centredale, Stillwater and Manton, R. I., posted notices today granting the 10 percent advance. The company employs 350 hands. The Saxonville Mills company of South Framingham, Mass., employing 600 hands, and several other independent concerns announce that they will follow the action of the American Woolen company.

$20,000 In Securities Astray

Leominster, Mass., Dec. 16.—From information sent out from this city to the financial centres at Boston and New York it is learned that Francis A. Whitney, president of the Massachusetts Shirt company of this place, has missed $20,000 in securities, which he believes have been stolen. Whitney, when he first gave notice of his loss, said that he took a box containing the securities out of a vault in the Leominster Deposit company. The further movements of the box Whitney did not make public.

Surprise For Almshouse Officials

Newton, Mass., Dec. 16.—Chairman Fowle of the overseers of the poor was surprised by the receipt of a certified check for $4300 in payment for the board at the almshouse of Ada Bridges. This is to reimburse the city at the rate of $3.50 a week for the woman's board for 23 years. The check was from a wealthy relative. The overseers declined to make his name public. Miss Bridges is now 62 years old. She comes from one of the oldest and wealthiest families in Newton.

Vermont Town Hard Hit

Pownal, Vt., Dec. 16.—Two employes were seriously injured and the lives of about 80 others were endangered during a fire which burned to the ground the four-story mill of the Wright Health Underwear company of this town. There was a panic among the mill hands and several jumped from the windows. The loss is $100,000. The mill was the town's only industrial plant. Many acts of heroism were performed in the saving of life.

Politician Has "Murder Plot"

Boston, Dec. 16.—The latest to declare a murder plot against him because of his political affiliations is Nathan Barnett, a West End politician and bail commissioner. He appeared before Justice Bolster in the municipal court and warned him that he was carrying a revolver as a protection. Barnett says that because of his support of Fitzgerald during the campaign he has been subjected to many threats by his political opponents.

Objectionable Foreman Discharged

Hardwick, Vt., Dec. 16.—Through a settlement of the controversy between the Granite Cutters' union and their employers 350 granite cutters returned to their work this morning after having been idle for 10 days. Because of alleged ill-treatment by a foreman, several union men struck two weeks ago, and the Manufacturers' association later declared a lockout. The manufacturers agreed to discharge the objectionable foreman.

Guilty of Incendiarism

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 16.—In the superior criminal court Leonard E. Coulter pleaded guilty to setting fire to his house in Wakefield. He will be sentenced next week. A week before the fire Coulter had increased his insurance on his house and furniture by $1000 on each, making a total of $5500. In the lower court Coulter pleaded not guilty, but retracted his plea yesterday.

Chinaman Adjudged Insane

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 16.—Yee Wah, a Chinese laundryman, was committed to the Worcester insane hospital by Judge Gaskill. Yee Wah shot and seriously wounded Annie Mulhern, 10 years old, and slashed John J. Jessop with a butcher's cleaver. The Chinaman was arrested on the charge of assault with intent to kill, but he was adjudged insane.

Public Bequests of $450,000

Boston, Dec. 16.—Public bequests amounting to $450,000 are provided in the will of Mrs. Helen G. Coburn of this city, just filed in the probate office. Mrs. Coburn was the widow of the late George W. Coburn. Her private bequests amount to $727,200. Her brother, Joseph W. Smith of Andover, is the nearest relative to survive her.

Coroner Asked to Investigate

Kezar Falls, Me., Dec. 16.—Melvin Douglass, an important witness in the Varney murder case, died from the effects of wounds believed to have been self-inflicted. Although a physician and deputy sheriff decided the wounds were self-inflicted, there is much excitement in town and Coroner Wheeler has been asked to investigate.

CHRISTMAS AT SANDRINGHAM

How the Royal Family of Great Britain Celebrates.

The royal family of Great Britain keeps up Christmas at Sandringham in a right royal and old fashioned way.

Tasteful decorations with holly and mistletoe abound everywhere. Every one comes down to the dining room, where breakfast is taken en famille. Every one has presents for some one else. All the servants and tenants are remembered, so that there are many happy hearts on Christmas morning. Substantial joints, geese and turkeys, with other good things, have a delightful way of turning up at the very houses where they are most wanted.

After breakfast the royal family and guests and the ladies and gentlemen of the household go on a tour of inspection to view the decorations, and then, provided the weather is fine, they walk to church, which, of course, has been tastefully adorned in appropriate and approved Christmas fashion. On the entry of the king and queen the congregation rises—that is the only formality observed. The king's domestic chaplain takes the service—a bright choral service, with Christmas hymns and an anthem.

Then comes luncheon—which is the children's dinner—attended by the king and queen and other members of the family. The Christmas pudding is brought in, blazing up merrily, to the intense delight of the little princes and princesses.

The late afternoon is the most exciting time for the juniors. The doors of a certain room have been kept rigorously fastened since the previous evening, her majesty and other members of her family having duly dressed a large Christmas tree therein. The door is opened, and the whole party troops in, while the royal children evince the greatest delight at the Christmas tree ablaze with lights and weighed down with presents. Afterward all sorts of games are entered into with a heartiness and zest that must surely appeal to every one.

Dinner comes along at 8:45, to which all guests staying in the house and many of the household are invited by the king. The king and queen and guests assemble in the drawing room first, and then a procession is formed, led, of course, by their majesties, who are followed in order of precedence by the others. The tables are laid in the grand salon. The guests are seated at small oval tables, the king and queen sitting opposite each other at one, and are waited on by special footmen. Boar's head, baron of beef and plum pudding are the staple dishes of the royal Christmas dinner.

After dinner there may be a dance or a command performance in the state ballroom, the walls of which are decorated by gorgeous Indian trophies presented to his majesty when he visited that country.—Pictorial Magazine.

The Universal Desire.

She was superbly dressed in the pinnacle of fashion and would have been beautiful but for a certain stern, businesslike expression that rather marred the sweetness of her face.

First looking up and down, she darted swiftly into a narrow passageway and was soon knocking at a door emblazoned with the legend: "Signor Oleo Margerino. Clairvoyant. Future Foretold."

The door opened.

"Where is the signor?" she nervously demanded.

"In bed, mum."

"Horrors! What's the matter with him?"

"Nervous prostration, brought on by overwork."

"Overwork?"

"Yes, mum. Since September he's been busy peerin' into de future fer people wot wanted ter know de value uv Christmus presents dey wuz goin' to get so's they'd know how much ter spend on theirs."

Stifling a shriek of despair, she sped away on the hunt for some other clairvoyant.—New York Herald.

A Topsy Turvy Party.

A topsy turvy party is good fun at Christmas. Everything is done at this party "the other way around." For instance, a very small Christmas tree is fastened to the ceiling upside down. On the floor a number of packages should be laid. In the packages you must be sure to have the topsy turvy scheme. In all those intended for the girls you should put only such things as boys like or use, and the older the guest the simpler should the toys be. The next thing in this topsy turvy party after the distribution of the packages is to have some one enter the room dressed as Santa Claus with an empty basket on his back or in his hand, but instead of giving each person a present he must demand one from each person. Later on in the evening the guests play a game of forfeits, when they have a chance of getting back their gifts.

A Few Christmas Don'ts.

Don't fuss, don't hurry, don't worry, don't fret. Christmas has come and gone many times and will come and go again. Don't do one single thing, then, for at least two weeks that will jar you into forgetting that it was the birthday of peace and good will.—Philadelphia Record.

Christmas at the North Pole.

The candles burn on the Christmas tree;
They burn with a ruddy flame,
And the little Eskimo looks with glee
Upon picture book and game.

He dances in ecstasies of delight,
And he claps his hands for joy
And then climbs into the branches bright,
Where jingles the rosy toy.

Then with an expression of peace supreme
And a twinkle of heartfelt fun
The candles he plucks in a lotos dream
And gobbles them one by one.

FOR TOM'S SAKE

A Tree Which Bore Good Fruit

By OTHO B. SENGA

[Copyright, 1904, by Otho B. Senga.]

ALMOST wonderful and gorgeous Christmas tree stood in the window of the great store of Warden & Joyce. All day a constantly changing throng of small admirers exclaimed at its magnificence and registered extravagant wishes before it.

Children richly clad and full of joyous anticipations, children in comfortless rags, who knew Christmas only by the sight of the happiness of others, stood side by side and gazed with longing eyes at the bewildering array of costly gifts and brilliant decorations.

A small girl of twelve or fourteen, with face unnaturally old and sharp, unsmiling eyes, critically examined the tree in silence. Up and down, from side to side, her keen gaze wandered.

"I bet it's empty at the back," she finally muttered.

Poor child! Her brief experience had already taught her the unreality and falsity of many glittering things. She stepped quickly into the vestibule where she could see that part of the tree away from the window. A sudden joy flashed into her face.

"It's true—that tree is true," she whispered eagerly. "The back is as good as the front."

She hesitated an instant and then raised her clasped hands beseechingly.

"God," she cried, "send me a tree for Tommy!"

Her intense longing made her voice sharply imperative, and the first word struck harshly on the ear of a richly dressed young lady who was passing close to her.

"You mustn't swear, child!" she exclaimed hurriedly.

"I wasn't swearing," the girl answered calmly, without resentment. "I was praying for a tree for Tommy."

An elegant carriage waited at the curb, and as the young lady stepped to the sidewalk the footman threw open the door. She stood for an instant, as if thinking, and then, turning quickly, she went back into the vestibule, where the child was still standing.

"Will you come with me a minute? Out of the crowd," she added hastily as the girl faced her with surprised eyes and an unchildlike, repelling look on her thin face.

"Will you step into the carriage? Please do. I want you to tell me something, and it is so very cold"—

The girl seated herself on the luxurious cushions, the young lady followed, and the inwardly disgusted footman closed the door.

"Will you tell me your name and where you live?" the lady questioned gently.

The child regarded her earnestly.

"Depends on who you are and what you want. You ain't a charity worker nor a slum visitor?"

The young lady smiled understandingly.

"My name is Margaret Stanhope, and I live on Commonwealth avenue. You—you spoke of Tommy."

The girl's face softened.

"Yes; he's my brother. My name is Maggie Taylor, and I live on Burnham street," adding with a return of her former manner, "but it ain't a slum street, and I don't want no charity."

Miss Stanhope smiled radiantly.

"But I do, Maggie. I am so glad our names are the same. I need just what you do not—charity. Tell me something about Tommy." She lingered lovingly over the name. "Why did you pray for a tree for him?"

"Because he's sick. He's only twelve, and he works in an office, and his boss is away, and Tommy took sick after he'd gone. Tommy feels sure that if he was here he'd send his wages to him just the same, for he's a good boss and awfully kind to everybody, but the other man—his pardner—is different."

"Maggie," said Miss Stanhope earnestly, "I wish you'd help me to have a happy Christmas. I am all alone in the world, without any one to care for me, and I want to do something for some one—for some one named Tommy, because—because six months ago I did a wrong and cruel thing to some one by that name. It would help make my Christmas happy if you would let me arrange a tree for your Tommy. Will you?"

The girl drew a long breath.

"It ain't charity?" she asked doubtfully.

"Not to you nor to Tommy," answered Miss Stanhope joyously, "but it will be to me."

"For Tommy's sake," murmured the girl assentingly.

"For Tom's sake," echoed Miss Stanhope tenderly.

The unbending footman was still more disgusted when he was directed to make another round of the stores, and his bearing was absolutely frigid when he was required to carry a most unbecoming load of bundles up the stairs to the little home on Burnham street. That the indignity of a good sized tree was laid upon him also required the concentration of all his thoughts upon the generous wages Miss Stanhope paid to enable him to endure the present situation.

"I keep house for father and Tommy," whispered Maggie, leading the way. "Tommy's in the kitchen. I left him there in the big chair 'cause it's warmer. We'll take all these things in here"—opening the door of a neat sitting room—"and when we get the tree fixed I'll push him in in the chair."

Surely never before was a tree so quickly made to blossom and bring forth fruit, and it was a "true" tree, with gifts on every side.

Maggie surveyed it with joyful pride, her thin face losing its careworn look and becoming almost childlike with the flush of happy excitement.

"Miss Stanhope," she whispered positively, "prayers are answered—I know it now."

Always, in the way he thinks best," answered Miss Stanhope earnestly, adding in her heart, "Lord, I believe—help thou mine unbelief!"

"I'll bring Tommy in now," Maggie said, and went softly out to the kitchen.

She returned almost immediately.

"His boss is there!" she exclaimed excitedly. "He got back yesterday. Ain't he awfully good to come so soon to see Tommy? Tommy looks better already! The boss 'll push him in."

They both turned toward the door as it was opened, and a big armchair with the sick boy in it was pushed carefully over the threshold.

Miss Stanhope gave one look at the tall man behind the chair and started forward.

"This is Tommy's boss," began Maggie, mindful of her duties as hostess, but the greeting of her two guests quite disconcerted her, for Tommy's boss caught the aristocratic Miss Stanhope in a close embrace, while Miss Stanhope cried penitently, "Oh, Tom, Tom, I have been so sorry, and I have wanted you so!"

The Origin of Santa Claus.

Santa Claus is of German origin. This is true if only because that is the German name for St. Nicholas. That he is an old man is because in the ancient pagan feasts in celebration of the decay of the old year and the birth of the new an old man played the principal part. Among the Greeks and Romans it was Saturn, the father of all the gods, and among the Norsemen it was Thor, who was long bearded and white haired. That the saint is St. Nicholas is due to the fact that that venerable personage's feast day was celebrated at about that period. St. Nicholas was a bishop of Myra, who flourished early in the fourth century. He is the patron saint of children and schoolboys, and hence it was natural that he should be a part of a celebration when the children received gifts and when they were allowed to be "heard as well as seen."—New York Mail and Express.

Christmas In Rome.

A characteristic sight which precedes a Roman Christmas is the so called cottio, or sale of fish by auction, which is held at San Teodoro, near the forum, in the small hours of the morning, and every year attracts large crowds of buyers and sightseers. It is a sight worth seeing, the vast circular market literally packed with row upon row of baskets, in which the scaly fry are carefully arranged, the light glancing off their many colored scales in a thousand prismatic reflections, while the owner of each stall shouts at the top of his voice and the merry crowd goes round laughing and bargaining and trying to cheapen the fish, for at Christmastide it often reaches fabulous prices, and one is reminded of the extravagance of the ancient Romans, one of whom is said to have paid 20,000 sesterces for a single gray mullet.—London Mail.

A Recipe For Plum Pudding.

Crumble a pint of breadcrumbs from the center of a stale loaf and pour over them a cup of scalded milk; when cool add three-quarters of a cup of sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and the yolks of four eggs beaten together; chop a half pound of suet and thoroughly mix with it a half pound each of raisins, currants and almonds; add a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg, a third of a teaspoonful each of cloves and mace and the whites of the four eggs stiffly beaten; serve with hard sauce.

Encouragement.

Jack (bitterly)—I suppose that young Richman who comes to see you so often will give you such an expensive Christmas gift that you won't want the trifling present I can afford to buy you?

Marie (coyly)—No. I think you had better save your money for—er—future contingencies, Jack.

JAPAN'S TRADE PLANS

Commercial Conquest Begun With Same Vigor as War.

EXPANSION IN BUSINESS EXPECTED

Study to Improve the Cotton Industry Being Made—Chance For American Machinery—Need of Outside Market—Japanese Goods to Be Shown at Foreign Centers.

It is seen on every hand now, this evidence of Japan's preparation for a much enlarged commercial and industrial life, writes Miyaka Katokoro, a Tokyo correspondent of the Chicago Post. The vigor, the same patience and above all the same splendid system that were determining factors in the prosecution of the late successful war are to be directed toward the field and the factory, toward the merchantmen and the railroad.

Two reasons for this activity may be mentioned—first, the Japanese realize that if they are to benefit from the opportunities presented by the outcome of the struggle with Russia they must not lose time; second, if they are not to lose some of the industries either growing directly out of the war or having been greatly stimulated by the war much more than a home market must be found to care for surplus manufactures.

The belief is strong in Tokyo and particularly at Kobe and other industrial centers that it will be but a short time till a distinct expansion in business is noticed. It is also our belief that this activity is to come not so much through the establishment of new factories and enterprises as by reason of very greatly increased capacity on the part of the long established concerns.

We naturally would prefer our industries and commercial enterprises to grow on foundations already laid, for we have not forgotten the many business enterprises that sprung up like plants of a night following the close of the war with China. Many of the rich Japanese who went into these ventures so readily with their money are now among our most conservative business men. They will act as a restraining influence on the enthusiastic.

So we are busy just now seeing the most that may be done with what we have rather than reaching out to encourage things that we have not tried and which might not be successful. As an example of this I may speak of our cotton industry. A careful study is being made of every factory in the land. The number of spindles and looms in each is being noted, together with the power now used to drive them. Where the power is in excess of the machinery employed more machinery will be recommended, and in places where the power already is inadequate to produce the best results greatly increased engines will be declared advisable, and this will mean increased machines.

The object of the inquiry is first of all to see what use we are making of what we already possess and to bring it up to its fullest capacity before enlargement. Most of our factories have been equipped with English cotton machinery and English engines and boilers. I do not know whether there will be much change in this particular in ordering for the prospective increases, but I am inclined to believe that it will take some years to wean the Japanese from their partiality for English machines.

Still, I should like to see representatives of American machinery manufacturers, especially of cotton spinning and weaving, taking advantage of the opportunity to present the advantages of their machines to the Japanese just at this time when they are looking to the securing of the best results to follow their labors.

Japan looks to China to find there her largest market for cotton products. The demand of the Chinese for cotton goods has been increasing steadily for more than twelve years. So far India dominates the Chinese market for cotton, with Japan a close second. Owing to the nearness of these countries they must hold the market for a long time, no matter how enterprising other producers at a distance may become. It seems to be the intention of the Japanese to drive India from first place and become the ruling factor in the Chinese cotton market.

I mention industries either greatly enlarged or established through the demands of the war. Notably there are fish and meat canning factories. During the war the soldiers and the ships of the mikado took all the output of these factories. Now they have a capacity greatly in excess of the peace demands of the Japanese people. Sample shipments have been sent into China, Korea, Australia and even to the United States. I understand that these shipments have been received with very great favor. We are reasonably sure of a market for canned goods of this character, and as our supplies are near and abundant we look for a good export business.

As showing the general activity of the Japanese and what they intend to accomplish I may speak of a statement published in Tokyo's oldest paper, the Nichi Nichi Shimbun, to the effect that the government will soon establish commercial and industrial museums at various foreign centers. It will enlarge the Kobe and Yokohama custom houses, set up a commercial and industrial commissioner's office, finish the elevated railroad in Tokyo and during the next fiscal year found a Japanese-Chinese bank. It is also the intention of the government to appoint alert and expert commercial agents in Europe and the United States.

LONG TRIP ON LAUNCH.

Journey of Five Congressmen From Chicago to New Orleans.

Five Illinois congressmen recently sailed from the Columbia Yacht club at Chicago for New Orleans, says the Chicago Post. The party left on Congressman William Lorimer's gasoline launch, equipped for a month's trip, in the interest of the ship canal from Chicago to the gulf. Speeches will be made in all the towns visited along the route, beginning with Joliet and ending at New Orleans, from which point the party will go to Washington. Notes will be taken along the route to be used in urging the shop canal project before congress this winter. Besides Mr. Lorimer there are in the party Congressman Martin B. Madden, Joseph Graff, H. T. Rainey and Howard Snapp.

The launch, known as the Demisol at the Columbia club, is in command of William Lorimer, Jr., the eighteen-year-old son of the congressman. Leonard Lorimer, a younger son, is engineer and first mate. The boys have studied all charts available of the Chicago river, old Illinois canal and the other waters between them and their destination. That the party will not have smooth sailing all the way is expected by all the crew. The first "snag," as it were, was struck before the boat got under way. It was discovered that there was nothing to eat aboard, and Mr. Madden said there was no public house in Lemont where wayfarers could obtain food. Then Mr. Madden as commissary of subsistence ordered that the vessel put in at the Madison street bridge, where a store of ham sandwiches was secured. These rations were expected to hold out until Joliet was sighted.

Captain Lorimer had some difficulty in stowing his party, but finally the little boat was ready to start. Congressmen Graff and Rainey, each of considerable adipose tissue, fitted snugly in the stern, and the remainder of the passengers and crew stowed themselves forward, resting on suit cases, packages and gasoline tanks.

"We will be in New Orleans in less than a month," said Mr. Madden. "The boat goes ten miles an hour, and if we sail ten hours a day that will be a hundred miles a day."

The Demisol is only twenty-six feet long, and after the machinery has been taken care of there was less than fifty square feet of deckroom left. However, all hands expect to spend every night ashore in the towns visited. The boat will be sold in New Orleans.

A NEW FATHER DAMIEN.

Young Canadian Who Will Minister to Lepers In India.

W. H. P. Anderson, a young Canadian who has renounced all the pleasures of the world and decided to devote his life to ministering to lepers, recently left England for India, says the London Express.

Since the days of heroic Father Damien no man has given up his life and his career to undertake this work, and the occasion is at once notable and touching. True, the mission to lepers has ministers in India. But these men go among the outcasts from time to time merely because their work calls them there now and again.

The station to which Mr. Anderson goes is Chandkuri, in central India, midway between Calcutta and Bombay. The lepers' settlement lies twenty miles from the railway track and is practically isolated.

That he may preach the gospel to the 500 outcasts at Chandkuri Mr. Anderson is now learning the vernacular, but apart from his spiritual ministry the mission to lepers, under whose auspices he goes, has much for him to do and relies much upon his business capacity.

TO GET LARGER PENSIONS.

Society In Indiana to Secure a Cent a Day For Each Day Served.

A movement which has as its object an increase in the pensions allowed to soldiers by the United States government has been launched in Indianapolis, Ind., says a special dispatch from that city to the Chicago Tribune. Daniel L. Brown is commander in chief of the organization, with headquarters in the offices of Deputy Commander Harvey B. Stout.

The movement, it is hoped, will assume national proportions and will result in the passage of a bill by congress authorizing the increase.

The Soldiers' union will ask of congress the enactment of a law that will give to every honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine who served in the army or navy of the United States during the civil war an allowance of a cent a day for each day's regular service, which sum shall be added to his regular monthly pension.

Italy's New Battleships.

The higher council of the marine, at Rome, Italy, has decided to build no more warships of the type of the swift battleship class Vittorio Emanuele of 12,625 tons, says the London Globe's correspondent. Following the example set by Great Britain and Germany, Italy intends henceforth to build battleships of much greater dimensions and at least of 20,000 tons, with the difference that a type of vessel has been chosen which is quite different from those in use today. The plans of the new type of battleship are well advanced, and experiments by means of models will be carried out in the dock at Spezia.

Motor Boats In Venice.

The motor boat has invaded the romantic canals of Venice. The city of Venice recently established a transportation system of its own and is operating fifty or more motor boats through the canals and lagoons, much as London might operate its own street cars. The fare is 1 cent

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Some will hesitate to vote in favor of municipal lighting plants in Quincy, after such an explosion and loss of life as at the gas plant at Hyannis. This is a liability that has not received much thought.

Who would risk their life on a light-ship, and then find themselves discharged because the boat was lost in the storm? Let the law be changed, so that men rescued from sinking boats may not lose wages and support as well as boats and work.

Winter sports are now in full swing. Coasting, skating, and sleigh riding are throughly enjoyed. Skates, sleds, sleigh, double-runners sleigh bells and toboggans all are in great demand. It is surprising how the small amount of snow that fell on Sunday has held out for the week's sport.

Does Quincy want a million dollar municipal lighting plant? The first step should be to amend the City Charter to provide for a non-partisan board of management. Under the present charter the operation of the plant, etc., would come under the Commissioner of Public Works.

Some very perfect browntail moth nests can be seen in the vicinity of the public dump on Valley street. We do not know why they are so plenty unless people have dumped nests there at some previous time instead of burning them. There are a great many nests in Quincy and the city should look carefully after the highways and public property of the city and insist on owners clearing their premises.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Boston Advertiser labors hard to demonstrate the legitimacy of the immense campaign expenses of the present day, which no one denies, and misses entirely the point of the argument against them, that, however, legitimate they may be, they are not desirable, and tend to create the impression, if not the fact, that political office is for the rich, and not for the average man of ordinary financial resource. On other words, the tendency is to destroy the equality of American citizenship, which has been our boasted foundation of government.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The engagement of Alice Roosevelt is officially announced at last, and she is to be married on her next birthday and settle down as Mrs. Congressman Longworth. She has been such a traveler that any bridal tour that could be arranged would be a tame affair, and the only novelty the pair can expect would be to go nowhere. As Miss Roosevelt she has been very much in the centre of the stage since her father went to the White House, but as Mrs. Longworth she will be less in public view, though her name is not likely to disappear entirely from newspaper annals.—Lynn Item.

☞ The Lowell Mail says that "A contemporary calls wheelbarrow bets foolish, just as though the loss of a week's salary in a betting contest was the acme of wisdom." Come to think of it, that's putting the case in a nutshell, isn't it? It's not the acme of wisdom to bet at all. It's the acme of foolishness to bet unless you have plenty of money and can lose the bet without feeling the loss. There is no sense in risking money that you need on the result of an election, or the tur of an card or the speed of a horse. It's largely a matter of guessing, and your guess may be mighty bad. Surely the Mail is right. The freak bet with the wheelbarrow is foolish, but so is all betting by people whose means are limited. In fact, what's the use of betting on the turn of events in this world anyway? —Brockton Enterprise.

Was On The Wasp.

Fireman McKee Writes of The Fight For Life

U. S. S. Wasp.
U. S. Naval Training Station,
Newport, R. I, Dec. 13, 1905.

Editor of the Quincy Ledger:

A statement concerning the trip of the Wasp the past few days will probably be of interest. Being on board at the time, I was a participant in that terrible fight for life that lasted from 12 midnight Saturday, Dec. 9, until we reached port.

My parents live in Quincy and I am also a resident and have lived there for a period of over twenty years. Being a firemen and closely associated with the engineer's force aboard the Wasp at the time of the disaster, I am now in a position to give you the full particulars.

On Saturday night at midnight, the chief boatswain's mate passed the word for all hands to muster in the fire-room and start to bail for our lives, as the ship was slowly sinking.

The weather was very rough, the ship plunging and rolling very heavily, taking seas over the bow and also the sides and returning to her correct position with much difficulty. The hatch that covers the engine-room, not being strong enough to withstand the rough seas, was immediately opened to the furies of the storm, and every time the ship rolled from side to side, an average of over a hundred gallons plunged down into the engine-room over the cylinder heads, into the bilges, flooding the dynamo and sending up clouds of steam into the faces of the men who were bailing for their lives. As water is a conductor of electricity, the dynamo immediately charged the water, and several bad shocks were received and continued until the dynamo was shut down, leaving the engine-room in darkness, which necessitated using lanterns.

In the fire-room, the water plunged down in torrents going under the ash pans of the six Scotch marine boilers and bringing live coals weighing from two to five pounds each out into the fire-room, which made the water too hot to stand in, and scalding many of the men badly. Fires were put out and three unsuccessful efforts were made to start them. Anyone acquainted with the Scotch Marine boiler will at once recognize the difficulty in trying to get steam into the pipes running into the main engine.

Early Sunday morning the water gained too fast for the men to work against, and the order was sent down to stand by to abandon ship. It was found that it would be impossible to do so as the seas were running mountain high and would immediately swamp the small boats. That venture was given up for the time being and the men returned to their stations as before and a successful effort was made in starting the pumps. The headway of water was checked for the time being but the men had to stay by their posts night and day with no sleep and very little to eat.

Sails were bended onto the rigging on Monday morning which checked our drifting considerable although not altogether. A rocket was sent up which was answered from a distance of about twenty miles and it was made out to be another distress signal the same as the one sent up from our vessel. Rockets were continually sent up during the night at a period of one each half hour. No answer was received excepting from the one as stated.

By dead reckoning it was found that the vessel was out of the line of both lines of navigation, both Enropean and the minor lines running from Boston, Phiiadelphia, and Providence and New York. The chances were slight of ever seeing Newport or land again and it was awful to see the agony of the distressed sailors on their knees praying, singing hymns, popular coon songs, cursing and swearing, and altogether in a delirous state of mind.

Monday the weather cleared considerably, and fires were started and we proceeded to make an effort to reach Newport. The water again began to fill both the fire-room and the engine-room, and the fight for life was renewed with more fervor than before.

Tuesday morning dawned bright and clear, with an easy sea running, and steam was again formed in the boilers. Brenton Reef light-ship was sighted early in the afternoon. Many were the prayers that were offered, and many were the thankful hearts when we again reached land.

A board of inquiry is to be held on board the vessel in a few days to find out the cause of the leakages as they are a mystery. During the fight for our lives Hospital Steward George White fell from the top of the cylinder heads in the engine room and broke one of his ribs. He refused to leave his post after several requests and commands.

The Wasp has sprung a new leak and is liable to sink at any moment while lying alongside the dock at the U. S. Naval Training station.

Very respectfully,
George J. McKee,
Fireman, U. S. N.

I. O. O. F. Exemplification.

Arrangements are nearly completed for the exemplification of Odd Fellowship which will be held Feb. 22, 1906.

Two degrees will be exemplified in the afternoon and two in the evening; commencing about 2.30 and 7.30. A banquet will be held about six o'clock.

Puritan lodge is to work the initiatory degree; John Hancock lodge of Wollaston, the first degree; Neponset lodge of Neponset, the second degree; Mt. Wollaston lodge of Quincy, the third degree.

All four lodges are thoroughly interested in this work, and the members are attending the meetings of their respective lodges, thus by their presence are giving encouragement to the members of the staffs.

I. O. O. F. Visitation.

Mt. Wollaston lodge, I. O. O. F., was entertained Thursday evening by the Crescent lodge, I. O. O. F., in its hall on Cottage street, East Weymouth. Following a reception and the regular lodge business, the degree staff of Mt. Wollaston lodge exemplified the work of the first degree on several candidates. Visitors were present from Hingham, Cohasset, Quincy, Wollaston, Rockland, South Weymouth and Hanover. At the close the company was invited to the banquet hall, where an oyster supper was served and a social hour followed.

A Third Candidate.

The name of ex-City Treasurer H. Walter Gray has been mentioned as a successor to City Auditor George A. Sidelinger. This makes three candidates for the office; the other two being ex-Mayor Henry O. Fairbanks and Councilman Arthur W. Loud.

Died at Hospital

The funeral of James J. Couley, who died at the Carney Hospital on Thursday, as the result of a surgical operation, was held this morning from St. Mary's church. The services were largely attended, and were conducted by Rev. Fr. Powers. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

—It was announced Dec. 15th that at the beginning of the year the residents of Charlestown will receive 90-cent gas, the gas commissioners having ordered the reduction to go into effect at that time and the company has agreed to abide by the order.

A Question Of Residence

Is Councilman Chamberlin a resident of Quincy? Has he a right to sit as a member of the City Council? These are questions that are being discussed by many.

Councilman Chamberlain, up to a month ago, resided on Park street, Wollaston. Then he closed his house and removed his family to Pope's Hill, where he now has his home. Councilman Chamberlain still claims his residence is Quincy.

The City Charter provides that residents of Quincy, and no others can be members of the City Council.

The question comes—Is a man's residence, where his household goods and family are, and where he sleeps, or can he claim his residence in another place?

If his residence is where his household goods and family are and where he also lives, then Mr. Chamberlin cannot legally serve as Councilman. If, however, he can claim his residence where he paid his taxes last May, although he has since moved from that place, then he can serve.

It is a fine nut for some of our legal fraternity to crack.

There was a similar case last year where a councilman married and took up his residence in a neighboring town.

The lunch this evening will be served by gentlemen of the club.

Four Candidates.

There are now four candidates in the field for appointment as District Attorney in the Norfolk-Plymouth district,—John W. McAnarney, the ex-City Solicitor of Quincy, Judge Thomas E. Grover of Canton, Robert H. Schulz of Dedham and William L. Baker of Brookline.

Can Care For Poor

Board of Trade Charity Ball At Hyde Park Not Endorsed

The indignation of citizens of Hyde Park reached an extraordinary stage last evening when Victor M. Weil, the president of the Board of Trade, and editor of the Sentinel, was ordered by resolution, and vote to seek another place of residence.

Since the Sentinel was established, a year or more ago, it has in every issue "stirred things up" and criticised and abused town officials and others.

The latest grievance is clearly shown in these resolutions which were unanimously adopted at a public indignation meeting held last night on a call of the Selectmen of Hyde Park:

The resolutions were as follows:

"Whereas, there has been issued through the United States mail broadcast over this commonwealth to persons of prominence in legislative, editorial, commercial and charitable work, a communication purporting to come from the Hyde Park Board of Trade and typewritten upon the letter-head of that organization and signed by V. M. Weil, its president, appealing to the persons addressed to purchase, or return, tickets to a charity ball, to be held Dec. 20, 1905, in French's Hall, Hyde Park, the proceeds of which are to be used for the benefit of the poor of Hyde Park, Mass., and to make their checks payable or send the cash to said V. M. Weil, which communication has been disclaimed and denounced in the local press by three of the persons whose names are used in connection therewith, and

"Whereas, said letter of solicitation is calculated to be a great injury and injustice to the town of Hyde Park and its municipal management by giving to the public the impression that this town is either unable or unwilling to provide for its worthy poor, the exact opposite to which is true as shown by the official records and by the statement of the chairman of the present board of overseers of the poor that they have an unexpended balance for the current year of $2800, and that no case of deserving need has ever been neglected or refused; and

"Whereas, such an impression has already borne fruit in caustic letters of inquiry and sharp criticisms of our municipality, now, Therefore, we, the citizens of Hyde Park, Mass., in public meeting assembled, in response to a call of our selectmen, do hereby repudiate and disown any such scheme and brand it as unwarranted, disgraceful and defamatory to the good name of our town, and injurious to the last degree to our reputation, if allowed to go uncontradicted. And we call upon the public press of this state to give a wide publicity to this, our indignant protest and disclaimer."

It is reported that the resolutions were far too mild for the temper of the gathering.

Among those to criticise Weil at the meeting were Dr. Charles Sturtevant, Selectman James D. Grant, Harry E. Astley, Selectman Frank B. Rich, Selectman E. C. Jenney, ex-Senator Francis W. Darling, David W. Murray, R. W. Karman, Editor Samuel R. Mosley of the Hyde Park Gazette, Assessor Charles F. Morrison, and ex-Selectman R. W. Wright.

Weil was present and was asked to explain. He finally arose and said that by advice of his counsel he could not make any reply to what had been said, that he regretted that he was thus muzzled, as it was something he was not used to, and if allowed to speak to the citizens assembled he could in 15 minutes give them information that would put a different aspect on the case.

Editor Moseley addressed the meeting with "Gentlemen!" but turning to Weil said he did not include him. Continuing to address Weil, he said: "You say you were muzzled tonight, but it is not true. If you had an honest story to tell, we should hear from you, but you have not got one and you never saw the day that you could tell a truthful story. I have been conducting a paper in this town more than 30 years, and I never yet slandered man, woman or child. This town owes you nothing Mr. Weil, and you have no business here.

The selectmen by vote were requested to have counsel investigate relative to funds collected for poor of town.

A crowd followed Weil from the hall, hooting him continually. He took a train for Boston, and later the crowd hung him in effigy in the square.

The Hyde Park Gazette of this week says: "Early this week Victor M. Weil, president of the Board of Trade through his Boston attorney, brought suit against the editor of this paper, to recover damages in the sum of $10,000, for statements made in these columns last week in connection with the selling of tickets to non-residents for the proposed ball of the Board of Trade, for the alleged purpose of promoting a charity fund for the benefit of our worthy poor, which, the plaintiff states, was a reflection upon his integrity.

"Weil also brought suit in like amount against James D. Grant, a member of the board of selectmen; F. L. George and Harry E. Astley, all of the Readville district, and presumably well acquainted with Weil, for signing an article in letter form which appeared in these columns last week, in connection with our comments on his charity fund scheme."

"We have no doubt but that our three Readville friends are well able to take care of themselves in this matter, and we feel quite confident that we will be prompt to respond when the case is called. We are impatient, and we know the public is, to have this case of alleged libel brought into court, and to settle for all time how much this man's 'integrity' has been damaged.

Social Club Concert.

A fine concert was given last evening in the chapel of First church, the second in the series of entertainments by the Social club of the church. The artists were: Miss Bessie Bell Collier, violin, Miss Grace Collier, piano and Mr. Carl Barth, 'cello, all from Boston.

It was two hours of constant pleasure to music lovers, every selection being received with enthusiasm. Only one response was given to encores, Miss Bessie Bell Collier responding after her second group of violin solos.

The concert opened with a trio by Beethoven by the Misses Collier and Mr. Barth which straightway carried them into favor with the audience, the applause growing more appreciative at each selection. The solo work was also of the best. Miss Collier in her violin work was easy without affectation; her technique excellent, and in her three selections "Carmen Fantasie" by Hubay, "Air" by Goldmark and "Polonaise" by Wieniawski, showed her versatility and artistic temperament.

Mr. Barth of the Boston Symphony orchestra it is needless to say was good and it was a disappointment that he did not respond to the encore. His selections were particularly pleasing being, Godard's "Berceuse" and Gabriel-Marie's "Serenade Badine."

Miss Grace Collier made a most favorable impression at the piano. As an accompanist she was ideal, never obtrusive and always adequate, playing easily and sympathetically. So well did the audience appreciate her work, she was most enthusiastically welcomed when she came forward for her piano solo which was "Kamennoi Ostiow" by Rubinstein. It won her further approval but she could not be prevailed upon to give another selection.

There was a large attendance all of whom thought is was one of the finest entertainments given under the auspices of the Social club for several seasons.

—The town of Hingham collected $1,040 (twenty dollars a week) from automobile speeders during the past year. This was one-sixth of the convictions throughout the state. The sum ought to give Hingham a good start on its fund towards road repairs for the coming year. It looks as if the autoist who is going to travel through Hingham should go prepared to pay toll.—Exchange.

ACT AS MILITARY

Revolutionists In Control In Parts of Russia

THE SITUATION AT RIGA

Machine Guns Used In Bloody Collisions In Streets - Hatred of German Speaking Population May Lead to Massacre

St. Petersburg, Dec. 16.—It seems to be beyond question that bloody collisions have occurred between troops and the united peasantry and workmen in the streets of Riga, during which machine guns were used. The situation is most serious in the country, which is practically abandoned to the revolutionary bands, owing to the concentration of the troops in the cities and towns.

Against some of the estates where the landlords, aided by a few faithful adherents, are attempting to protect their property, the revolutionists are conducting regular military operations They reduced the garrison of the estate of Baron Von Loewis to submission after a majority of the defenders had been killed and plundered and burned the buildings and carried off the baron. The survivors were made prisoners.

The reports from the provinces indicate that the country generally remains close to the boiling point. The situation in the Caucasus is again serious. The Tartars and Armenians are murdering each other as of yore. At Elizabethpol especially there has been a savage exhibition of race hatred. From Kharkoff an agent of the New York Life Insurance company who fled brings the story of the establishment of a republic there. He says the military forces have gone over to the revolutionists and that the latter have full possession of the city.

A reliable report from Moscow says that the authorities there are extremely nervous, as the city is denuded of troops, the soldiers having been sent to the neighboring provinces, especially southeast. Less than 10,000 troops remain in Moscow and this force is considered to be utterly inadequate should a crisis occur.

Stockholm, Dec. 16.—The Dagens Nyheters correspondent, who has returned here from Riga, says:

The Letts, constituting a majority of the population of Livonia, control the situation there. Their leader, M. Jansohn, editor of The Deenas Lapas, is also the head of the federated revolutionary societies, and has command of everything. Their hatred of the German-speaking population, which is unrelenting, is caused by years of oppression on the part of the German nobility.

The peasants around Riga are burning estates and murdering land owners. The Germans of Riga expect a "St. Bartholomew's night," and it is evident that the Letts are preparing for a wholesale slaughter. The central part of Riga can be protected at the bridges if the army is true. In each block one house has been prepared as a fortress in which to shelter the Germans when the massacre starts. Besides this the householders have established various refuges.

Murders are committed in broad daylight, mostly for revenge, and the police are afraid to interfere. The governor general does not dare command the troops, not knowing whether they will obey orders. Several country committees have established republics, intending later to confederate into a Baltic republic.

The revolutionaries are preparing an irresistible strike for January, and the workmen are being armed. The revolutionaries have refused to allow Germans or Russians to leave Livonia.

The correspondent says that he fears that the deep hatred felt by the Letts for the German nobility and German capitalists will lead to an awful calamity.

Czar Sticks to Manifesto

London, Dec. 16.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: The czar received a deputation representing numerous leagues of a patriotic complexion, all of whom are notoriously desirous for a return to the ancient autocratic regime, and are therefore dissatisfied with the cabinet of Count Witte. Though they made no secret of their aspirations, the czar did not give them the slightest hope that there would be any deviation from the promises made in the manifesto of Oct. 30.

Citizens Fleeing From Warsaw

Vienna, Dec. 16.—An American who has just arrived here from Warsaw says that all the people who were able to leave Warsaw have already departed and the situation is growing more serious every day. The power of the League of Leagues, he says, seems to be almost unlimited. The streets are full of agitators who declaim from the corners.

Wholesale Dismissal of Officers

London, Dec. 16.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times reports that 440 officers have been dismissed by the general staff as untrustworthy.

Accident to Yankee Rogers

Utica, N. Y., Dec. 16.—In the preliminary of a wrestling match here last night, Frank Gotch, America's champion, and Charley (Yankee) Rogers clinched and went down heavily together. Gotch fell on Rogers' right ankle, severely wrenching it. Rogers will not be able to wrestle for several months, as he cannot stand.

Christmas Eve In Bethlehem

BETHLEHEM, the central spot of interest in the Holy Land at Christmastide, is a Christian town set in the heart of Mohammedanism, where once a year the Greek church grants the use of the grotto of the Nativity to the Latin church. The ceremonies begin on Dec. 24 by the image of the youthful Christ being carried from the basilica of St. Helena to the sacred grotto of the Nativity, where the traditional spot of Christ's birth is marked by a silver star set in the rocky pavement.

The service begins at 10 o'clock in the evening. It opens with the chanting of psalms without any musical accompaniment. The patriarch of Jerusalem usually officiates in the grotto, but on this occasion he is represented by the Latin bishop. The interior of the church is most picturesque, for there are only a few chairs provided for foreign visitors, while the bulk of the congregation is made up of the Bethlemite women in their blue dresses with red frontlets, wearing peaked caps when married and flat caps covered by white veils when single.

As they enter the church they at first kneel down and then sit upon the ground in true oriental fashion. "In the dimly lighted church," says one who has seen the service, "these squatting varicolored figures, with their beautiful faces lit up by fits and starts by flashes of the candles, intent on devotion, seem like so many modern Madonnas come to celebrate the glory of the first Madonna."

Precisely at midnight the pontifical high mass is celebrated, the figure of Christ is brought in a basket and deposited upon the high altar, and the procession forms to accompany it to the crypt. As the long, chanting procession winds through the dimly lighted church there is something weirdly solemn about the ceremony, and as the sacred image passes various acts of worship are performed by the devout attendants. On the procession moves through the rough hewn, dimly lit passages from the Latin church to the grotto of the Nativity.

When the procession of richly robed ecclesiastics reaches the silver star set in the pavement the priests pause and stand in a group about the basket, which is deposited upon the star. Around this star is the inscription, "Hic de virgine natus est" ("Here he was born of a virgin"), for this is the spot upon which tradition places the actual birth of Jesus. There the impressive narrative of the birth of Jesus as found in the gospels is slowly recited, and when the passage (Luke ii, 7), "And she brought forth her firstborn Son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn," is read the figure is reverently picked up from the star and carried over to the opposite side of the grotto, where it is put into a rock cut manger. This concludes the service.—London Sphere.

Mistletoe Myths.

Many English girls believe that they will not be wedded inside of twelve months unless they have at least one kiss under the mistletoe. In many counties a berry is plucked from the mistletoe with each kiss, and when there are no berries no kisses are allowed. Mistletoe used to be considered a charm or amulet to ward off the baleful influence of witches. It was also considered that its influence was irresistible, that no one could possibly pass beneath it without yielding to its power, and hence both matron and maid must submit to the salutation which has since become customary.—Self Culture Magazine.

Christmas Candy.

To make chocolate caramels dissolve over a fire one cupful of molasses and two teacupfuls of sugar; add one-quarter of a pound of grated chocolate and a piece of butter the size of an egg; boil for fifteen or twenty minutes; pour into flat buttered dishes to the depth of a quarter of an inch and when cold cut into squares an inch in size.

Christmas In Cornwall.

In Cornwall Christmas eve is a special holiday with children, who are allowed to sit up till midnight and drink to the "mock," as the Yule log is called there.

AN UNEXPECTED GUEST.

The Butterfly That Lived In a Christmas Tree.

Papa, Archie and May went to the woods to get a Christmas tree and found just what they wanted—a little pine, bushy and straight.

"There is something I must cut off," said Archie. He pointed to a little gray bunch on one of the twigs and pulled out his knife.

"No, no!" cried May, holding his hand. "Let it stay. It's a poor little caterpillar's house."

May was right. One Indian summer day a caterpillar, dressed in brown velvet, was taking a walk in the woods. At last he came to the little pine tree and thought to himself, "What a nice place to spend the winter!"

So he made himself a little house. He made it very tight and close, of fine, soft thread, and fastened up the door. He did not leave himself even a window to look out. If there had been one, how it would have surprised him to see that he and his house and the pine tree were riding in a sleigh with papa and May and Archie.

He would have been still more surprised if he had seen the tree standing in the parlor, covered with toys and trinkets and little candles.

"It must be spring at last," he thought, for it was very warm in the parlor.

So he poked a hole in the wall of his house, and out he came. But what do you think? He was not a caterpillar.

"Oh, see the lovely butterfly!" cried May.

He flew to the tiptop bough, and the children said there was nothing else on the tree so pretty as the butterfly.

"He must have come down the chimney with Santa Claus," said May. And she never guessed that he came out of the caterpillar's house.—Youth's Companion.

MAKING CHRISTMAS TOYS.

A Thriving Industry In Germany, France and Switzerland.

In parts of Germany, France and Switzerland every humble householder takes more interest in Christmas than the average American boy. This seems like a strong statement, for Christmas is pretty thoroughly appreciated by the young of America. But, great as the festival is to them, it is not essential to their existence. They could get along without Christmas, but the toymakers in Switzerland, the Tyrol and south Germany would starve without this midwinter holiday which makes a market for their goods. There are wood carvers, doll dressers and toymakers in every hamlet and home of the Tyrol. They depend upon the small wages they make from these toys to put bread and butter in their mouths.

All through the winter season every boy and man carves out wood animals and toys for the factories. Everything is handmade. A Noah's ark of twenty or thirty wooden animals that retails for a quarter in this country does not pay the carver more than a few pennies.

The boys are taught to handle the knife early, and they learn to cut out wooden ducks, hens, horses, cows and other toys before they have reached their teens. Working all through the early winter days and nights in their little homes, they make the wooden toys that delight so many children throughout the world.—New York Mail and Express.

A Hawaiian Christmas.

Before the missionaries and the American settlers went to Hawaii the natives knew nothing about Christmas, but now they all celebrate the day and do it, of course, in the same way as the Americans who live there. The main difference between Christmas in Honolulu and Christmas in New York is that in Honolulu in December the weather is like June in New York. Birds are warbling in the leafy trees; gardens are overflowing with roses and carnations; fields and mountain slopes are ablaze with color, and a sunny sky smiles dreamily upon the glories of a summer day. In the morning people go to church, and during the day there are sports and games and merrymaking of all sorts. The Christmas dinner is eaten out of doors in the shade of the veranda, and everybody is happy and contented.—St. Nicholas.

Christmas Cake.

Sift ten ounces of flour into a basin; weigh one-half pound of powdered sugar, two ounces of candied citron, one-fourth pound of raisins and one-half pound of butter. You need, besides these, four eggs and a lemon. Beat the butter (washed and squeezed dry) to a cream with your hand; add to it a tablespoonful of flour, one of sugar and one egg; mix thoroughly and then go on in the same way, using the materials gradually until they are all in; grate the lemon and add the fruit, warmed and floured; line a tin with buttered paper, using two thicknesses at the bottom; bake in a moderate oven two hours.

Wanted All That Was Coming.

"That Bifferblatt is an absentminded fellow."

"So?"

"Yes. When I handed him a Christmas present he said, 'I beg your pardon, but do you give trading stamps?'"

The Boar's Head.

The great event of the old Christmas dinner four or five hundred years ago was the entry of the chief cook bearing the boar's head, garnished with rosemary.

LOSES ITS LICENSE

Leading Boston Hostelry Cannot Sell Liquor

DRUGGISTS ON THE RUN

Must Live Up to Laws Hitherto Winked At--Police Commissioners Do Not Admit That Action is Inspired by Moran

Boston, Dec. 16.—Chairman Cole of the Boston police commission announced last night that the liquor license of the Hotel Touraine, issued in the name of John R. Coleman, had been revoked formally by the commission. The reason for the revocation of the license, as announced by Cole, was violation of the law relating to the sale of liquor on Sunday. The license issued to Coleman did not permit of Sunday sales.

The commission was in session the greater part of yesterday, considering the Touraine's liquor license. Last night Cole stated that the action of the commission in revoking the Touraine's license was not in any way brought about by the action of Mr. Moran, the newly elected district attorney, who, in his campaign speeches, promised the voters that if he should be elected to office he would prevent illegal sales of liquor at the Touraine.

Another action of the police commission, and one that affects more people than the revocation of the Touraine license, was an order issued to the druggists throughout the city, notifying them that many of them were violating the liquor laws in maintaining in their windows screens, blinds, curtains, or window displays which prevented a full and free view of the interior of the places of business. All druggists who have maintained such obstructions to view were ordered to remove them, and the police captains of the various districts were ordered to see that the druggists obeyed their instructions

It is said that more than 140 druggists will have to change the arrangement of their stores in order to comply with the order issued by the police commission.

Another matter considered at length by the commission was the matter of liquor licenses issued to clubs throughout the city. The clubs have been in the habit of dispensing liquor at all hours of the day and night, regardless of Sunday, holiday and semi-colon laws, and orders were issued by the commission, cautioning the clubs against selling liquor after 11 p. m., the closing hour in this state, and Sunday and holidays.

The stand of the police commission relative to obeying the summons of Moran to appear individually before him in his office remains the same. The commissioners have refused to visit the district attorney's office, and the district attorney has declined to interview the police commissioners unless they appear before him in the district attorney's office in the Suffolk county court house.

Hotel Man a Murderer

Gaffney, S. C., Dec. 16.—Milan Bennett of Malden, Mass., musical director of the "Nothing but Money" company, was shot and killed by George Hasty, one of the proprietors of the Piedmont inn, where the company was stopping. Abbott Davidson, leading man and partner in the same company, also was shot through the abdomen, but the result of the wound cannot be determined. The shooting is said to have been the result of Hasty attempting to enter the room of a member of the company.

Arrest In Murder Mystery

Asbury Park, N. J., Dec. 16.—The police, who have been inquiring into the murder of Mrs. Morris Naftal, found dead from suffocation in her apartments several days ago, with valuable jewelry and $1000 missing, have arrested Frank Perdoni as a suspect. Perdoni formerly ran a fruit store opposite the Naftal apartments. He sold out recently to Samuel Pierio, who also was arrested as a witness.

Steamer May Be Total Loss

Norfolk, Dec. 16.—After a struggle of 48 hours with winds and waves, during which the crew had no time to eat or sleep, the Belgian steamer Antigoon went ashore at Little Island, about 12 miles south of this place. No lives were lost, owing to the arduous efforts on the part of the crews at the life saving stations. The Antigoon is hard aground and it is probable the vessel will be a total loss.

A Place For Fitzmaurice

London, Dec. 16.—Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice has been appointed under secretary for foreign affairs. On Dec. 12 Fitzmaurice issued a formal farewell address to his constituents, in which he mildly reproached Campbell Bannerman for overlooking him in the building of his cabinet and announced his intention to retire from politics.

Suicide of Vermont Merchant

Barre, Vt., Dec. 16.—Frank P. Willard, aged 52, a successful farmer of East Montpelier and senior member of the firm of Willard & Dix, grocers, put an end to his life by hanging at his home. Ill-health is thought to have made him despondent.

Part of Norfolk Flooded

Norfolk, Dec. 16.—The worst storm of the year is raging here. Streets in the lower part of the city are flooded and the harbor is crowded with weather-bound vessels.

MERCURY TUMBLES

Cold Weather and Gale Arrive In New England

Boston, Dec. 16.—The opening cold snap of the winter fell upon New England yesterday. In the vicinity of Boston the day was the coldest of the season, opening at a temperature of 8 degrees and reaching only 24 at noon. In Maine the mercury fell to 20 degrees below zero, resulting in the closing of the Penobscot river to navigation for the winter. In northern Vermont thermometers registered 30 degrees below at Sheldon and 18 below at Northfield, and Lake Champlain began its freezing up process.

Last night a southern disturbance coming northward brought before it a strong northeasterly wind, almost reaching the intensity of a gale along the Cape coast. In turn, the northward movement of the storm is predicted to bring snow and rising temperature.

While no serious damage has been reported in New England, a low barometer has forced practically all of the coastwise shipping to run for shelter.

To the residents of Chatham the storm came most unwelcomely, as it forced a suspension of the cod fishing, which for a fortnight has been phenomenally successful there.

Lightship No. 66 sailed from New Bedford to take a position on the perilous Nantucket south shoals. The position of the lightship is where northeasterly storms almost invariably become central upon their arrival in New England waters, and it was while tossing in the centre of one of these storms last Sunday night that the lightship sprung aleak and later sank.

Canal Commission Criticised

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Panama canal was again under consideration by the senate and Mr. Tillman criticised the methods of the canal commission in many of its transactions. He raised the question as to whether President Shonts was still in the employ of the Clover Leaf railroad. He also sharply criticised the employment of Secretary Bishop as a press representative at a salary of $10,000 a year, and Mr. Hale joined in this censure, saying that Bishop's employment in that capacity was a reflection not only upon congress, but upon the press.

Longworth-Roosevelt Wedding

Washington, Dec. 16.—Friends who call at the White House to extend congratulations to Miss Alice Roosevelt upon her approaching marriage are told that the wedding day has been set for Feb. 17. The wedding gown will be the one worn by the bride's mother. It was to have been worn by Miss Alice upon the occasion of her debut, four years ago, but Mrs. Roosevelt dissuaded her, advising that it be kept for such an occasion as is set for February.

Unusually Heavy Holiday Trade

New York, Dec. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that holiday trade has become the principal commercial feature, retail sales surpassing all records, while it has been found necessary to place liberal supplementary orders. There is a steady movement of staples, and in jobbing and manufacturing departments there is unprecedented preparation for the spring season.

Embezzlement Charged

Pittsburg, Dec. 16.—Charles M. Bryce, a member of the firm of Bryce, Higbee & Co., Homestead glass manufacturers, the largest independent producers of crystal glass tableware in the country, was arrested on information made by J. B. Higbee, president of the firm, who charges Bryce with the embezzlement of $5000 and upward. It is said the amount may reach $75,000.

Steamer Cut Down Schooner

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 16.—Steamer City of Lawrence ran down the lath-laden schooner Bosutoland, Chatham, N. S., for New York, off South Norwalk. The schooner was cut to the water's edge and was abandoned. The crew escaped in boats to the Lowell. When the collision occurred the City of Lowell was bound from New York to New London, Conn.

Went Off With Father's Money

New York, Dec. 16.—Edwin M. Breen, 15 years old, of New London, Conn., was arrested here, charged with robbing his father. It was charged that Breen took $123 of his father's money and started for New York. The boy was arraigned in the children's court and his mother was sent for to take him back home. Only $8 of the money had been spent.

Bank Thief Sentenced

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

Why Buy McClure's?

McClure's Magazine is bought and read in homes not because it is a magazine but because it is the magazine. Why?

FIRST—THE PRICE. It costs but one dollar a year, or less than ten cents a number, for over thirteen hundred two-column pages of reading matter. This amounts in actual bulk to twenty or twenty-five books costing anywhere from a dollar to two dollars a volume.

SECOND—QUALITY. The reading matter is written by America's leading writers—the best short story writers, the best writers on timely articles, the best writers on important serials, such as Schurz's Reminiscences or Baker's Railroad articles.

THIRD—TIMELINESS. The reading matter in McClure's is not only good; it is not only entertaining, amusing, instructive and inspiring—it is also about the subjects in which you and all Americans are most interested at the time. No subjects in the next twelve months are going to be so important as the question of railroad rates and rebates and the question of life insurance. Both of these questions will be discussed by authorities in an impartial, careful, interesting way.

FOURTH—ITS CHARACTER. McClure's Magazine is not edited for children, but at the same time, there is never a line in it that any young girl might not read. Its advertising pages are as clean as its editorial pages.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE

in your home is intended to work only for good. Send $1.00 to-day for one year's subscription, or leave an order at your book-store. November and December free with new subscriptions for 1906.

GAS PLANT WRECKED

Man In Charge of It Blown to Atoms by Explosion

Hyannis, Mass., Dec. 16.—The Nickerson Acetylene Gas company's plant, which furnished light for this town, was destroyed by an explosion last night which killed Osborne Crowell, who was in charge of the plant, and damaged a dozen or more buildings. Crowell entered the basement of the gas company's building, a two-story wooden structure, to examine the gas tanks and see that everything was in order. It is supposed that Crowell's lantern ignited escaping gas.

Just as the residents of the town were retiring they were startled by a terrific explosion, which shook buildings half a mile distant and demolished windows and doors of business houses within 300 yards of the gas plant. Crowell's body was blown to pieces and little could be found except his clothing by which he could be identified.

Many of the townspeople rushed from their homes, thinking that an earthquake had occurred. An entertainment was in progress at the Masonic hall at the time, and the guests were greatly excited when they heard the sound of the explosion, immediately followed by the lights going out. A stampede was made for the doors, but no one was injured.

The accident extinguished practically all the lights in the town. The lighting plant was owned by Victor Nickerson and had recently been enlarged. It furnished light for the streets, public buildings and many dwellings. The financial loss is estimated at $10,000. Crowell was 57 years of age and was married.

Horse Faithful to Driver

Boston, Dec. 16.—Slipping on the rubber tire while clambering onto his wagon in Roxbury, Martin C. Geary, driver for the Jordan, Marsh company, fell headlong to the street, receiving a fractured skull, concussion of the brain and other injuries. After falling and being rendered unconscious, Geary lay on the snow-covered surface for fully five minutes, and might have perished from cold but for his intelligent horse, whose neighing aroused the neighborhood. When Geary was discovered the horse's head was almost touching Geary's head, seeming as if he knew of the accident and was endeavoring to prevent him from freezing until aid arrived.

A Race Hatred Campaign

Budapest, Dec. 16.—Further reports of the uprising of the Roumanian inhabitants of the southern provinces of Hungary in favor of the king-emperor against the Magyars declare the situation to be threatening. The propaganda against the Hungarians is based apparently on race hatred and finds almost blind acceptance among the ignorant and superstitious Roumanian peasantry. The movement is slowly spreading.

Will Not Grant Demands

New York, Dec. 16.—Announcement that preparations to handle a big printers' strike have been completed by the employing printers of New York is made by the Typothetae of this city. The eight-hour work-day, which the International Typographical union has decreed shall go into effect on Jan. 1, 1906, is declared to be the cause for issuing this statement.

Death In Street Car Panic

Cleveland, Dec. 16.—A fuse blew out on a Willston avenue car, setting the vestibule of the car on fire. A dozen passengers made a rush for the exit and in doing so they trampled to death Anna Staba, 13 years old. H. R. Fishel attempted to quiet the excited women and was shoved from the rear platform to the pavement. His skull was fractured.

Thompson's Slayer Is Dead

New York, Dec. 16.—A coroner's jury inquired into the death of J. H. Thompson, an editor on the New York Times, who was found dead in his room, and returned a verdict that Thompson had been murdered by R. H. Hamilton, a negro, who was an elevator operator at the hotel where Thompson lived and who committed suicide.

Formally Yields to Powers

Constantinople, Dec. 16.—Turkey has formally surrendered to the demands of the powers and accepted the scheme providing for the financial control of Macedonia, and the question which has been the subject of negotiations for 11 months is closed. The international fleet will promptly be withdrawn.

Great Contest Between Wrestlers

Buffalo, Dec. 16.—Charles Conkle of Hamilton, Ont., and Walter Willoughby of Buffalo wrestled 2½ hours here for the middleweight championship. The match was called a draw. Neither man gained a fall. The championship is to be decided in a series of three matches. Conkle won the first match.

CHRISTMAS TREES.

From Time Immemorial Part of the Holiday Celebration.

From time immemorial a tree has been a part of the Christmas celebration. It may be seen outside the traditional mangers in the missals and early paintings of the preraphaelite Italian school. In the tree or near it are seen angels in flowing robes singing out of a scroll of illuminated paper the "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men" or "Glory, Glory, Halleluiah!"

The correct German Christmas tree always has an angel or a Christkind on the topmost branch, with a tinsel star at the end of a staff, like a pantomime fairy, and if the tree belongs to a very orthodox family there is usually at its foot a small toy group representing the Saviour's birth in the stable at Bethlehem.

The lights on the tree are said to be of Jewish origin. In the ninth month of the Jewish year, corresponding nearly to our December, and on the twenty-fifth day, the Jews celebrated the feast of dedication of their temple. It had been desecrated on that day by Antiochus. It was dedicated by Judas Maccabeus, and then, according to the Jewish legend, sufficient oil was found in the temple to last for the seven branched candlestick for seven days, and it would have taken seven days to prepare new oil. Accordingly the Jews were wont on the 25th of Kisleu in every house to light a candle, on the next day two, and so on till on the seventh and last day of the feast seven candles twinkled in every house.

It is not easy to fix the exact date of the Nativity, but it fell most probably on the last day of Kisleu, when every Jewish house in Bethlehem and Jerusalem was twinkling with lights. It is worthy of notice that the German name for Christmas is Weihnacht (the night of dedication), as though it were associated with this feast. The Greeks also call Christmas the feast of lights, and, indeed, this was also the name given to the dedication festival, Chanuka, by the Jews.—New York Mail and Express.

CHRISTMAS CARDS.

W. A. Dobson, R. A., It Is Claimed, Was Their Originator.

Until now most people who took an interest in the matter would have credited either the late Sir Henry Cole or J. C. Horsley, R. A., with the production of the first Christmas card, and they would have put the date down as 1846. But a new claimant is now put forward, the late W. A. Dobson, R. A., and his claim is supported with circumstantial detail.

The birth of the Christmas card is put back two years, to 1844. Mr. Dobson was a lonely young man, who one day conceived the idea of acknowledging the kindness of a friend by sending him a picture illustrative of the festive season—a cheerful family group surrounded by the familiar Christmas accessories.

The distant friend was delighted, showed it to other friends, and Mr. Dobson was encouraged the following year to secure the aid of the local lithographer. Then came imitators one after another until ten years later the business man stepped in to make money out of what was originally a work of love. But the ambitious Christmas cards of today are a long remove from the primitive Father Christmases and Robin Redbreasts of sixty years ago.—London Chronicle.

Alone at Christmas.

If in this age of organizations innumerable there is room for one more, it is for an organization which would bring together, especially on Christmas, those who are alone in the world, particularly women, says the Ladies' Home Journal. Many of us who have our kin closest to us on Christmas day do not stop to realize what our feelings would be if they were not with us. It is so hard to imagine ourselves in a position other than the one we are in. We remember some poor family at Christmas, but at least it is a family. It is together. The one is company for the other even in poverty. We remember the sick, and God blesses those who do. Would that some of us might cast a look around and give a thought to those who are not sick, who are not perhaps poor as the world judges, yet who are alone—some girl, perhaps, alone; some woman, alone; some young man, some old man, alone! Alone at Christmas!

Boiled Turkey and Oyster Stuffing.

Take a medium sized turkey and stuff it with the following ingredients: Chop four ounces of suet very fine, mix it with six ounces of breadcrumbs, the grated rind of half a lemon, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt, cayenne pepper and grated nutmeg to taste. Take the beards off two dozen oysters, add them and their liquor, strained, and lastly two eggs. Truss the bird, tie it in buttered paper and then in a cloth. Place the turkey, breast downward, in boiling water; let it come again to boil, skim it well and simmer gently for an hour and a half or longer, according to the size of the bird. Serve with rich white sauce.

Immune.

"You know, they say," remarked Mr. Sloman, gazing dubiously at the mistletoe above her head, "that kissing really spreads disease sometimes."

"Yes?" replied the sweet girl. "By the way, did you know I was vaccinated recently?"

What's In a Name?

Waggles—For heaven's sake, don't put any lighted candles on that Christmas tree!

Mrs. Waggles—Why not, dear?

Waggles—Don't you see it's one of those patent noninflammable ones?

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Green pinks at Quincy Music hall tonight.

The year 1905 came in on a Sunday and will go out on a Sunday, 53 Sundays in all.

Miss Mary Guertin of Weymouth, and Mr. Andrew Dinegan of Quincy, were married on Wednesday evening, at the parochial residence.

Sixteen to sixteen was the score in the basket ball game at Braintree, yesterday between Thayer Academy and Cambridge high teams.

At the regular board meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Y. M. C. A. it was voted to omit the December meeting the date being so near to Christmas.

Several men are planning to drop in at the musical promenade at the Women's club house this evening instead of going to their club as usual after the close of business.

Quincy needs a tree warden, and there would be plenty for him to do at present judging by the browntail moth nests seen on every hand. All the neighboring towns have tree wardens and they are all busy.

The free lamp renewals of the Quincy Electric Light and Power Company have struck a responsive chord. Treasurer Faxon says many new ones are being exchanged for old lamps that have seen considerable service.

The Pinkham Construction Company has been incorporated for $30,000 with Charles F. Pinkham as president, Geo. F. Moulton as clerk and treasurer and Wilfred B. Mathewson of Quincy as director with the above.

There will be two interesting addresses at Bethany church on Sunday. In the morning Hon. Samuel B. Capen L. L. D. of Boston will speak. In the evening Mr. Hardy will speak on "Sir George Williams, a modern knight of the cross." President Chase and Secretary Gay of the Association will assist in the evening service.

The fellow workmen from M. E. Cook & Co.'s stone shed tendered Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Frinke a grand surprise Thursday evening at their home, 16 Pleasant street. The evening was spent with games, speeches and refreshments. A large Morris chair was presented the newly wed couple. At a late hour good nights were said and best wishes accorded.

Thanks His Friends.

Editor Daily Ledger:

Dear Sir—I would like through your columns to thank my many friends for the support they gave in the recent contest conducted by your paper.

BOSTON THEATRE.

"Fantana," the most successful and most celebrated of the Messrs. Shubert musical comedies, with the original cast headed by Jefferson De Angelis, and the same elaborate and artistic scenic investiture which characterized the production during its record-breaking run of 350 nights in New York City, is to be the Christmas holiday attraction at the Boston Theatre. The seat sale opened briskly last Monday morning. The engagement itself, which is a limited one, will include Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Musical comedies come and go, and few of them make anything more than a transient impression, their popularity being of the most ephemeral description. "Fantana," however, is one of the very few which seems destined to have perennial popularity. It is out of the ordinary run of musical comedies and depends for its extraordinary success not alone on the happy blending of its sparkling humor and its tuneful melodies, but also upon the novelty of its characters, scenes and situations, the splendor and beauty of its scenic environment and the ingenious devices utilized for novel electrical effects.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

At the Hollis Street theatre, Boston, for two weeks, beginning Monday Dec. 18, Charles Frohman presents Francis Wilson the famous fun-maker of musical comedy, in two comedies without music, one in three acts by Clyde Fitch, the other in one act, the work of Austin Strong and Lloyd Osborne. Mr. Fitch's play gives Mr. Wilson in the character of Cousin Billy all the scope required for the display of his diverting and clever methods as a laugh maker. Mr. Wilson's stage work has an irresistible quality that makes him and the role he plays interesting and amusing every moment he is on the stage. "The Little Father of the Wilderness," the one-act play which will follow "Cousin Billy," enables Mr. Wilson to be seen in a character that is in strong contrast to Cousin Billy. Its scenes are laid in the Palace of Versailles, France, during the reign of Louis XV. During Mr. Wilson's engagement there will be matinees Saturdays only and a special matinee Christmas Day. The regular Hollis Street Theatre prices will prevail.

PARK THEATRE.

There is now playing at the Park Theatre, Boston, one of the cleverest and most humorous comedies ever seen in that city. The title of the play is "Just Out of College" and written by George Ade, the famous American humorist and playwright, the author of "The College Widow," "The County Chairman" and other great comedies. "Just Out of College," as seen at the Park, stamps Mr. Ade as the most brilliant playwright America has yet produced. It is a keen, clean, wholesome comedy that keeps audiences at the Park in uproars of laughter from the beginning to the end. There are about thirty people in the cast, and every character is a distinct type of men and women who are seen in everyday life, and created for stage purposes by the author in his best and most forceful manner. Mr. Ade has selected as his hero a young man who is just out of college. It is built on so fine a subject that it appeals to everybody, though it is doubtful if there is any section of the country where Mr. Ade's play will make great an impression as in New England, for in this section of the country almost every young man and young woman are college graduates, or will soon be. Of evenings, the curtain rings up at 8, and at the matinees at 2. The curtain is down at 10 30, and of afternoons at 4 30.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Another big vaudeville program is announced from Keith's theatre for the week of Dec. 18, which for variety and excellence will bear the closest comparison with any of the big bills presented this season. Quite a novelty in the way of a vaudeville sketch will be presented by Harry Foy and Florence Clark, called "A Modern Jonah." Others of note on the big program are Fred Niblo, former manager of the Four Cohans, and one of the brightest of monologue comedians; Mayme Remington and her "Black Buster Browns," singing the latest "coon" songs; Rosaire and Dorretto, "the captain and the sailor," wonderful European eccentric comedy acrobats; Helen Reimer in an interesting monologue, especially appealing to women; Kingsley and Lewis in the comedy sketch, "After the Honeymoon"; the Mitchells, whirlwind dancers; Alf Holt, mimetic comedian and whistler, and Ellen Richards, skilful novelty wire artist. The usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures will be exhibited in the kinetograph.

Sportsmen's Show.

The Sportsmen's Show, which the New England Forest. Fish and Game Association give in Mechanics' building, beginning Christmas Day and extending over a period of two weeks, bids fair to outshine any previous efforts in this line. In addition to all the exhibits gathered from almost every clime on this continent, filling two great spacious halls, basements and balconies, and including the very valuable loan exhibits sent by the United States Government, a special feature will be made this season of Biograph Hunt pictures taken especially for this Sportsmen's Show and illustrated talks by such well known authorities as Ernest Seton Thompson, Homer Davenport with his cartoons, Howard W. DuBois and Frank Chapman.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The coming week at the Castle Square theatre will be made notable by a revival of "She Stoops to Conquer," Goldsmith's old comedy, which is rarely seen upon the modern stage. It will form the second of the five classic productions to be made from time to time during the Castle Square season, and in scenery, costume and acting it will be as complete as modern stage art can make it. Few comedies excel "She Stoops to Conquer" in mirth-provoking quality, its humor is rich in gayety and fantastic speech, and it shares with "The Rivals" and one or two other plays the honor of having kept the stage for nearly a century and a half since its opening performances.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

For next week at the Empire Theatre the attraction announced will be William Gillette's adaptation from the French of Messrs. Bisson and Leclercg's "Jalouse" known in this country as "Because She Loved Him So." This clever comedy shows the ingenuity and originality of its authors as well as of the adapter, its lines, scenes, and situations all brimming over with merry ideas and amusing novelty. The story is essentially French but Mr. Gillette has located its scene in London and made its action suited to the taste of American audiences. The cast will show the Empire stock company to fine advantage as its members have repeatedly shown their skill in the presentation of this class of plays.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Prompt Arrest For Larceny of Watch

Robert Eagan, night starter of the Old Colony Street Railway at Neponset, was relieved of his gold watch late Saturday night. The watch was in the side pocket of Eagan's overcoat. He took the coat off and hung it in the boiler room while he was getting ready to come home. A row started in the car barn and Eagan ran out to see what the trouble was, and some one ran in and pinched his watch. He missed it in a few minutes, and telephoned to the starter in City Square a description of the men he thought took the time piece.

When the car arrived in City Square Lieut. McKay and Officers Goodhue and Kelliher were waiting for it. They arrested two young fellows giving the names of George Riley, aged 24, of South Boston, and William Riley, aged 27, of 4 Main street, Quincy. A gold watch was found on George Riley. He said it had been passed to him by an unknown man at Neponset.

They were locked up and later Eagan identified the watch and the men. As the theft was committed in Boston the two men were turned over to Station 11 officers and the men were arraigned in the Dorchester court this morning.

George Riley was sentenced to four months in the house of correction, and William Riley was discharged.

Large Families Hail from Quincy

Two large families which have descended from Quincy people were illustrated in the Boston Sunday papers. The Herald told of the Thanksgiving gathering of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Phipps Souther, who now reside at 691 Adams street, Dorchester.

Mr. Souther was born in Quincy 69 years ago, being the son of the late Henry Souther. He married Miss Mercy M. Smith of South Boston. All their eleven children are living, five sons and six daughters, and there are ten grandchildren. Thirty were at the Thanksgiving gathering.

The Globe illustrates the family of Mrs. Abbie Lavinia Burrell, aged 83, who has ten sons and daughters and 49 grandchildren. Mrs. Burrell formerly lived in Quincy, and the Ledger recently told of the Thanksgiving reunion at 280 Eastern avenue, Malden.

Another large Quincy family will have a Christmas reunion at a Boston hotel.

Musical Program Entertains Gentlemen And Friends At Clubhouse

Not for years has the Brackett house on Presidents hill looked so inhabited and so cheerful as on Saturday evening for the promenade concert. Light streamed from every window from basement to roof, and approaching the house from the east it looked the castle it has always been called, being originally copied from Abbotsford, the home of Sir Walter Scott.

The cheerful exterior led one to be prepared for the warmth and brightness within. Beside light from many chandeliers there was the soft glow of the candle from old-fashioned candelabra placed on mantel, in dim corners, and on the tea tables. The interior of the house has recently been renovated by the Quincy Women's club, who now occupy it as a club home.

Saturday evening was the first public opening of the house to men and friends of the club. It almost partook of the nature of a gentlemen's night, but could hardly be that, not being given under the auspices of the club, but of the club's president, Mrs. E. C. Bumpus, for the benefit of the District Nurse's fund, in which the club is interested.

On arriving the guests were ushered up stairs where they found commodious room for their wraps, and on descending, ushers were in waiting to introduce them to Mrs. Bumpus, who was assisted in receiving by the vice presidents of the club Mrs. Chandler W. Smith and Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick; the treasurer, Miss Annie L. Prescott; Mrs. Charles R. Safford, of the board of directors, and Mrs. James H. Stetson and Mrs. George W. Morton, representing the club, Mrs. John L. Gow and Mrs. Charles M. Bryant ushered.

The reception was very informal, and was followed at half-past eight by a fine program of songs, piano and readings, by Miss Bessie Tuckerman soloist, Miss Bertha Everett Morgan reader, and Mr. F. E. Stevens piano.

Each artist contributed three numbers, giving the following program:

Song, "Surrender," by Mrs. Daggett
Reading, "Christopher Cobb."
Piano, Scherzo in C sharp minor by Chopin.
Song, "Love me if I live," by Arthur Foote
Reading, "Mistress Jasamine."
Piano, Rhapsodie No. 13, by Liszt.
Song, "Goodbye, Summer," by Tosti
Reading, "Mrs. Shaver's Recovery."
Piano, Impromptu by Arensky.

It was a fine program and much enjoyed, the artists receiving most flattering applause. Miss Morgan, the reader, was a favorite, and in responding to encores, gave "Entertaining the Minister" and "Christmas Saving." Her selections were original and pleasing; not after the style so many readers affect. She is a graduate from the Emerson School of Oratory.

Miss Tuckerman had a rich contralto voice, singing easily, clearly and sweetly, giving much pleasure to her listeners.

To the music lover, Mr. Stevens, at the piano, was a source of much pleasure. He used a Henry F. Miller & Son grand piano, which he handled most skilfully. Mr. Stevens was graduated from and is also an instructor at the New England Conservatory of music. Although a young man, much is heard of his ability, and Quincy people appreciated the opportunity of hearing him play.

After the concert Mrs. Bumpus invited the guests to stay for a cup of coffee, and social chat.

Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. Harry L. Rice, Mrs. Elwin E. Davis and Mrs. F. J. Peirce presided at the daintily appointed table, pouring coffee, and at the punch tables were Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth, Mrs. Herbert Lawton, and Mrs. Clarence Burgin, assisted by Miss Etta M. Prescott, Mrs. Wilson Marsh, Miss Alice G. Coe, Miss Norma C. Lowe, Miss Alice N. Redding, Miss Marjorie Rideout and the Misses Hatch.

Mrs. Bumpus was very simply gowned in a deep cream colored silk. Mrs. James H. Stetson was strikingly beautiful in black velvet, with blue velvet toque, boa and muff. Mrs. Charles M. Bryant, also wore a noticeably beautiful costume, and there were several others.

It was a very pretty affair socially as well as enjoyable musically.

There was a large attendance of men, among them being noticed: Judge E. C. Bumpus, Judge Albert E. Avery, Hon. Charles M. Bryant, Paul R. Blackmur, Col. Edward Anderson, Zenas S. Arnold, Clarence Burgin, Dr. E. E. Davis, Dr. F. S. Davis, Wilson Marsh, James H. Stetson, George W. Morton, Dr. John A. Gordon, Harry L. Rice, Chandler W. Smith, Charles R. Safford, William F. Cummings, E. E. Jameson, George Frothingham, Russell Low, John L. Gow, Frederick H. Smith, Edward H. Angier, Charles H. Hardwick, William T. Isaac, Henry A. Rideout, Mr. Remick, Ralph W. Hobbs and Frank F. Prescott.

Dancing Party.

Saturday proved a busy night socially and among the most enjoyable of the affairs was the dancing party at Colonial hall. It was a subscription party arranged by Miss Helen Claflin and Miss Georgiana C. Lane.

The guests were received by Mrs. Rupert F. Claflin, Mrs. Cushing Lane and Mrs. N. S. Hunting, and the ushers were Nixon Wiley Elmer, Carleton C. Lane, Gerald Howland and Dr. Ellsworth.

It was a very pretty party, some especially pretty gowns being noticed. Punch was served throughout the evening and ices during intermission.

—The Robert F. Murphy, a four-masted schooner of 697 gross tonnage was launched at Bath, Me., on Saturday.

—Alonzo William Cheever, about 20 years ago associate editor of the New England Farmer, died at his home in Dedham on Saturday, from a tumor.

Public Buildings Not in Favor

Whether Quincy will get an appropriation at this session of Congress for a Government building there is considerable doubt. The Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript says: "Notwithstanding Speaker Cannon's announcement that no public buildings bill will be allowed to pass Congress this session, the faithful representatives are introducing bills in behalf of their old and new pet projects. This is a matter of precaution. As long as the end of the session is months away and the Buildings Committee must have something to occupy its attention the possibility exists that enough pressure can be brought on the Speaker to let the "pork" measure in. Each member must, therefore, be prepared to say he did his part. Last year the general bill was drawn and reported, but no action was allowed. Speaker Cannon is not averse in arousing expectations, feeling perhaps that the pleasant effects outlive the disappointment. His action also enables members to shoulder the blame for failure on the Speaker when they go home.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

"There would be fewer fools on record if people talked less," says Mrs. Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world. She must have been thinking of the Congressional Record.

Japan demands $25,000,000 for feeding the Russian prisoners. Practically Waldorf-Astoria prices for rice and fish.

Congress is something of a tame animal show, being composed of "political war horses," "political hacks," "Cannon's colts" and eighty "kids."

Drift of Opinion.

These days are busy ones with the shopkeepers, and with the shoppers, one class willing to display their wares, and the other anxious to get the best that their money will buy. Those who have already made their purchases can observe the rush and the crush with complacency, being well satisfied with work accomplished.—Lynn Item.

☞ Higher standards are not a matter of thought, but of life. We cannot raise our standards of life merely by thinking about them. No inventor ever grew in fertility of successful ideas by confining himself to abstract throught, or to paper-and-pencil theory. He must put his ideas into practical and successful operation if he would gain fresh and improving ideas. And this is our only hope of spiritual growth. God cannot, or will not, reveal new truth to one who is not living the truth that he knows. Standards have got to be lifted, if we would have them higher, and it takes the lift of life to raise them.—Sunday School Times.

How to Make a Chestnut Filling.

The most approved chestnut filling for the Christmas turkey is made of the boiled or roasted nuts, mashed, seasoned with butter, salt and pepper, but those who are willing to tax digestion for the sake of variety may try the following: Roast thirty large chestnuts, removing the shells and inner brown skin; take about ten of the chestnuts and pound to a paste with the cooked turkey liver; season to taste with pepper and salt; add a few drops of onion juice and a teaspoonful of minced parsley; bind together with the yolks of two eggs; fill this into the cavity at the neck and sew up. For the body stuffing take five or six links of tiny smoked sausage and cut into small pieces; mix with a cup of fine breadcrumbs, pepper, salt, two ounces of melted butter and the remainder of the chestnuts, using them whole.

How to Make Chocolate Dolls.

An oddity for the Christmas tree in the shape of dolls may be made of chocolate creams. Take one bonbon for the head and two more for the body. Each one should be speared by a toothpick. Pinch one side of the chocolate cream until it looks something like a nose. Cut out a piece on either side for eyes, make another slash for the mouth, then with a toothpick make imitation hair on the Topsy. Dress in a crisp red paper gown, with a black sash, and suspend from the tree with black baby ribbon.

HUB SENSATIONS

Furnished In Plenty by New District Attorney

EMMONS IS BEFORE HIM

Explains His Connection With a Damage Case--Federal Officer Also Submits to Examination--Liquor Sellers Get a Hard Jolt

Boston, Dec. 18.—The new district attorney of Suffolk county, John B. Moran, closed a week of investigation by interrogating in his office two public officials relative to their private acts. The first was Police Commissioner Emmons, who was asked by the district attorney to relate his connections with a damage case in which Emmons represented the plaintiff, in a suit against the town of Revere.

The suit was subsequently settled, but Emmons said that he took no part in such action and did not know of a check of $1400, only a part of which, it is claimed, reached the plaintiff, Nellie Fitton. Judge Emmons said he was merely engaged as counsel in the case to enter an appearance and file papers.

Following Emmons, the district attorney interrogated Assistant United States District Attorney Ham relative to a letter which Ham read on the stump a week ago Saturday night while making a political speech in a city campaign in support of the Republican candidate for mayor. The letter was from Congressman McNary to G. W. Anderson of this city, and contained charges alleged to be of a libelous nature against J. F. Fitzgerald, the Democratic candidate for mayor. This letter was one of the matters which occupied the attention of Moran during the week and during the investigation of it he summoned McNary to appear before him, but the latter refused.

The appearance of Ham at Moran's office is believed to be one of the few instances in which a United States prosecuting officer was submitted to an examination regarding his own acts by a state official. Moran stated after the interview with Ham that it would be necessary for the person publishing the alleged libel to either substantiate the charges contained in the letter or go before the grand jury of Suffolk county.

In addition to his investigation of the so-called McNary letter and of the Revere damage case, Moran caused during the past week the complete suspension of liquor selling in the Hotel Touraine and was the indirect cause, through stimulating the police commission to action, of closing nine liquor saloons said to be within 400 feet of a schoolhouse, and also of the removal of display articles and signs in apothecary shops holding sixth-class liquor licenses. This latter action by the police, ordering the clearing of windows of apothecary shops, is for the more rigid enforcement of the so-called "screen law."

The latest developments in the liquor law crusade have brought the war between Moran and the police board to such a crisis that sensational results may be expected.

It is emphatically asserted by friends of Moran that the action of the police board in enforcing the "screen law" against the druggists was taken for the sole purpose of throwing odium on the district attorney by making it appear that his regime was responsible for what many regarded as a petty and unreasonable interpretation of the law.

When it became known late Saturday night that liquor dealers had been requested to remove lettering from their windows the friends of the district attorney looked upon the matter as a further attempt to put Moran "in a hole."

It is confidently asserted that Moran will refuse to be placed in this light, and the war between himself and the police board has become more bitter than ever.

Thief at Church Dedication

Buffalo, Dec. 18.—A gold cross set with rubies, suspended on a gold chain, was cut from the vestments of Bishop Colton of the Roman Catholic diocese of Buffalo while he was attending the dedication of St. Nicholas' Greek Catholic church. The cross was valued at more than $1000. The cross hung about the bishop's neck over all his robes. While in a crush immediately after the service the cross disappeared.

The Panama Press Agent

Washington, Dec. 18.—Senators Allison and Hale, who are members of the committee on appropriations, and Chairman Shonts and Secretary Bishop of the isthmian canal commission were in conference with the president at the White House last night. It is presumed that the case of Bishop, whose duties as press agent of the commission have been the subject of discussion in congress, was among the matters talked about.

Two Batches of Murder

Adelaide, Australia, Dec. 18.—While a launch belonging to Fred Bradshaw, owner of a station on the Victoria river, was conveying to Port Darwin seven natives accused of murdering white persons, the prisoners killed Bradshaw, his engineer and two other white persons and four native employes. The murderers escaped.

WANTED FOR MURDER

Long-Sought Man Is Finally Arrested In Georgia

Boston, Dec. 18.—The state police have received a dispatch from Eatonton, Ga., stating that the local authorities have arrested "Chick" Sullivan for the murder of James J. Tucker, an expressman, in Lynn, Mass.

Tucker, about 10:30 o'clock on the night of March 23, 1904, was seen in the company of two men and a woman. Suddenly a shot was heard, and Tucker staggered and then, plunging into a saloon, died without disclosing the identity of his companions. From evidence which the authorities obtained last night, the Boston police took into custody D. G. V. Pacy, a clerk at the Hotel Westminster in this city. The arrest was made on the statement of a man named Hunt, who claimed to have seen Pacy in Tucker's company during the evening. After a further investigation, however, Pacy was released.

The state authorities, however, did not give up the search for Tucker's slayer, and are much gratified to learn of Sullivan's arrest in Georgia. It is understood that Sullivan made some sort of a confession to the Georgia authorities, but the details of his apprehension are not known here.

Congressional Forecast

Washington, Dec. 18.—The senate will meet the wishes of the house for an adjournment for the Christmas holidays on Thursday next. Meantime the senate will probably content itself with comparatively little work unless there should be difficulty in agreeing with the house on the terms of the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill.

The four days before the holiday adjournment will be dedicated in the house to further discussion of federal control of insurance and to completing the enactment of the Panama emergency appropriation.

Tar and Feathers For Prophet

Perth, Kas., Dec. 18.—George Huffman, representing himself to be the "True Prophet of Christ," was tarred and feathered here by a mob. After the punishment was applied, the man walked all night in his new dress to Renfrew, Ok. He suffered greatly from cold. Huffman had induced a family named Talkington to believe that the world would end in five years. He finally induced Talkington to give up all his earthly possessions to regenerate the world.

Japanese Celebrate Victory

Tokio, Dec. 18.—The first official celebration in honor of the return of the Manchurian armies was held yesterday. Ten thousand men of all arms, in their field uniforms and with 24 guns, marched a distance of three miles, their tattered flags telling eloquently of the ordeals through which each regiment had passed. Great enthusiasm was manifested. The expenses of the celebration were defrayed by volunteer contributions.

Morton to Policyholders

New York, Dec. 18.—An appeal to policyholders in all the states of the union to lend their assistance in preventing adverse legislation is made by President Morton of the Equitable Life Assurance society in a circular letter which is being sent to policyholders. Morton says that the insurance business is certain to be the subject of great consideration by legislatures as a result of insurance developments during the last six months.

Alleged "Black Hand" Man Killed

New York, Dec. 18.—Joseph Magerero, said to have been a member of the so-called "Black Hand" society, was shot and instantly killed last night during a fight in a narrow hallway leading to the back room of a saloon. Salvatore Delsalvatore had the big bone of his right leg shattered by a bullet and is charged with being an accessory to the crime. The murder is laid to Rosaro Juliano, who is in custody.

Bachelors Roasted Out by Fire

STRIFE IN RUSSIA

Appears to Be Growing More Bitter Than Ever

A DESPERATE MOMENT

Powers Conferred on Provincial Authorities to Suppress Proletariat Is Tantamount to Declaration of Martial Law

St. Petersburg, Dec. 18.—Apprehension is convulsing Russia. While the government claims it has given battle only to the "Red" revolutionists, the populace generally believes that the "White Terror" has returned. Already the leaders of the proletariat organization who escaped capture Saturday night at the Economic society, and even men of the rank of Professor Milukoff, are in hiding from the police, who are hunting them down.

The government evidently anticipates a battle royal and has made its dispositions accordingly. It fully understands that the proletariat will give blow for blow and thus answer the wholesale arrests.

The workmen's council and the League of Leagues Saturday night issued a declaration of a general strike to begin immediately, and consequently, by an imperial ukase just published, all governors general, governors and prefects throughout the empire who are cut off by telegraph are clothed with almost dictatorial powers, being authorized, without consulting St. Petersburg, to declare a state of siege and, if necessary, even martial law. As most of the provincial authorities are reactionary officials of the old regime, the advantage they will take of such power to terrorize the populace can be easily imagined. They will be in position to become petty tyrants and wage war each in his own particular fashion against the revolutionists.

The Novoe Vremya was the only paper, with the exception of The Official Messenger, to appear Sunday, and in the centre of the first page is a half column of blank paper, showing where the censor had forbidden an article. The Novoe Vremya seceded from the Publishers' union and was published under the protection of police and Cossacks. The Slovo and The Novosti, two other papers that have not suspended publication, were unable to appear, as the printers walked out in obedience to orders of the council of workmen because these papers refused to print the manifesto of the proletariat organization.

Although practically all the ringleaders of the proletariat organization were arrested Saturday night, the resourcefulness of the council of workmen was proved by the fact that in less than an hour a new council, the head of which is M. Lenient, editor of New Life, had replaced the old and elected officers.

The editors of the newspapers suspended for publishing the proletariat organization's manifesto, including the famous M. Hessen of The Pravouj, were, with the single exception of Professor Milukoff, who managed to evade arrest, taken into custody. M. Souvorin, editor of The Russ, furnished $5000 bail and was released.

In addition to the general strike, it is expected that the revolutionaries will have recourse to the old methods of fighting the government. It is stated that the terrorist organization held a meeting in the small hours of this morning.

Count Witte's life is considered to be in danger and the annex of the palace, where he is residing, is heavily guarded.

A report that Count Witte has resigned is in circulation, but it is false. It may, however, become true at any moment, as General Count Alexis Ignatieff is being held in reserve. A close friend of the premier says that Count Witte had no faith in the policy of Minister of the Interior Durnovo and only consented ot it on the condition that it would be confined to legal means.

The most significent news comes from Tsarskoe-Selo, where, in view of the resolution of the government to put its foot down on the strife, a regular campaign is being conducted with the purpose of firing the loyalty of the guard regiment. Each day a regiment from St. Petersburg is reviewed and addressed by the czar and with much ceremony he passes up and down the lines and speaks personally to officers and men. Grand Duke Nicholas is present at all these ceremonies.

The government has chosen a desperate moment to repress the proletariat. It is fighting for its life in the Baltic region, where a revolt is admitted to be in full blast, and if it cannot be crushed its flames will spread to Poland. The native population of the ancient kingdom of Lithuania is made up of a hardy and headstrong people, who, having raised the banner of revolt, will fight to the bitter end.

At Moscow the government is confronted with a mutiny of troops so serious that it has been obliged to send a regiment of cavalry from St. Petersburg to aid in the suppression of the mutineers.

The government has succeeded in restoring cable communication abroad, but it is utterly unable to guarantee how long it will be able to keep the cables in operation.

The editors of several satirical papers of mushroom growth, which have been printing outrageous cartoons of imperial personages, have been arrested, charged with lese majeste.

"THANK THE LORD"

Greeting to Holy Jumpers Who Were Not From Boston

Boston, Dec. 18.—The "Holy Jumpers" appeared in the South End yesterday in Odd Fellows' hall, where they opened a seven days' convention with screaming, running, dancing, jumping, kicking, running up the wall, grovelling on the floor, standing on their heads and other manifestations of peculiar delight.

Incidentally they declared that the formal churches were filled with "dried up backsliders," that strawberry festivals were leading the people to perdition, that divorce court judges, clerks, lawyers and ministers who married divorced persons would "sink down into hell," that "Boston was going to hell and would soon get there," that the theological schools were turning out "simpering dudes, as much alike as two toothpicks," and closed a long list of exciting thrusts at the established order of things by humorously imitating a dignified, formal minister announcing the church strawberry festival from the pulpit and by giving a clever imitation of a grindstone sharpening an axe.

Among those who testified to getting holiness, not one said they were from Boston when they were asked where they came from, and the leaders each time shouted "Thank the Lord."

Met Death In Peculiar Manner

St. Louis, Dec. 18.—Charles B. Eames, founder and vice president of the St. Louis Credit Clearing house, a collector of ancient firearms, purchased an antique muzzle-loading rifle. The stock was in poor condition. Failing in his efforts to remove the wooden portion Eames decided to burn it off. The rifle had probably not been used for 50 years. Eames took the weapon to the cellar and placed the stock in the furnace. Hardly had he done so when it was discharged, sending a bullet into his forehead, causing instant death.

Presents Valued at $20,000

Washington, Dec. 18.—Miss Alice Roosevelt has paid $1206 duty on the presents given to her on her recent trip to the Orient. The payment was made by means of a check drawn to her personal account. Guesses at the value of the gifts had reached as high as $250,000. The actual appraisement by the experts shows the total value to be less than $20,000. Miss Roosevelt is more than able to meet the law's demands from the income of her own property, left her by her mother.

Dwyer slept in the basement, where the fire originated, and his escape was cut off. Mrs. Marsh and her children were suffocated by smoke which poured up the narrow stairway.

THIEVES IN BANK

Worked Undisturbed For More Than an Hour

RACKET BY EXPLOSIONS

Was Heard For Long Distance, Yet Cracksmen Got Away--Railroad Watchman and Son Bound While Safe Was Blown

Suffield, Conn., Dec. 18.—After binding the railroad watchman, William Jones, and his 12-year-old son to chairs in the railroad station here Sunday morning before daylight, five bank robbers pried their way into the Suffield savings bank on Main street, blew open the safe after the fourth attempt, and made away with about $50,000 worth of registered bonds and stocks, not negotiable, according to President Newton of the institution. They overlooked $3000 in cash and negotiable bonds in a drawer nearby.

Although the safe was wrecked and the explosion was heard for a quarter of a mile away, the robbers made their escape, leaving no clue whatever. While the bank was being robbed a sixth member of the gang stood guard over Jones and his son at the depot, covering them both with revolvers and threatening them with death if they made an outcry. The explosions necessary to break open the big safe were heard by the men in the depot, and after the fourth one the sixth member of the band left Jones and the boy and joined his pals, making his escape with the others.

Jones' son was not tied as securely as his father and after working for 15 minutes over the knots in the ropes which strapped him to the chair, he freed himself and later his father. The belated alarm aroused scores of citizens and a rush was made for the bank, as Jones told everybody that the robbers said they were going to "crack the savings bank safe."

When the party reached the bank there were outward evidences of the work of the cracksmen. Windows were broken and the front door was wrenched off its hinges, crowbars being used. The men worked at the safe for over an hour. All wore masks and probably were professionals. Nitro-glycerine was used.

Mrs. Sophia Bissell, who lives next door to the bank and within 15 feet of it, says that she heard all four explosions and knew that robbers were breaking into the safe in the bank. She said she was too frightened to give the alarm. About a fifth of a mile down the street lives President Spencer of the First National bank of Suffield, and he says that he too heard the explosions and endeavored to reach some of the officers of the savings bank by telephone, but failed to arouse anyone.

The Elizabethpol Massacre

Paris, Dec. 18.—A dispatch to The Journal from Trebizonde, Asia Minor, says that the Tartars attacked the Armenians at Elizabethpol on Dec. 2. The latter offered resistance and endeavored to send their families away, but all the fugitives were massacred. Street fighting followed and then came house to house conflicts which lasted for several days. Finally the Tartars set fire to the town, which is now a mass of ruins. The number of dead is estimated at 1000.

Two Bandits Held Up Train

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 18.—A train on the Northern Pacific railroad was held up and robbed 15 miles west of North Yakima by two masked men, who compelled the engineer to stop the train, run the locomotive, the mail and express cars half a mile ahead. The robbers dynamited the express car, shattered the through and local safes and escaped with the contents. Passengers were not molested, and no one was injured.

PANIC AT HOTEL FIRE

Many of the Guests Had Not Time to Dress Themselves

Skowhegan, Me., Dec. 18.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed Hotel Haselton, a four-story wooden structure, late last night, driving 50 or more persons from their lodgings to the street. Many of the inmates were retiring when the alarm of fire was shouted, and there was a small panic. Mrs. H. T. Conant, one of the lodgers, received a broken leg in jumping from a second-story window. Other occupants rushed wildly from their rooms, but escaped from the building without injury. Richard W. Brown, proprietor of the hotel, sustains a loss of $20,000.

Flames were discovered on the second floor of the house at 10:30 o'clock. Most of the lodgers fled partly dressed into the snow and severely cold weather, leaving their personal effects behind.

It was soon seen that the hotel was doomed and the firemen turned their attention to the saving of a livery stable and stores which were threatened by the leaping flames and flying sparks. The hotel was burned to the ground by midnight, but the nearby buildings were not seriously damaged.

Bill Sewell's New Job

Island Falls, Me., Dec. 18.—William W. Sewall of Island Falls, nominated for collector of customs in the district of Aroostook, was formerly a guide of President Roosevelt when the latter made hunting trips in the Maine woods 20 years ago. Sewall also acted as superintendent of the Roosevelt ranch in the Bad Lands of South Dakota. Sewall made a long contest for the collectorship against T. H. Phair, the present incumbent, and R. W. Shaw. Sewall made a personal canvass of the entire county, a majority of whose voters are said to have endorsed his candidacy.

Gloucester Interests Threatened

Gloucester, Mass., Dec. 18.—At a conference of owners and masters of fishing vessels hailing from this port, it was decided that the services of a United States revenue cutter would probably be necessary at Bay of Islands, N. F., where Gloucester property, valued at about $500,000, is said to be in danger of being frozen in. A memorial asking that a cutter be sent to the fishing grounds will be forwarded to Washington. There are 30 Gloucester vessels in Newfoundland waters.

Munsey will be placed on trial at Cambridge on charges of conspiracy and forgery. The authorities allege that the women were implicated in altering the will of Samuel Welch of Lowell, who left property valued at $15,000.

Taylor company shoe factory, which threatened to develop into a general strike of the 15,000 shoe workers of this city, has ended and the strikers returned to work today. While the terms of the agreement were not announced, it is understood that a new proposition was advanced by the manufacturers, which was satisfactory to the lasters.

I., Dec. 18.—A wireless dispatch received at the torpedo station from lightship No. 66, now on her way to the station of the Nantucket South Shoals, made vacant by the sinking of No. 58, stated that the vessel was still at anchor 20 miles east southeast of No-Man's-Land, being held back on account of heavy weather. Officers will be elected at the meeting of the St. Francis court, No 25' on Tuesday evening of next week.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held tonight and will be the last regular meeting of the year.

The Quincy basket ball team has a chance with the Lynn team, as the latter is in the same box, not having won a game in the league.

Walter E. Simmons of this city has been appointed as one of the aids on the staff of Commander-in-chief James Tanner of the Grand Army.

The Ladies Missionary meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. G. F. Pinkham, 111 Warren avenue.

Frank E. Parlin will have charge of the meeting of the Wollaston Unity Club on Friday evening. Col. Edward Anderson will give an address on "Newfoundland and Labrador."

Santa Claus will make his annual visit to the rooms of the Granite City club Saturday evening. There will be a Christmas tree and distribution of presents. Music and refreshments.

Wednesday evening comes the third attraction in the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course. J. S. Garnes monologue artist and general entertainer with piano solist of note will be the attraction.

Through the efforts of the Wollaston Ladies' Alliance a fine new piano has been placed in the vestry of the Unitarian church. It was purchased through Chandler W. Smith and is just like the one in the Woman's clubhouse at Quincy.

At this season of the year in particular, Quincy shoppers appreciate a men's furnishing store like that of George W. Jones. This year his stock of holiday goods is larger than ever, and after all useful presents are most appreciated.

John C. Rochford of Newton has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $35,773.18, and assets of $400. Mr. Rochford is the builder who started the erection of the Revere road apartments in this city three or four years ago, and was unable to finish them.

Refreshments were served in the dining room which was decorated with crepe paper, candles etc. There was a birthday cake with eighteen candles. Games concluded the festivities.

Daily Ledger Prize Winners

People have not yet ceased to talk about the phenomenal vote received by Conductor Herbert G. Johnson in the Daily Ledger Scholarship contest. He certainly has many friends or he would not have rolled up a vote of over 50,000. Conductor Johnson has been in the employ of the Old Colony street railway at Quincy for six years and is one of best known men on the road. He wears one stripe on his arm signifying five years of service, and he has run on all the routes. Halifax, N. S., was his birthplace, and he worked on New Hampshire farms previous to coming to Quincy. He is 32 years of age, married, and resides at 15 Woodward avenue.

Miss Emma Peterson who wins the $100 Scholarship offered to most popular lady, has for six years been employed as bookkeeper at the grocery of Frank Brewer at Brewer's corner. She is a graduate of the Willard school and also attended the Quincy High. Miss Peterson was born in Quincy, being the daughter of John Peterson of Station street, and her many friends are pleased that she has been awarded the scholarship.

Henry Maloney, the winner of the second prize, may be the youngest registered pharmacist in the State, being only 20 years of age. He has been with the Weeks-Hill pharmacy in City Square for four years. He was born in Quincy and attended the Adams school and Adams Academy. After winning by such a handsome vote, it is almost needless to say that he is very popular with young people and with customers at the pharmacy.

The friends of Miss Elizabeth Mahoney are delighted that she should have won the second prize for ladies. She is a Quincy born girl, attractive and a general favorite. Miss Mahoney was graduated from Coddington school and also attended the Quincy High. She is now employed at the dry goods store of Miss C. S. Hubbard and it is a pleasure to trade with her.

Work Appreciated.

Editors Daily Ledger:

I wish to thank my friends, through the columns of your paper, for their kindness, in saving coupons during the Scholarship contest, which gave me first prize. Such friendship will long be remembered.

H. G. Johnson, Conductor.
Quincy, Dec. 16, 1905.

Thankful to Friends.

To the Editor of the Daily Ledger:

I wish to thank all my friends, through your columns, who so kindly saved coupons for me.

Elizabeth Mahoney.

Examinations Necessary.

By an order recently passed by the City Council and approved by the Mayor the permanent fire force has been increased four men. These as well as all call firemen must be appointed from the civil service list. Persons who desire to take the examination for these positions may find application blanks at the City Clerk's office, City Hall.

First Unitarians.

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Y. P. R. U. was held Sunday evening in the Unitarian vestry. The subject of the meeting was "The First Unitarians of New England," and the evening was in charge of Mr. Rollins' Sunday school class. After a few preliminary remarks by Mr. Rollins, very interesting papers on the lives and characters of Channing, Emerson, Clark, Parker and Bellows were given by Misses Dorothy Fay, Gertrude Lacey, Hattie May Mitchell, Persis Thompson and Margaret Barnes.

—The New York World recalls that no longer ago than New Year's eve, 1899, Senator Depew said: "The old, old adage, Honesty is the best policy, is the safest motto for every business man to follow. And I know what I am talking about, too."

The jewerly store of J. P. Weixler is open evenings this week, and his prices for holiday goods are low.

—Russia is having a harder time with her internal troubles than she had during the Japanese war.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

The Q. Y. C. Concert.

One of the most excellent phases of the Philharmonic Orchestral Club, which is to give the concert tomorrow evening, at Quincy Music hallunder the auspices of the Quincy Yacht Club, is its personel. It is almost entirely made up of talented American musicians who have achieved all manner of success both at home and abroad. In it is found a strong quartet of exceptional ability made up of first and second violin, viola and cello. Then again this quartet plays such numbers aa only a quartet comprised of cosmopolitan Americans can play. In fact the work of the whole orchestra, according to prominent musical critics, shows the smoothness, vim and fire of the Venetian and Italian schools, the thoroughness of the German school, the dainty finish and "chic" touch of the French school and this, combined with the verve and brilliancy that is only found in things truly American gives a program that all can like and that all can understand.

Acceptable Gift.

We have at the Patriot Office for sale a dozen copies of the old and valuable history of Quincy, by the late Dr. Pattee, giving quite full and complete account of everything of importance to Quincy and Braintree from the time Capt. Wollaston landed at Mount Wollaston with about thirty other adventurers in 1625, to the time the history was published in 1878.

Christmas Is Coming.

Hark! Hark! by the ingle,
It is merry Kris Kringle;
Though yet far away, it is sweet to the ear,
The chimes of bells singing,
And Santa Claus bringing.
Love tokens for Christmas; it soon will be here.

Hark! Hark! through the wildwood,
That lover of childhood
With sweet-scented boughs and bright holly to cheer;
With laughter is peeking,
The fire places seeking:
And coming with Christmas; it soon will be here.

Hark! Hark! when the glory.
Of that blessed story,
Is sure as the Bethelem Star to appear;
The angels home given
And angels of Heaven,
Will joyously sing; for the Christmas is here.

Andovers Have a Chance

There is yet another game to be played in the Merrimack Valley football league, and upon it the championship depends. It is the postponed game of Oct. 7, and will be played at Quincy between the Fore Rivers and the Andovers. Should the latter team win they will be tied in points won with the Fore Rivers, but will lead in goals won. Should the Fore Rivers win or draw they will be the champions, as a win will put them four points points ahead, and a draw two points ahead. Fore Rivers have won 11 games to 9 for the Andovers, but have won only 38 goals where Andovers have won 40.

Upon motion of Councilman Gassett, a recess of five minutes was taken.

H. W. HUNT TAX ORDER.

The Committee on Finance reported leave to withdraw on the order refunding H. W. Hunt taxes.

Councilman Bass offered a minority report refunding H. W. Hunt $105.58 for taxes of 1901.

The council went into a committee of the whole and heard counsel for petitioner.

Mr. Newton stated that the bill for taxes that year came in a lump sum and he did not know Nut Island was in the bill until later when he got an itemized bill. He did not own the land when it was taxed to him.

The committee then arose.

Councilman Bass favored refunding, as Mr. Hunt did not own property when it was taxed.

Councilman Piper said it was turned down before as it was said that Mr. Hunt was willing to pay tax on property to strengthen his claim against the Commonwealth, which took the land.

Councilman Polk said in 1903 it had been represented by Mayor Bryant and the Tax Collector that Mr. Hunt was willing to be assessed on the property to strengthen his claim to ownership at the time the Commonwealth took it. He had seen nothing to substantiate this position.

Councilman Bass—That was the reason the order was first turned down, but he had found out such was not the case. He did not own land when it was assessed to him.

Councilman Chase was inclined to favor the minority report.

Councilman Stone—The application for refund was not made within the time limit.

Councilman Chamberlin—He took deed of property after the State had filed its papers taking the land.

The minority report was accepted and the order ordered to a second reading.

OTHER REPORTS.

The joint committee on Finance and Ordinances reported an amendment to the order increasing the salary of the Board of Health to $200 per year. Rules suspended and order passed.

The joint committee on Finance and Ordinances reported ought not to pass on the order for city officials to present bills to the City Auditor.

The joint committee on Finance and Water Supply reported reference to the next City Council on the order relative to water assessments.

The Finance Committee reported ought not to pass on the order for $2,800 for fire apparatus for Houghs Neck. Accepted.

LOAN ORDER.

The Finance Committee reported a loan order for $17,050 to cover appropriations under orders for Beacon street, North Payne street, draining Graggs pond, Coddington school lot, Wollaston avenue sidewalk, Edwin street sidewalk, Cottage avenue widening, Bates avenue widening and fire apparatus at Houghs Neck. Ordered to a second reading.

The Finance Committee reported an order authorizing the Mayor to execute deed for the tax title of Mary A. Cunningham property.

Upon motion of Councilman Gassett it was voted when the Council adjourn it be until Wednesday, Dec. 27.

Upon motion of Councilman Lo[illegible] petition relative to the Canal [illegible] be committed and reported to the next Council.

Upon motion of Councilman Gassett the order for municipal lighting was taken from the table and put on its final passage. It failed to pass, 10 voting in favor and 10 against, as follows:

Yeas.	Nays.
Chamberlin	Adams
Chase	Bass
Flaherty	Burgess
Gassett	Crane
Gearwar	Hughes
McLane	Loud
Piper	Savage
Polk	Sidelinger
Sawyer	Spargo
Stewart	Stone

Absent—Barry and Hynes.

Not voting—President Nichols.

By a vote of 11 in favor and 9 against the vote was reconsidered and the order was referred to the next Council.

NEW ORDERS.

Councilman Bass offered an order transferring $336.77 from interest of temporary loans to interest of city debt. To a second reading.

Councilman Bass offered an order transferring $775 from water receipts to water debt. To a second reading.

Councilman Bass offered an order transferring $480 from receipts of sewer assessments to interest on sewer debt. To a second reading.

CITY PLANT.

Councilman Gassett offered an order requesting the Mayor to petition the legislature for authority to establish a municipal lighting plant for municipal purposes only.

Councilman Bass asked why the order was limited to the city only. He did not see the feasibility of it.

Conncilman Gassett said he had introduced the order by request. Personally he was willing the city should furnish light to any one.

Councilman McLane thought the objection from Councilman Bass was not in good taste, having voted a few minutes before against municipal ownership. Change of heart should have come fifteen minutes earlier.

Councilman Chamberlin explained the the introduction of the new order. He

Quarry Owner Blown Up

Joseph W. Johnson, aged 60 years, of the quarry firm of Johnson & Anderson, was seriouly and probably fatally injured on Monday by the explosion of a stick of dynamite in an old drill hole.

Mr. Johnson was cleaning out the drill hole when his bar struck the dynamite. There was a loud explosion and a blinding flash, and Mr. Johnson was blown several feet. Workmen nearby were uninjured and rushed to his assistance. When they reached him he was unconscious. His left arm had been blown entirely off, and the sight of both eyes had been destroyed. He was also internally injured.

He regained consciousness before the ambulance arrived and insisted upon the dismembered arm being taken to the Hospital with him. His death was hourly expected, but he was alive this morning. Mr. Johnson resides on Buckley street and has a wife, two sons and two daughters. He is a prominent member of the Swedish Lutheran church, being one of the first ten who organized the society, and a man generally respected.

Boys' Club.

At the regular meeting of the Huscarls of the King on Monday, the following new members were initiated, Clarence Sewell, Charles Yule and John Stitt. The hand painted fruit dish, which was painted and given to the club by Mrs. Lee, was awarded to J. Peterson. After the meeting, militiary drill was instructed by Mr. W. E. Lee. It was voted by the members of the order that they give an entertainment to the sailors at Sung Harbor on or before Christmas, assisted by the Christian Endeavor of the Washington street Congregational Church.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

After all the City Council of 1905 was about evenly divided on the purchase of the lighting plants of the city as a step toward municipal lighting. The vote was ten to ten at the meeting this week, which, however, was not a majority, while a two-thirds vote was necessary. The councilmen who have been reelected are also about equally divided.

Ward One has fared better than usual at the hands of the City Council of 1905, and improvements which have been desired for years are about to be consummated. These include the extension of Maple place to City Square, the widening of Cottage avenue and the enlargement of the Codding school grounds. To these might be added the equipment of the fire station at Houghs Neck which is really in Ward One. Work has not commenced on any of these, but appropriations have been made, and that is the main thing.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Constitution is safe. Secretary Bonaparte says he will not touch it, and that he couldn't if he would.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The week before Christmas is an important part of the celebration. By many it is thought to be the pleasantest part of the festive season, anticipation being often more exciting and satisfying than realization. The main purpose during the week will be to delight the children. The birth of Jesus suggests it. The master artists of the world for many generations have lavishly spent their genius to portray this event or some kindred incident in the infancy of Christ, and the copies and reprints of these great works have kept the early life of Jesus fresh in the memory. These incidents and their artistic elaborations have distinghished Christianity from all other religious systems. Abstract principles without illustrations appeal to the mind rather than to the heart, and logical thinking is not a characteristic of the majority of the people.—Baltimore American.

☞ It is a good thing for the country that many of our people go abroad, and see other peoples and get their ideas. Without such intercourse we should be a narrow and poor-spirited people. But a couple of hundred millions, all of which has to be paid for with laboriously produced American corn, and meat, and oil, and such products, is getting to be rather an excessive price to pay for the polish of foreign intercourse. European travel is becoming something like a rage. It is carried on too expensively. It would be better if we had more travellers of the humble sort, who were prepared to take their knapsacks on their backs and tramp the roads. The story is told of Bayard Taylor's first European trip, which cost him, for his Continental traveling expenses, $18, and which was one of the most profitable European journeys, from the point of view of resulting cultivation and enlightenment to American people, that ever was undertaken. Taylor got close to the people and really saw the countries he went through. He did not merely dump his thousand into the pockets of a lot of innkeepers and couriers, and come back with nothing but guide-book information.—Kennebec Journal.

LOANS TO WALSH

Made by Financial Concerns Controlled by Him

THREE BANKS COLLAPSE

Financier Had Been Warned That He Was Borrowing Too Heavily For His Private Enterprises -Depositors Are Safe

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Three of the largest financial institutions in the west, the Chicago National bank, the Home savings bank and the Equitable Trust company, all of them controlled by John R. Walsh of Chicago, and in great measure owned by him, have suspended operations. Their affairs will be liquidated as rapidly as possible and they will go out of business.

Mr. Walsh, who was the president of the Chicago National bank and of the Equitable Trust company, and all the other officers and all the directors of the Chicago National bank, have resigned. National Bank Examiner Bosworth has succeeded Walsh at the head of the Chicago National bank and the places of the directors have been filled by men appointed by the Chicago Clearing House.

Back of the new management stand the allied banks of Chicago, which have pledged their resources that every depositor shall be paid to the last cent. This action prevented any effect on the financial world of Chicago other than the decline on a stock exchange of 2½ in the price of National Biscuit common stock. The National Biscuit company had employed the Equitable Trust as transfer agent and had dealings with the Chicago National bank, but it is not affected by the failure in the slightest degree.

The immediate cause of the collapse of the institutions controlled by Walsh is said to be the large amount of money which they have lent to various private enterprises of his, notably the Southern Indiana railway and the Bedford Quarries company of Indiana. Walsh says that if he could have had a little more time and been left untrammelled in his operations he could have saved his banks and made enormous profits for himself and his associates.

The comptroller, the state auditor and the members of the Chicago Clearing House committee, however, place the value of the securities of the Southern Indiana Railroad [illegible] at $26,000,000. Against this amount the banks and the trust company have resources that are, on a conservative estimate, worth $16,000,000. The bonds of the Southern Indiana Railroad company are estimated by Walsh at $16,000,000, but they are considered by the comptroller, the state auditor and the Clearing House committee to be worth a little more than half that sum.

The directors of the two banks, as well as Walsh, who has turned over all of his private property, as well as that standing in the name of Mrs. Walsh, have pledged real estate and securities, valued at $5,000,000, making a total in assets of $29,000,000, estimating the railroad bonds at $8,000,000, against $26,000,000 liabilities.

Some time ago Comptroller Ridgeley took exception to the large loans made by the Chicago National bank to private enterprises of Walsh and declared that a portion of them must be called in. Assurances were given, the comptroller declares, that this would be done, but the promises were not kept.

Finally the incentive to a close scrutiny of the affairs of the Chicago National and the Home savings banks was given by a banker in New York, who had been requested to take part in a syndicate to furnish a loan of $6,000,000 to Walsh to further expenditures on the Southern Indiana railroad. The bonds of the company, however, did not sell as rapidly as expected, and state and national bank examiners were apprised of the failure of the loan.

Up to this time the banks had been examined separately, which enabled them to transfer securities back and forth. It was decided that the state examiner and the national examiner should make a simultaneous investigation. This showed that the institutions had loaned a large amount, estimated all the way from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, on the securities of the railroads that were owned almost entirely by Walsh. It is said that the paper for these loans was signed by clerks and that the collateral was the bonds of Walsh's railroads, the Southern Indiana, the Chicago Southern, the latter an extension of the Southern Indiana, and the Wisconsin and Michigan.

When the examiners had concluded their report Walsh asked for time, saying that he could raise the money to straighten out everything. He was not as successful in this as he hoped to be. When Comptroller Ridgeley was informed of the situation he came at once to Chicago. Ridgeley called a meeting of the members of the Chicago Clearing House and informed them of the situation.

The meeting was held in the office of the president of the First National bank and continued from 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon until 5 o'clock Monday morning. Later it was announced by the comptroller that the banks had suspended and that all depositors would be paid in full by the other banks of the city.

ANTI-FOREIGN RIOT

Trouble at Shanghai Due to the Anti-American Boycott

Washington, Dec. 19.—Rioting broke out in Shanghai, the American and German consuls were stoned, two foreigners were slain and many others wounded, according to the cable advices received at the state department. The advices add that the situation is most serious and slaughter and fire are expected. The riots were started by leaders of the anti-foreign element.

Police stations have been burned. No Americans have thus far been injured, but the official statement is made that the situation is regarded as serious. Two American cruisers are now on their way to Shanghai.

The state department's information of these events was contained in several dispatches from Shanghai, the last of which was received from Consul General Rodgers. It is gathered that the moving causes for the riots were the anti-American boycott and a general feeling of hostility toward foreigners such as preceded the Boxer uprising in 1900.

Mr. Rodgers' statement was that all business was suspended among the Chinese; that as an incident to the general strike a number of foreigners had been assaulted. Volunteers had been called out, presumably from the people in the foreign settlements, whose efforts at maintaining order were seconded by English marines. The warships in the harbor were cleared for action.

Boycott Strictly Enforced

San Francisco, Dec. 19.—Advices received from the Orient by the steamer Korea indicate that there has been no abatement of the Chinese boycott on American goods. This trade animosity, it is said, has developed into a bitter hostility not only on American products, but also against people from the United States. In the leading cities of China store windows bear signs reading: "No American goods sold here." This boycott is declared to be carried out to the letter. It is said that the goods which have principally come under the ban are oils, tobacco, sewing machines and flour.

In Congress

Washington, Dec. 19.—Whether the senate is warranted in ignoring a senator convicted in the courts on charges of misconduct and in not assigning him to places on standing committees, yet leaving his name on the senate roll, was discussed for two hours by the senate and then dropped without a ruling on the question.

Insurance, hazing, the suffering Russian Jews and immigration were all topics of discussion of the house under the general leave to talk. The only business done was to send the canal appropriation bill to conference.

MERCANTILE PREFERRED

Heads of Fraudulent Concern Are Given Jail Sentences

Boston, Dec. 19.—George and Guy Stillings, brothers, and J. F. Knisely were given a hearing before Judge Lowell on a charge of using the United States mails in connection with a lottery, the court already having ruled that the Preferred Mercantile company, which the three defendants represented, was a lottery and a scheme to defraud. Both of the Stillings are at present serving a term of one year in jail for contempt of court in connection with the legal proceedings against the company. Knisely, who was the state agent of the concern, left a sick wife in Kansas a few days ago in order to appear in court here.

Three weeks ago the Stillings brothers pleaded nolo to the charge of conducting a lottery, and yesterday Knisely offered a similar plea to the same charge. Judge Lowell sentenced George Stillings to one year, and Guy Stillings to four months in jail. The case against Knisely was placed on file.

Judge Lowell said that the operations of the Preferred Mercantile company were as flagrant a case of fraud as had ever come under his observation. In giving George Stillings the maximum sentence, one year in jail, Judge Lowell observed that the penalty was utterly inadequate for his offense.

The business of the Preferred Mercantile company was dealing in diamonds on an instalment system, based upon drawing lots.

When Fitzgerald Is Mayor

New York, Dec. 19.—Mayor-elect Fitzgerald of Boston had a long talk here with Mayor McClellan. After this interview Fitzgerald said that it was his intention to take his department heads from the organization ranks. He said that he intends to devote all his efforts to raising the revenues of Boston without increasing the rate of taxation. That result, he thought, could be accomplished by increasing the transit facilities.

Suspicion of Britain's Purpose

Cadiz, Dec. 19.—Information transmitted to the Spanish admiralty confirms a report to the effect that three British squadrons, comprising 60 warships, will concentrate in April near the Gulf of Cadiz for combined maneuvers. Some people here are inclined to regard the presence of the British fleet near Morocco at about the time when the Moroccan conference closes as being a significant coincidence.

TO OFFSET LOSSES

Provident Society Marked Up Certain Book Values

LOST $100,000 IN A YEAR

Empire Life Has $12,000 Asse s With Outstanding Liability of $50,000--Already Debarred In Several States

New York, Dec. 19.—With the resumption of its sessions the legislative insurance investigating committee has practically started on the completion of its work, preparatory to formulating its report to the legislature. Monday was devoted to the smaller companies, those under examination being the Provident Savings, the Empire Life and the Life Association of America.

There appeared, according to Mr. Hughes, to be a marking up of the book values of the Provident society's real estate holdings almost annually, and subsequently Miles M. Dawson, the committee's expert actuary, presented compilations showing that the society lost about $100,000 last year, which was offset by the marking up of its real estate holdings.

Stacey Wilson, secretary of the Empire Life, formerly the Home Benefit society, an assessment company, told how his company was run. The company owns no real estate, and has about $12,000 of assets with an outstanding liability of about $50,000. This company does business principally in New York and Pennsylvania, having been debarred from operations in several of the other states. He said the total receipts of his company for 1904 were $78,335, while the disbursements were $79,000. Witness said that hope of an increased business had been blasted by the action of many states in debarring the company.

The Life Association of America, organized in 1901, was also taken up and its president, Henry T. Townsley, testified. He said the company was originally an assessment company, but in 1902 it was incorporated as a stock company. He said his company frequently paid to brokers or agents what amounted to 90 percent commission. Fifty percent was the regular commission and the balance was made up by a commuting of the renewal commission.

A list of collateral loans was in evidence and when Hughes started to read it Townsley asked if it was read for the benefit of the newspapers. Hughes replied that it was read to show that the company loaned money on worthless securities. Townsley's examination will be resumed today.

Against Insurance Company

Washington, Dec. 19.—The supreme court of the United States has affirmed the decision of the supreme court of New York in the case of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company of New York vs. Henry C. Birch, assignee of a number of judgments upon contracts for life insurance, adding 10 percent for damages, as well as interest and cost to the verdict against the company. The insurance policies were issued in North Carolina and the company sought to evade payment on the ground that it had no authorized agent in that state when the policies were issued.

Amateur Standing Questioned

Philadelphia, Dec. 19.—The naval board of the Schuylkill navy, of which organization nearly all the amateur rowing clubs of Philadelphia are members, decided last night to investigate the amateur standing of the Vesper boat club's eight-oared shell crew which went to Henley, Eng., last summer. This action grows out of a dispute between certain members of the Vesper Boat club and the finance committee of the organization over expenditures made on the trip to England.

Murder and Arson Suspected

Lorain, O., Dec. 19.—Coroner French, after an investigation into the circumstances attending the death of Mrs. William Marsh, her two children and James Dwyer, whose bodies were found in the ruins of the Verber theatre building, which burned early Sunday morning, gave it as his opinion that murder had been committed and the place set on fire to cover up the crime. He will continue the inquiry along that line.

Big Sum Paid For Perjury

New York, Dec. 19.—In the trial of Abraham H. Hummel, the lawyer who is charged with conspiring to annul the marriage of Mrs. Charles W. Morse, Charles F. Dodge, the former husband of Mrs. Morse, testified that he was given $5500 by Hummel and his representatives; that there was no agreement, but that he understood that he was to stay away and to testify falsely.

Conclude Not to Defy Authorities

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 19.—The midshipmen of the first class at the naval academy, who form the court of last resort in matters relating to the "code," have passed the word among the fourth-class men, who are being called as witnesses before the board of investigation, that they may answer freely and fully all questions asked them.

Opposed to Grant For Prince

Brussels, Dec. 19.—The socialistic members of the chamber of deputies announce that they will oppose the annual grant of $40,000 which the premier has asked parliament to allow Prince Albert of Flanders, the heir apparent.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

"ITS LAST FIGHT"

Workmen Say That Throne of Romanoff Must Fall

TROOPS' AID IS SOUGHT

"Come From the People and Must Not Fire on Kith and Kin"--Government Says That It Will Adopt Harsh Measures

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19.—The workmen's council, under the very noses of the police, has succeeded in printing 100,000 copies of its paper announcing that the government has declared a civil war on the proletariat and saying that the challenge must be accepted. In its appeal to the people the council declares this is the government's last fight; that the throne of the Romanoffs is tottering, and that another blow will cause it to fall. The council adds:

"While the government at St. Petersburg is falling, its own regiments are rising against it, and at Riga a republic has already been proclaimed. A few regiments may still be faithful, but the army as a whole is on our side. The government wants a fight. It shall have it.

"The people are for us. If we are defeated it will not be our last battle. We can fight on. The government is risking everything—its army and its finances. Witte cannot play his hypocritical game any longer. The government has only made concessions to save itself from ruin. Now, seeing that its fall is inevitable, it is making a last despairing effort to recover its power.

"We would have preferred delaying the decisive conflict until better prepared, but reaction makes retreat impossible. A revolutionary conflict cannot be avoided."

The paper also contains a direct appeal to the army, adjuring the troops to remember that they come from the people and must not fire on their kith and kin. This appeal inveighs against the tyranny of the government, which, it says, empolys the army not against a foreign foe, but to shoot down its own people. It summons the soldiers and sailors to remember their parents, their wives and their children, to take a share in the emancipation of the nation, to organize secretly, to take the oath not to shoot down the people, and to join in the general strike when it shall have been proclaimed.

Governor Regensk of Riga is still urgently calling for troops. He reports that, besides the fact that armed insurgents are disputing the passage of the soldiers, the railroad tracks are damaged in all directions, and he advises that troops be sent by water.

It now transpires that half the reinforcements of troops on board the train wrecked Dec. 14 near Stockmansof, Livonia, surrendered to the insurgents. Regensk's latest advices said that the remainder of the troops held out for four days. Their position when last heard from was desperate.

The following statement of the government's position was made to the press last night and may be accepted as authoritative:

"The government sincerely desired to introduce the new regime without having recourse to harsh measures, but it received no support from the constitutionalists or other moderates, while the proletariat organizations, under the leadership of the Socialists, continued their mad campaign in favor of armed rebellion and openly incited the army and navy to mutiny. The climax of this campaign was reached when efforts were made to attack the credit of the country in the midst of a considerable panic. Had the government allowed such efforts to go unchallenged, it would have precipitated complete financial and industrial ruin.

"After all, self-preservation is the first law of nature, and besides, without the restoration of a semblance of order, it would be impossible to hold the elections for the douma. The case was a desperate one and it demanded a desperate remedy.

"The government believes that the radical aims of the Socialists have the sympathy of only a fraction of the population, and that if their leaders did succeed in overthrowing the monarchy and in placing their doctrines in practice they would be swept out of existence by a counter revolution.

"Nevertheless, the government is on the horns of a dilemma, as, no matter how honest its motives, in the present state of excitement they are bound to be misinterpreted, while, on the other hand, if enough order can be restored to hold the elections the cry will be set up that the government has adopted this expedient to control the elections and to capture the douma. We have taken the only course left open to us."

Insurgents Hold Livonia

Dorpat, Livonia, Dec. 19.—The southern part of Livonia and the greater part of Courland are completely in possession of the insurgents. The military are still far too feeble to cope with the situation. The region between Riga and Wenden is a wilderness. The buildings on all the estates have been burned and plundered. The heavens to the south of Dorpat reflect the glare of fires. A number of German barons and their families are held prisoners by the insurgents.

CUTTING OFF "GRAFT"

Moran Now on Trail of Court Officers and Police

Boston, Dec. 19.—District Attorney Moran has started a crusade which aims to stop all forms of "graft" in the departments connected with the courts of Suffolk county. With one sweep of his axe he cut off the "special" witness fees paid in the past to medical examiners, interpreters and physicians. With another sweep he abolished the custom of advancing money to police officers sent to other states by the governor to bring prisoners back. With still another sweep he cut off the "extra" fee paid a witness from another state, from his home to the state line. Moran refuses to approve bills for travel beyond the Massachusetts state line.

In these three reforms Moran hopes to save several thousand dollars a year, in fact, far more than his own salary. He is especially emphatic regarding medical examiners' fees. He says that paying them "special" witness fees of $25 for testimony upon a petty jury and $15 for appearing before a grand jury in connection with deaths which they have officially investigated is too much like paying them twice for the same services.

No Immorality on Isthmus

Washington, Dec. 19.—Senator Lodge presented to the senate, in amplification of his denial to the charge that women had been taken to the Isthmus of Panama, under authority of the canal commission and distributed among laborers for immoral purposes, a letter from Secretary Taft, who denies that the commission has had cognizance of any women being brought to the isthmus for the purpose named. He adds that already there are several preachers of different creeds in the pay of the commission.

Wright on Philippine Tariff

Washington, Dec. 19.—"I don't object to intelligent selfishness, but I do object to pigheaded selfishness, and that it what this opposition to a reduction in the Philippine tariff seems to me." In these words Governor Wright of the Philippines summarized the arguments of the sugar and tobacco interests before the ways and means committee of the house against reduction of the Philippine tariff. Secretary Taft applauded the argument.

Unexpected Explosion of Boiler

Providence, Dec. 19.—A big horizontal tubular boiler in the engine room of the Franklin Machine company's foundry exploded from an unknown cause at 11:15 last night, wrecking the engine room and the equipment of the plant. The boiler, a steel one, half an inch thick, was blown to pieces, and the concussion shattered the glass windows of all the foundry buildings and houses in the vicinity. No one was injured.

Plan to Prevent Anarchy

Berlin, Dec. 19.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the staid Vossische Zeitung affirms that he has been assured that there exists at the Russian court a party, including two ministers, which is intriguing to persuade the foreign powers to take steps to rescue their subjects in Russia as a means of raising Russian national feeling to a point which will result in saving the country from anarchy.

Plotters Sentenced to Death

Constantinople, Dec. 19.—Edward Joris, a Belgian, and three others, charged with participation in the attempt to assassinate the sultan, have been sentenced to death by the native court. Other alleged accomplices were committed to penal servitude for life, and 10 persons charged with the same crime, who have not yet been arrested, were sentenced to death.

Corporations Ready For Trial

Kansas City, Dec. 19.—Counsel for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, Swift & Co., the Armour Packing company and the Cudahy Packing company, indicted by a federal grand jury for alleged violations of the freight rebate law, announce that they are ready for trial. Judge Pollock has not set the date of trial. No bonds were required.

Steamer Given Up For Lost

Newport News, Dec. 19.—Steamer Andes is now 48 days overdue from this port for Guanta, Venezuela. Since the Andes passed out of the Virginia capes, on the morning of Oct. 22, she has not been seen or heard of, and it is announced that her owner has given her up as lost. There were 23 men aboard.

Passing of Old Race Track

Chicago, Dec. 19.—The Washington Park race track, on which the American derby was run for 17 successive years, is to be cut up into city lots. The prohibition of betting caused the gates to the race course to close. The club has been in existence 41 years.

Father May Share Babies' Fate

Lightship Reaches Destination

Newport, R. I., Dec. 19.—After having tried since last Friday to reach her station on Nantucket south shoals, lightship No. 66, on which repairs had been hurried to enable her to take up the post left vacant by the sinking of relief lightship No. 58 in last week's storm, cast her anchors at her regular station yesterday afternoon. Heavy storms have delayed the beacon in taking up her duties.

Higher Wages For Folders

Lonsdale, R. I., Dec. 19.—Beginning Jan. 1, the folders employed in the bleachery connected with the plant of the Lonsdale company in this village will receive an increase in wages of 10 percent. The request for an increase was presented a few weeks ago. The other employes of the company will not participate in the increase.

Tariff Warning to Germany

Washington, Dec. 19.—Germany is given a sharp warning against tariff discrimination affecting the United States in a bill introduced by Representative McCleary of Minnesota. The bill provides an additional duty of 25 percent on the wares of any country found discriminating against American products.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.

Combination Against Japan

Tokio, Dec. 19.—The continued failure of Baron Komura to conclude the negotiations with the Chinese government at Pekin which were begun after the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese war is an open secret. China's firm attitude is believed to be due to combined pressure indirectly exerted by Russia, France and Germany. The kindness of the Emperor of Germany to former Japanese prisoners of war on their way home is appreciated, but the Japanese appear to be distrustful of his style of diplomacy.

Haskins Sentence In Superior Court

Henry Haskin was sent to the reformatory by Judge Sherman of the Superior court at Dedham on Monday for assault on a young girl on Hall place, West Quincy, several weeks ago.

The case was one where Haskins was captured after a lively chase in which Rev. A. B. Tyler of the West Quincy Methodist church, Fred L. Badger and an officer participated. The girl had been attending a meeting at the church on Hall place.

After the meeting she accompanied a girl friend part way home and was returning to her own home when Haskins grabbed her and threw her to the ground.

Her cries for help were heard by Rev. Mr. Tyler and Mr. Badger who gave chase. They were joined by an officer and Haskins was captured on Willard street.

Later the girl positively identified him as the man who had assaulted her.

That same evening an hour previous, a woman had been held up at Wollaston. While this woman could not identify Haskins, the police believed that he was the party who made that assault.

Ankle Broken.

Michael Hurley, employed at the Wollaston foundry, had his ankle broken this morning by a heavy piece of casting which he was loading onto a team, falling upon him. He was removed to the City Hospital in the Police ambulance.

About 5000 Tons.

Returns from the several railroad shipping terminals for the month of November show that the total amount of granite shipped that month amounted to 10,840,410 pounds, or about 4,000,000 pounds less than in the month of October. Of this amount Quincy Adams sent off 5,969,526 pounds and West Quincy and the Quarry railroad 4,698,884 pounds.

Painted Hens

Moses Swartz, a Russian Hebrew has discovered a new method of marking his hens so that in case they wandered away he could readily identify them.

Swartz had George Stevens hailed into court this morning for stealing his hens.

Swartz in his testimony said some one stole four of his hens and that later he found three of them in Stevens yard.

When questioned as to how he knew they were his hens, he said it was of the paint he had put on them. Further questioned he stated that when he bought hens his custom was to paint them; the color he used in the particular case was green.

That color was selected as it matched the color of his house.

The idea of painting hens was a novel one and caused even the court to smile.

One of the painted hens was exhibited in court. Then the court adjourned to the hall when the balance of the hens were exhibited to his honor.

There was a loud cackling as the hens were taken from the coop and the feathers flew all about the corridor. Then the court resumed business and continued the case until Jan. 3.

Why Delay on Sagamore Street?

Atlantic people in general are asking, what is the matter that they do not go ahead and finish up that job on Sagamore street.

With the exceptionally good weather for this kind of work it was the general wish that the work on this street might be completed before a heavy snow storm, that cars might again run through to Neponset, and ordinary travel might be resumed.

Work suddenly stopped on the street, and people are wondering why.

Supt. Gammons of the street railway says his company is doing their part. The rails are all laid and the special work for the connection with the tracks on Hancock street is on the spot. The delay according to Mr. Gammons is up to Contractor Cashman, who will do the paving.

A Card.

The undersigned desires to return hearty thanks to all those who so kindly assisted in the recent Daily Ledger Scholarship contest in rolling up such a large vote for her, and hopes to merit the prize awarded. To the publishers of the Ledger for their generous gift she also returns thanks.

Municipal Lighting

said there would be a concerted action by different cities and towns of the State before the next Legislature to break the present law which was in the interests of corporations and against the people. He believed cities should have a right to manufacture gas and electricity for the use of the city. He had accomplished all he expected when he started the movement for municipal lighting. It was a subject that needed agitation, and he was pleased that an agitation had been started. It would accomplish something if continued by the next Council. Years ago franchises were given away with little thought of the future. It was a great question.

Councilman Adams thought it was not inconsistent for one who had voted against the original order to favor this order. The question now was entirely different. Should always oppose the purchase of the plant of the Citizens Gas Light Company. It was not an auspicious time to inaugurate municipal plants to sell light. He resented the imputation that the city could not run a peanut stand, there was no harm in the present order.

Councilman Stone queried whether a vote in the affirmative would be binding on the city to establish a plant.

Councilman Chamberlin answered no. The order was passed unanimously.

CALENDAR.

The orders granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. permission to attach its fixtures and wires to poles on River, Charles, Silver, Walker, and Marion streets, Woodward avenue, Whitney road and Nightingale avenue took their second reading. The rules were suspended and the orders passed to be ordained.

The order laying out Dixwell avenue as a public way took its second reading. The rules were suspended and the order passed to be ordained.

Adjourned at 9.57 to meet Dec. 27.

One Killed

Explosion of Dynamite in Sewer Trench on Baxter Street

One man was killed and another seriously injured this morning by an explosion of dynamite in a sewer trench on Baxter street.

Daniel Shea, age 49 years, of 60 Copeland street, was the man killed and Charles Fogelgren, age 48 years, of 11 Station street, was the man injured.

The accident happened about 10.40 opposite number 33 Baxter street. The Sewer department is at work extending the sewer main at this point.

The two men were in the trench. Shea had a bar in his hand prying away some loose rocks near a manhole.

Suddenly there was a deafening explosion and both men were blown backward. The bar in Shea's hand had struck an old dynamite cartridge that had been left in the trench. Fellow workmen rushed to their assistance and physicians were summoned.

Doctors Hardwick, Jones and Hunting responded, as did also the police ambulance.

Shea's face presented a horrible sight, being badly cut and bruised, and the shock had also injured him internally, as he died shortly after at the City Hospital where he was hurriedly taken.

Fogelgren's injuries, while severe, will probably not result fatally. He was cut about the face and head and is now at the City Hospital.

The sewer trench at this point is built through a ledge and was opened some weeks ago and then abandoned. It was full of broken stone. The full force of these flying pieces struck Shea in the face.

Walter McKenzie was in charge of the work and stood but a few feet away with other men. Commissioner Burke was early on the scene.

Mr. Shea was married and has a family.

A similiar accident happened some years ago in a sewer trench on Main street.

At the City Hospital it was said that Shea's injuries consisted of a fractured skull, broken leg and multiple injuries, from which he died.

Fogelgren had an eye injured and his face peppered by flying rocks. He was resting comfortable this noon and will probably recover.

The Q. Y. C Concert

A large and appreciative audience was present at Music hall, Tuesday evening, and enjoyed two hours of delightful, and inspiring music by the Philharmonic Orchestra club.

The club is composed of artists of wide repute conducted by W. F. Dodge, and the concert was given under the direction of A. H. Handley for the Quincy Yacht club.

It was a rare treat for music lovers, and the exclamations of one lady that she could sit all night and listen to such music, expressed the views of all.

The program of ten numbers was made up of selections from composers of world renown, including Nevin, formerly of Quincy. Two of his compositions was given, "Narcissus" and "A Day in Venice."

Two solos were among the number, the first by C. W. Dodge of the Staats sextet on the cello, and the other by W. F. Dodge, conductor on the violin, were beautifully rendered and encores were demanded and given.

Number five on the program was a nautical fantasia, and included a number of well known nautical airs that carried the hearers back to days passed on old ocean.

Number six was one of the most enjoyable numbers. It included three selections: "Andante Cantabile Opus II," "Minuetto," and "Narcissus." During the rendering of the first of these three the air seemed to penetrate the soul, and the audiance was held spell bound. So quiet and still was it that a pin might have been heard to drop, and the ticking of the clock in the rear of the hall was plainly audible above the music.

The personnel of the orchestra was: W. F. Dodge, violin; F. S. Morton, violin; William Howard, viola; C. W. Dodge, cello; A. Haynes, bass; E. A. Franklin, flute; J. E. St. Clair, clarinette; P. C. Fisher, oboe; A. H. Handley, trumpet.

The ushers were: William R. Thomas, Dr. C. R. Marstin, George B. Gavin, Harry Winslow, Perry Lawton, Herbert Curtis, Elmer Ricker and Everett Winslow.

May Succeed Gen. Miles

Lieut. Col. Kincaide Urged for Appointment

Lieut. General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A. retired, made a visit to Quincy Tuesday and called on Lieut. Col. Henry L. Kincaide. He has just been relieved from duty as Inspector Genera in this State and paid a very handsome compliment to Lieut. Col. Kincaide in recommending his name to the Governor as Inspector General for the remainder of the term. General Miles not only put his request in writing, but unsolicited saw the Governor personally to urge the appointment. In view of the fact that the Governor's term is so near a close, it is doubtful if he will make the appointment as he has already held up several appointments.

At the spring inspections Lieut. Col. Kincaide was rated one of the most thorough inspecting officers the State has ever had, and in June was detailed to go to Saint Paul to represent the State at the meeting of the Interstate National Guard Association.

Had the Governor's term been longer, Col. Kincaide would have received the rank of Brigadier General, which would have entitled him from previous service to be retired with the highest military rank held in the State, that of Major General.

When Governor Douglas retires in January, Lieut. Col. Kincaide will be retired with the full rank of colonel.

Car Accident

An electric car of the Quincy-Dudley street line struck a team at Dorchester on Tuesday night, throwing John Brophy, the driver of the team, from his seat and under the wheels of the car which dragged him 150 feet, terribly mangling his body.

The car was in charge of a Boston crew. William Nash of Quincy was a passenger on the car and was riding in the front vestibule at the time.

To Raise the Tracks.

It is currently rumored that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., is desirous of raising its tracks about seven feet between Atlantic and Crescent Avenue to eliminate all the grade crossings between these points before the four-track system is inaugurated, but plans have not been approved for the improvement.

CHARITIES.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

A municipal plant for the sole purpose of lighting the streets and public buildings of the city is not what the people want. It is not probable that for $25,000, with a municipal plant, the city could light its streets and public buildings any better than at present. If the city is prepared to expend $50,000 annually for these purposes, it can probable make excellent terms with the Electric Light Company; have more lights and have them all night.

Should the company lose its revenue from the city it might be forced to increase its rates to private consumers, both for light and power, and that is where the criticism comes now. The people want lower rates.

On the other hand, if the city becomes a larger customer of the company, the company may be in a position to make better terms to private parties.

Indignation against the Gas Company is more general than against the Electric Light Company. Gas ranges have become popular in other cities, and people who move to Quincy miss the gas. They cannot understand why they are unable to get gas, but it is a fact that half the streets of the city are not piped for gas; that Atlantic and Norfolk Downs have none at all. Within half a mile of the gas house, on thickly populated streets, it is impossible to get gas.

It should not be impossible, if the City Council was more aggressive, and compelled the Gas Company to fulfil its obligations: to supply gas in all parts of city, especially on thickly populated streets. The city has redress before the Gas and Electric Light Commissioners of Massachusetts.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ It is a very foolish man, who when he has been robbed by footpads or burglars, goes around bragging how much the thieves missed or allows the fact that any was missed to be published. He will not get away so easily next time, and his neighbor may one of these days suffer through his indiscretion.—Waltham Free Press.

☞ New York is a nice place in many ways. You can buy almost anything you want there—reputation, political power, a fraudulent divorce, a governor at Albany, a judge on the bench, a seat in Congress—any old thing you can use in your business. No wonder both population and trade are increasing there more rapidly than in any other city in the world.—Hartford Times.

☞ The Lynn Item thinks that Santa Claus is careful about depositing his gifts, and advises its friends not to hang up any open-work stockings. But perhaps Santa has a little of the human about him and might find that variety as charming as do the ordinary lot of mortals. He might even be tempted to look twice.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ Humorists are public benefactors. They teach the most useful and the easiest of all life's philosophies. They smooth away the rough places and hearten life with cheerful inspiration. They mellow the understanding and broaden the heart. They are negatively, at least, an aid to virtue, for vice cannot grow in an atmosphere of cheerfulness. True religion is the deadliest foe to pessimism. Humor is such a powerful aid that one can understand why the All-Wise Creator made it a part of the superior human equipment for the fight against evil.—Baltimore American.

THE SCREEN LAW

Violated by Four Leading Hotels of Boston

LICENSES NOT IN FORCE

District Attorney Moran Orders Police Commission to Take Immediate Action and Hints at Ultimate Investigation

Boston, Dec. 20.—District Attorney Moran has notified the Boston police commission that four of the leading hotels of the city have been guilty of violations of the liquor laws, and demands that the commission see to it that the sale of liquor in the hotels mentioned cease immediately. The hotels affected by the district attorney's demand are Young's hotel, the Parker house, the Adams house and the Hotel Essex.

District Attorney Moran claims that the four hotels named by him have violated the law which relates to screens in places where liquor is sold. According to the so-called screen law, no screens or other obstructions to view are allowed on premises where liquor is sold. The law further provides that any violation of this law invalidates the license held by the proprietor of the premises where the law has been violated.

In his letter to the police commission Moran says that the four hotels mentioned violated the screen law from May 1, 1905, when the licenses were issued, until within a few weeks, and that having violated the law the licenses held by the proprietors of the respective hotels are now void. The district attorney says:

"As a matter of law, the removal of the screens, or stained glass windows, does not revive the licenses, which became void by the maintenance of the screens or stained glass windows. These hotels are now selling liquor as if their licenses were in full force; the licenses being void gives no authority for the sale of liquor. It is your official duty to see to it that the sales of liquor made in these hotels at the present time immediately cease. I call your attention to the principle of common law which declares that 'every public officer commits a criminal offense who wilfully neglects to perform any duty which he is bound by law to perform, provided that the discharge of such duty is not attended with greater danger than a man of ordinary firmness and activity may be expected to encounter.'"

The district attorney's letter to the police commission closed with the following sentence: "At some later time it will be my duty to inquire of you as to why you have not acted on this matter before."

Chairman Cole of the police commission, after receiving the district attorney's communication, sent a letter to Moran informing him that the commission had received his letter and would take the matter under consideration. None of the police commissioners would discuss the matter in detail. Cole said that he thought the matter might have to be settled by the courts. No orders to stop the sale of liquor at the four hotels named by the district attorney have been issued by the commission.

Two other important steps have been taken by Moran. Holding that more than $200,000 has been diverted from the Suffolk county treasury through unnecessary witness fees, the district attorney announced that police officials must exercise discretion in the summonsing of witnesses in criminal cases. He suggests that the police find out exactly what testimony each witness has to offer and then summon those who are necessary to the case, and no others.

The district attorney also wrote a letter to the municipal court justices, directing them to investigate carefully all cases that come before them and which are beyond their jurisdiction, in order that it will not be necessary for the district attorney's office to "nol prosse" complaints which subsequently come to the superior from the lower courts.

Violation of Law "Not Intended"

Milwaukee, Dec. 20.—The Erie railway and the Chicago and Erie, in their answer to the government's complaint in the rebate case, admit an ironclad agreement with the Milwaukee Refrigerator Transit company, whereby the latter was to receive the commission of 12½ percent on the net amount of business given to the railroads for transportation, but deny that the commissions were given in anything but good faith or with any intention to violate the law.

"Trust Company" Without Assets

Jersey City, Dec. 20.—The charter of the Imperial Trust company has been forfeited by the New Jersey supreme court. The state examiner of banking and insurance testified that the company did not have a dollar of assets, so far as he could learn, although it professed to have a surplus of $800,000. The company has been guaranteeing the stock and bonds of western companies on commission.

Betting Swings Round to Fitz

San Francisco, Dec. 20.—There has been a change in the betting on the Fitzsimmons-O'Brien glove contest tonight. The volume of money which has been pouring into the poolrooms on Fitzsimmons has made the Cornishman the favorite and good judges of odds declare that when the men enter the ring Fitz will be a 10 to 7 choice. Both men are in fine condition.

Call For General Political Strike In Russia

PROLETARIAT IS UNITED

Defiance of Government's Order Will Probably Lead to Bloodshed--Russia Is to Be Cut Off From Rest of World by Wire as Well as by Rail

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20.—A call for a general political strike throughout Russia, to begin Thursday at noon, was issued last night. The call is approved by the Union of Unions, the Union of Peasants, the General Railway union and the Councils of Workmen of St. Petersburg and Moscow. A response received from the railroad men of Moscow is unanimous for a strike. The leaders have declared their ability to stop every railroad in Russia.

The strike order renders every member of the unions signing it liable to arrest and punishment under the strike order, and Minister of the Interior Durnovo attempted to telegraph orders to Moscow to arrest members of the Railway union and of the Workmen's council, but the dispatches were held up by the railroad telegraphers.

The members of the St. Petersburg Council of Workmen had been notified by the General Railway union and the Moscow Council of Workmen that in principle they were ready for a strike, but that they hesitated on practical grounds. The St. Petersburg leaders, however, felt that their pretige would suffer severely unless they could answer the government's determined offensive move with a counter stroke, while many who were committed to full revolution secretly dreaded that the ground would be swept from under their feet should the government promulgate a law granting universal suffrage.

The committee of the League of Leagues, the prominent members of which are momentarily expecting arrest on account of the manifesto issued by the league, were present at the meeting of the Council of Workmen, as were also several leading lights of the revolution, who are working desperately to co-ordinate all elements in a struggle against the government.

The printers of Moscow will strike today, but those of St. Petersburg have decided to strike only when ordered to do so.

The police yesterday afternoon visited the printing office in which the workmen's paper was published Monday, but the revolutionary printers had not left the slightest evidence of their work.

Today Russia may again be cut off from the rest of the world, not only by wire, but by rail. There is an air of suppressed excitement throughout the city. Collisions between the reds and loyalists are momentarily expected. A big loyalist demonstration had been planned, but it was abandoned at the request of the prefect of police, who believed that it might provoke bloodshed.

Batteries of machine guns are stationed at several points of vantage throughout the city and patrols of infantry and Cossacks are everywhere. A specially heavy guard is stationed in the neighborhood of the Jewish market.

Positions of Trust

Every man is likely, at some time, to be called to fill a position of trust requiring a bond.

You may be appointed guardian of a minor, or executor of an estate; you may be elected to public office, or chosen treasurer of some organization; you may be offered a fiduciary position with a bank, or may wish to guarantee a contract—in all these circumstances, and many others, we will act as your surety.

Being the largest Company in the world whose business is restricted to furnishing Suretyship Bonds, we can give you an absolute guarantee, and save you from annoying obligations. Apply to

MACHINE WITNESSES

Modern Inventions Play a Part In a Damage Suit

Boston, Dec. 20.—Upon the testimony of phonographs, photometers and oscillometers a verdict of $56,167 was returned by a superior court jury in the case of A. P. Loring and others, trustees of the Albany building, against the Boston Elevated Railway company. The trustees of the building sued to recover $150,000, the amount of damage they claimed the owners of the property suffered through loss of tenants and patronage caused by the noise of the elevated trains.

The principal evidence introduced was through phonographs, which reproduced the noise of the passing elevated trains; photometers, which measured the dimunition of light caused by the elevated structure, and oscillometers, which photographed the vibration of the air waves caused by the trains.

The jury returned a verdict of $45,000 and interest, which amounted in all to $56,167.

Fatalities In Greater Boston

Boston, Dec. 20.—Railroad trains and electric cars were the cause of the deaths of four persons and the fatal injury of another in and about Boston yesterday. The dead are: James McHolland, killed by a train at Somerville; Frank J. Supple, killed by a train at Readville; Esstrateos K. Atsarakis, killed by a train at Peabody, and John Brophy, killed by an electric car in this city. Thomas Connors was struck by an engine at Somerville and probably fatally injured.

Court Martial For Middies

Washington, Dec. 20.—Secretary Bonaparte has found that he has no power to dismiss Midshipmen Coffin and Van Deveer, charged with hazing and with complicity in hazing Midshipman Kimbrough. This information was conveyed to him by Attorney General Moody. It is now the duty of Superintendent Sands of the academy to order Coffin and Van Deever before a court martial, and if they are convicted of hazing they must be dismissed from the academy.

Fighting Governor Leaves Office

Madison, Wis., Dec. 20.—Governor La Follette has sent the legislature his resignation as governor, to take effect on the first Monday in January, to enable him to take his seat in the United States senate, to which he was elected at the last election. Ever since La Follette reached his majority, 25 years ago, he has kept himself in the public eye all the time, and has been able to draw unto himself a host of enthusiastic admirers.

Refutes Accusers' Statements

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 20.—The testimony in the Thomas Lockwood murder trial ended with that of Charles Bassett, who denied all knowledge of the crime and contradicted the evidence of Edward Leonard and Joseph Cenesky, who, with Bassett, are accused of murdering the aged recluse. Leonard and Cenesky turned state evidence and accused Bassett of inflicting the blows which resulted in Lockwood's death.

Union of Pullman Car Porters

New York, Dec. 20.—A Pullman Car Porters' union, which is intended to include every negro railroad employe in this service in the United States, has been organized by the porters, cafe and dining car men running into New York city on the various lines. The union is known as the American Association of Railway Employes and negroes only are eligible for membership.

Saw No Signal of Distress

New York, Dec. 20.—The captain of the French steamer Bordeaux denies the report that he refused aid to the steamer Arranmore, which signalled to him on Dec. 9 that she was on fire. The captain declares positively that no signal of distress was displayed by the international code, nor did the steamer in sight change her route to get nearer the Bordeaux.

DE FORREST CHASE DEAD

Was Heir to Large Estate Which Is Now Before the Courts

Boston, Dec. 20.—Dr. De Forrest W. Chase, aged 38, who inherited an estate of more than $1,000,000 from his stepmother in Swampscott last summer, died at the home of his father, Dr. Horace Chase, on Beacon street, this city, last evening. He had been ill with kidney trouble for several months, but his death was hastened, it is said, by the shock caused by the suicide of his stepmother and the investigation into her death and the Chase domestic affairs that followed her demise.

Mrs. Chase, the stepmother, had willed all of her property to her stepson, whom she had legally adopted some years before her death. The dead man was the son of Dr. Horace Chase by a former marriage.

Mrs. Chase's death was finally pronounced by the medical examiner to be suicide, although there were so many apparently suspicious circumstances accompanying the affair that an extended investigation was made on the theory that she had been a victim of foul play.

Mrs. Chase's brothers had made preparations to contest the will when they learned that the estate was bequeathed to De Forrest Chase. It is not known what action will be taken in view of the fact that Mrs. Chase's heir died while litigation is in progress.

Inspector Restored to Duty

Brockton, Mass., Dec. 20.—A charge of drunkenness preferred against Inspector Skinner of the police force, was abruptly dismissed by Mayor Keith at a private hearing and the inspector was exonerated and restored to duty. John T. Melsop made the complaint, and Joseph Green, a negro, supported the charge at the preliminary inquiry that resulted in Skinner's suspension one week ago. Green, being sworn to tell the truth, declared that his first statement was untrue. He even insisted he had made no such statements to Mayor Keith, despite a typewritten transcript of the testimony in the mayor's possession.

Students' Belongings Stolen

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 20.—Harvard students are very much excited over the series of thefts of valuable articles from their rooms, which have been going on for the past two weeks in an unprecedented manner. No one's room seems to be safe. Opinion is growing more strongly that a student is doing the mysterious robbing. The best dormitories have been pillaged. In spite of the fact that in every one of the dormitories men are constantly passing through the halls, this thief escapes detection.

Possible Case of Murder

Attleboro, Mass., Dec. 20.—Authorities are probing the mysterious death of Samuel Mills, a farmhand, 60 years old, whose body was found in the woods at South Attleboro with face and shoulders covered with blood. Medical Examiner Holden reports that the man was assaulted and that he probably died of hemorrhage as a result and an autopsy will probably be ordered. Mills, who was employed on the farm of George W. Allen, disappeared on Dec. 10.

Large Returns From Shellfish

Providence, Dec. 20.—An increase of revenue through the granting of leases for shellfish beds in the waters of the state from $47,000 to about $65,000 is expected. The past season for shellfish has been one of the most prosperous in years. The stricter enforcement of the oyster bed laws has engendered a feeling of confidence among the oyster men in the development of the industry.

Portland Won't Double Up

Portland, Me., Dec. 20.—The special election held for the purpose of deciding the question of annexing South Portland to this city was defeated by about 375 votes. The whole number of votes cast was 3095. Under the provisions of the act, Portland may vote twice more on the question, but one year must elapse between each election.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Fatal Fire In Factory

Chicago, Dec. 20.—One fireman was killed and two employes may have lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the enamel sign factory of the Charles W. Schenk company last night. AMONG THE CLUBS.

Interest in the clubs has somewhat abated during the busy season incidental to Christmas and the holidays. Many of the clubs have postponed scheduled meetings until after New Years, while others planned for the holidays when making out the yearly program.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Education committee in charge of the program for the next meeting of the Quincy Women's club, Tuesday afternoon, 26 December, feel somewhat apologetic that it should be of a nature even more entertaining than educational. It was felt however that members were entitled to something relaxing on the day following Christmas and the strenuous holiday merry making, and so that the charming lecture by Mr. John Colby Abbott (secured through special courtesy to the club and its executive for one third of his usual charge) was quite justifiable.

The sixty steropticon views are said to be of unusual beauty, and the lecture accompanying them equally attractive.

A limited number only of guest tickets will be issued, in order not to exceed the seating capacity of Bethany chapel where the lecture will be given.

QUINCY DAY NURSERY ASSO.

Members of the Day Nursery association are much pleased at the financial results of the food fair held at the home of Mrs. Charles R. Safford, Clive street, Atlantic, over seventy-five dollars being realized.

REBEKAHS.

George L. Gill Rebekah lodge at its regular meeting tomorrow night will initiate several candidates, receive applications and elect officers for the coming year.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CLUB.

The members of the Wollaston Unitarian club present at the December meeting listened to a very scholarly address on "The Larger Patriotism" by Mr. Edwin D. Mead of Boston, who was happily introduced by Walter E. Simmons, the president.

The address was a comprehensive review of the great peace movement, or war against wars, in which Mr. Mead has been prominent, but it was of other gentlemen of whom he spoke. First a tribute to William Lloyd Garrison, whose anniversary has just been celebrated. Then of the parts taken by Jefferson, Thomas Payne, Whittier, Lowell, Victor Hugo and others.

The forces of initiative and guidance, at the Paris peace conference, he said, were taken by Americans, and the peace movement was known as the American plan, although disclaimed by Burritt.

Franklin, Samuel Adams, Washington, Jefferson, and other founders of this country were early advocates of international place. The first peace society in the world was organized in New York, and the Massachusetts Peace Society, organized in 1815 was conspicuous.

Today we are more sensitive to cruelty to men. This age is prominent for growth in sympathy and growth in philanthrophy. As Emerson put it, History is a record of the decline of war. Today war is not the regular business of nations as years ago.

The cost of war has become so great that nations cannot stand it.

The organization of the Hague tribunal was of great moment, and Americans were conspicuous. It was called to reduced the armament of the world, but its greatest achievement was to provide an international court.

The United States has been called the greatest peace society in the world, which is a fact, because it has the machinery to settle disagreements. The United States Supreme court has quietly settled many controversies between States which were important enough to have involved foreign countries in war.

The same system should be extended in the world. The international court must be ready when needed. The duties of Americans are first as citizens of the world.

The second meeting of the Hague next year is at the initiative of the President of the United States, and the most important business is of United States origin.

Nothing is effectually settled by force, and it is a fallacy that justice always prevails in war. England regards her big navy as an insurance. Germany, however, is pushing her for trade.

It is incumbent on Americans to be true. Let it be an inspiration to make this republic the first gentleman among nations.

Upon motion of ex-Senator Sprague, a rising vote of thanks was given the speaker.

Previous to the address a supper was served, and at a business meeting resolutions were adopted on the death of Henry H. Faxon.

AMONG NEIGHBORING CLUBS.

Brighthelmstone club of Brighton has long felt the need of a suitable meeting place and has year by year been putting by some of its yearly income which together with $4500 raised from two festivals and $2200 from other entertainments has enabled them to purchase the property of the Unity church and still have a surplus fund of $1000. The club has been organized ten years and the yearly dues are three dollars same as the Quincy club. When the building is remodeled there will be a hall seating 300, with a pretty little stage. Also tea rooms, dressing rooms, committee rooms, etc. downstairs. In some ways the Brighton club is to be envied for they have a club home purchased entirely by their own efforts, thus every member is personally interested. Their quarters will be entirely suited to the needs of the club. The Quincy club has a beautiful club house but lacks the most important thing—a hall or room large enough to accomodate a full meeting of its members, which is a serious handicap, as illustrated lectures dramatic entertainments or special entertainments have to be held somewhere else, necessitating the expense of hiring a hall. In other respects the house is ideal.

The Old Colony club of Weymouth is to start a class in parliamentary law after New Years, the first meeting being on Thursday morning, Jan 4th at quarter to ten.

The Watertown Woman's club is to have a guest night on New Year's evening. There is to be for entertainment a Japanese monologue, music, informal dancing and refreshments.

A concert was given last week Wednesday by the Cantabrigia club of Cambridge for the benefit of the music fund.

The Worcester Woman's club is one of the largest in the state, now having 700 members. Club work is divided into departments of science, art and music, history, education, social service and civics. Each department holds two meetings a year, one for home talent and one for foreign. The practical work of the club is vacation schools, boys' clubs, civil service reform, consumers' league, etc.

It has been suggested that all the women's clubs unite in selecting the laurel as a national flower. It is beautiful in early summer when in bloom and its foliage is beautiful the year round. It is suggestive of art and success, and grows in every state.

It is worthy of note that the women voters of Portsmouth, N. H., elected a new School Board, showing what united action will accomplish and the good work being accomplished by women's clubs.

The Monday club of Weymouth had a fine musical program at its meeting this week in the Methodist church at East Weymouth. Mrs. Helen Allen Hunt, the well known singer, had the concert in charge.

A unique association is the Hospital Workers' circle, an organization composed of eighty ladies, all of whom have been patients at the Deaconess hospital, in Boston. What a big circle their would be if all the patients of the Quincy Hospital organized.

Reception to Football Team

The invincible football team of the Quincy High school was given a reception at High School hall Wednesday evening by the young ladies of the school. Quincy, as well as the school, is proud of the team this year, which has not been defeated, and which has scored a total of 122 points.

Quincy High has played some strong teams this year, as will be seen below. It would liked to have met other schools but efforts to arrange games were not successful. Here is the record:

Quincy	28	Weymouth	0
Quincy	18	Abington	0
Quincy	0	Roxbury	0
Quincy	11	Dorchester	0
Quincy	40	Adams	0
	122		0

Quincy High played almost the same team in every game, and "Q" were awarded to the following: Capt. Henry Moody, George Fallon, Bryant Lupton, John Bass, Robert Comins, John Gourlie, William Nichols, Eugene Saunders, Lawrence Bean, Chester Arthur, Irving Badger and Rathborn Sprague.

Those to play in less than five games were Messrs. Hodgkinson, Bradley, Lacey, Hodgkins, Claflin and Flahive.

There will be but few changes in the team next year, but there will be a new captain, Mr. Comins.

The reception was a very enjoyable occasion. Miss Fish, Miss Thompson, and Miss Guild of the teaching corps, officiated as matrons.

The grand march was led by Capt. Moody and Miss Sadie Pawsey. Music was by Richardson's orchestra.

Refreshments were served during the evening. Dancing continued until 10.30.

Help! Help! For Milton Poor

The town of Hyde Park, with a per capita valuation of $800, has waxed hot during the last few days because President Weil of the Board of Health sought outside aid for the benefit of the poor of Hyde Park, but here comes the rich town of Milton with a per capita valuation of about $3,500, over four times as large, with the following appeal to the people of Massachusetts, published in a Boston daily:

To the Editor of the Transcript:

The social service committee of the Milton Woman's Club has been informed of numerous cases of need in the town of Milton. The committee, therefore, takes this means of asking the friends of the town for gifts of children's clothing, and shoes and toys. It also asks for money, in sums no matter how small.

In distributing these gifts it is hoped that some sense of the universal goodwill of Christmas Day be brought home to children who are known to be both cold and hungry.

Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee—Mrs. Field, Walnut street; Mrs. Fuller, Washington street; Mrs. Hibbard, Eliot street; Mrs. Lane, School street.

Mary Wilson Fiske, Chairman.

Milton, Dec. 18.

One cannot but admire the spirit of Hyde Park, but what will be their comment on the rich town of Milton with "money to burn," and a low tax rate, which issues such a general appeal for help. It reads like the appeals from the mission schools in the South and West, to which Quincy has contributed many barrels of clothing and reading matter. But Milton wants more! It appeals for cash as well! Why not apply to the trustees of the Cunningham fund! Better increase the appropriation for poor at the next annual town meeting, or hold a special town meeting if the case is urgent.

No Charity Ball.

The "Charity ball" to have been held at Hyde Park Wednesday evening has been declared off. As a substitute, District Attorney Asa P. French received formally a petition signed by 200 people of Hyde Park, requesting him to proceed against Victor M. Weil on an old charge of libel which was on file in his office.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Athletic Association of the Quincy High School wishes to thank all those who have so generously contributed to the support of athletics.

L. F. Tucker, Treasurer.

Engineer Risks Life

Saves Woman At Depot But Is Injured Himself

George H. Williams of Braintree, an engineer on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, performed a brave act at the Quincy depot this noon saving the life of Mrs. H. H. Hill, but receiving injuries himself which may result fatally.

Mr. Williams was the engineer of the inward express train due to leave Quincy at 10.59. Every day as the train pulls into the depot, an outward Fall River express passes it. It is an extremely dangerous thing to do and that an accident has not happened before is remarkable.

This morning just as the inward train was coming to a stop, Mrs. H. H. Hill and her daughter Mazie came running down the hill of Saville street to take the train. Gateman Minchin and another man saw them coming, and both knew the outward train was due and realized the danger.

The man waved his hand to her, and Mr. Minchin waved his flag and ran forward to head her off. The daughter jumped ahead and cleared the track. Mr. Minchin grabbed Mrs. Hill's cloak and pulled it off but she had such a headway that she could not stop.

A moment more and she would have been struck by the outward train. Engineer Williams also saw the danger, and jumping from his engine, with no thought of his own life, dashed in front of the express train and gave Mrs. Hill a push that knocked her down and saved her life.

She fell outside the track and escaped injury. The outward engine however struck the engineer on his side and threw him fifteen or twenty feet.

The outward train was stopped and the injured man taken to the baggage room.

The police ambulance and physicians were summoned by telephone. Drs. Garey and Whiton and the ambulance arrived at the same time and without making an examination of the injuries, Engineer Williams was hurried to the Quincy hospital.

At the City Hospital it was found that the engineer had sustained a fracture of two ribs and that he had an abrasion on the forehead. It is also possible that he may have sustained internal injuries; but that can not be told as yet. Dr. Garey, the attending surgeon believes that he will recover.

Engineer Williams is about 40 years of age and lives in Braintree, where he has a wife and family. He has been an engineer on the road since 1893. Previous to that time he had been in the employ of the road for a number of years as a fireman.

Among the passengers on the Fall River express was Preston C. Foss of Braintree, who is also an engineer on the road. Engineer Foss had completed his day's work and was returning to his home. As soon as he learned that it was Engineer Williams that had been injured, he threw off his coat and getting aboard the inward train he ran it into Boston.

The officials at the South Terminal gave it out that Williams act was unnecessary as Gate Tender Minchin had prevented Mrs. Hill from crossing the tracks.

The facts are, however, that Mr. Minchin was unable to stop Mrs. Hill, and but for Engineer Williams' act she would surely have been killed.

Engineer Williams' deed of bravery and heroism was one which makes the blood tingle and pride rise, that we live in an age when men are so brave and self-sacrificing. He was more; he was keen and alert. May God spare his life.

Complaint having been made by people of Wellesley against the use of searchlights by the street cars, the Railroad Commissioners will issue orders covering lights on all roads.

A Merry Christmas to readers of the Daily Ledger, and a Merry Christmas to our employes. The office of the Daily Ledger will be closed on Christmas day; no paper being issued.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Municipalities should hesitate to establish lighting plants when there is a prospect of dollar gas or less from companies. The reduction at Charlestown has been followed by a voluntary reduction by the People's Company in Chicago to 90 cents, to apply to all consumers, private citizens as well as the municipality.

Drift of Opinion.

☞A long strike just at this time would have meant disaster through this section, the result of which no man could tell—disaster which almost everybody in the district would have been obliged sooner or later to share. Those who had passed through the big labor wars of 1885, 1886 and 1897, looked forward with dread to the thought of another and even greater fight in Brockton. Some of those who talked strike didn't know what it meant; they hadn't passed through these experiences that brought business people to the verge of ruin, that drove thousands out of the city, that brought woe and hunger and cold and poverty unspeakable to women and children, and that kept Brockton for many years after the fights were over weakened and doubtful of herself. That all this is not to be repeated at this time is a cause for heartiest self-congratulation by every resident of Brockton, of the towns hereabouts, and of the business districts of many other places that depend on Brockton to buy some of their products every day.—Brockton Enterprise.

Result of Labors Are Manifest

The resolutions adopted by the Wollaston Unitarian Club on the death of Henry H. Faxon, will receive the hearty endorsement of people generally. They were reported by R. F. Claflin, and read as follows :

Whereas,—In the fulness of time Henry H. Faxon has passed away.

Let us pause in the hurry of life long enough, to pay tribute to his worth.

The results of his labor are manifest in the orderly conduct of our city. The necessary distraction and bustle incident to the winning of his battles against the doers of evil, were known and felt by all; but in the grand realm of the moral forces of mankind his work will prove its greatest blessing; inasmuch as the example of a plain, unpretentious man of the people, year after year keeping always to the front the moral idea of advancing his fellows to a better plane of living, will prove in an unobtrusive way the strongest manifestation of power and worth.

While many falter in their ideals, many grow weary of the combat, many turn back to lower standards, he, always, after this conception of duty, kept his face to the light, and became an inspiration to many a quiet boy and man, to cling to his ideals of duty, truth and justice.

It is recommended that the foregoing be entered on the records of this Club and a copy be sent to the family.

Mr. Bates Wins.

In the mechanics lien case of Bates vs. Johnson, which was on trial Tuesday and Wednesday in the Superior court at Dedham, the jury reported in favor of the plaintiff. Judge Avery made the same finding last year in the District court and the case went to the Superior court on appeal. Mr. Bates had furnished labor on plumbing and heating jobs in three houses in Wollaston in 1903 and 1904 and liened the buildings to secure his pay.

CITY BREVITIES.

A dark morning.

An easterly storm.

Lucky are those who did their Christmas shopping before the storm.

The Daily Ledger will not pe published on Monday, Christmas day.

The hard rain storm today will rather dampen the enthusiasm of the Christmas shoppers.

The regular meeting of the School Committee will be held next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. E. L. Turner of Salem has been visiting among friends on Independence avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horton have moved from Independence avenue to Quincy Point, near the Fore River works, where Mr. Horton is employed at present.

James M. Nowland, master of the Adams school, who has been confined to his home for a long time by illness, will probably resume his duties when the schools reopen.

At the whist tournament of the Granite City club on Wednesday night, the souvenirs for the best scores were captured by Benjamin Johnson and Dr. H. C. Hallowell.

Mrs. Thomas McTeer, better known in Quincy as Marion B. Hardwick, spent the week of Dec. 4th, with her father on Pearl street. She left the following Monday for New York.

In most of the lower grades of the public schools on Wednesday there was some observance of Christmas, an hour or more being devoted to a good time. Christmas stories were read, cards or candy presented, etc.

Through cars are now run between East Milton and Weymouth Landing, via City Square. That is, a car from City Square runs first to East Milton and back, and then to Weymouth Landing and back, alternating in this way during the day.

Neponset River Improvements

A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: It is understood the big project for the improvement of Dorchester bay and the Neponset river in Massachusetts has been approved by Col. Stanton, in charge of river and harbor work in that state. He recommended a survey, costing $1800, which is completed. It is not known how large an appropriation will be required to do the proposed work.

That part of Quincy bordering on the Neponset river will be benefitted if the river and bay are improved as contemplated.

MILTON.

A special Christmas service will be held at the Misson of Our Saviour church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Nevin are receiving congratulation on the birth Monday of a son.

Mrs. M. C. Gardner is confined to her home by illness.

The lecture at the East Milton Congregational church in the Acme course last Friday evening was largely attended and was greatly enjoyed.

Appreciated.

Editor of the Daily Ledger:

Through your columns I wish to thank Mr. Bentley, acting-principal of the Cranch school for his quiet, firm and interested management of the school.

The parents and children are to be congratulated on being so fortunate as to have a man interested in the pupils out of doors as well as in.

He has been on the ground long before the school doors opened and has left long after they have closed upon the departing pupils. It is interest of this kind which inspires manliness and good citizenship in our boys, and tends to make a quiet neighborhood about a school house.

An Appreciative Parent.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

Russian Workmen Start Their Political Strike

A DAY AHEAD OF TIME

Railroad Men at Moscow Joined by Factory Workingmen--Government Orders and the Czar's Cipher Message Are Blocked

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—Reports received here from Moscow indicate that the strike was successfully inaugurated and is spreading rapidly. Even the electric light plants are closed. Governor General Doubassoff has declared the city to be in a partial state of siege, which gives the civil authorities exceptional power of arrest, etc.

The next move will be to declare a state of siege in which the military supersedes civil power. It is expected that the inauguration of the strike here today will be followed by a similar measure, but if the situation becomes worse, as anticipated, martial law will be declared.

The provincial authorities have already been empowered, in anticipation of the contingency of their being cut off from the capital, to act on their own responsibility, even to the extent of the proclamation of martial law.

Although the time set for opening the demonstration was this noon, Moscow led off with a complete tie-up of the steam and street railways there, and the workmen of the mills and factories have generally joined. One train has been fired on, and the strikers are reported to be generally armed.

The strikers' council acted promptly by ordering the telegraph operators to hold up the message in which the arrest of the Moscow strike leaders had been ordered by Minister Durnovo. In addition, orders to General Linevitch, in Manchuria, have been held up, five operators in succession refusing to send a cipher dispatch signed by the czar. If this sort of thing can be kept up for a week or two the results may be nearly fatal to the government. The whole point is whether the government can break down the resistance of the workingmen.

The railroad stations at St. Petersburg were occupied by troops yesterday afternoon and the government made an attempt, with the aid of the railroad battalions, to maintain some sort of train service, especially to the German frontier, and also to keep open cable communication with points abroad.

Professor Milukoff, leader of the constitutional Democrats, issued a last, despairing appeal to the proletariat organizations against a general strike, declaring his belief that it could not succeed and inevitably would lead to repression and perhaps to great bloodshed which might be fatal to the whole emancipation movement. His moderate counsel, however, was not headed by the revolutionists, who are determined to try conclusions with the government under the conviction that they can overthrow the monarchy.

The strike promises to be on a far more extensive scale than any previous movement of the kind. Many of the largest works, including the Putiloff and Nobel concerns, will cease operations today.

Almost all the papers suspended by the censorship are appearing under new names and are meeting with huge sales.

It is stated that the insurgents have seized the state treasury at Tukum, province of Courland.

The Railway union at Moscow has resolved to run troop trains from Manchuria and to convey grain to the famine-stricken districts.

The government enters on the new struggle greatly crippled. The situation in the Baltic provinces is growing steadily worse and in the Caucasus the renewal of the outbreak of the Ttatars and Armenians has produced another reign of terror. The inhabitants of Tiflis and other cities are begging the authorities to furnish them with arms for the purpose of organizing a militia for self-protection. At Sebastopol new mutinies have occurred, and 1600 soldiers have been disarmed and are under guard. The troops at Kharkoff have revolted and the inhabitants are still administering the city.

The weather has become very cold. Deep snow covers the country so far south as Kieff and it is believed that in a few days hunger and starvation will easily drive the people to desperation, and provoke uprisings and attacks on strikers and perhaps general pillage.

Ready to Aid British Subjects

London, Dec. 21.—Beyond keeping two British merchant steamers in readiness at Riga for the removal of British subjects in case of necessity, the British government is not taking any other action in respect to the British residents in Russia. The report that the government is sending a warship to the Baltic is denied by the foreign office officials.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ and healthy hair is the sure result.

FITZ A "HAS BEEN"

Former Champion Fighter Goes Down Before O'Brien

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Robert Fitzsimmons collapsed at the close of the 13th round of his fight with Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia last night. He had fought hard, but nature could not longer stand the strain, and after the gong had sounded for the close of the 13th round, he walked to his corner and sat in his chair. Then his head fell over on his breast, his whole body collapsed, and he was unable to proceed. Referee Graney saw his condition and awarded the fight to O'Brien.

While pounded in the face and several times in jeopardy, Fitzsimmons always managed to come to and resume the fight. Just at the close of the 13th round he landed a left on O'Brien's stomach, but the Philadelphian came back with a similar blow and followed it with a left to the jaw. The gong rang for the close of the round and Fitz walked to his corner. As he sat down he said to Graney: "Eddie, he hit me in the stomach and it is all over." Then his head sank and Bob Fitzsimmons was defeated.

After the fight had been awarded to O'Brien, Fitz slipped to the floor and lay prostrate in the ring. There was a call for a doctor, as it was seen that Fitz was in a state of collapse. He revived, however, in a few minutes.

O'Brien gave a remarkable exhibition of sparring and foot-work. He ducked, dodged and side-stepped in a manner that was bewildering. Fitz would swing and find only space, several times nearly going through the ropes from the force of his misspent blows.

Before Fitz left the ring he made a little speech, in which he said that he had done his best. He said he had fought his last fight.

In Congress

Washington, Dec. 21.—The only notable feature of the open session of the senate was a brief discussion of the question of railroad rate legislation by Messrs. Foraker and Culberson. Foraker reiterated his position on the question of rate legislation, saying that he differed from other senators only on the point as to the remedies to be applied for the evils of which complaint have been made.

The house continued to "shoot clay pigeons," as one member put it, and the debate on general topics continued for five hours.

To Care For Confederates' Graves

Knoxville, Dec. 21.—The Knoxville chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, has endorsed the recent recommendation of President Roosevelt for the care of southern graves. This is stated to be the first official endorsement of that recommendation in the south. The meeting recommended that similar action be taken by all sister chapters in the south and by memorial associations as well.

Actor Suffered Unrequited Love

New York, Dec. 21.—With the picture of a prety girl in one hand, a revolver in the other and a bullet hole through his head, Edward C. Fisher was found dead on the floor of his room. He committed suicide because he was madly in love with the girl and she had refused to marry him, it is reported. Fisher was an actor connected with "The Darling of the Gods" company.

Foreign Troops Not Necessary

London, Dec. 21.—According to official advices from Shanghai, it is believed that the situation, while most unsatisfactory, can be controlled by the warships already there. The only danger is that disaffection may spread to the interior. It is thought that it will not be necessary to send troops, as the Chinese government is taking every precaution to prevent an uprising.

Want Failure Investigated

St. John, Dec. 21.—Many of the depositors in the York County Loan and Savings company of Toronto, a large institution which went into the hands of a receiver several days ago, are demanding that an investigation of the concern's affairs be held. Depositors in the eastern provinces represent more than $150,000.

More Warships For France

Paris, Dec. 21.—M. Thompson, minister of marine, says that at the next session of parliament the government will ask a credit for the construction of three armor-clads, each to be of 18,000 tons and to have a speed of 19 knots. This, he says, will be followed by a similar demand at the following session.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Under the auspices of the city of Boston, memorial services in honor of the late Mayor Patrick A. Collins were held in Tremont temple. Several eulogistic addresses were delivered.

Mrs. Amelia Batson, mother of John G. A. Leishman, minister to Turkey, died at Pittsburg. She was 73 years old and had been an invalid for 12 years.

Practically the entire control of the Halifax garrison has now passed over to the Canadian government, and Canadian troops are already in possession.

George H. Conley, superintendent of the Boston public schools, died suddenly at his home. Heart disease was the cause of death. Conley had not been in good physical health since February last, though he had attended to the duties of his position.

The Yorke furniture factory at Concord, N. C., one of the largest in the state, was burned. The loss is about $75,000.

Lord Curzon, former viceroy of India, has declined the invitation to contest a seat in parliament for the city of London on the ground that the circumstances preclude the possibility of his running as a national non-party candidate.

NEW PLACE FOR BISHOP

"Press Agent" Made a Member of the Canal Commission

Washington, Dec. 21.—President Roosevelt has appointed Joseph Bishop as a member of the isthmian canal commission. Bishop is at present secretary of the canal commission, having been appointed to that position from New York last September. His present appointment is to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Chief Engineer Wallace, who was a member of the commission as well as chief engineer. Bishop receives as secretary of the commission a salary of $10,000 a year and until a few days ago he prepared statements for the press relative to the progress of the work on the canal and other canal matters.

It is understood that with his appointment as commissioner Bishop will be selected as secretary of the commission. His salary as commissioner will be $7500 a year and it is said that for his services as secretary he will receive an additional compensation of $2500 a year, thus making his aggregate salary equal to what he now receives as secretary.

Bishop will continue the work of preparing a history of the canal, in addition to his duties as a member and secretary. It is said to be probable that he may be made a member of the executive committee of the commission.

Marriage, Separation and Death

Buffalo, Dec. 21.—Driven to desperation by the refusal of his wife to live with him ever since the day they were married, William McCoy, a seaman on the lakes, went to his wife's home last night, talked to her for about 15 minutes and then shot and killed her. McCoy then put a bullet into his own heart and fell dead. McCoy was 23 years old. His wife was three years younger. The couple were married two years ago last March. The woman had refused to live with her husband from the day they were wedded, for reasons she had never communicated to anyone, so far as could be learned.

"Pauper" In a Pickling Vat

St. Louis, Dec. 21.—Harry E. McCarthy, who was killed recently by falling from a World's fair building, was supposed to be a pauper. Recent investigation into personal effects left by him led to the discovery of a bank book showing he had $11,000 on deposit in a Pennsylvania bank. This was verified by telegraph and after a long search the body was found in a pickling vat in a medical college. It was also established that McCarthy owned real estate valued at $5000. Efforts are now being made to find his relatives.

To Wipe Out Columbia Athletics

New York, Dec. 21.—The Columbia university faculty last night published the results of the meeting of the university council to consider abolishing football. The outcome exceeded anything that the undergraduates expected, for not only was football definitely abolished at Columbia, but President Butler was recommended to take steps to kill all intercollegiate sports at the institution. This means that if Butler follows the recommendation that was made no more Columbia teams ever will be seen on the field in any line.

A YEAR IN PRISON

Hummel Also Sentenced to Pay Fine of $500

IS GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY

Lawyer Who Gained Prominence by Individual Effort Inaugurates Proceedings to Combat "Unjust Conviction"

New York, Dec. 21.—Abraham H. Hummel, the lawyer, was convicted of conspiracy in connection with the Dodge-Morse divorce case. He was sentenced, within a few minutes after the jury's verdict had been pronounced, to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $500, which is the maximum penalty for the misdemeanor of which he was adjudged guilty. A motion of his lawyers for an arrest of judgment for 24 hours was denied and Hummel was taken to the Tombs preparatory to going to the penitentiary.

The rapidity of this entire proceeding, coming as it did against one of the most prominent and successful of New York lawyers, caused great surprise. One of the unexpected features of the trial's ending was the fact that one of Hummel's own counsel, John B. Stanchfield, made the first proposal for a speedy sentence.

Depending upon the result of this case are actions in other indictments against prominent persons which have grown out of the Dodge-Morse divorce case.

A hushed court room waited for the jury's verdict on the lawyer who had worked his way up from the position of officeboy in the firm of which he is now the head. Hummel scanned the face of each juryman as they filed out of the jury room. When the foreman said "guilty" Hummel flushed slightly and, turning to one of the court officers, said: "See that no one gets away with my coat, will you."

Mr. Stanchfield then proposed that sentence be passed immediately and District Attorney Jerome was hurriedly summoned to the courtroom. He consented, saying as he made the motion that Hummel had been a menace to the community and to public decency for the last 20 years.

The prisoner, when asked if he had anything to say before sentence should be passed, replied: "Nothing at all." When, a minute after passing the sentence, Justice Rogers refused to grant an arrest of judgment for 24 hours so as to permit of an application for a writ of reasonable doubt, Hummel showed no emotion.

In his cell an hour later Hummel said to reporters: "It would be shocking bad taste for me to say anything, but I cannot help but feel that I have been unjustly convicted, chiefly due to vindictiveness. Notwithstanding what Mr. Jerome said about my being a menace to the community for 20 years, I am behind the bars with a clear conscience, strange as it may seem to some people. I expect to spend the night in the Tombs. Proceedings, however, are under way so that I will get an early hearing before some judge whose name I cannot give you for the present."

While the jury was deliberating on the case they sent for the letters which Dodge had written to Lawyer Ruger requesting him to represent him in his wife's divorce suit and also for Dodge's signature. These were furnished them and this evidence apparently settled the case in their minds, for a few minutes afterward a verdict of guilty was announced.

An indictment for subornation of perjury is still pending against Hummel, in connection with which he is under bond in the sum of $2500. Just what action will be taken by the district attorney's office on the second indictment will depend largely upon the final disposition of the conspiracy case.

Hummel was released from the Tombs at 10 o'clock last night under $10,000 bail on a writ of reasonable doubt secured from Judge Woodward of the supreme court in Brooklyn.

No Faith In Deathbed Visions

Baltimore, Dec. 21.—In his new book Dr. William Osler says deathbed visions are untrue. He says: "As a rule, a man dies as he has lived, uninfluenced practically by the thought of a future life. I have careful records of about 500 deathbeds, studied particularly with reference to the modes of death and the sensations of the dying. The preacher was right; in this matter man hath no pre-eminence over the beast—'as one dieth, so dieth the other.'"

Final Victory For Sullivan

Springfield, Ills., Dec. 21.—The Illinois supreme court has decided the celebrated case of Alexander Sullivan, growing out of traction litigation in Chicago. The decision is in favor of Sullivan. The question at issue was an attempt to disbar Sullivan as an attorney and was the echo of a conspiracy trial in which the courts gave the victory to Sullivan. By the ruling of the supreme court Sullivan is made final winner in all the courts.

Fire Destroys Railroad Terminals

New York, Dec. 21.—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, which a few months ago suffered the loss of its Hoboken terminal buildings by fire, sustained a still heavier damage when the splendid new ferry terminals of steel frame and supposedly fireproof construction in Manhattan were burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at more than $500,000.

THE HOAR MONUMENT

Will Have Quotation From the Famous Address by the Senate

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 21.—Four crates of granite have been shipped from Worcester to Concord for the monument to be set up where George F. Hoar is buried in Sleepy Hollow cemetery. The monument is to be of New Hampshire granite and after a plan designed by Stephen Earle. In a general way it was approved by Senator Hoar early in 1904. The matter was afterward taken up by his son, Congressman Hoar.

There are inscriptions in cast bronze letters set into the granite, on four faces of the monument. One gives "George Frisbie Hoar, Aug. 29, 1826—Sept. 30, 1904." Two others pertain to his wives and daughter. The fourth gives this quotation from Senator Hoar's Saratoga address:

"I have no faith in fatalism, in destiny, in blind force. I believe in God, the living God. I believe in the American people, a free and brave people, who do not bow the neck or bend the knee to any other and who desire no other to bow the neck or bend the knee to them. I believe that a republic is greater than an empire. I believe, finally, whatever clouds may darken the horizon, that the world is growing better; that today is better than yesterday, and that tomorrow will be better than today."

Was Investigator of "Spirits"

Boston, Dec. 21.—Professor Richard Hodgson, LL. D., who probably knew as much about psychical research as any other man in the country, now, perhaps, knows the whole truth. He dropped dead from heart failure in the handball court of the Union Boat club. The famous investigator of the occult was in the company of friends playing handball when the fatal attack came on. Professor Hodgson was 50 years old. He was a bachelor and lived a retired and simple life.

Watches For Ocean Heroes

Boston, Dec. 21.—Braving death in a raging sea in order to rescue seamen in distress brought its reward when Harry Olsen of Gloucester and Henry May of Newfoundland were awarded handsome watches by the Canadian government. The presentation took place at the British consulate. The watches were awarded to the men for bravery shown in rescuing the crew of the British schooner Ayr, off Boston light, on Jan. 5, 1904.

Prophet of Zion Very Feeble

Boston, Dec. 21.—The first to board the steamer Admiral Dewey, which sailed from Long wharf for Jamaican ports, was Rev. John A. Dowie, the self-proclaimed Elijah II, with his son, Dr. A. J. G. Dowie, and a retinue of nurses and attendants. Dowie appeared very feeble and was carried up the gang plank in a chair by two attendants. Dr. Dowie and party will remain in the vicinity of the Caribbean for several weeks.

Hotels Still Selling Liquor

Boston, Dec. 21.—The board of police instructed Superintendent Pierce to tell District Attorney Moran that "we refuse to comply with his request" in his order to them that they declare to be void the liquor licenses held by Young's, Parker's, the Adams and Essex hotels. They will endeavor to enlist the services of Attorney General Parker in their endeavor to find out who is right.

Dedham, Mass., Dec. 21.—Guilty of murder in the second degree was the verdict brought in by a jury in the case of Guiseppe Sabbatino, on trial for the murder of Alfonso Tura at Readville. Randolph, Vt., Dec. 21.—While at work in L. L. Dickerman's new portable mill, Asa Jones, 65 years old, lost his life by being drawn into a planer. EVERY FIVE YEARS

How Tatlock Would Distribute Insurance Earnings

FEW LAPSES IN GERMANY

Germania Life's President Says "Wild Methods" Characterize American Business--Fund to Fight Mortgage Tax Law

New York, Dec. 21.—The Washington Life Insurance company, the Germania Life Insurance company and the Bankers' Life Insurance company divided the attention of the legislative insurance investigating committee Wednesday. President Tatlock of the Washington Life finished his testimony. He declared that personally he favored a distribution of earnings every five years. The witness took occasion to say that Thomas F. Ryan never sold the Washington Life any securities and that he never influenced or suggested to the finance board what securities to buy. Tatlock said he thought insurance companies should be run by men in touch with Wall street, because of their knowledge of the security market. He also favored the idea of insurance companies speculating in securities.

President Doremus of the Germania Life testified that about one-third of his company's business was done in Europe, principally in Germany, and that this business in many respects was better than any done in America. He declared it to be more stable, there being fewer lapses, while the cost was a great deal less than in America. The medical direction was also better in Germany, he said. He characterized the American ways of doing business as "wild methods."

The only contributions of a legislative character by this company were $500 to a fund having for its object the defeat of the mortgage tax law, and $250 to further the passage of the lien bill in Albany in 1904. No campaign contributions have ever been made. This company, like the Home Life, keeps an individual account of every policyholder, so that the earnings may be learned at a glance on the books. The salary of the president is $18,000.

When the Bankers' Life was taken up, Richard Morgan, a director and former president of the company, was called. He detailed the formation of the company and its changes from a fraternal order to an assessment order and then into an old line company. This is the company of which President Townsley of the Life Association of America formerly was general manager. Morgan said that Townsley was dismissed from the company in 1897.

E. L. Bayliss, who collected the fund to defeat the mortgage tax law, said on the stand that he secured a fund of $22,000 for this purpose. The examination of the Bankers' Life will be resumed today.

Lawson Sent 4000-Word Telegram

Nashville, Dec. 21.—Tennessee holders of policies in life insurance companies convened here and selected representatives for the coming annual meetings of the various companies. Insurance Commissioner Folk received a 4000-word telegram from Thomas W. Lawson, denying that he had a representative here. In calling the meeting to order Folk impressed upon the policyholders the importance of taking some radical action to prevent wrongdoing in the future. A motion to have Lawson's telegram read brought on a heated discussion. By a vote of the delegates it was finally decided to read the telegram.

To Make Insurance Safe

Madison, Wis., Dec. 21.—Insurance Commissioner Host announces that at a conference to be held in Chicago to discuss the regulation of life insurance companies and to attempt to secure uniformity in legislation, bills will be prepared for introduction in state legislatures embodying these propositions: First, a short period of accounting by companies; second, to limit the expense of new business; third, to bring policyholders in closer touch with the companies.

The officials here are as yet unable to tell the probable location of the storm.

Fisheries Dispute Renewed

London, Dec. 21.—The foreign office has instructed the Newfoundland government to make the strictest inquiry into the complaint of the state department at Washington of the seizure of an American fishing smack at a Newfoundland port a few days ago and also of the reports that Newfoundland fishermen have been guilty of cutting the nets of American fishermen.

Thirty-Six Lost In Wreck

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

A FAKE BURGLARY

Committed by a Policeman to "Pump" Alleged Murderer

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 22.—Matthew Malinowsky, a member of the Connecticut state police, testified in the murder trial of Charles Barto, charged with killing Stefan Rinko, that he was sent to the Fairfield county jail as a decoy for the express purpose of obtaining a confession from the accused man.

A plan was drawn up by the sheriff of the county, according to the witness, to have him (the witness) commit a fake burglary in the home of a deputy sheriff. Malinowsky broke into the deputy sheriff's house as had been planned and was arrested and put in the same jail which held Barto, the alleged burglar entering the jail under a fictitious name. After spending three days in the jail the witness and Barto became familiar and talked at length in each other's cells. Finally witness drew a full confession from Barto, he said, the details of which were told on the stand. Malinowsky testified that Barto said to him:

"I fired my revolver. My first shot hit Rinko in the back. My second shot hit Steve Demenko and I fired two other shots. A little later I went home and there the police arrested me while I was in bed."

The murder of Rinko was the result of bad feeling between two bands of Hungarians, the fatal shot being fired in a street fight.

Street Railway Profits Lessened

Chelsea, Mass., Dec. 22.—President Sullivan of the Boston and Northern street railway system, in a speech before the Chelsea board of trade last night, stated that the street railway companies in this state were approaching a critical period, because of the fact that since the original investments in the companies the price of rails had increased from $19 to $27, the price of copper had risen 40 percent, the cost of cars 30 percent, motors 50 percent and other necessities for street railway operation had increased in proportion. One cent was considered a good profit in street railway operations at one time, he said, but now the stockholders are pleased to secure a profit of 6 mills.

Little Ones Snatched From Death

Providence, Dec. 22.—Four children, ranging in age from 8 months to 6 years, were rescued by Hoseman McLane at a fire in a structure occupied by 36 negro families here last night. The children were huddled together, very much frightened and partially suffocated, in a room on the third floor. The rescue was made by means of a ladder, McLane succeeding in finding the children and passing them one by one to firemen outside, who took them to the ground in safety. The other occupants of the house escaped unaided. The fire loss was slight.

New Move In Behalf of Tucker

Boston, Dec. 22.—Another move toward saving the life of Charles L. Tucker, the convicted murderer of Miss Mabel Page of Weston, has been made in the form of a petition to the justices of the Massachusetts supreme court for a rehearing of the petition for a new trial. This action by Tucker's counsel is one that has seldom been taken in this state, especially in criminal cases. The petition asks for a rehearing on certain matters of law and also on certain facts that were not presented at the previous hearing.

New England's Changed Population

Boston, Dec. 22.—Forefathers' day was observed in this city by the Boston Congregational club at an afternoon and evening meeting in Tremont temple. Rev. Dr. W. H. Allbright of this city claimed that the descendants of the Pilgrims and Puritans seemed to have very little to say regarding the direction of affairs in New England, as they are rapidly being supplanted by "our Celtic friends," who, he said, asserted that New England should be renamed New Ireland.

Student Mysteriously Missing

Boston, Dec. 22.—To find Caesar Ferreira, a member of a wealthy and influential family of Montevideo and a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the local vice consul of Uruguay has issued an appeal to the public for evidence that will tend to locate him. On Dec. 6 Ferreira left his boarding place without explanation to anyone. He had with him only a small handbag. Since that time he has not been heard from.

Suffocated by Smoke

Boston, Dec. 22.—One life was lost in the fire that burned out the shops of the New England Reed company. Raymon Panfilio, 45 years of age, had worked in the shops as a rush-seater for several years. He was employed on the top floor, and when the firemen forced their way through fire and smoke into this part of the building the man was found unconscious. He had been suffocated. The fire had not touched him.

Two Departments Burned Out

New Haven, Dec. 22.—A fire which threatened to destroy the entire plant of the New Haven Clock company broke out this morning in the drying room and spread to the finishing department with great rapidity. At 1:45 the fire was under control, after it had gutted the two departments, which are separated from the main factory building by a court.

Will Recover

Engineer Williams Resting Comfortably. An Incident of Few Nights Ago

The many friends of George H. Williams, the brave engineer, who nearly lost his life, at the Quincy depot on Thursday, in saving that of Mrs. Hill, will be glad to learn that he is resting comfortably at the City Hospital, and with good chances of recovery.

He passed a comfortable night and this morning Dr. Garey, who is attending, says that he has every reason to believe that he will recover. Dr. Garey says that he has some internal injury but does not think it of a serious nature.

It was thought, after Thursday's experience, that the outward express would not run by the inward train while it stood at the depot, but it did this morning. Hardly had the inward train come to a stop when the express came along and went humming by.

The accident of Thursday brings to mind the narrow escape from a frightful accident at the depot a few nights ago. It seems that the train leaving Boston for Quincy at 4.45 was sent out ahead of an express train due to leave at 4.42.

The 4.42 express was due to pass an inward express at Granite street bridge. When the 4.45 arrived in Quincy the gateman did not set the signal against the inward express, supposing that the outward was also an express.

Just as the outward train was coming to a stop, the engineer saw the headlight of the inward express rounding the curve at the Granite street bridge. He took in the situation at a glance and pulling open his throttle rushed his train by the depot without stopping, bringing it to a stop near the bridge.

The inward express had then passed and an accident was averted.

Had he stopped his train at the depot as usual the inward express must have ploughed its way through the hundreds of passengers alighting onto the inward rail from the outward train.

It was a hair raising sight and those who stood on the depot platform held their breath in suspense until the express had passed.

There is need of great care on the part of passengers alighting from trains at Quincy, and also by people using the Saville street crossing.

Aside from a nervous shock, Mrs. Hill escaped without injury. She feels keenly the fact that Engineer Williams was injured, and she fully realizes that but for his act she would have been struck by the train.

Mrs. Hill says that she was not aware that there was an outward express train due and that she thought the warnings of the gate tender were for her to remain back until the inward train had gone, whereas she was desirous of taking that train.

It was her daughter's birthday anniversary and they were going in town to lunch, and then to the theatre.

Her only hope is that Engineer Williams' injuries will not result fatally and that his recovery will be speedy.

Milton Needy Well Cared For

The Ledger interviewed this morning Mrs. Albert A. Brackett, one of the board of Overseers of the Poor of Milton, relative to the appeal in a Boston paper for the benefit of the poor of Milton. Mrs. Brackett's attention had been called by several to the appeal and the comments, so that she was not at all surprised.

Mrs. Brackett has special charge of the Town Farm and has been complimented frequently on her interest in the institution and her efforts to make the lives of the inmates brighter. She says the town is able to take care of all needy people, and that they are well taken care of, both inside and outside. All requests for help receive immediate attention, usually within an hour, be it Sunday or any other day. All cases are investigated later.

The committee of the Milton Woman's club is a new one, and it had been represented to them that there were ways in which the club could be of assistance but it was not expected that a general appeal for help would be made through a Boston paper.

Christmas At Houghs Neck

The children at Houghs Neck had a grand time Thursday evening at a Christmas festival given for their benefit by the ladies. Through the kindness of Mayor Thompson and Chief Engineer Williams they were given the use of new fire station.

Large lamps made the apparatus room as light as day while heaters made the room comfortable. In one corner was a large tree heavily laden with bags of candy and other things that appeal to the little ones.

During the first part of the evening there was piano and graphophone music, singing and recitations by the children. Then there came a jingling of bells and Saint Nick himself appeared upon the scene. There was a shout of delight from the children and his majesty talked to them briefly.

He then busied himself distributing the presents. There were two for each child, and a happier crowd of children would have been hard to find. The distribution of presents over, ice cream and cake were served.

It was a grand good time for everybody, and great credit is due the ladies who had the affair in charge. Every child on the beach was invited and it is said they were all there.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

To obtain a reduction in the price of gas it is not necessary to establish a municipal plant, but to infuse life into the Citizens' Gas Light Company. Gas should be sold in the city of Quincy at a lower price than in neighbor towns. The Dedham and Hyde Park Company, however, charge $1.40 per 1000 maximum, and for prompt payment and large consumption make discounts so that it is possible to obtain gas at $1.00 per 1000. The company, by advertisement, say further:—"We will consider it a favor if you report all complaints by phone, post or personally; they will receive prompt and courteous attention."

Drift of Opinion.

Henry Beach Needham, in an intimate study, "Theodore Roosevelt—An Outdoor Man," in the January McClures, tells more than the average citizen of the United States ever guesses of the work and play of the President. After reading this article one wonders how Mr. Roosevelt has the strength to stick to the pace. And Mr. Needham tells something else: that the President started life handicapped by ill-health, and only through persistent effort acquired his splendid physique. The illustrations are copies of rare photographs of the President, most of which borrow added interest from their unusual surroundings. The article is especially interesting to fathers and mothers and sons and daughters because it suggests the idea that almost anybody can attain the same degree of activity that Mr. Roosevelt has attained—by choosing rightly what to do. That is the President's own idea about it. He says it is all in the choosing.

MORAN'S NEW MOVE

Calls on State Police to Help Enforce Liquor Law

Boston, Dec. 22.—District Attorney Moran has called on the state police to assist him in securing evidence of the sale of intoxicating liquors in Young's hotel, Parker house, Adams house and Hotel Essex. Moran took this drastic and unexpected step after the board of police refused the prosecuting attorney's request to assign Lieutenant Lee, the liquor officer attached to police headquarters, to assist Moran to secure such evidence as is considered necessary to prosecute the alleged violators of the liquor law. This is the first time, as far as is known, that police officials have ever refused to assign a police officer to assist the district attorney.

Mr. Moran's call for assistance on the part of the state police was made in a letter which he sent to Chief Shaw. Chief Shaw is ill and as a result the letter was called to the attention of Deputy Chief Neal, who immediately sought the advice of Attorney General Parker.

Chairman Cole of the board of police called upon Attorney General Parker and was closeted with him for a considerable time. On leaving the office of the attorney general Cole refused to say anything for publication. He said the board of police could not talk.

Shortly after Cole's visit to the attorney general, Deputy Neal consulted with Parker. At the close of the interview Neal said that he never yet had refused to obey the orders of a district attorney. He would not say, however, what he would do in this case.

The crusade of the new district attorney is assuming a most sensational aspect, the outcome of which it is hard to predict.

CITY BREVITIES.

State aid will be paid at the City Treasurer's office tomorrow morning.

The heavy rain Thursday carried away all the snow and it looks as though it would be a green Christmas.

It is a common sight to see the father of the family wending his way homeward with a Christmas tree under his arm.

Since the accident at the Quincy depot Thursday, a popular feeling of remonstrance has arisen over the habit of running express trains by the Quincy depot while another train is standing at the depot.

Morristown, N. J., Dec. 22.—Deeds by which Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, and other members of his family have transferred valuable property in this city within the last few days, show McCurdy and his wife on Dec. 16 and again on Dec. 19 transferred parcels of real estate to their son, Robert H. McCurdy. The son, on Dec. 19, transferred to his mother his interest in the new R. A. McCurdy home, which is said to have cost about $400,000. By this transfer the country house and the surrounding estate was put entirely in Mrs. R. A. McCurdy's name.

Convict Fractured Guard's Skull

Columbus, O., Dec. 22.—Five guards had a desperate fight with a convict at the Ohio penitentiary last evening and Guard Moorhead sustained probably fatal injuries. Butler Styles, sent up for manslaughter, hid when the prisoners went to supper, and the five guards were sent in search of him. Styles was found in one of the shops. Seeing only Moorhead, Styles felled him with an iron bar. The other guards at once opened fire on Styles and he surrendered. He was not hit by any of the bullets. Moorhead's skull was fractured.

Shipping Fled to Shelter

Boston, Dec. 22.—A brief, but very lively, southeast storm swept over New England, being particularly severe on the coast. The coastwise sailing fleet went flying into safe harbors, and all but the staunchest of the steam-powered vessels were delayed by the storm. The disturbance pursued its usual course toward the provinces without leaving a wreck-bestrewn track along the coast.

College Traditions Overturned

ODELL IS WRATHY

Says Harsh Things of President and Governor

ALMOST SENILE OLD MEN

Expression Credited to Roosevelt In Speaking of Depew and Platt--Higgins Gives the State Chairman a Snub

New York, Dec. 22.—Interest in the contest for the speakership of the New York state assembly is largely centred upon the interview given by ex-Governor Odell, Republican state chairman, in which he accused President Roosevelt and Governor Higgins of a deliberate attempt to wreck the Republican party of this state in order to further their personal ambitions. He declared that if disaster ensued they, not he, will be responsible.

In the course of an interview last night Odell asserted that it was President Roosevelt who persuaded him to come out for ex-Governor Black for United States senator to succeed Depew, and that it was the use of the president's influence against Black subsequently which led to Black's defeat.

"I went to Washington," Odell said, to see the president and have a talk with him about the New York political situation in the fall of 1904. The question of the senatorship came up and the president said that it was a pity to have the state of New York represented by two almost senile old men."

Governor Higgins last night replied in part to the statement made by Odell in reference to the governor's action in proposing Assemblyman Wadsworth of Livingston county for speaker of the assembly, in which Odell said that he (Higgins) said he would not be for any candidate from either of the large cities.

Governor Higgins said: "I think he must have forgotten our last conference in New York last Friday. I asked him by what authority he was using my name to secure pledges for Mr. Merritt. He told me he thought that at a conference a month previous he had satisfied me that Mr. Merritt was the proper man to support for the place. I at that time (last Friday) asked him if he would agree upon any other candidate—any man in the legislature. He told me he would not; that he was pledged to Mr. Merritt, and Mr. Merritt would not withdraw.

"I do not care to discuss with Governor Odell through the press questions of honesty or dishonesty."

Assemblyman Wadsworth said last night: "I believe Governor Higgins' statement that President Roosevelt did not dictate my candidacy, and I think Governor Higgins is abundantly able to take care of himself."

A Schooner's Terrible Cruise

New York, Dec. 22.—A 24-hour cruise with every member of the crew in the rigging, in a vessel which crept a few miles along the Virginia coast line, bumping on the shoals with nearly every wave, was the experience of eight sailors who have arrived here. They are from the schooner Pendleton Sisters. They were rescued by the Matompkin life saving station after a struggle against cold in which one member of the crew died. The schooner's terrible cruise ended when she stuck fast near the life saving station.

Kohler's Choler Aroused

New York, Dec. 22.—Edgar J. Kohler, of counsel for Albert T. Patrick, the convicted murderer of W. M. Rice, who has been resentenced to die during the week of Jan. 22, appeared before Justice Rogers and made a motion to stay the execution, pending an appeal to the supreme court of the United States. District Attorney Jerome opposed the motion and became engaged in a colloquy with Kohler, which ended by the latter suddenly leaving the courtroom, the motion remaining undisposed of.

Expulsion Decree Annulled

Havana, Dec. 22.—The cabinet has annulled the decree of President Palma expelling Jose Pinino, the Italian agitator, from the island. Pinino, at a meeting of Liberals, referred to President Palma as a "fool and traitor," and later was deported on a cattle steamer to Cartagena, Colombia. He was refused admittance to Colombia and was returned here and afterwards was deported to Halifax.

HOME RULE AVOIDED

Bannerman Makes His First Speech as England's Premier

London, Dec. 22.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's first speech since he accepted the premiership was delivered at Albert hall last night before a mass meeting under the auspices of the Liberal Federation. The speech was notable for its avoidance of the question of home rule for Ireland.

The premier was supported on the platform by 15 members of his cabinet. The vast auditorium was packed with an audience chiefly composed of Londoners. John Burns was acclaimed by continuous applause and musical honors until the picturesque representative of labor in the British cabinet was palpably embarrassed.

The premier said that the fiscal question was the prime issue of the campaign against a government whose ministry "made a midnight flitting on a murky December evening."

A feature of his speech was his announcement that the government had decided to stop the importation of coolies into South Africa until such time as the question for or against such importation could be decided by a South African parliament elected by popular vote. This was greeted with tremendous enthusiasm.

Mystery Partially Revealed

Middletown, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Mrs. Georgia Ingerick, who was assaulted and severely injured when her daughter and the two Olney brothers were murdered about three months ago, positively declares that "Little Dan" Davis was the man who called at her house about noon on the day of the murder and asked for water and clothes, claiming that the Olneys had been hurt. Mrs. Ingerick soon after went to the well for water and remembers nothing further. When she left the house her daughter was eating dinner. Davis, who lives next to the Olney farm, is now serving a sentence of 60 days in jail for intoxication.

Conley's Memory Honored

Boston, Dec. 22.—The memory of George H. Conley, superintendent of the public schools of Boston, who died Wednesday, was honored at a special meeting of the Boston school committee. Eulogistic resolutions were adopted. It was the first time the school committee had been called upon to honor the memory of a superintendent who had died in office. The resolutions praised the life and service of Conley.

Strife In Colombia

Washington, Dec. 22.—The state department has received information by cable that an attempt was made in Bogota to dispose of President Reyes as an incident to a plot for overturning the government. In consequence there were many arrests of prominent men, among them being a former minister of the cabinet and five leaders of the opposition. No details are given of the reasons for the attempt upon Reyes.

A Delicate Towing Operation

Washington, Dec. 22.—A warning has been sent out by the hydrographic office to the entire shipping world requesting ship captains to look out for the floating drydock Dewey, so that ships may not pass between the dock and the vessels which are towing her to the Philippines. Strung out in tandem formation, the dock and the four accompanying ships will extend considerably over a mile.

Non Union Man Killed by Strikers

Newark, O., Dec. 22.—The third death resulting from the strike of 300 metal polishers at the Wehrle Stove works occurred last night, when Homer Loar was shot and killed while engaged in a fight with some strikers, during which time many shots were fired. No arrests have been made. Loar leaves a widow and two children. He was a non-union polisher.

Friendly Bout Ends Fatally

Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—Patrick Reynolds and Frank Shanahan are friends and members of a club. They were having a friendly boxing bout last night when Shanahan struck Reynolds behind the ear. The latter sank to the floor and died before a doctor could be summoned. Shanahan has been detained by the police pending an investigation by the coroner.

General Electric Gets Big Order

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 22.—The General Electric company has received from the Edison company, which furnishes electric light in New York city, an order for switchboards for distributing over 20,000 horse power and the cable extensions to go with them. The amount involved in the contract is $1,250,000.

Strike Lasted but a Day

Hoosick Falls, N. Y., Dec. 22.—The strike which was declared yesterday in the slate quarries of the Sea Green range, extending from Granville, N. Y., into southern Vermont, was called off last night, the operators agreeing to restore the scale of wages, the attempted reduction of which precipitated the trouble.

Capital Stock of $30,000,000

Philadelphia, Dec. 22.—The directors of the Bell Telephone company of Philadelphia have decided to recommend to the stockholders that the capital stock of the company be increased from $16,000,000 to $30,000,000. The stockholders will vote on the proposition in February.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Fair and colder Saturday.

But little or no work will be done in the stone sheds after today until New Years.

Mr. Joseph Burke has opened a small store on East Howard street, near the main gate of the ship-yard.

Mrs. James B. Pollock of New York is in town to pass the holiday with her mother Mrs. Stephen Penniman.

Rev. Sven J. Sebeline of Blue Island has declined a call to become pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church.

D. E. Wadsworth & Co. have a force of over twenty clerks for the holiday trade and they are all busy.

Mr. Arthur Trimane of South Quincy, left today for Pennsylvania, where he will spend the holidays with his brother.

Mr. Sparrow, the janitor of the Wollaston school was kindly remembered by the teachers on Wednesday with several substantial gifts.

E. J. Vickery is supervising the building operations for Henry B. Blackwell and work is going bravely forward despite the season's obstacles.

Mr. Lincoln, formerly of the Vermont house, is the new proprietor of the Des Moines hotel, corner of Chubbuck and Washington streets.

A large steel scraper has arrived by freight at Wollaston to be used on the flats near the National Sailors' Home in the construction of the Metropolitan parkway.

The pupils of the Wollaston school sent out Wednesday a number of boxes of food for the needy of Wollaston as as well as a large box to the Day Nursery.

A whist party was held at Greenleaf hall Thursday evening under the auspices of John Adams Commandery, Knights of Malta. Eighteen tables were in play. Prizes were given to the ladies and gentlemen for the best scores. Hot chocolate and fancy crackers were served.

A large company of the people of the West Quincy M. E. church gathered on Wednesday evening at the parsonage when they completely surprised Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Tyler. With Christmas cheer they left a barrel of flour, and various other good things including some money. The evening was enjoyed by all.

Morris E. Kilpatrick is further improving the "Howe villa" on Squantum street, having begun the erection of another house at the northwesterly part of that fine location, the house facing west fronting the old Gibbons estate. Mr. Kilpatrick is a good exponent of the art of home-making in the best sense.

The funeral of Daniel Shea, who died of injuries received by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge in a sewer trench on Baxter street on Wednesday, was held this morning from St. Mary's church. The services were conducted by Rev. John J. Powers, and were largely attended. Many of his fellow workmen were present. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

The U. S. cruiser Des Moines, built at Quincy, arrived at San Juan on Thussday.

Mrs. McDonald of the Riverside house has purchased the Moran residence on South street.

Carl W. Gram of Wollaston, was on the Tech 1909 relay team which defeated 1908 Thursday evening.

Mrs. Sarah Holbrook passed away on Thursday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Stetson of 72 Bromfield street.

Sunday School Teaching

At the mid-week service at the Quincy Point church on Thursday evening, Dec. 28, Mrs. Anna D. Pollard, superintendent of public schools at Southington, Conn., will give an instructive address on "Some causes of failure and of success in Sunday school teaching." This will be of special interest to Sunday school workers and parents throughout the city. All seats free and everybody cordially invited. Service at 7.30.

Cold Day Last Year.

The Christmas noon temperature for nine years has ranged between 16 last year and 46 in 1900. In four of the nine years it was below the freezing point, but in only two years above 40. In December last year there was but one colder day than Christmas.

Approval Necessary.

The reason for the hold-up on the street railway connection at Atlantic is probably because the Railroad Commissioners have not had an opportunity to approve the locations granted by the City Council. The Commission however has advertised a hearing for next Thursday, Dec. 28.

American Merchant Marine.

The first step toward a further expansion of our over-seas commerce is to follow the example of every one of our mercantile rivals, from Great Britain in 1840 down to Germany in 1885, and Japan in 1896,—and that is to create, by national aid, improved facilities of transportation. Just as instinctively as a great department store provides itself with its own men and wagons to deliver its own goods to its customers, instead of leaving this indispensable service to the mercy of its rivals, have the great mercantile nations of the world provided their own ships and seamen. The United States and Russia alone have left the carrying of their merchandise chiefly to their competitors in peace and possible enemies in war. Now Russia, at any rate, has learned her lesson. It is announced from St. Petersburg that the Czar's government will take vigorous measures to create a merchant marine, and that steamship lines with national subvention will be started at once from both the Baltic and the Black seas to New York.—From "America in Foreign Trade," by Winthrop L. Marvin, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for December.

New Polishing Mill.

The several granite firms conducted by the Deacon Bros. have combined to erect a large and modern polishing mill at South Quincy. The new mill will be located near the plant of A. M. Dean & Co. and will probably be built by J. Winthrop Pratt. It will be equipped with boiler, engine, several polishing wheels and a 550 foot air compressor. As there are several of the brothers, all doing business under their own name, they will have about enough work of their own to keep the mill busy.

New Quarries.

The Granite Railway Co. has put in 42-feet platform scales of 100 tons capacity on the lines of the Quarry railroad in the rear of the West Quincy depot. They have also erected near the scales an office built of granite. The company have also opened up two new quarries to which spur tracks have been built.

—The repeated statement that money talks is correct, but to many it says "good by."

Fined $15.

William B. May, an employe of the Fore River company, aged 18, was arrested by Inspector Bradley Thursday night for creating a disturbance on the street cars. The evidence was that May boarded a workman's car at Newcomb square for West Quincy. On the way up it is alleged that May used vile language. When the car was crossing the railroad track at Quincy Adams it is alleged that May reached up and pulled the bell rope giving the emergency call. The court imposed a fine of $15.

"May all our neighbors' chimneys smoke
And Christmas blocks are burning,
Their ovens they with baked meat choke
And all their spits are turning.
Without the door let sorrow lie,
And if for cold it hap to die,
We'll bury it in Christmas pie
And evermore be merry."
—George Wither, Seventeenth Century.

Miss Avis Kemp, one of the teachers of the Wollaston school, has gone to her home in Manchester for the Christmas vacation.

Members of the Quincy Women's club have a rare pleasure in store for them on Dec. 26, when John Colby Abbott is to deliver his lecture on "Ludwig the Dreamer," in Bethany chapel. The "Mad King" of Bavaria, Ludwig II is one of the most unique figures in history. His picturesque life and tragic death, his enthusiasm for art, finding expression in his beautiful castles and chateaux, and in devotion to classic music, all combine to make him of surpassing interest. The lecture is illustrated by sixty beautiful stereopticon pictures of the king's palaces hidden away in the forests of the eastern Alps. There should be a large audience to welcome Mr. Abbott and thus show an appreciation of his unusually pleasing entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Faxon have had the Christmas season changed into one of deep sorrow, their little daughter Priscilla passed away Friday after a few weeks illness. She was two years old; one of the sweetest and most lovable of babies. Her sunny face was an inspiration to many who met her on her morning drives. Mr. and Mrs. Faxon have the sympathy of many friends.

Surplus Of Voters

To Give City Two Representatives By the New Apportionment

The Legislature of 1905 will take the initiative in redistricting the State into councillor, senatorial and representative districts on the new census of voters. There will be 8 councillors, 40 senators and 240 representatives as at present.

Bases of apportionment will be 16,854 voters for one senator, and as Norfolk county has 38,254, there is no question but the county will have two senators as at present. Some changes are possible however in the make up of the districts.

More interests centers in the Representative districts, which should have 2,809 voters each. Norfolk county will have 1737 more voters than required for 13 representatives, the present number, and will probably continue with 13.

It is for the Legislature to say how many representatives a county shall have, and then the work of apportionment devolves upon the County Commissioners.

Quincy with 6009 voters will certainly be entitled to two, having 391 voters to spare.

In the summary which follows the number of voters both in 1895 and 1905 are given for the presents districts, and are followed by comment:

There have been three double districts during the past ten years and there will be a pressure brought to bear to have all these divided. Wards of cities cannot be divided, but one of the Quincy districts could include Wards One, Two and Three, and the other district Wards Four, Five and Six, the number of voters being nearly equal.

The Braintree-Weymouth double district is not large enough for two, having but 4,942 when 5618 are required. Weymouth with 440 to spare, may prefer to become a district by itself. It would then be necessary to put Holbrook and possibly Avon with Braintree.

Brookline although about 500 short will probably make an effort to secure two representatives, and with a member of the board of County Commissioners, her chances are good.

Milton and Canton have about the right number to continue together, and so have Districts 8 and 9.

Hyde Park has a surplus of 400 to 500 but may prefer to go it alone.

District 1 is too large, and District 7 too small. District 10 should be divided and may have but one representative.

The population of the county by the ceusus of 1895, 1900 and 1905 follows:

	1905.	1895.	1900.
Avon,	1,901	1,626	1,741

Christmas at Granite City Club

His Royal Highness, Santa Claus, is expected to visit the rooms of the Granite city club tonight. Owing to his multiple duties he will be a little late in arriving, probably about 10 o'clock. The members will be ready for him, and will have everything arranged to give him a royal reception. A high bank of pine trees completely cover one end of the card room, and will be decorated by the time he arrives. That there may be no impatience while awaiting his arrival, there will be an entertainment by an orchestra. After he has performed his duty of distributing gifts, and made his departure for other places, refreshments will be served, and the grip of peace will be smoked.

A Gift Boys Appreciate

Christmas gifts at the Y. M. C. A. are coming in daily.

Five individuals, parents, brothers or friends, have given membership tickets to boys for the year.

The boys work director has a list of deserving boys who want to join but are unable to so for financial reasons. No better Christmas present could be made. Ring up 81—3 and inquire the name of one of the boys or send a check for $3.50 for some one the association may select.

Three beautiful armchairs, leather-seated, were received yesterday for the hall platform from a director.

A handsome copy of Webster International Dictionary is another gift just received from the Woman's Auxiliory.

Such gifts as these make the work go easier, supply the needs and encourage others to go and do likewise.

If some friend would contribute a large picture of "Breaking Home Ties," which is in almost every association building in the country, it would be greatly appreciated.

Palestine Illustrated.

Christmas Sunday at the Y. M. C. A. will be an important day. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Frank E. Bunker, well knowd lecturer of travel, will deliver his lecture on "Palestine" and show some 200 beautifully colored views taken by himself. His stereopticon is of the latest pateran, oxg-hydrogen light. The views have never been seen in Quincy and a large audience of men is expected.

Engineer Williams.

Dr. Garey, the attending physician to engineer George H. Williams, reports his patient as comfortable and as doing nicely. Up to the present time there has been no indications of internal injury and his speedy recovery is looked for.

RUBBISH UNDER SEATS

Responsible For Fire and Panic on a Ferryboat

New York, Dec. 23.—While the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western ferryboat Montclair, with 1000 passengers on board, was on her way to Hoboken last night, fire burst from beneath a row of seats in the men's cabin so suddenly that those on the seats were almost burned. Shouts of fire rang through the crowded cabin and everybody rushed for the open ends of the boat, almost pushing one another into the water, the panic spreading to the women's cabin, which was also crowded.

The deckhands succeeded in stifling the blaze with fire extinguishers and the boat was driven full speed, with whistle shrieking, to the Hoboken slip. The passengers rushed ashore and the fire department at the ferry house came aboard with their apparatus and finished effectively the work begun by the deckhands. It is supposed that a smouldering cigar stub communicating fire to rubbish started the blaze.

Says Powers Did Not Kill Goebel

Bakersfield, Cal., Dec. 23.—Charles E. Ehler, now in the county hospital suffering from a wound said to be self-inflicted, told Superintendent Buckrens of the hospital that he had information as to the killing of Governor Goebel of Kentucky, which, he alleges, would clear Caleb Powers, formerly secretary of state of Kentucky, now under sentence of death for complicity in the murder of Goebel. Ehler intimated that if Powers' execution were imminent he would give testimony that might save his life. Ehler said that he would not declare himself fully "because it would implicate others."

Two Killed In Fight on Train

Mount Carmel, Ills., Dec. 23.—Two men were killed, a third was probably fatally injured and every window was shot out of a passenger coach when two men in custody for stealing chickens tried to escape by killing a constable. Incidentally, 25 passengers in the car were kept busy dodging bullets for several minutes, the train meantime running at high speed. When the smoke had cleared away Constable Kingston and Isaac Marshall, one of the prisoners, were dead, and Edward Marshall, the other prisoner, was probably fatally wounded. No one else was harmed.

Weather From Sable Island

Halifax, Dec. 23.—The Canadian government will establish a wireless weather bureau on Sable Island at an early date. The reports will be sent to Halifax and thence to Toronto, and from there telegraphed to all the principal coast points in the dominion. This information will be valuable, as owing to the peculiar position of the island, information concerning storms approaching from the south can be had several hours earlier than from any other point on the Canadian Atlantic coast.

Fortune For Girls' Institute

New York, Dec. 23.—Justice Dowling, in the supreme court, handed down a decision upholding the will of Wallace C. Andrews, who with his wife was burned to death at his home and left an estate valued at $2,000,000. Under the decision the estate goes to the Andrews institute for girls, founded by Andrews near Cleveland. The principal question raised was whether Mrs. Andrews survived her husband.

Hungarians Persecute Americans

Vienna, Dec. 23.—The American embassy has received several complaints in which Hungarian officials are accused of having subjected naturalized American citizens to petty persecutions on the ground that their papers were incorrect. It is believed that the establishment of American commercial or consul agents at interior points would greatly ameliorate the situation.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

FIGURES JUGGLED

Done at Instance of Officers of the Mutual Life

REPORT OF NO PROFITS

Insurance Examiner Knew It to Be Untrue, but Did Not Think It Necessary to Do Anything Regarding the Matter

New York, Dec. 23.—Additional testimony as to the management of the Mutual Life Insurance company was adduced before the executive committee on insurance investigation, tending to show that the company used profits from the sale of securities to conceal the reduction of book values of real estate, or losses, as Mr. Hughes, counsel to the committee, called them.

Superintendent Hendricks of the state insurance department, when on the stand Thursday, said he had never heard of such a thing and that it had never been called to his attention. Yesterday, after auditors of the Mutual Life had testified to this fact, Isaac Vanderpoel, chief examiner of the department, declared on the stand that he had not discovered the matter in his examination of the company last year when in his report he gave the company what was practically a certificate of "good character." He said these manipulations of the figures were not apparent in the books.

These transfers of profits to the debit side of the profit and loss account were made by the auditors upon instruction of President McCurdy and Vice President Grannis, and the written instructions were produced. They named the figures that adjusted the accounts, and last year, while there was really a profit of almost $1,500,000 when these transfers were made, no profit whatever was shown.

Mr. Vanderpoel said he had examined the report of 1904, which showed no profits from the sale of securities. Although he knew this was untrue, he did not so report it because he did not think it was necessary. The same situation existed in the New York Life, according to Vanderpoel, although the practice was not general, and when asked what he did in the matter, he said: "Nothing." Vanderpoel said he had examined the Hanover bank account of the New York Life in 1904, and did not find the $100,000 that was paid to Andrew Hamilton.

Mr. Vanderpoel never knew of the year-end loans of the Metropolitan Life to Vermilye & Co., and never knew how the company handled its collateral loans. He said he never in an examination of a company went back of its ledgers.

The allotment of blocks of stock of the Lawyers' Title Insurance company and the Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance company was taken up with E. W. Coggeshall, a former president of the Lawyers' Title Insurance company.

Henry D. Appleton, second deputy in the insurance department, testified as to his duties and detailed legislation that had been advised by the department to control assessment companies. Appleton said that no more attention was paid to the statement of a New York company than was paid to the statement of a company incorporated in any other state. He said no actuarial inspection was made of a report unless an examination was made.

The committee adjourned over Christmas and will resume its investigation next Wednesday.

Losing Faith In Home State Reports

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 23.—State Auditor Searle says that it may be necessary for his department to make an independent examination into the affairs of life insurance companies managed in New York and doing business in Nebraska. His statement was made after reading the published testimony of Commissioner Hendricks, indicating, as the auditor asserted, laxity in examination. Heretofore it has been customary for the insurance commissioners of Nebraska to accept the examination of the officers of the home state of an insurance concern as a guarantee that it would comply with the statutory requirements.

Conspiracy Nipped In the Bud

Bogota, Dec. 23.—The authorities here discovered just in time a conspiracy to overthrow the government. All those compromised have been arrested and will be tried by court martial. The government officials belittle the affair and say that peace is assured.

Plot Against Japanese Premier

London, Dec. 23.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Tokio reports the arrest of a former soldier named Higurashi on the charge of being concerned in a plot to assassinate the premier, Count Katsura, because he consented to a "disgraceful peace."

Alleged Raiser of Money Orders

Westerly, R. I., Dec. 23.—Charged with having raised many postal money orders from a few cents to $25, Adelbert Sissons of this town was arrested late last night on advice of the postal authorities. Sissons' alleged operations involved the postoffices in 12 cities.

Wouldn't Be Police Commissioner

Washington, Dec. 23.—Lieutenant General Chaffee received a letter from Mayor McClellan of New York tendering him an appointment as police commissioner of New York. He returned a courteous declination of the appointment.

When Pa and Ma Their Vigils Keep, and Little Boys Should Be Asleep.

LAST night I had a dandy time.
'Twas night 'fore Christmas too.
Ma put me early into bed,
Jus' like they always do
The night 'fore Christmas, an' I lay
As still as I could keep,
An' made my pa an' ma believe
'At I was fast asleep.

I SAID "BOO, MR. SANTY CLAUS!"

Well, by an' by I heard a noise,
An' then I seen my pa,
Who says to ma, "Is he asleep?"
"Uv course he is," says ma.
An' then they fetched a lot uv stuff,
A phonograph an' sled,
An' skates an' things, an' put 'em all
Beside my trundle bed.

An' then pa filled my stockin' full,
An' then both tiptoed near,
An' ma she tucked me in ag'in,
An' said, "The little dear."
An' then I set right up in bed,
An', oh, I had such fun!
I said "Boo, Mr. Santy Claus!"
An' pa an' ma both run.

Recipes Which the Amateur Confectioner May Find Useful.

Peanut Candy.—To make peanut candy, shell and break into small pieces with a rolling pin one quart of peanuts. Boil for ten minutes, stirring constantly, one pound of light brown sugar and six ounces of butter. Just before taking from the fire add the peanuts. Pour into flat, buttered tins and set away to cool.

Peppermint Creams.—Boil together, without stirring, two cups of sugar and half a cup of water. When thick enough to spin a thread remove the tin to a basin of cold water and beat the mixture rapidly until it becomes of a white, creamy consistency. Flavor with peppermint and squeeze through a pastry tube into quarter dollar sized drops on waxed paper.

Chocolate Peppermint Creams.—Make like the above, and when the drops are almost cooled dip into a pan of melted and sweetened chocolate. These are particularly delicious.

Hickory Nut Creams.—Boil sugar and water as for peppermint creams. Cool, beat, and when the mixture is white stir in one cup of hickory nut meats. Turn into a flat, warm tin and cut into squares.

At the Spanish Court.

Christmas in Spain begins with the midnight mass, when the king and queen mother, accompanied by the grandees of the court, magnificently attired, go in state procession to the chapel royal of the palace in Madrid. On Christmas morning the king and court again attend mass in state, after which the day is spent in merrymaking. In the afternoon the adoration of the manger takes place, when a representation of the scene in Bethlehem is unveiled in the great hall of the palace. There is also a Christmas tree, from which Alfonso distributes gifts. Throughout the ensuing twelve days the court is all benevolence and gayety, and every great institution in Madrid shares in the royal almsgiving. The festival closes Jan. 6.

A Perpetual Christmastide.

The solution of the social question would be found in a perpetual Christmastide, provided our generous throughtfulness were not confined merely to our own kith and kin. Let us be assured that when the world reaches up to the highest and hollest conception of relationship it will discover that there is but one family and that the human brotherhood cannot be divided into classes antagonistic to each other. The reign of the golden rule will be the true Christian millennium.

Looking For Capacity.

"What are you writing, little boy?" asked the old gentleman.

"Christmas letters," responded the youngster. "One is to Santa Claus."

"But you have two."

"Oh, the other is to the fat lady in the museum, asking if she would loan me one of her stockings to hang up."

Railroads About St Petersburg Are In Operation

STRENGTH OF STRIKERS

It Has Bewildered the Authorities but an Air of Confidence Is Maintained--No Mercy Will Be Shown to Agitators

St. Petersburg, Dec. 23.—It is difficult to judge whether the general political strike can be ranked as a success or as a failure. The authorities are bewildered by the strength of the strikers and the strike has reached formidable proportions in St. Petersburg, where, even according to the officials, over a third of the workmen obeyed the order of the workmen's council. The strike leaders are confidently asserting that the others will be brought into line immediately. The government, however, has succeeded in keeping railroad traffic out of St. Petersburg moving with considerable regularity.

The scanty dispatches received from the interior do not indicate whether the order to strike is meeting with a general response, which will be necessary to prevent it flashing in the pan like the November strike.

The government, while entering on a vigorous offensive campaign against the revolutionary leaders and making arrests by wholesale, maintains an air of confidence. It has issued a reassuring communication declaring that all necessary measures have been taken to prevent disorders.

The proletariat organizations are marshalling all their forces to throw into the balance. The prevailing impression is that with the limited funds at the disposal of the unions the strike must spread rapidly and enter a new and more violent phase, or the game will be lost by the revolutionaries.

"General December" and "General Hunger" are powerful allies on the side of the czar at the present time, and it is thought that the leaders will not be able to hold their men in line unless an immediate victory is scored or a conflict forced and blood shed.

The railroad men's strike committee made heroic efforts to stop trains from being run out of St. Petersburg and succeeded in inducing practically all the station and round-house men and many of the trainmen who remained on duty Thursday to join in the strike. Nevertheless, the government has been dispatching trains under military guards over all the lines, although regular schedules have not been maintained. Soldiers with flags on their bayonets have been doing duty as switchmen.

M. Nemechaieff, minister of communication, has issued an order that all employes failing to report for duty today will be dismissed. Agitators will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Throughout the city notices signed by the prefect of police have been posted announcing that, in accordance with the strike law, agitators who incite the people to strike by using threats will be arrested and are subject to a fine of $250 and imprisonment for three months.

The landlords throughout the country were empowered by an imperial ukase made public today to organize guards for the protection of their property.

The news from the Baltic provinces continues bad. Frederickstad has been taken by the insurgents and Kreutzburg is surrounded and standing a siege.

The czar and his cabinet late last night reached a final decision regarding the electoral law, deciding against universal and equal suffrage and in favor of the extension of the law promulgated Aug. 19 last to include, in addition to the small landowners in the country, the workmen and the educated classes, the small rent payers in the cities. The details of this law were covered at the time in these dispatches.

Broke Through Military Cordon

Moscow, Dec 23.—The 12,000 persons who were besieged in the aquarium forced the iron railings surrounding the building and effected their escape through an adjacent schoolhouse. A few were wounded in their attempts to escape the military cordon. Seventy of those attending the meeting were arrested, but they were subsequently liberated. A few revolvers were seized and many daggers and revolvers were left behind in the garden surrounding the schoolhouse. All business has been stopped. Several of the bakeshops have been plundered.

Cossacks Fraternize With Strikers

Paris, Dec. 23.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Petit Parisien says that members of the Military Officers' union have appealed to their comrades not to assist in repressing the strike movement and that the Cossacks are freely fraternizing with the strikers. He adds that the overcoming by the insurgents of the troops in the Baltic provinces was due to the neglect by the soldiers of the most elementary precautions. One general, he says, escaped to St. Petersburg in disguise.

Driving Out Russian Officials

Reval, Dec. 23.—The insurrection in the Baltic provinces has now been extended to Esthonia, where the population of this province is driving out the Russian officials and electing new local administrators. Everything is closed down.

FIGHT TO A FINISH

Odell Pays His Respects to the Combination Against Him

New York, Dec. 23.—State Chairman Odell, before starting for his home in Newburgh to spend Christmas, said that the fight for the speakership would go on and that it was a fight to the finish.

"Mr. Merritt will stay in the fight, which will be fought to a finish," said Odell. "A new combination to reform the Republican party seems to have been formed by Roosevelt, Parsons and Quiggs; or perhaps I should reverse the order, for it seems to be Quiggs, Roosevelt and Parsons. I'm a little older than I was in old fighting days, but now that the battle is on, it seems kind of natural."

"Do you intend to resign as chairman of the state committee?"

"I do not, and you cannot make that too strong," said Odell.

"Shall you be a candidate for re-election?"

"In the language of Governor Higgins, which, by the way, is oft-times employed, I will cross that bridge when I come to it."

Test of Odell's Strength

New York, Dec. 23.—During a long contest, marked at times by bitter recriminations, but concluding with mutual pledges of support, the control of the New York county Republican committee was wrested from the adherents of former Governor Odell by the faction headed by Herbert Parsons. In his fight Parsons was credited with having the support of Governor Higgins' influence and the sympathy of President Roosevelt.

No New Trial For Mrs Taggart

Wooster, O., Dec. 23.—The motion for a new trial in the Taggart divorce case was overruled by Judge Eason here. Mrs. Taggart's attorney, who made the motion, took exceptions to the ruling with the announced intention of carrying the case to the circuit court. The attorneys who swore to the affidavits of prejudice, Judge Eason said, were clearly in contempt and he imposed a fine of $15 each upon Judge Critchfield, Captain Taylor and Judge Smyser. He suspended collection of the fines until the circuit could pass upon his decision in the case.

Canada Made No Seizure

St. Johns, Dec. 23.—The colonial government, having been notified by the British cabinet that the Washington government had protested against the alleged seizure of an American herring fishing vessel and the robbery of or destruction of American nets, anchors and other fishing gear in Bay of Islands, has denied all of the allegations and asserts that no vessel was seized.

Miners Want to Keep Coolies

Johannesburg, Dec. 23.—Mining officials here deplore the action of the home government regarding the importation of Chinese coolies as announced by Premier Bannerman. The cry has already been raised that the imperial government is interfering unwarrantably with the rights of the Transvaal, and many persons here look for an outburst of disloyalty.

Record-Breaking Christmas Trade

New York, Dec. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that although mild weather has greatly facilitated Christmas trade and building operations, both of which are surpassing all previous records, seasonable staples would move more freely if the temperature were lower. Yet there is little complaint, despite unsettled weather conditions.

Sugar Cultivation May Cease

San Domingo, Dec. 23.—The government has ordered the enforcement of taxation on the sugar produced in 1904, and has declared that shipments will be prohibited unless this tax is paid. The planters, however, refuse to pay. As a result of this situation the plantations may cease cultivation. American interests are largely involved.

Choate For Peace Conference

Washington, Dec. 23.—The Post says that Joseph H. Choate in all likelihood will be named by President Roosevelt as chairman of the American legation to the second Hague peace conference. This selection has been virtually decided on by the president.

AN AGED MAN'S CRIME

Crushes Skull of His Brother-In-Law In Quarrel Over Apples

Westbrook, Conn., Dec. 23.—Infuriated because he thought his brother-in-law, John Tripple, had stolen a basket of apples from him, Michael Fischel, 76 years old, attacked Tripple with an axe, crushing his skull and inflicting wounds which doubtless will cause his death.

Tripple, who is 67 years old, and Fischel lived together, and were not on good terms, it is alleged. Tripple and a neighbor got into an argument with Fischel over two baskets of apples, when suddenly Fischel picked up an axe and attacked the men. Swinging the weapon with all his strength, he caught Tripple on the left side of the head, knocking him unconscious, and as he lay on the ground Fischel aimed another blow at him, cutting a deep gash in the back of Tripple's head. Fischel gave himself up to the police. His wife and son live in New York.

Boston Elevated Statistics

Boston, Dec. 23.—The annual report of the street railways of Massachusetts to the board of railroad commissioners shows a marked increase of business. The returns made by the Boston Elevated Railway company show a surplus of $2,673,445. During the year the company carried 246,941,776 passengers and the average number of employes was 7471. The payroll for the year amounted to $3,851,891.

Life Imprisonment For Bassett

Waterbury, Conn., Dec. 23.—Charles Bassett was sentenced in the superior court to life imprisonment for the murder of Thomas Lockwood. Bassett's self-confessed accomplices, Edward Leonard and Joseph Ceneski, were offered an opportunity to plead guilty to murder in the second degree, but refused, and the state attorney now expects to have them indicted for first degree murder.

Departure From Usual Custom

Melrose, Mass., Dec. 23.—The members of the Melrose Highlands Congregational church took unusual action last night when they voted to invite a Methodist minister to become pastor of their church. Rev. Thomas J. Gregg, at present pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Liberty, O., and formerly of other Ohio Methodist churches, has been extended this invitation.

Explosion Started Panic

Providence, Dec. 23.—The explosion of a clogged waste pipe in the factory of the Cutler Comb company started a mild panic in the Enterprise building here. Among the 200 girls who are employed on the fifth floor several fainted and others ran to the fire escapes, but all were soon on their way to the street through an emergency door. Two men were slightly cut and burned.

Values His Vote at $10,000

Providence, Dec. 23.—Leroy K. Hopkins of Scituate has brought suit for $10,000 damages from the Scituate town council, because his name was erased from the voting list of the town at the last election and he was not allowed to vote. Hopkins alleges that he has lived all his life in Scituate and became of age in 1885 and is entitled to a vote in all town matters.

Vermont Slayer In For Life

Woodstock, Vt., Dec. 23.—Wilman D. Allard, charged with killing Thomas McCormick, was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury in the Windsor county court. Judge Miles immediately sentenced the prisoner to imprisonment for life. McCormick was killed at Allard's home Dec. 2, his life having been ended by a blow on the head with an axe.

Fell Down Elevator Shaft

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 23.—Thomas Jordan was killed and Joseph Griffin badly hurt by a fall of 35 feet in a freight elevator shaft here. The men were on a staging directly under the elevator which they were repairing when the planks they were standing on gave way. Griffin fell on Jordan, or he, too, probably would have been killed.

Washed Overboard and Drowned

Boston, Dec. 23.—The fishing schooner Elmer E. Gray arrived in port with her flag at half mast on account of the loss of one of the crew, Harry Hammond. Hammond, who was at the wheel, was washed overboard by a heavy sea. It was too rough to launch a dory and the man sank from sight with his companions powerless to aid him.

Manslaughter Charged

Boston, Dec. 23.—John H. Norton, 23 years old, was arraigned in the municipal court on a charge of manslaughter in causing the death of William H. Simmons and was held for the grand jury in bonds of $3000. Norton is clerk of the Model Hotel, and it is alleged that he caused Simmons' death by throwing him down stairs.

Blames Wine For Shooting

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 23.—Charles Barto, on trial for his life for murder, took the stand in his own behalf and admitted killing Stefan Rinko, but said he was drunk when he did the shooting. He said he had taken too much wine, and that Rinko fired at him first, so he shot in return and killed the man.

Dam Blown Up With Dynamite

Brattleboro, Vt., Dec. 23.—Unknown persons have destroyed by dynamite a dam on Pleasant River brook, owned by G. E. Crowell and used in connection with an independent water supply. The dynamite was stolen from the blacksmith shop of contractors for the Sunset Lake Water company.

Tommy Atkins' Christmas

How King Edward's "Thin Red Heroes" Celebrate Their Holiday.

No matter where he may be or in what circumstances he may be placed, Tommy Atkins never fails to make a special effort to celebrate Christmas day in a befitting manner. Four years ago saw thousands of British soldier lads spending the festive 25th round camp fires on the South African veldt, but they enjoyed themselves, nevertheless, in spite of their surroundings and the difficulties under which the Christmas dinner was prepared. It is Christmas in barracks, however, which Tommy enjoys best of all, next, of course, to spending it with those who are dear to him. Comrades unite with comrades, and each contributes his share of help toward making the occasion one of joyous festivity.

Early Christmas morning sees the soldiers busily engaged in turning their respective barrack rooms into dining places. Bed cots, which at ordinary times would be standing at right angles to the walls, are ranged lengthwise, and with the aid of spare palliasses and gay bunting borrowed from the stores for the occasion are transformed into luxurious looking divans. The companies vie with one another to make their rooms as attractive as possible.

The homely custom of spreading festoons of pink, blue and green paper from wall to wall is duly carried out, while mottoes, usually of a military character, abound. These mottoes, by the way, are often dedicated to popular officers, the following being examples of the favorite forms: "Long live Colonel and Mrs. ——," "God bless the general," "Good luck to Lieutenant ——," etc.

In some regiments it is the custom to usher in Christmas morning with fifes and drums immediately after the sounding of reveille, and after breakfast Tommy has to prepare for church parade. This duty finished, he is at liberty to make a grand attack on the Christmas dinner. The soldiers are first of all marshaled and arranged in their places at the table in the company's dining room, which the captain then visits in order to make a brief inspection and see that "all's well" with the boys.

After that there is still another matter which Thomas has to attend to before he can start feeding, but it is a matter which is very agreeable to him. A few minutes after the captain has made his inspection the soldiers of the company are again called to their feet and to order by the sergeant major's "'Shun!" and immediately afterward the colonel, followed by the adjutant and other officers, enters. Needless to say, they are received with rousing cheers. The colonel will drink the health of —— company, a toast answered with wild cheering and the time honored refrain, "He's a jolly good fellow."

When the officers have gone it is not long before Tommy proceeds to sample the good things which have been provided for his enjoyment. Roast beef and mutton, turkey, goose and duck are usually included in the company's menu, not to mention such things as potatoes, greens, puddings and pies.

After dinner Tommy indulges in his favorite free and easy, enlivened with songs of all descriptions. Patriotism, of course, enters into the greater part of the music, although the comic song is also a great favorite. Tommy cares little what the song may be, however, so long as it has a good swinging chorus in which he can join. Thus the hours pass by, the day's enjoyment generally ending in the veterans of the company being called upon to relate stirring incidents which have won glory and renown for the regiment.—Pearson's Weekly.

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

A Merry Christmas to readers of the Daily Ledger, and a Merry Christmas to our employes. The office of the Daily Ledger will be closed on Christmas day; no paper being issued.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Are you ready for Christmas? Coming on Monday immediately after the Sunday services the celebration will naturally include both days. On Sunday the Christmas services with carols and concerts, of worship and praise. Then on Monday, the gay parties, Christmas gifts and happy feastings, not forgetting tokens for the sick and sorrowing and letters and Christmas cards for the absent. A Christmas wish for each and all.

It is said on excellent authority that John W. McAnarney, Esq., of this city, the former City Solicitor, will be appointed by Gov. Guild as District Attorney for the Norfolk-Plymouth district, to succeed Hon. Asa P. French when he retires in January.

Seldom has Quincy been so well united upon any candidate for office as in this instance. The Republican City Committee have endorsed Mr. McAnarney, and the Quincy bar is almost a unit for him. Lawyers in both counties have also given hearty endorsements.

Unquestionably, Mr. McAnarney is one of the ablest lawyers in the district—young, bright, energetic and able. He is a native of Stoughton, the son of Thomas McAnarney, and was born, Feb. 22, 1867. When he was five years old his parents moved to Abington. After graduating from Abington high school he entered Thayer academy, Braintree, and after graduation entered the law office of James E. Cotter. He studied there four years, was then admitted to the bar.

In 1888, the year he was admitted to the bar, Mr. McAnarney came to Quincy, and has since resided here. He soon became one of the leading lawyers of the city and today is well known in both Norfolk and Suffolk counties. In 1892, '93 and '98 he served as city solicitor.

The Unity Club.

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Unity club was held in the vestry of the Unitarian church last evening. After the reading of the records, Mr. Frank E. Parlin, who had charge of the evening introduced the speaker, Col. Edward Anderson.

The subject of the evening was "Newfoundland and the Labrador" and as Newfoundland is one of the best known places in America through its fisheries and Labrador one of the least, Col. Anderson confined most of his attention to the latter.

CHARITIES

THE

Young Men's Christian Association

OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

CITY BREVITIES.

Quincy's stocking has been well filled during the year 1905.

Henry M. Faxon gave all his employes fine large turkeys for Christmas.

The call men of the Fire Department were paid off by the City Treasurer today.

Rev. E. N. Hardy will address the Y. M. C. A. of North Abington on Sunday Dec. 31.

Mayor Thompson expects to have his inaugural address completed by the middle of next week.

The Clover club of Wollaston gave to the Quincy Day Nusery a Christmas gift of ten dollars.

Charles Goss of South street, will spend the next few days with his sister in Pawtucket, R. I.

The Thomas Crane Public library closes tonight at six o'clock to open on Tuesday at one o'clock as usual.

Warren Monroe, formerly manager of Hartwell's news agency, was in town this week calling on his old friends.

Hedlin Carlson, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the City Hospital, is reported as comfortable and doing nicely.

There will be no meeting of the City Council on Monday evening, but a meeting will be held Wednesday evening, probably the last of the Council of 1905.

A few more of those fancy candy boxes filled with the best chocolates at Emanuel's candy store. They make a nice Christmas gift and are always acceptable.

Mr. John W. Northcott of this city has resigned his position as principal of one of the Winthrop grammar schools. On Jan. 1 he assumes his new duties as principal of the Wilson grammar school at Natick.

Marshall P. Wright who retires from the office of County Commissioner, has been appointed U. S. Public Roads correspondent for Norfolk County.

The annual Christmas party by the Alliance was held Friday afternoon in the chapel of First church. There was a good attendance of children and their mothers. It was a merry time with games, supper, tree, Santa Claus, etc. The party is held each year for children not connected with any Sunday school and who would not otherwise have a Christmas festival.

Quite the best in the series of afternoon programs by the Quincy Women's club is the lecture next Tuesday at Bethany chapel by John Colby Abbott. His subject, "Ludwig the Dreams," will be illustrated by beautiful stereopticon views. Members of the club can secure guests cards of Miss Prescott treasurer of the club. Membership cards admit club members. The lecture is given at Bethany chapel instead of at the club house to better accommodate those attending.

THE CHRISTMAS DINNER.

How to Decorate the Dining Table Artistically.

The Christmas dinner table may be elaborately decorated, says the New York Globe, but it should first of all express good cheer. A generous bowl of shining apples is sometimes as beautiful as costly lace or satin and American Beauty roses at this season.

Another effective table has for a centerpiece a Jerusalem cherry tree, with many berries, the earthen pot being concealed by tissue papers matching the red fruit, bound in place by a bit of green ribbon. This in turn is practically concealed by a mass of fruit—oranges, apples, grapes and raisins—with green leaves at intervals, all so arranged as to form a kind of pyramid toward the top of the plant.

A decoration for an evening dinner is a tiny tree whose many candles furnish the entire light for the table and whose branches bear nuts, bunches of raisins and crystallized fruits, the whole made glittering by the use of a very little cotton sprinkled with diamond dust.

At a more formal dinner a slender glass vase whose base just fills the center of a holly wreath may stand upon a white damask cloth. The branches of specially chosen holly which fill it are so high that they do not interfere with the guests seeing one another. Four candles in glass candlesticks are shaded by shades, to which tiny bunches of holly are fixed. In and out around the central vase and the four lights graceful curves are traced on the cloth in holly leaves, gathered at the corners in festoon fashion with a stiff rosette of scarlet ribbon.

The use of ribbon, not usually desirable at table, is in this case quite justified by the results, and the effect is enhanced by the use of name cards to which sprigs of holly are attached by ribbon knots. An amusing feature of this dinner might be the serving of the Christmas goose, accompanied by an appropriate verse for each guest from the nursery Mother Goose book.

A very artistic Christmas dinner table is one in which mistletoe is prominently used. The table linen is of ecru tint and the round table accentuated by dividing off its center from the edge, where the utensils are set, by a wreath effect executed in the wine colored shades of galax leaves. These are sewed flat on a piece of tape and secured to the cloth by occasional pins. At four equally distant parts of this circle are placed cups, seemingly of mistletoe, but really of stiff paper, to which the mistletoe is sewed. In each of these is placed a candle of ecru wax, unshaded, like those of our ancestors. A delicate line of mistletoe leads from these candles to the center of the table, where is placed a flat bed of the same waxlike flowers, from which rises a highly polished brass loving cup. This in turn holds roses of deep cream color, the edges of the petals just touched with dark tints suggestive of the galax coloring and so few in number that the beauty of each rose can be fully appreciated.

How to Prepare a Pretty Dessert.

A very pretty dessert for the Christmas dinner is made as follows: Choose a number of smooth, fair skinned oranges and cut a piece the size of a cent from the stem end; with a small wooden mustard spoon extract all the pulp, being very careful not to puncture the skin or make a hole in the opposite end. Throw the skins in water to extract any bitter flavor while you make several kinds of gelatin and flavoring with pineapple, lemon, orange or banana. Stand the shells on small cups to keep them upright and fill with the jelly, which must be cooled, but not stiff; set away overnight. The next day cut them in halves, using a very sharp knife, and arrange on a pretty dish, decorate with orange leaves, smilax or flowers. They make a very handsome centerpiece.

How to Distribute Small Gifts.

One of the prettiest suggestions for distributing small Christmas gifts is to have them imbedded in artificial oranges. This may be done with muslin or paper, and though many of the articles will not fit the receptacles they can be made to do so by a little padding with cotton or tissue paper. Orange colored crape paper makes the most realistic oranges. They are not only pleasing to the children as novelties, but add greatly to the appearance of the tree itself. They should be suspended from the tree by orange satin ribbon or by braided lengths of crape paper, which is more effective to carry out the idea. When nestling among the dark green boughs of the tree they look exceedingly pretty and suggestive.

How to Give Appropriate Presents.

Every one wants to give appropriate Christmas presents, but not every one succeeds in doing so. A little thought would save many blunders. Don't give the girl who lives in a boarding house room large pictures or smashable bric-a-brac. When she moves she will have to give them all away. Don't give a green sofa cushion to a friend who has a blue drawing room. Don't give anybody anything you would not care to have yourself. This refers to "gift" editions of the poets with padded covers and gilt decorations.

How to Make a Nut and Celery Salad.

A nut and celery salad is excellent with the Christmas turkey. Use about a dozen English walnuts to a large head of celery. Crisp and cut up the celery in small pieces, blanch the nut meats and chop them coarsely, mix the nuts and celery, marinate for half an hour in a plain French dressing, arrange on crisped and chilled lettuce leaves and cover with mayonnaise dressing. A pretty garnish is pieces of celery cut into two inch lengths and curled with a sharp knife.

BRAINTREE.

Mrs. Elisha Thayer is very ill at her home on Crescent avenue.

Miss Ethel Wales of French avenue has recovered from her recent illness and is able to be about again.

The many friends of Mrs. Charles M. Perkins of Safford street who has been ill for so long at the New England hospital, will be glad to learn she is much better, although not yet strong enough to return to her home.

Walter Dunkerly of Randall avenue left yesterday for Rutland, where he is to undergo a course of treatment.

The many friends of Howard Sanders of Plain street will be delighted to hear that he is recovering from his recent severe illness. He was threatened with pneumonia.

Joseph Gillette and Miss Mae Gillette of Franklin street are spending the holidays with their parents in Rumney, New Hampshire.

Mr. W. H. H. Bailey has been appointed aide de camp at large on the staff of General Tanner commander in chief of the G. A. R.

Supt. W. A. Torrey of the post office will make one delivery of mail by carriers Sunday morning and another Monday. Extra carriers may be put on to assist.

The first meeting of the Braintree Episcopal society was held last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Christian Science hall, Rev. W. E. Gardner of Quincy officiating. There were about seventy people present. Services will continue each Sunday at same time and place.

The mail carriers will cover their route Sunday morning leaving the post office about ten o'clock. They will also make one or two trips Christmas that the mail matter may be promptly delivered.

Mr. W. C. Habberly, who recently resigned his position in the office of the Rice & Hutchin's shoe factory, is now auditor for the Bresnahan Machinery Co. at Lynn.

Miss Grace Hackett, instructor of drawing in the public schools, has received a louder call. This week she bade the teachers and pupils of the Jonas Perkins school goodbye and desired the scholars to draw finely for the next teacher. She will teach in or near Boston beginning in January. What is her gain is Braintree's loss. While wishing her the greatest success, all regret her departure.

The pupils of the Braintree High school held a social in Monatoquot hall, Thursday evening. Following a program of musical selections and readings shadow pictures were made. The evening concluded with dancing.

Miss Gertie Dow is the happy recipient of a piano at her home with her mother, Mrs. Powers of Hobart street. The instrument arrived last week.

Children venture on the ice these mild days and sad accidents often result from their imprudent daring. Last Saturday Albert Frazier of Hobart street was skating on the Monatiquot river, just above the Victor Metal Works, when he suddenly fell through an air hole into the ice-cold water up to his neck. Men had been spearing eels through the ice and it was into this opening the boy fell. His friends helped him out and an ice bath was the only inconvenience the shivering lad sustained, but his rescuers aver that he would have drowned without their timely aid.

"HAIL TO KING CHRISTMAS!"

Maiden Trip.

The steam trawler Spray, build by the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., has returned from her maiden trip to the fishing grounds. She sailed from Boston, a week ago, and fished the Cape Cod coast, and Georges. After careful sounding she dropped her trawls.

When the trawls were hauled up it was found that a good catch had been made of cod and haddock. The scene of the taking of the first haul was an interesting one, as it marked an innovation in the fishing line. With the steam trawls the sending out of small boats to haul in the trawl is done away with, steam taking their place, and everything being done from the deck of the vessel.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Graham of Bangor Me., formerly of Quincy have arranged for a grand reunion of their family. The reunion will be held at 1 o'clock Monday at Young's hotel, Boston. Not only have Mr. and Mrs. Graham invited their sons and daughters with their families to be present, but invitations have also been extended to the parents of their daughter's husbands. Nearly fifty will sit around the festive board and mirth and merriment will prevail.

Capt. and Mrs. W. B. Crosby return to their home in Cotuit today, after a few days' visit with relatives in Quincy.

Presentation To Supt. Drake

On entering his office in the W. L. Douglas factory, No. 2, yesterday during the noon hour, Superintendent Fred E. Drake of Quincy noticed that it contained more occupants than is generally the case—all of the foreman from the different departments of the factory and the office employees were gathered there. An inpenetrable hush seemed to pervade the place. Before Mr. Drake had a chance to recover from his surprise, Thomas F. Doyle of Quincy, foreman of the finishing department, stepped forward and broke the spell by presenting a beautiful Knights Templar charm, plentifully studded with diamonds and rubies.

During the presentation speech, Mr. Doyle dwelt on the friendly and harmonious feelings which existed between the foremen and office employees and their superintendent, which was a mutual benefit, in that it encouraged better work and gave the foremen more confidence.

Although as a rule, Mr. Drake's tendency to be surprised and upset is conspicuous because of its absence, nevertheless this was one of the exceptions. After he had recovered his equilibrium he responded in a few well chosen words, feelingly withal, saying that he was thankful for this Christmastide gift, which evidenced the esteem and appreciation in which he is held by workers, and that it would be his his purpose in the future to see that they would have no occasion to regret that they thus respected him.

Possessed of sound business acumen and sterling integrity he well merits their good wishes. Mr. Drake was assistant superintendent of the W. L. Douglas No. 1 factory up to July 1904. When factory No. 2 was established he was installed as its superintendent.

New Deputy.

Dr. E. Alden Dyer, the representative elect from Whitman, has received word of his appointment as district deputy grand master of the 24th Masonic district, covering the following lodges: Rural of Quincy, Norfolk Union of Randolph, Satucket of East Bridgewater, Fellowship of Bridgewater, Puritan of Whitman, John Cutler of Abington, St. George of Campello, Paul Revere of Brockton and Wollaston of Wollaston. He will be installed Dec. 27, at the Masonic Temple in Boston. Dr. Dyer had many warm friends working in his interest and the appointment will be received with pleasure in the district where he is so well and favorably known.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

How to Make It an Unalloyed Pleasure to All.

Many women spend months making dainty and useful gifts for friends and family for Christmas, so that they fairly wear themselves out before the day arrives, and this is added to the inevitable shopping, which is nerve destroying and body wearing, leaving them almost in a state of collapse from the reaction on Christmas day.

The habit of giving Christmas presents to all one's acquaintances is an evil one, and it grows more insistent and difficult to bear with every succeeding year. It is to be hoped that common sense in this respect will again hold sway, for the giving of gifts to any one outside one's immediate family is wrong and a tax and strain upon strength and purse that should not be. And there is always the haunting fear that the recipient will consider the gift, which took so many long hours of toil, small and mean. Such a gift is worth more than pearls or rubies, and to make every one happy it should be appreciated at its real worth, counting the hours of loving labor it cost. To make Christmas a season of unalloyed joy needs much less than one thinks until tried. A good wholesome dinner with all the family together, a tree afterward, then games and perhaps a dance, is the best way of all. And few besides the family should be invited if one really wants to be happy and free, to be as happy as you want to. Let every person in the family rise in the morning determined to do all he or she can to make others happy. Let nothing mar the pleasure of any one. That is the true Christmas spirit.

At the dinner table let there be places for the children. No refinement of cruelty could be greater than for children to see their elders at table while they wait. The dinner should be such that children could partake of it without danger. It is to help fix in their minds the real significance of the day. If that means "Peace on earth," do not make the child unhappy by scolding for small faults. Shut your eyes for once and relax a little if you wish Christmas to be a day of such delight as will be remembered forever. Be loving, be lenient, be all that you wish, but save your strength for your own family.

Christmas Mascots.

The mistletoe is a potent Christmas mascot. It is the best luck bringer, says Home Notes. The hostess who gives her guests a sprig of mistletoe is doing what of old the priestly Druids did when they gave the worshipers of the Supreme Being, typified under the form of an oak, a portion of the parasitic plant to keep religiously as long as it lasted. The mistletoe sprig gave power to perceive witches and evil workers. It insured prosperity to its owner. To those the Druids disliked or to whom they wished no weal they gave no mistletoe, only to true worshipers and the bringers of presents to lay under the oak. No one could poison the holder of the lucky Druid given mistletoe, which could discover poisons, however cunningly administered, and save its owner from their power. To childless folk the mistletoe brought offspring and to weakly ones health. It was the "all heal" plant, symbol of health, wealth and prosperity. These attributes are forgotten today, when the luck of the mistletoe is only remembered by lovers. Hostesses of today are, for a new thing, reviving the old time fancies. The conceit brings pleasure, gives amusement and does no harm.

The very holly berries may form a curious mascot if used in one way. A crown or wreath must be made of them in imitation of the sacred crown of thorns. Berries red as blood must be on this crown in plenty, and the wearer must go alone at midnight to sit in the church in the dark. Second sight will be given to the wearer of that crown and vision bestowed of weird things, for into the church will walk that Christmas midnight all of her friends who shall die in the coming year. Foreknowledge is given. And the holly crown worn on the eve of Christmas will give vision of spirit forms coming in the air to sing their noel songs. The beasts will be seen by the holly wearer to lie down in worship. The crown preserved for a year will give safety from violence.

LICENSES INVALID

Parker's View of Violation of the Screen Law

LETTER TO HUB POLICE

Demand of Moran of No More Weight Than Demand of Any Other Citizen Acting In Good Faith--Bars Are Still Open

Boston, Dec. 23.—In a lengthy communication Attorney General Parker has instructed the Boston police commission as to its duties regarding investigations of alleged violations of the law, and expressed as his personal opinion that District Attorney Moran's claim that violations of the law annul a liquor license was well founded.

The communication of the attorney general to the police commission was in response to a request from Chairman Cole of the commission, asking the advice of the state attorney. A few days previous Moran called the attention of the police commission to the fact that four of the leading hotels in the city, Young's hotel, the Parker house, the Adams house and the Hotel Essex, had maintained screens or other obstructions on licensed premises, and although such obstructions had later been removed, the law had been violated and that therefore the licenses were invalid. Accompanying this claim was a demand that the commission immediately stop the sale of liquor at the four hotels mentioned.

Chairman Cole, acting in behalf of the police commission, submitted Moran's letter to Parker and asked for the opinion of the latter official.

In his communication Parker informed the commission that it was their duty to investigate all alleged violations of the law, and to act according to the results of such investigations. The attorney general held, however, that the demand of the district attorney for action was of no more weight than a similar demand from any other citizen who might be actuated by good faith and a desire to see the law enforced. "You are neither required," says the attorney general, "to take, nor justified in taking, any precipitate or ill-considered action, because the district attorney assumes to direct you."

Referring to the maintenance of screens and the effects of such maintenance upon the license, the attorney general writes:

"The opinion expressed by the district attorney with regard to the effects of the maintenance of screens or other like structures or devices, while so maintained and existing as affecting such licenses for the sale of liquors, appears to be to be in substantial accord with the established law. I am not, however, able to concur absolutely in the opinion of the district attorney as to the complete extinction of a license through such transitory conditions after the same shall have ceased to exist." The attorney general then goes on to explain that so far as he knows the point has never been decided by the courts.

Continuing, Parker expresses his personal opinion as follows:

"In my opinion there is strong ground for holding that the maintenance of prohibited screens and structures under conditions such as those asserted to exist by the district attorney would in the fact itself destroy and completely annul a license for the sale of liquors and thereafter such licenses could not be pleaded in justification or defense of such sales."

Chairman Cole says that the board of police has not reached any decision in the matter of stopping the sale of liquor at the four hotels mentioned by Moran. Cole is of the opinion that the question is too delicate to be decided by the police commission and that it will be settled by the courts.

No orders have been issued from police headquarters prohibiting the sale of liquor at the hotels named.

District Attorney Moran received a letter from Chief Shaw of the Massachusetts district police in which the chief declined to detail an officer from his force to prosecute alleged violators of the liquor law in Boston. Chief Shaw said that he could not detail an officer for such duty without the consent of Governor Douglas.

At midnight District Attorney Moran invited representatives of the various newspapers to his office and gave to them the following statement:

"I have just read Attorney General Parker's letter to the police board. I will comment upon it tomorrow. The situation is a little complicated, but I have it well in hand. All of the law enforcing powers of the state and city, from governor to patrolman, seem to be shielding criminal wealth. While alone on the platform I accused three hotels of violating the law, I promised that if elected I would stop the violations. I know that I was justified in my accusations. I will demonstrate my ability to fulfill my pledges to the people. The combined strength of the opposition will not avail the proprietors of these hotels in the courts. I know the law and I will enforce the law."

Won't Fight "Semicolon Law"

Boston, Dec. 23.—The members of the Hotelmen's association met in this city and decided to abandon their efforts to secure legislation which will amend the section of the liquor law compelling bars to close at 11 o'clock at night, expressing themselves as convinced that it is useless to attempt to secure such legislation.

Mexico's Christmas Posadas

To one who has been away from the United States for a term of years the Christmas holidays there seem like a feverish rush, and the simple pleasures indulged in during the nine days of posadas in Mexico are returned to with a certain measure of relief.

A posada is an inn, and the idea pervading these festivities is that story, known to all the world, of Caesar Augustus, who, in the height of his power, wished to know the number of people who bowed beneath his scepter. In order to determine the fact he decreed that a census should be taken of all the nations composing the great Roman empire. To effect this Augustus sent twenty-four commissioners to the different parts of his world. The edict commanded that every person, rich or poor, weak or strong, should go to the place of his birth or to the original place of his family to have his or her name inscribed in the Roman registry.

Joseph and Mary, who were both of the royal house of David, went to the town of Bethlehem. They found it so full of people on the same mission that they wandered about the town for nine days seeking shelter. On the ninth day they were allowed to stay in the stable of a posada, and there the Nino Santo, or Holy Child, was born. The posadas are held for nine evenings in commemoration of those weary days.

Of course there are miserable homes where no sign of a posada is held, but Mexicans, rich and poor, are generous. No matter how dirty and ragged, every one is welcome in the churches, beautifully decorated, and at the nightly posadas held in them, though there the penatas are omitted, as the celebrations are entirely of a religious nature.

To the children the penatas are very important features of the season. They represent men, women, goats and other animals, beautiful flowers, immense chrysanthemums, giant roses and peonies, lovely dahlias, nuns, monks in full costume and graceful musical instruments. Each figure contains an empty jar or penata of pottery, which is hidden by the decorations or costumes of colored tissue paper, most skillfully applied. The jars are filled with goodies and unbreakable toys.

When friends have been invited to a posada the house is decorated with evergreens and mosses, flowers and tinsel in all the rooms and corridors. In one room is the scene in the stable of Bethlehem—the stable yard and servants, the animals, trees and plants, groups of Biblical characters, little toy fountains. All that money can do to beautify the beginning of the "old, old story" is done according to the taste and means of the host and hostess. The little manger, amid soft lights and draperies, stands ready for the Nino Santo.

A procession of the guests and family forms in another part of the house, and the pilgrims, or peregrinos, march two and two, led by one who carries the Babe. Singing sweet hymns and the litanies, they go through the house, winding in and out of the rooms and galleries.

At last the wanderers stop at the door of the room in which is the manger. Two voices, representing Mary and Joseph, in a wailing hymn beg to be admitted. Voices within chant a denial. Finally a voice announces who they are that plead for shelter; then the door is thrown open, and the peregrinos are allowed to enter. The Babe is placed in the manger, often by a priest, and songs of rejoicing burst forth.

The penatas are next on the programme, the details varying with the fancy of the host.

In a convenient place the penata is suspended, and the little folk, and big ones who choose to take part in the merriment, are blindfolded one at a time, turned around a time or two, then given a stick with which to break the jar if possible. So many trials, then another tries. When one succeeds the contents fall to the floor and a scramble follows to see who gets the most. In some old families there are evenings when the numerous servants partake of the joys of the posada and share in the souvenirs and refreshments provided.—Collier's Weekly.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

A Dream's Fulfillment

The Rector's Christmas Charity and What Came of It.

By SALLY CHAMBERLIN

[Copyright, 1904, by Sally Chamberlin.]

BANG! Bang! Bang!

John Hare jumped from his warm bed into his dressing gown and slippers, switched on the electric light and was on the lower floor swinging wide the heavy, massive door before his eyes were fairly open. Through the blackness of the outer night peered the hard and forbidding faces of two roughly clad men. The taller man stated in gruff tones that his baby was dying and his wife wanted the child baptized.

In less than five minutes the young rector was dressed and back to the men, whom he had left sitting in the hall, and the three started out. The trip to the outskirts of the city through dark and strange streets was anything but pleasant. Finally reaching a little low cottage, set quite apart from any other dwellings and lighted by one small lamp which sent its rays through the narrow window, he followed the men through the door into a barely furnished room. On a cot in the corner lay a child, small and wasted, marked with death's stamp, and beside her sat the weeping mother. Some strange mystery haunted the room. What were these poverty stricken people trying to conceal? The clergyman shook off the feeling and opened his prayer book at the baptismal service.

Having performed his mission, accompanied by the two men, he was passing a clump of trees on his way home when one of them stopped suddenly and, pulling a long bladed knife from his pocket, flashed it before the young rector's face and instantly pointed it toward his heart. He uttered a piercing shriek.

* * * * * * *

"Ugh!" said John Hare as the sound of his own voice wakened him and he sat up in bed. "What an ugly nightmare!" Then, with a look at his watch, "It is high time I was up anyway, with fifty parochial visits before me. I must make sure that not a single family has a cheerless Christmas tomorrow."

His eye caught the picture of a girl's face, gentle eyed, yet cheery, hanging in a frame on his wall. "And if there's any persuasion in John Hare's poor eloquence he won't have a cheerless nor a lonely Christmas the next 25th of December."

This young rector had come to Spottsfield, a rising manufacturing city, three years before, after serving as curate in a large city parish. He had transformed his new congregation from a disgruntled, quarreling community composed of a few rich and many poor to a great family interested in each other and respecting his Christ-like principles. And incidentally his strict resolution for a busy bachelorhood had been somewhat disturbed by a pair of interested, laughing eyes which belonged to the daughter of a factory owner.

This energetic, but rather shy, young woman was famed and loved among the poor and sick of Spottsfield for her gentle and unpretentious way of helping when and where she was needed. Though of different faiths, she and John Hare met often while on excursions of mercy. He had seen her, too, at her father's home, where he was popular as a dinner guest because of his appreciation of a good cigar and his broad, forceful views on Christianity.

As he dressed that morning before the festive holiday he realized that the human heart cannot be denied its sustenance—one beating in touch and sympathy with it—and that one fair girl had woven her charms about him so completely that he could no longer refrain from telling her of it, even though of late she had rather seemed to avoid him when he crossed her path and was even chary of her conversation when he dined at her house.

During the long busy day she was constantly brought to his mind in the homes he visited. A forlorn old woman told of the coming of Miss Ruth with yarn for the next year's knitting and a box of sweets. A grateful mother told of the nights Miss Ruth had stayed and nursed the baby back to life. In the poorer homes he heard of the baskets of Christmas goodies she had brought, with toys and warm mittens for the children.

It was 10 o'clock before the rector had finished the day's task, and when he reached home he threw himself, quite worn out, on the couch in the library. Not ten minutes seemed to have elapsed when the sound "Br-r-r-r!" through his sleep wakened him suddenly to the realization that some one was ringing the bell with the evident intention of rousing the entire household, and as he stepped into the hall to open the door he was amazed to see the hands on the old fashioned clock pointing to 1.

"Sir, we've come to get Mr. Hare. The baby's dying, and my wife wants a minister," announced one of the two men who stood on the step facing the tired rector.

The memory of his vivid nightmare had not recurred to him since the morning, but at the words "baby's dying" it it all flashed before his mind, and he hesitated an instant with some misgivings. Quickly pulling himself together and throwing off the vision, he exclaimed:

"I'm Mr. Hare. Where is your baby?" In a harsh voice the larger of the two men mentioned the outskirts of the city, where the houses were small and low and widely scattered.

Again pushing aside the warning of his apparition, the rector incased himself in warm overcoat and arctics and, locking the door behind him, bade the men lead the way. For several blocks an occasional house showed lights from top to bottom or a stray light in the second story gave evidence that an eager youngster was awake examining Santa Claus' gifts. Then the houses became dark, and the three men trudged on through the gently falling snow. Hare's questions received but curt, abrupt answers, while the memory of his grewsome dream grew clearer with each step of the long dark walk till he reached the identical cottage of his nightmare, with one light shining through the window. A suggestion of cold perspiration stood on his forehead and a shiver ran down his spine as he thought of the sinister group and the suspicious and foreboding glances of the men in that dim scene which he had passed through before so realistically.

Entering the house behind the larger man, he looked instantly toward the corner for the cot and the child. They were there! The thin face of the child showed the same pallor of death, but the mother was not in the chair beside the bed. In her place sat a girlish figure, holding a vial in her delicate fingers.

"Thank you so much for coming," said a soft voice, and the Ruth of his day dreams lifted her eyes to his with a wistful, shy glance of comfort and relief. "The mother never would have been consoled for her neglect in not having had her child baptized, and I felt so sure you would come, even though it was at this late hour."

So the dying baby received the blessing of the church, and as the sun rose between two distant hills the child passed into its Saviour's arms. Two hearts were peaceful from a sense of finished duty. Unconsciously radiant with joy at being together, the man and the girl passed from the low roofed cottage into the clear frosty air of the blue canopied earth with its fresh carpeting of pure white snow. A Christmas happiness such as they had never known before illuminated the world for these two alone in the snow clad woods.

It was some time before the young rector felt inclined to speak, and then it was to recount his nightmare with its realistic reproduction up to the point where he had found her beside the dying child.

"And the knife aimed at your heart—that must have been a dreadful dream!"

John Hare paused, holding her with his strong magnetic gaze.

"The knife is in your hand. If you cannot love me, your 'No' will be the deathblow to my hopes and ambitions."

She smiled up into his eyes and held out both hands.

"See—there is no knife."

Eight Millions For Toys.

The real amount of cash money paid out in the United States alone for toys that on Christmas morning gladden the hearts of American children is conservatively estimated at $8,000,000. This means about 60 cents apiece for the something like 13,000,000 of five to twelve year old children. The children of no other country on the globe have anything like so lavish an average amount of money expended for toys for them, not even the children of Germany—Germany, the home of toymaking and toy giving. Verily, indeed, the lot of the American child has been cast in the richest sort of clover when it comes to toy getting and not a few other things in the bargain.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Christmas the Real Turkey Day.

Christmas, not Thanksgiving, is the real turkey day. Last Christmas Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces took care of about 1,500,000 more turkeys than they did on Thanksgiving.

Devonshire's Yule Log.

In Devonshire the Yule log is known as the Ashton fagot. The fagot is composed of a bundle of ash sticks bound with nine bands of the same wood.

The Animals At Christmas

SAID Santa Claus, "'Tis Christmas eve
(The animals looked pleasant),
And each of you will now receive
His yearly Christmas present.
But I'd be glad if every guest
Would mention what he'd like the best."

The Tapir said: "That pleases me.
I'll state succinctly, therefore,
If I may be so bold and free—
The only thing I care for
Would be those matches on the shelf,
With which I'd like to light myself."

His wish was granted. Then up spake
A timid little Adder:
"Sir, but a trifle it will take
To make my Christmas gladder;
A slate and pencil, if you please,
Would let me do my sums with ease."

The Reindeer said: "You may believe
I'd be a happy fellow
If I were sure I would receive
A good sized umberrellow;
And also I'd like four goloshEs and a rubber mackintosh."

The Pig a fountain pen desired;
The Cow tin horns requested;
The Horse, for a new hat acquired,
His gratitude attested.
The Caterpillar said: "I am Proud of my caterpillarsham."

So all of them were gay and glad,
And they were happy, very;
They liked the presents that they had
And waxed exceeding merry.
Dear humans, at your Christmas feasts,
Pray take a lesson from the beasts.

HIS CHRISTMAS SERMON.

An Aged Wayfarer Who Taught a Curate Contentment.

An English clergyman declares that the best Christmas sermon he ever heard was preached by a woman—and in three words!

"In my little parish, under the sweep of the Sussex downs," he says, "I was walking swiftly home one night buffeted about by the gray clouds of driving rain that the fierce sou'wester swept landward from the sea when a poor, helpless, aged woman asked me for a trifle for a night's lodging.

"Curates are supposed always to be poor. It was Christmas time, and I had just parted with my last sixpence at a lonely hamlet where work was scarce. Still I could not leave my stranger in the street, so I asked her to come with me to my lodgings.

"She shambled along through the mud with her streaming clothes and clouted boots, and we entered my little room. My thoughtful landlady had made my table ready. A plate of hot toast was standing in the fender; the kettle sang vociferously, as if impatient to be used; in front of the fire stood my slippers and an easy chair.

"To my surprise, my poor, worn, haggard companion raised her dripping hands and burst into tears with the words, 'Oh, what luxury!'

"That was the best Christmas sermon I ever heard, and the only one I have never forgotten."—Youth's Companion.

Christmas Day In Russia.

In certain parts of Russia the children at Christmas eve begin playing pranks that are as odd as they are amusing. Chief among their drolleries is that of disguising themselves as animals and in the assumed costume of wild beasts disporting themselves through the neighborhood. As many skins as possible are secured, and in these the leading boys are clad. Wolves, bears, ostriches even, are represented. All of the boys gather in one party, those who are not posing as brutes forming a train for the escort and display of the pseudo menagerie. Some act as keepers, holding their disguised companions in check, while others startle the quiet of the night by rude strains drawn from harsh and primitive musical instruments. Torches are borne, and in the fitful light, opposed by black shadows, the scene is at once grotesque and vivid.

A Thoughtful Husband.

What is more touching at the holiday season than to see an old man planning a pleasant surprise for his aged wife?

"I's tryin' ter raise money enough ter git my wife a new dress for Christmas, sah," said Uncle Ebony to Mr. Featherstone.

"Ah, I see. You want me to give you some chores to do, uncle, eh?"

"Well, no, sah. I t'ought perhaps you could git de old lady a job at washin', sah!"

Christmas Presents.

The giving of presents on Christmas day undoubtedly owes its origin to a general idea to carry into practice the biblical mandate, "Peace on earth; good will to men." At first the great lords made presents to their retainers, and the season was marked by universal charity. By degrees the practice of Christmas giving spread until now everybody gives his or her friends presents.

Why Tommy Is Doing Penance.

Grandma—Are you looking forward to your Christmas dinner, Tommy?

Tommy—Yep, grandma, but not so much as Johnny Jones.

Grandma—Why so, Thomas?

Tommy—His grandma died last week, and he'll get all her Crissmus turkey.

Changing Countenance.

He changed countenance rapidly.

Slipping on his face the Santa Claus mask, he made a triumphant entry into the parlor with the bundle of toys.

The Past Versus the Present.

Oh, Christmas time is coming fast,
So cheer up, girls; be pleasant
And shake the fellow with the past
For that one with the present.

ICE CREAM FOR CHRISTMAS.

How to Make a More Delicate Dessert Than Plum Pudding.

A fruit ice cream which simulates in appearance an English plum pudding is often served on the French Christmas table, says the New York Tribune. To those who prefer a more delicate dessert at Christmas than plum pudding this delicious ice cream will be acceptable. To prepare it put half a cup of Malaga raisins, cleaned and stoned, into a small stone jar with a cup of old sherry, add three ounces of candied cherries cut in quarters, one tablespoonful of candied citron chopped fine and twice as much candied apricots cut in small pieces. Then with a wooden spoon mix the ingredients together, cover the jar closely and let the whole infuse for twelve hours. Meantime prepare three pints of chocolate ice cream made as follows:

Soak a large tablespoonful of English gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of water for two hours and then melt it by setting the cup it has been soaking in in a pan of boiling water. Heat a pint of milk over the fire, stir the gelatin into half of it and add two ounces of melted unsweetened chocolate to the other half. Stir the milk and chocolate over the fire until the mixture is smooth and dark and add a cup and a half of sugar. Then strain into it the other cup of milk, in which the gelatin has been dissolved. Add a quart of rich cream, flavoring the whole with a tablespoonful of vanilla extract. The reason for stirring the gelatin into only half the milk and not immediately into the chocolate and milk is because gelatin takes on a coarse, rank flavor if cooked for even a minute. Freeze this cream and when it is ready to be packed drain the fruit, if it has not already absorbed all the sherry, and stir it into the ice cream. Pack it in a melon shaped mold or any ornamental shape and let it stand in the mold while the following brandy sauce is prepared:

Put in a saucepan two egg yolks, with one heaping tablespoonful of powdered sugar, and stir the whole briskly over a slow fire with an egg beater. Add slowly a gill of English brandy and see that the sauce does not boil. When it is well mixed add a pint of whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla. Serve this sauce when cold in a boat with the ice cream, which should be turned out on a platter. Garnish the cream if desired with a tiny sprig of holly, or in the center add a slight wreath of holly around the dish.

How to Make Christmas Fires.

If one would revive a memory of the old Yule fire, a backlog of hard wood, the largest to be had, should be chosen, says Harper's Weekly. The hearth should be clean and cold before Christmas even and the log set in place with the cedar or pine or other "light wood" kindlings at hand. As the sun goes down fire is applied and the big log set ablaze. In the days of the Druids, whence Yule log lore is derived, the priests lighted the annual log with an ember from the sacred perpetual fire they guarded. In the mountain regions of the south the hearth fire is kept with an almost equal fidelity, scarcely ever being permitted to die out from October to March, and in the cabins of the negroes it is no uncommon sight upon a Christmas night to see within the fireplace itself, their heads up the chimney, pickaninnies of various sizes, busied in warming their toes, their bare feet resting on logs of cedar or hickory or oak and their black eyes rolling with anticipations of coming good things.

How to Trim a Domino Tree.

A Christmas "domino" tree may be easily trimmed as follows: Make a layer cake, baking in a shallow tin. When the cake is cold it should be cut into oblong pieces the shape and size of dominos. A tin cutter can be purchased, or the tinner can make one. Dip the tiny cakes in a boiled icing, using toothpick "spears" to accomplish this result. When the icing is cold make the domino lines and dots with melted chocolate, using a toothpick for the purpose. Each domino may be tied separately to a tiny twig with red baby ribbon or the cakes may be strung in loops. Several hundred of these goodies scattered about the tree will give a dazzling effect and please the little folks immensely.

How to Please the Invalid.

An old lady who spends much time alone in her room and who is devoted to solitaire has greatly enjoyed through the year a grandson's gift of last Christmas. This is a lapboard for her card playing, specially designed and made for her needs. A light, smooth piece of board a quarter of an inch thick and about 18 by 16 inches in dimension was covered on both sides with green felt, the edges bound all around with a leather binding put on with tiny tacks. This light, convenient board, easy to handle and amply sufficient for almost any solitaire layout, has been a boon to its recipient and would undoubtedly please some other shut-in devotee of the game that needs no partner.

How to Prepare a Mutton Ham.

A mutton ham for Christmas festivities should be prepared at once. Get the butcher to cut a large fresh leg of mutton into the shape of a ham. Let this hang for two or three days. Then rub in well one pound of salt, a quarter of a pound of coarse brown sugar, one ounce of saltpeter pounded, all warmed before the fire. Be very careful to cover, even the shank, with this mixture. Place the meat in a deep dish and turn and rub in the pickle every day for a fortnight. Then drain and dry it. Put under a heavy weight for one day. Then smoke for at least a week, more if time allows, or dry as bacon. This ham is equally good broiled and boiled.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Amid all the pleasures of Christmas week, the theatre hold first place in the affections of the public. It is to satisfy this popular craving for pleasurable entertainment that the Management of the Castle Square Theatre has selected "Ranson's Folly" for the Christmas week offering at that house. "Ranson's Folly" is scarcely second to its predecessor, "Soldiers of Fortune," and with that play it has firmly established Richard Harding Davis's fame as a dramatic author. It tells a graphic story of life and love, of war and peace, at a far western army post, and its scenes are filled with exciting incidents that are cleverly and humorously, as well as dramatically portrayed.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The juvenile patron of Keith's will find that unusual preparations for his entertainment have been made at that popular amusement resort during the week commencing Dec. 25, on which day the doors of the theatre will be thrown open at 11 A. M. instead of 1.30 P. M. Beside the usual big variety program for which Keith's is justly famed, there will be Christmas trees in the rear of the orchestra floor and balconies, which will be handsomely decoratad with electric lights and fairly crowded with presents for the youngsters. Books and dolls will be given to the girls, and mechanical toys to the boys For several months the management have been making strenuous efforts to get the best juvenile entertainment that can be procured. As a result of their efforts, Wormwood's dog and monkey show, but recently arrived from Europe, has been engaged. Reynard, the world-famous ventriloquist, who proved such a strong feature a short time ago, and Rosaire and Dorretto, European eccentric comedy acrobats, have been re-engaged for another six days. Special and appropriate films for the holiday season will be shown in the kinetograph.

BOSTON THEATRE.

"Fantana," the Japanese-American musical comedy, which Manager Lawrence McCarty secured as the Christmas holiday attraction at the Boston Theatre, and which entered upon its limited career at the big New England playhouse last Monday evening, is a success, unquestionably the biggest musical show success of the season in Boston. It came to the Boston Theatre fresh from its unparalleled record of 350 nights at the Lyric Theatre, New York City, and of five months in Chicago. The same great cast which the Messrs. Shubert selected for the New York engagement and the same magnificent scenic investiture are in evidence. It is the Jefferson De Angelis Opera Company, and this famous comedian has for his right bower a no less popular comedienne than that tempest of jollity, mirth and frivolity, Miss Toby Claude. together with such other favorites as Julia Sanderson, Catherine Cooper, Adelaide Sharp, Gertrude Millington, Norma Bell, Frank Rushworth, Hubert Wilke, William Blaisdell, Robert Broderick, Osborne Searle, and Philip Leigh. Add to this colletion of stage celebrities a large, buoyant and efficient chorus, including scores of pretty girls, and you have an idea of the roster of the aggregation. Christmas week is usually the dullest of the entire theatrical year; but "Fantana" opened nevertheless to a crowded house at the Boston Theatre, with box office indications pointing to an enumerous patronage throughout the engagement, including even the Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

At the Empire Theatre next week Manager Morison announces the first performances in Boston for many years of the melodrama written by Messrs. Jones and Herman "The Silver King," originally presented at the Princess's Theatre, London, by a company headed by Wilson Barrett in November 1882. The play quickly found its way to America and was produced and proved immensely successful at Wallack's Theatre in New York and at the Boston Theatre during the days of its stock company history. "The Silver King" promises to make a particularly strong attraction for the holiday season at the Empire and to offer a most enjoyable entertainmeut for the young people seeking enjoyment at the theatre. The usual distribntion of souvenir boxes of choice chocolate bonbons will be made at the Monday matinee.

The Delineator for January.

The Delineator begins the New Year with an attractive cover and a display of all that is new in the fashion world, to say nothing of the many features of literary excellence. Of particular interest is an article by Postmaster General Cortelyou, describing woman's place and share of work in the postal service. Helen M. Winslow's club story, is continued, a serious note being introduced in the discussion of child labor, "At Spinster Farm" is concluded, as well as John Luther Long's clever story of the stage, "Castle in Spain." The education of the child is the subject of a thoughtful paper by Dr. Grace P. Murray, and the pastimes for little folks include the first of a series of fairy tales by Alice Brown. The various departments are filled with matter of interest and value to the woman of the home

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Hopedale's Electric Chemical.

Among the first of the fire departments to adopt the electric fire apparatus is the one at Hopedale, Mass. The Pope-Waverley electric chemical engine which has just undergone its final test there for acceptance, was built at Indianapolis by the Pope Motor Car Company.

This test included a trial of speed, hill climbing ability with some three or four hundred pounds above that called for by contract, as well as a practical demonstration of the time saved in getting under way over the old method with a horse drawn engine

The truck developed a speed of over 16 miles per hour, and climbed a hill of over 13 per cent. grade under poor road conditions, with perfect ease. Ten seconds were sufficient time for the truck to start, and be on the street after the alarm was given.

The engineers were highly pleased, and reported favorably to Lieut. Governor Eben S. Draper, chairman of the Board of Fire Commissioners of Hopedale, who accepted the machine from the Pope Manufacturing Co.'s branch at Boston, through whom it was obtained.

The power equipment consists of 48 cells of exide battery, furnishing current for two motors capable of developing a total of fifteen horse power. The chemical equipment was made by the Howe Engine Co., of Indianapolis, and the fire extinguishing apparatus includes besides the chemical engine, ladders, some 1,000 pounds of auxiliary hose, beside the hose for the chemical engine, buckets and extinguishers and the usual equipment of axes, bars and tools.

This is generally accepted to be the future chemical combination wagon for fire departments and will replace the horse drawn vehicle quite as rapidly as the various municipal police departments are replacing horse drawn patrol wagons with the Pope-Waverley electric patrol wagons so common today. One might be a good apparatus for the Houghs Neck station, or for the Central station, especially for long runs like those to Atlantic, Squantum and Houghs Neck.

Bright Side

Of Christmas As Observed In Churches Of the City

Brief mention will be found below of the very general observance of Christmas in the Quincy churches.

FIRST CHURCH.

The Sunday school festival of First church was held in the chapel Saturday evening. The school gathered at half past six and marched into the church where a Christmas service was held and carols were sung for half an hour. After which all gathered in the chapel again for an entertainment, which consisted of a little play "A trip to Candy Land," given by the children of the school under the direction of Mr. Emery L. Crane which pleased the little ones as well as the adults.

After the play Santa Claus arrived with a box full of toys for the kindergarten class and a tree full of presents and candy for everybody. A purse of gold was presented to Rev. E. C. Butler pastor of the church, and to Mr. Charles H. Johnson, superintendetn of Sunday school. There were also special gifts for assistant superintendent Houghton Schumacher, and Brooks Keyes, Sidney Carr, Emery L. Crane, Miss Elizabeth Faxon, faithful workers for the school, not forgetting F. E. Dewhurst who was always ready to assist in every way.

Sunday morning at the regular service there was special music and sermon appropriate to the season. The old church looked beautiful with its garlands of laurel and large bunch of calla lilies in front of the pulpit.

CHRISTMAS MASSES.

Special masses were celebrated at all of the Catholic churches Christmas day. The musical programs were very elaborate and of very high order.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

The Sunday school of the Universalist church held its Christmas festival Saturday evening. The members of the school gathered in the vestry in the late afternoon and had supper, after which games were played and there was a general good time.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL.

Fairies and newsboys assisted Santa Claus in entertaining the Sunday school and friends of Bethany church on Saturday evening. Every child in the primary department and kindergarten received a present and a box of candy, and the other members of the Sunday school a calendar with a photo of the pastor and an interior view of the church. Supt. Branch received a beautiful oak roll top desk and a large Bible. Several teachers also gave presents to their pupils. The attendance was very large.

Christmas music was a feature of both the morning and evening services on Sunday, the chorus of 25 voices being assisted by soloist and a cellist. Much credit is due the musical director and organist, Madame Beale Morey, who arranged the musical program. The pastor's themes were: "Who was born in Bethlehem?" and "The human echo of the angel's song."

CHRIST CHURCH.

The Christmas services at Christ church began Sunday evening, when the choir rendered an appropriate musical program which was very much enjoyed. Monday morning a Christmas Communion service was held at 10.30.

The Christmas tree festival came Monday evening. There was a large tree throughout which were hung numerous electric lights which made a very pretty effect. The tree was heavily laden with gifts which were distributed among the children. One of the pleasing events of the evening was the presentation of some books to the rector, Rev. William E. Gardner by the Sunday school teachers, and the presentation to Mrs. Gardner of a cut glass dish by the ladies of St. Marguerite guild.

AT QUINCY POINT.

The Christmas tree festival at the Quincy Point Congregational church was held Saturday evening. The children of the Sunday school assembled in the school room and after brief exercises Santa Claus made his appearance, coming down a chimney that had been erected for his benefit. A distribution of gifts followed. A Sunday school concert was given Sunday evening.

SWEDISH CHURCHES.

The interior of the Swedish Baptist church was bright with candles at the Christmas festival of the Sunday school. The exercises were held at 6 o'clock, the program consisting of music by the choir and songs and recitations by the pupils of the Sunday school. At the close of the exercises, gifts as well as fruit were distributed among the children.

Two large trees brightly illuminated with many colored electric lights made the interior of the Swedish Lutheran church resemble a scene from fairy land at the Christmas festival Monday evening. There were recitations and singing by the members of the Sunday school and a distribution of gifts.

AT WEST QUINCY.

The Sunday school of the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church had a grand time at the Christmas tree festival on Monday evening. The exercises were held at 8 o'clock, at which hour the school assembled in the vestry and sang Christmas carols. In place of a tree was a chimney for Santa Claus. Presents were given to all. On Sunday evening there was a pleasing concert by the Sunday school.

AT WOLLASTON.

Most of the Christmas Sunday School entertainments at Wollaston were held Saturday evening. At the Wollaston Unitarian church a short scene from "The Bird's Chrimas Carol" was given with Mrs. Gurney as Mrs. Ruggles, and Mirion Lacy, Harry Hooper, Priscilla Robinson, Ernestine Hunt, Martha Robinson, Dorothy Sprague, Robert Merrill, Horton Page and Elden Howe as the Ruggles children. After this a Christmas tree was displayed, and presents distributed by Francis Bishop dressed as Santa Claus.

At the Baptist church, there was quite a varied program, including music and impersonation. After repeated messages to the Sunday school as to his whereabouts, Santa arrived, and gave presents to all.

At the Methodist church, presents were distributed, and a cantata was given under the direction of Miss Stone.

The St. Chrysostom Sunday school had a tree, and presents for the two youngest classes. Games were played and refreshments served.

The Congregational entertainment was held Christmas afternoon at 5 o'clock. The program included Christmas tableaux and tree, with carols by semi chorus, recitations, readings, etc. Gifts were distributed from a tree.

Christmas at Quincy Institutions

AT CITY HOSPITAL.

The patients at the City Hospital were made to forget their pain as much as possible on Christmas Day. In the afternoon Mr. Snyder with a boys choir from Wollaston and Atlantic visited the hospital and sang Christmas carols. The patients were remembered with gifts by their friends and it proved a happy day. Engineer Williams whose recovery is now a matter of but a short time was especially remembered, receiving many gifts.

AT SAILORS' HOME.

The sailors at the National Sailors' Home will have their Christmas celebration this afternoon when there will be an entertainment for their benefit. Monday they were given a turkey dinner with all the fixings.

QUINCY HOME.

The unfortunates at the Quincy Home observed Christmas in a quiet manner. Only the necessary work was performed. At noon a Christmas dinner which included turkey and all the fixings, was served. The dinner was a repetition of that served Thanksgiving day and was greatly enjoyed.

Quarry Accident Was Fatal

Joseph F. Johnson of the firm of Johnson & Anderson, who was blown up by dynamite at the quarry, Dec. 18, died Monday afternoon at the City Hospital. Mr. Johnson was cleaning out an old blast hole when he struck an old dynamite cartridge. An explosion followed. An arm of the unfortunate man was blown off, his eyesight destroyed, besides receiving other injuries.

It was thought at the time that his injuries would result fatally but as day after day passed his friends began to hope that he would live. His injuries were of such a terrible nature, however, that recovery was impossible and he passed away just a week after the accident.

He was 60 years of age and resided at 7 Buckley street. He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.

—Maine shipbuilding tonnage for the year is 13,771, a falling off from 41,972, in 1904.

How Some People Celebrated

Sunday afternoon was a busy one for the police department, and the officers were kept on the jump. The calls did not come from any one section of the city as Wards One, Two and Three sent in calls.

The first call was from Granite street where a free fight was in progress. Inspector Bradley and Officer Stewart got three of the gang who gave their names as Robert Johnson, 154 Granite street, Jalman Seven of the same place, and Carl Ohode of 142 Granite street.

The fight started over the too free use of liquor, and was the outcome of an argument. There were two others of the gang who got away, and from all accounts lost no time in shaking the dust of Quincy from their feet. The gang according to the stories told vented their spite on Sigfreid Johnson, whom they beat on the head with stones.

Word was telephoned to neighboring cities and later in the evening word was received from Brockton saying that two men answering the description of those wanted had been apprehended in that city.

While the above were being locked up, a woman rushed to the police station stating that a man was killing his wife at 33 Water street. Lieut. McKay with Officers Bishop and Thorne were about to start for the scene when a call was received stating that a man was cleaning out the Rhode Island house.

The officers first went to 33 Water street where Thomas Frasier was pointed out to them as the man who had been beating his wife and had threatened to kill her. Frasier's wife refused to say anything against him but her sisters had no scruples about telling of his threatening to kill his wife and of beating her. The officers locked Frasier up for disturbing the peace.

From Water street the wagon went to the Rhode Island house. Thomas Donohue who had a fighting jag on was arrested.

The officers were told that there had been a fight at the house during the afternoon during which a lamp had been smashed.

On the way to the Rhode Island house they ran across Officer Larkin who had a man he had found by the wayside dead to the world from drink.

Christmas at Granite City Club

Christmas cheer reigned supreme Saturday night at the rooms of the Granite City club, and the members made merry with a Christmas tree and distribution of presents.

The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee, and their efforts combined with those of the house committee served to make the occasion one long to be remembered.

One end of the card room was completely filled with trees forming a hugh bank. These were decorated with red crepe paper, Christmas bells, silver paper, etc., and made a pretty sight.

At 10.30 President Jones called the members to order and introduced Henry F. Tilden as Santa Claus.

Henry made an ideal Santa and every gift bestowed was accompanied by some little bit of witticism that served to keep the members in a roar of laughter. Some more fortunate than the others had a verse of poetry read for their special benefit. It would be impossible to tell all the presents given but they consisted largely of mechanical toys, picture books, etc.

Two members got new (?) hats and one member got City Hall. Everybody got something and where take offs were intended they hit the mark. Everybody took their knocks good naturedly and there was many a roar of laughter at the expense of some one member.

While the gifts were being distributed, long stem English clay pipes were passed and everybody smoked—that is most everybody.

The trees, stripped of their gifts, ice cream, cake and other refreshments were served and then the members gathered about the piano for a sing.

Dr. Garey tickled the ivories and the chorus led by E. J. Murphy, sang all the popular airs, all joining heavily in the chorus.

All good times come to an end and so did this at the hour of midnight.

As each member took his departure a half pound box of Apollo chocolates was tucked away in the outside pocket for the ladies at home.

Boston papers report that James E. Compton of Wollaston, recently of Malden, was before the district court at Malden on Saturday for a serious assault on a five year old girl, and was held in $1000 bonds for trial.

Gypsy Moth Problem.

By the courtesy of state agent Frank A. Bates, we are favored with a copy of his report to state superintendent Mr. A. H. Kirkland, of the condition of this town in regard to the infestation of the gypsy and brown tail moths. As will be seen by the report, the situation is looked upon by the state department as being decidedly serious; and prompt, combined effort, especially in the north precinct, will be necessary to prevent serious damage in the future. The state department will furnish literature on the subject, informing the reader how to go to work to rid his place of the pests, and how to keep it clear. A request addressed to 6 Beacon street, Boston, will be promply acknowledged by their bulletin on the subject.

BRAINTREE.

"Inspector Ramsay visited this town on July 24, and found the north precinct quite badly infested, locating 25 places within a radius of half of a mile. I visited the colony on Nov. 7, and found the nests being more or less broken and scattered. I found that the trees had been banded with tanglefoot mixture, but no regular work had been done to take care of the moth.

On Nov. 11-13, Inspector Holbrook was detailed to look over the main lines of traffic, and endeavor to locate the limits of the colony. He found that it extended to the Town hall, and probably further.

On Nov. 20, Inspector Sadler was detailed to instruct the men in charge of the work, and found that the centre of the colony was in the vicinity of Elm and Washington streets, and at this point was very badly infested, over 100 nests of gypsy moth being found in one yard, and on the rubbish and wall as well as on the trees. This condition seems to obtain only for a comparatively small area, but when the inspection of the town was finished, it was found that nests had been found even to the limits of the town in all directions, viz: Mayflower Park on the south; Pond and Granite streets on the west, and Quincy avenue on the east.

The situation is serious, for the larvae from the scattered nests will be numerous, and there will be some nests which have escaped notice, from being covered with snow, owing to the late date at which work was commenced. It is, as yet, a question in my mind whether it will be advisable to do any spraying here next summer, but consider it very probable. The street trees do not seem to be as badly infested as do the adjoining yards, and it seems advisable that some arrangements should be made between the town and the owners of the estates to take some concerted action, so that the larvae will be kept from scattering. Burlaps should be put on the trees, and carefully watched to determine how badly the caterpillars are distributed.

As early in the fall as possible, a thorough inspection of the entire town must be made, and arrangements made to have the owners clean up their places before Dec. 1, or when the snow stops work low down on trees and walls.

I consider it advisable to have the woodlands inspected by our own expert men, during the coming winter, since colonies have been located in the Blue Hills reservation, nearly on the town line, and there is no reason to think that there are not more or less in that section of Braintree.

The brown tail problem is not so serious, but there are a considerable number scattered over the town, and along the shores of the Fore River, they are quite numerous. The street trees have been cleaned of most of the nests, but there are many on the private properties, and they must be cut off before they emerge in the spring. This is especially true on the shore mentioned, where they bid fair to be a serious pest if not removed. The opposite shore, in Weymouth, is badly infested, and will be cleaned up early in the year. In justice this should be done to prevent their trees from being reinfested. This work will be comparatively simple, however.

I consider that at least $1000, should be made available for use, and if it is possible that the full liability of the town $1963.08 may be called for, and perhaps an additional sum from the State Appropriation, which I am assured will be available if necessary. Clean work done at once, can be the only means of stopping serious damage."

Agent for Southern Division.

DEWEY'S MESSAGE

"Stand Together For the Good of the Country"

SENT TO OUR WARSHIPS

Good Cheer Characteristic of the Christmas Season on Board Our Vessels All Over the World --Practical Test of Wireless

Washington, Dec. 26.—Admiral Dewey's Christmas greeting to the officers and men of the navy, bespeaking a united stand for the good of the country and the service, was communicated yesterday to the officers and men aboard the vessels throughout the world wherever they could be reached by telegraph. The message said:

"My Christmas greetings to the officers and men of the navy. Let us have neither cliques nor grudges, but all stand together for the good of the country and the service."

To the men of the navy along the Atlantic coast there was also sent a Christmas greeting by means of wireless telegraphy, which incidentally served as an elaborate and practical test of this auxiliary of the naval service. The wireless messages were sent by direction of Admiral Manney, chief of the bureau of equipment, and the results were most satisfactory to him. The messages containing the greetings were sent out last night from the wireless station at the Washington navy yard and were relayed from place to place. Early responses came from the officers nearest Washington, but before midnight many of the stations had replied, including New Orleans, Colon and San Juan, the Colon reply coming by way of Guantanamo.

Only necessary work was done yesterday on the ships everywhere. Liberal shore leave had been granted and as many as could be spared from a ship celebrated ashore. Thousands of pounds of turkey, cranberries and plum pudding and other things that make up the Christmas dinner aboard the vessels had been laid by and was served in generous fashion on board each ship. The men had their Christmas dinner at noon and the officers in the evening. On many ships the captains joined the officers in making merry in the ward room.

Of the North Atlantic fleet the battleships Maine, Alabama, Iowa, Massachusetts are at New York, the armored cruiser Brooklyn and the protected cruiser Galveston are anchored not far away at Tompkinsville, the battleships Illinois and Missouri are at Boston, the armored cruisers West Virginia, Maryland, Colorado and Pennsylvinia spent Christmas at Hampton Roads, together with the new protected cruiser Charleston, which celebrated her first Christmas at Charleston. The officers and men of the battleship Texas and the monitors Arkansas, Florida and Nevada and the torpedo flotilla made merry on board and ashore.

In the far east the largest navy celebration took place at Cavite, near Manila, where the battleships Ohio and Oregon, the protected cruisers Raleigh and Cincinnati, the destroyers Bainbridge and Chauncey are. The cruiser Baltimore and the gunboat Villalobos are at Shanghai. The battleship Wisconsin went to Hong Kong for Christmas.

In the West Indies Rear Admiral Bradford thus distributed his ships for the holidays: Cruisers Olympia at Culebra, Cleveland at Ponce, Yankee at Monte Christi, Tacoma at San Juan and Des Moines at St. Thomas, and gunboats Eagle at Sanchez, Dubuque at Puerto Plata and Scorpion at Santo Domingo.

The Princeton spent Christmas at Panama, the Chicago at Honolulu, cruiser Boston at Mare Island, gunboat Concord at Bremerton, torpedo boats Paul Jones at Mare Island and Perry at SanDiego and the supply ship Supply at Mare Island.

The cruiser Minneapolis returned from its foreign cruise in time for its men to spend Christmas at Newport News, the cruiser Columbia made a record run from Colon to League Island, where she brought home the detachment of marines who spent their first Christmas at home in two years, and the battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky and the gunboat Paducah are at Norfolk.

The destroyer flotilla is distributed between Norfolk and Pine beach, the regular rendezvous of the flotilla.

DRUG CLERK'S MISTAKE

The Girl He Loved Got Tablets Which Caused Her Death

New Haven, Dec. 26.—Coroner Mix last night handed down a finding in the case of Minnie E. Killingbeck of Ansonia, who died under circumstances which looked to be suspicious. He finds that the girl's death was due to a mistake of her sweetheart, Frank Tucker, a drug clerk, who sent a pill box labeled "headache tablets" to her, which really contained bichloride of mercury tablets.

The tablets in both boxes were prepared by Tucker, according to the coroner, and by mistake he labeled them wrongly. When Miss Killingbeck sent for her headache medicine the box containing the poisonous pellets was sent to her and she took one of the pills, which caused her death in a few hours. There were 7 5-8 grains in the box, enough to kill eight men, according to Mix. An autopsy was held on the girl's body and it is as the result of this and the investigation by Mix that the finding is based.

Young Tucker is broken up over the unfortunate incident. Coroner Mix will lay the case before State Attorney Williams.

Pilloried In Cell Door

Salem, Mass., Dec. 26.—Albert Baulier, arrested for a minor offense, was locked up in a cell at the police station. He noticed a small opening in the lower part of the grated door through which food is passed to the prisoners. Baulier attempted to escape by crawling through the hole, but when he got his head through the opening, he stuck fast, unable to move either way. In order to release him two machinists had to be summoned. Four steel bars were cut and four saws were broken after he had been pilloried nearly four hours.

A Railroad Pension System

Boston, Dec. 26.—The matter of pensioning the employes of the Boston and Maine railroad was considerably advanced at a meeting of the representatives of the various branches of the road when a committee was appointed to confer with President Tuttle and arrange such a system. The meeting was held at the suggestion of President Tuttle. The number of men eligible to the pension benefits will aggregate nearly 2000. It is expected that the plans will be perfected by next July.

Top of Child's Head Blown Off

South Groveland, Mass., Dec. 26.—William Blackburn was removing his coat from a hook in a closet when a shotgun was accidentally knocked down from a shelf above. As the weapon fell the trigger caught and the gun was discharged. William's sister, aged 5, who was standing near, received practically the full charge of the weapon and the top of her head was blown off. Part of the charge scattered and Mrs. Blackburn, the mother, was wounded in the hand.

Santa Claus Badly Burned

Leicester, Mass., Dec. 26.—While acting the part of Santa Claus at a Christmas tree in the parish house of the Unitarian church, Alfred M. Frye was dangerously burned. Two others who assisted in putting out the fire were burned less severely. Frye was about to remove the presents for 50 children and some older people, when the material of his make-up touched a candle and flashed into flame. His condition is critical.

Church Destroyed by Fire

Fairfield, Vt., Dec. 26.—Fire which is supposed to have been caused by a lighted candle igniting the Christmas decorations destroyed St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church here last night. The church was unoccupied at the time and was in ashes within an hour. The flames spread to the rectory and this building, together with a barn owned by the church, was burned. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

Thirty Thousand Free Dinners

Boston, Dec. 26.—The distribution of upwards of 30,000 dinners and an array of other gifts by the Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, the churches and by charitably disposed citizens was a feature of the observance of Christmas in Boston. The Salvation Army and the Volunteers furnished 20,000 dinners. The first named organization gave away 10,000 toys.

Lonely Woman's Sad Fate

Boston, Dec. 26.—In her lodging room at South Boston, the lifeless body of Miss Robinson, 75 years of age, was found lying upon the floor, and an overturned gas stove that had caused a slight fire in the room gave evidence that she had probably been suffocated by the smoke. The fire had burned itself out and the flames had not reached the woman's clothing.

Tribel's Life May Be Saved

Westbrook, Conn., Dec. 26.—A trephining operation performed on the skull of Hans Tribel, who was assaulted with an axe by his brother-in-law, Michael Fischel, may save his life, though his condition is still very critical. Considering Tribel's age, 67, his vitality is considered most remarkable.

Skating Fatalities

Wellesley, Mass., Dec. 26.—While skating on Lake Waban, Webster Washburn, 15 years old, broke through the ice and was drowned.

Uxbridge, Mass., Dec. 26.—Eddie Carmody, 11 years old, was drowned in the canal of the Stanley Rule company while skating.

Bound to End His Life

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

DEVOID OF HUMAN IMPULSE

Deeds at Moscow Are the Enormities of Madmen

FIVE THOUSAND KILLED

Number of Wounded Estimated at Fourteen Thousand, While Fighting With Cannon Is Still In Progress--The Troops and Rebels Backed by Superhuman Hate--Bulk of the Population Is Hiding In Terror

London, Dec. 26.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at St. Petersburg, in a dispatch dated at 6:45 p. m., Dec. 25, says:

"At an early hour this morning the casualties at Moscow were estimated at 5000 killed and 14,000 wounded, with the fighting still proceeding. The inhabitants of Moscow have been forbidden to leave their dwellings after 7 o'clock in the evening. It is impossible to move about the city in consequence of the frequency of stray bullets. Many innocent persons have been accidentally killed. A scarcity of provisions is threatened."

The same correspondent, telegraphing at 10:38 p. m., says:

"Your Moscow correspondent's telegrams have not been accepted because all private messages were refused this afternoon. It is learned, however, that cannon firing is now proceeding in various parts of the city where, very near the railroad stations, the barricades erected by the revolutionists are being desperately defended. The Kursk terminus at Moscow is being pillaged and many wagons laden with provisions are being looted.

"From fragmentary accounts received from Moscow I gather that the civil war has brought no decisive action, but only a thickening of the blood cloud, an intensifying of the horrors and an increase of the prevailing bitterness.

"The driving force behind both the troops and the rebels is no longer that of enthusiasm or of any human impulse. It is the force of superhuman hate, and hence the deeds reported are not the acts of patriots, soldiers or otherwise, but the enormities of madmen. It is impossible to understand how any emotion, even of the extremes of despair or hate, can impart such foodhardy courage as some of the rebels display.

"For every barricade destroyed Sunday two or three appeared in other places. Orders were given by the revolutionists to shoot only when there was good hope of bringing a man down, but otherwise to tire out the troops until they lost patience.

"In the meantime, in their houses, the bulk of the population cowers in the inmost recesses of kitchens and cellars, stricken with fear and trembling at every boom of the cannon or the explosion of a bomb. The most surprising thing of all is the loyalty of the troops, which nobody here anticipated.

"Talking with an intelligent group of St. Petersburg revolutionists, I was informed that while they believed the strike would be victorious, they fully realized they were staking everything upon the issue and that failure would set back their cause for several years. They said they were devoting their efforts to shaking the foundations of Russian finance, in full confidence that once the existing regime was overthrown they could as quickly build another and that foreign nations would be as ready to advance money to a democratic republic as to the autocracy. They emphatically denied that they were inciting the peasantry to commit agrarian outrages, declaring that these outrages were the work of the Socialists, but they did not deny their advocacy of the distribution of the crown lands among the peasants.

"In conclusion, they declared that in event of the failure of their cause, they would have recourse to terrorism, choosing their victims from all classes of society."

With girl students among the heaps of slain, the squares of Moscow Christmas morning presented a grewsome sight. They had aided the strikers and revolutionists in the desperate street battles of Sunday and Sunday night. The girls acted as nurses for their fallen brothers, and, in many cases, died firing bullets at the Cossacks.

The trouble began soon after the Cossacks had plied idlers with liquor. When they had become stupefied they shot them down.

This was the signal for hostilities, and the battle raged furiously, the Cossacks' machine guns being met with similar instruments.

In the Baltic Provinces

Riga, Dec. 26.—The railroad employes throughout the Baltic provinces have gone out on strike. The newspapers protest against the false reports printed abroad to the effect that Riga was bombarded and was burning and that revolutionists blew up a train carrying 200 Cossacks, and these rumors are denied. While the town is regarded as sufficiently protected by Russian warships, foreigners, in case of necessity, could find refuge on the foreign merchant ships in the harbor, although it is uncertain if the revolutionists would respect foreign flags. Dogien is still in the hands of the revolutionists, who have established a provisional government. The public affairs of Goldingen for nine days have been in the hands of an administrative committee. Tukum and Talsem have been in mourning since the fighting began. There are daily funeral processions and the towns are almost deserted.

End of Warsaw Strike

Warsaw, Dec. 26.—The strike of the post and telegraph employes here is at an end. The strikers have accepted the conditions of the government. The military governor has issued an order prohibiting the street sales of newspapers, the singing of revolutionary songs, the holding of meetings and the organizing of processions.

French Cruisers Sent to Russia

Brest, France, Dec. 26.—The cruiser Cassini has been ordered to proceed to the Baltic Wednesday next, calling at Copenhagen. The cruiser Admiral Aube has been ordered to prepare for a voyage to the Baltic.

Says Jews Invited Attack

Boston, Dec. 26.—According to Andreas Stockberger, an immigrant, who arrived here on the steamer Carthaginian, the recent bloodshed in Odessa was largely due to Jews attacking the soldiers. Stockberger comes from a German settlement near Odessa.

In an interview he said: "In Odessa I saw the troops march down the main street with loaded guns. Before them was the howling mob, armed with all sorts of weapons, and whenever a chance appeared they would sweep down on these soldiers and tear them to pieces. From housetops and windows stood men and women, and even children, and as the soldiers marched by bombs were hurled at them, killing scores and wounding hundreds at a time.

"The soldiers would then charge upon their attackers, piercing them with bayonets and shooting them with ball. Wherever the soldiers went they were attacked. The mob, made up entirely of Jews, were almost beside themselves with excitement, and their only purpose was to kill the soldiers. It is not true that the soldiers wantonly killed, they were driven to it to protect themselves, and I never saw any of them pillage homes or outrage women. Whole sections of the city were burned to the ground and nothing but fire and blood was seen anywhere."

Locomotive Boiler Exploded

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 26.—A freight train on the Susquehanna railroad came to a sudden stop when near this city. Something had gone wrong with the engine and the entire crew, save the engineer, gathered around the locomotive. Suddenly the boiler exploded. The force of the explosion was all downward, for the engineer was uninjured, while the men on the ground were thrown down under a rush of scalding steam and two were terribly scalded. The lower parts of the engine were wrecked.

Medal For Brave Fireman

Grand Island, Neb., Dec. 26.—George Poell has been awarded the first medal of honor given under the act of congress approved Feb. 23, 1905, for conspicuous bravery in saving the life of a child at the risk of his own. Poell, who was a locomotive fireman, ran alongside his engine to the pilot and snatched a little child from the track, saving it from harm, but he himself fell under the engine, losing a leg and being otherwise badly injured.

Woman Causes Baron's Arrest

New York, Dec. 26.—Baron Frederick Seefeld, whose residence is at present in Philadelphia, was arrested here, charged with securing money under false pretences. The police say that Countess Palmay, who is living at a New York hotel, charges that she loaned the baron a large sum of money, taking his automobile as security, and that she afterward learned that the automobile did not belong to him.

Hope Young's Mind Dethroned

Digby, N. S., Dec. 26.—Hope Young, who was convicted of the murder of Minnie Ward, and who was to have been hanged in Digby on Wednesday last, but who had been granted a new trial to take place next June, has become insane. She destroyed everything in her cell, broke the glass, and cut herself badly. It is likely that the woman will be sent to the hospital for the insane at Dartmouth.

Alleged Robber of Cash Drawer

New York, Dec. 26.—H. P. Gosse was arrested here at the request of the Northampton, Mass., police, charged with being a fugitive from justice. On Dec. 10 last Gosse, it is alleged, who was a clerk in the Draper hotel at Northampton, stole $280 from the cash drawer and disappeared. He was remanded to jail to await extradition.

Unique Yuletide Celebration

Daggett, Cal., Dec. 26.—A Christmas tree on board a train was indulged in by the 40 eastern newspaper men who are guests of the Los Angeles limited. The Christmas tree, laden with many gifts, was unveiled in a Pullman vestibule as a surprise to the newspaper men from their railroad hosts.

Wright Has "Heard of Rumors"

Memphis, Dec. 26.—Governor General Wright of the Philippines has arrived here to spend the holidays at his home. Regarding reports that he would resign his office he said nothing further than that he had heard of the rumors, but was unaware of the source from which they came.

THE LAW'S MINIONS

Moran Says That Their Attitude Is "Anarchism"

A WARNING TO HOTELS

Four Must Cease Selling Liquor by Thursday or He Will Proceed Against Them--Intends to Keep Pledge to the Public

Boston, Dec. 26.—In a public statement, District Attorney Moran accuses Governor Douglas, the state police, police commissioners and police department of Boston of having clearly allied themselves with violators of the law by opposing him in his efforts to compel the proprietors of the Parker house, Young's hotel, Adams house and the Hotel Essex, strictly to live up to the requirements of the statute governing the sale of intoxicants.

Mr. Moran declares in this, his latest open defi, which is couched in most caustic terms, that the "present attitude of the law-enforcing powers is anarchism in its most vicious form," and follows this up with the very significant contention that "those who countenance violations of the law are as bad as those who violate it."

With the powers arrayed against him he says he realizes that he must proceed against the "trangressors" singlehanded, and this he promises the public he will certainly do on Thursday if the bars of the four hotels which he ordered closed are open for business on that day. Routine affairs will prevent him from acting before.

Here are some of Moran's views on the hotel license question:

"The police department of this city and the police commissioners, the state police and the governor having obviously by their conduct allied themselves with these violators of the law, in opposition to my efforts to compel these hotels to comply with the law and to cease violation thereof, I realize that the present enforcement of this law, as against these violators, depends on my individual effort.

"I shall keep my pledge to the public. I shall enforce the law. The present attitude of the law-enforcing powers is anarchism in its most vicious form. We are governed by laws and not by men. The wealthy property owner has no more right to violate the law than has the penniless crook.

"Those who countenance violations of the law are as bad as those who violate it. I represent the law. I will enforce it, even though I incur the enmity of every man who sympathizes with crime."

A Faithful Servant's Fate

Rochester, Dec. 26.—Bridget Donahue, a servant, who had been employed in the family of James Burke for 27 years, was burned to death last evening. There was a distribution of presents from a Christmas tree, following which the woman took a lamp and went to her room in the attic. A little later the room was ablaze and after the fire was extinguished her charred body was found in her room. There was nothing to show how the fire started.

Attempt on Bishop's Life

Rome, Dec. 26.—The pope expresses deep concern over the attempt made at Barcelona to stab Cardinal Cassanas y Pages, bishop of Urgel, as he was leaving the cathedral. The pope sent a message to the cardinal, congratulating him on his escape.

Barcelona, Dec. 26.—The anarchist who attempted to stab Cardinal Pages committed suicide by taking poison soon after his arrest.

Schooner Under Water

Norfolk, Dec. 26.—With all her headgear torn away and her topsails set, an unknown three-masted schooner sunk in 12 fathoms of water 6½ miles northwest of Winter Quarter lightship. The schooner is evidently the victim of a collision. Only her topmasts above the crosstrees are out of water. No sign of wreckage is seen, nor is there anything above water to reveal the identity of the schooner.

Says Wadsworth Will Be Elected

Buffalo, Dec. 26.—Governor Higgins stopped off in Buffalo for a few hours last night on his way to Albany. When asked about the speakership contest, Higgins said: "I am as confident as ever as to the outcome of the contest, and am sure that Assemblyman Wadsworth will be found to be the most available man for the speakership."

Hundred Thousand Men Benefited

New York, Dec. 26.—Every union in the building trades, with the exception of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's, has signed a trade agreement of from one to three years, to go into effect on Jan. 1 next. This affects 100,000 skilled men. By this action the unions have officially repudiated the strike of the structural iron workers.

Santo Domingo Uneasy

San Domingo, Dec. 26.—President Morales has left the city and his destination is unknown. The city and surrounding country is quiet, but considerable unrest and excitement is shown at the unexpected departure of the president.

Judge Was Overworked

Milwaukee, Dec. 26.—Judge Murray F. Tuley of Chicago died at the Pennoyer sanitarium in Kenosha. He went to the sanitarium Oct. 31, suffering from nervous exhaustion caused by overwork.

MUCH TOO LENIENT

District Attorney In Nebraska Is Removed by President

Washington, Dec. 26.—Irvin Baxter, United States district attorney for Nebraska, has been removed summarily from office by President Roosevelt. Baxter prosecuted, on behalf of the government, the case against Richards and Comstock, cattle raisers, who were charged with fencing illegally the public lands in Nebraska. The men were convicted and sentenced to six hours in the custody of the United States marshal. Practically no defense was made in the trial. In carrying out the sentence, the United States marshal deputized the attorneys of Richard and Comstock to take charge of the defendants for the six hours of their sentence. For exercising this leniency, the marshal was removed from office. Because of the manner in which the case had been prosecuted by Baxter his resignation was requested. After several days elapsed Baxter responded to the request for his resignation with a declination to resign. Thereupon President Roosevelt removed him from office.

Italian Shooting Affrays

New Haven, Dec. 26.—Quarrelsome Italians last night started arguments and as a result the city may have two murder cases on its hands. While trading revolvers, Valentino Scolese and Giovanni Ruggino started to fight and in a few minutes were firing at each other at close range. Scolase received a ball in the abdomen and may die. Ruggino was arrested. Later in the night Salvatore De Rosa and Romando, Eugenio and Luigi Moresca, brothers, tried to settle a long standing feud, revolvers being used. De Rosa was shot twice, and is in a dying condition. The three Moresca brothers were arrested.

Quarrelsome Man Killed by Son

Philadelphia, Dec. 26.—William Pollock, who had been drinking, was called to Christmas dinner by his wife. He became angry because his sleep had been disturbed and was in the act of striking his wife when his son, Joseph, aged 22, stopped the blow. This interference enraged the husband, who struck the son, and the latter retaliated by hitting his father, who fell backward and sustained a fracture of the skull. He died on the way to a hospital. The son is charged with murder and his mother is held as a witness.

Pair of Daring Robbers

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 26.—Two men held up a Pasadena street car and robbed Conductor Bonney of $40. Max Swartz of Pasadena, a passenger, was also relieved of $40. The remaining passengers lost little. About 15 passengers were on the car. After completing their robbery of the passengers one of the men called pleasantly to the conductor: "Stop the car; here's where we get off." Then they leisurely swung from the car and disappeared in the darkness.

Train Wreck In Colorado.

Durango, Col., Dec. 26.—A passenger train, well loaded with passengers, was wrecked near here and many of the passengers were injured, 12 of them seriously. The accident was caused by a defective rail, it is claimed. When the accident occurred the chair car rolled down an embankment, dragging the other cars with it. Owing to the intense cold which prevailed, the injured passengers suffered greatly.

Murder Ends Card Game

Mineola, L. I., Dec. 26.—After a Christmas card game one Italian was found dead in the house of Angelo Giniglio here and another a short distance away, mortally wounded. The police say that Giniglio, Rocco Tappor and Philip Nari quarreled over a card game and charge that Giniglio shot the other two men.

Preacher Found Dead on Floor

Buffalo, Dec. 26.—Rev. Charles B. Stube, pastor of the Evangelical church at Ebenezer, was found dead in his home last evening. It is believed that the minister was stricken with apoplexy a week ago Sunday and that he had died from the stroke. His body had been lying on the floor in his home since.

Suspicious of Baby's Death

New York, Dec. 26.—The 5-months-old son of Frederick Shannon was found burned to death in a kitchen and the police believe that carelessness caused the tragedy. As the stories told by Mr and Mrs. Shannon did not agree, the police arrested them both.

Esprit de Corps Is Noticeable

In the last number of the Journal of Education, the editor, Dr. A. E. Winship, writes in detail about a great many of the local school systems in cities and towns of Massachusetts, as well as about important ones outside of the state. His mention of Quincy is as follows:

"No other New England city has had the same educational publicity that Quincy has enjoyed. Indeed, there is no place of its size that has played the same part in state and national affairs. Here, alone of all cities in the United States, lived two men when they were chosen President of the United States—John Adams and John Quincy Adams; another of the family was a candidate for the presidency; indeed, no other American family has ever had equal national prominence for a century and a third.

"Here also was the home of the Josiah Quincys, a family second only to the Adams family. For nearly a third of a century the board of education was dominated by some member of the Adams family; here Horace Mann lived while he was the educational leader of the state, and here Colonel Francis W. Parker made the reputation upon which his fame, in no slight degree, rests today. It is doubtful if any man has ever attained an equal reputation based upon work done in the schools of a small city.

"Since his day the city has maintained its prominence under Superintendents George I. Aldrich, Herbert W. Lull, and Frank E. Parlin, though no one of them has worked in the public gaze as did Colonel Parker. In the nature of the case their achievements have been radically different, though none the less valuable to the children. Each superintendent who has left the city for a third of a century has received a substantial promotion.

"All this indicates a desirable uniform and ardent loyalty on the part of the teachers as well as of the public. The esprit de corps was never more noticeable or creditable than it is today, under Superintendent Parlin's leadership. He has stated the educational creed of Quincy is this terse fashion:—

"We do not believe in sending babies to school, but believe in the educational value of play; that the mind of many a child can be effectively trained only through his muscles; that reading is a subject of chief importance; that nature study should be a genuine study of nature and not about nature; that the study of numbers is generally begun at too early an age and that there are some things in arithmetic which should be committed to memory; that it is neither a disgrace nor a disadvantage to learn to spell common English words or to write a legible hand; that gymnastics are a poor substitute for an out-of-door recess where a sufficiently large playground is available; that the moral influence of a good school is not generally appreciated."

"Mr. Parlin is a native of Maine, a graduate of Bates College, a student in Harvard and Clark in scholastic and professional special work, and his experience from the days when, as a lad in his teens he began teaching, has been that of eminent success in local and general leadership."

It Quiets the Cough

This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it.

Were Minus Their Holiday Liquor

The police under Chief Police Burrell and Lieut. McKay made raids on six places in the Quincy Point district on Saturday night, and seized quantities of liquors that was evidently intended to make merry with over Christmas. Six places in all were visited, and liquor was seized at each.

The first place visited was the Madison house at 74 Madison street, conducted by Herbert Whittier. This was rewarded by a case of ale and a small quantity of whiskey.

Edward Ford's residence at 66 Broadway, received a call, and four cases of beer and a quart of whiskey were seized.

At a barn used by the Riverside express company ten cases of beer and six gallons of whiskey were confiscated.

Mary Robinson's house at 54 Broadway, was also visited, and two cases of beer and a small quantity of whiskey were seized.

The last place on the list to receive call from the police was the house of John Frasier, at 2 Wharf street. A pint of gin and a pint of whiskey were seized.

First Mass of Rev. Michael Duffy

The Rev. Michael Duffy, who was ordained on Friday last, was the celebrant of the solemn high mass at St. Johns church at 10.30 on Christmas day, being his first public mass.

He was assisted by the Rev. Julian E. Johnstone, as deacon; the Rev. John J. Casey, sub deacon; the Rev. John J. Coan, master of ceremonies, and J. Howland Harkins of Niagara College, thurifer. Kertchmeir's new liturgical mass was sung by the choir.

The sermon was by the Rev. John J. Coan, the pastor, who spoke on "The Gospel of Today." In closing, he alluded to the fact that St. John's had given many priests to the church, and he hoped the record would be continued. He paid a high tribute to the young man who had now entered the priesthood, and asked prayer for his future welfare.

At the close Rev. Fr. Duffy gave his blessing to the members of the congregation presenting themselves at the altar rail.

The Rev. Fr. Duffy was celebrant of the solemn high vespers, which were held at 7.30 P. M.

Fr. Duffy is a native of East Brooks field, where he was born in 1879, being a son of John O. and the late Julia Duffy. His parents moved to Quincy in 1892. He prepared for college at Adams Academy in Quincy and Thayer Academy, Braintree. Upon graduating from latter institution he entered Allegheny College, New York, and completed his studies at St. John's Seminary, Brighton.

Road Master Jones of the Plymouth division of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. was at Atlantic on Saturday preparing for concrete platforms and other improvements.

AUTO "KID ERADICATOR."

Chicago Autoist's Scheme to Shoot Hot Air at Annoyers.

A novel device known by the sharply defined term of "kid eradicator" recently made its appearance in Chicago. Among motorists in that city it has attracted considerable attention, and as the inventor of the scheme shows no tendency to secure a patent the idea may be copied without fear of infringement upon prior rights, says the New York Times. The "kid eradicator" consists of a hot air jet placed out of sight near the rear step. When a small boy attempts to steal a ride, after the ice cart fashion, he unconsciously rings a small electric bell placed near the driver's seat. The driver then presses a plunger which shoots a jet of hot air upon the intruder's legs. It is said to be very effective, particularly when driving through sections of the city that are unusually infested with mischievous children.

The Chicago automobilist who has perfected this ingenious device does not believe in getting along with as few accessories to his machine as is absolutely necessary. Instead, he has developed a mania for equipping his car with as many fads and fancies as possible. He is said to hold the record for the number of fittings on his car. Besides the "kid eradicator" he has six lamps for various purposes, a clock, a barometer, a thermometer, a grade indicator, an odometer, a speed indicator, a huge horn known as the dragon, an electric bell, a steam whistle and a few other things.

The various attachments have cost the owner about $800, and his car is an object of curious interest whenever he travels to suburban towns. The lamps are lighted by electricity, which is supplied from storage batteries under the seats, and switches are located in the box on the left side of the dashboard. The lamps furnish light to the covered tonneau and can also be flashed upon the indicators in front of the dashboard.

PSALM AGAINST GRAFT.

Clergyman Thinks Adoption of Its Spirit Would End Corruption.

"The spirit of the Fifteenth psalm generally adopted as the standard of morals in the financial and political life of the United States would at once put an end to civic corruption and misrule," says a Chicago dispatch. "It would reform the methods of the stock market and the board of trade."

This was the assertion made recently by Rev. A. C. Douglas of Des Moines, Ia., before the Philmody convention in the Second United Presbyterian church at Chicago.

The Fifteenth psalm, to which allusion was made, reads as follows:

Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle?
Who shall dwell in thy holy hill?
He that walketh uprightly and worketh righteousness and speaketh the truth in his heart.
He that backbiteth not with his tongue nor doeth evil to his neighbor nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor.
In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoreth them that fear the Lord. He that sweareth to his own hurt and changeth not.
He that putteth not out his own money to usury nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved.

"It would drive boodler and grafter from executive offices, legislative hall and judicial bench," said Rev. Mr. Douglas, speaking of the psalm. "It would reduce the incomes of the McCalls and the McCurdys, the Rogers and the Rockefellers and make restitution of ill got millions to their rightful owners."

BAPTISMAL FONT IN BLACK.

Priest's Rebuke to His Parishioners For "Race Suicide."

The Rev. Francis H. Sinclair, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Roman Catholic church at Rochester, N. Y., recently registered a unique and striking protest against race suicide by causing to be draped in mourning the baptismal font in his church, says a special dispatch from Rochester to the New York Herald.

He was prompted to this act because for six weeks not one infant had received the sacrament of baptism in his church. The members of his parish were filled with curiosity and greatly stirred when they went to mass the other morning and found the mourning emblem draped so ostentatiously about the font.

It was not until after the close of the services, when the parishioners crowded forward and sought an explanation, that they learned the reason.

Experiments on Neuralgia.

Successful experiments were recently made in the treatment of neuralgia and hysteria with radium at the Salpetriere hospital in Paris.

The Burden Bearer.

When you get to thinking that your job is hard
And you envy other people and regard
Yourself with pity
And imagine that no other anywhere
Ever toted such a burden as you bear,
Don't become a foolish victim of despair—
Think of Witte!

You may labor where the soil is poor and thin
Or toil among the weary thousands in
The busy city,
And you may be justified in feeling blue,
But there's one who has a harder job to do
Than the cruel fates have sorted out for you—
Think of Witte!

Cheer up, oh, weary brother; cast away
The doubts that are the parents of dismay
And be gritty.
If with such a task as his he still can share
The glad hope that the future will be fair,
What right have you to give up in despair?
Think of Witte!

Esprit de Corps Is Noticeable

In the last number of the Journal of Education, the editor, Dr. A. E. Winship, writes in detail about a great many of the local school systems in cities and towns of Massachusetts, as well as about important ones outside of the state. His mention of Quincy is as follows:

"No other New England city has had the same educational publicity that Quincy has enjoyed. Indeed, there is no place of its size that has played the same part in state and national affairs. Here, alone of all cities in the United States, lived two men when they were chosen President of the United States—John Adams and John Quincy Adams; another of the family was a candidate for the presidency; indeed, no other American family has ever had equal national prominence for a century and a third.

"Here also was the home of the Josiah Quincys, a family second only to the Adams family. For nearly a third of a century the board of education was dominated by some member of the Adams family; here Horace Mann lived while he was the educational leader of the state, and here Colonel Francis W. Parker made the reputation upon which his fame, in no slight degree, rests today. It is doubtful if any man has ever attained an equal reputation based upon work done in the schools of a small city.

"Since his day the city has maintained its prominence under Superintendents George I. Aldrich, Herbert W. Lull, and Frank E. Parlin, though no one of them has worked in the public gaze as did Colonel Parker. In the nature of the case their achievements have been radically different, though none the less valuable to the children. Each superintendent who has left the city for a third of a century has received a substantial promotion.

"All this indicates a desirable uniform and ardent loyalty on the part of the teachers as well as of the public. The esprit de corps was never more noticeable or creditable than it is today, under Superintendent Parlin's leadership. He has stated the educational creed of Quincy is this terse fashion:—

"We do not believe in sending babies to school, but believe in the educational value of play; that the mind of many a child can be effectively trained only through his muscles; that reading is a subject of chief importance; that nature study should be a genuine study of nature and not about nature; that the study of numbers is generally begun at too early an age and that there are some things in arithmetic which should be committed to memory; that it is neither a disgrace nor a disadvantage to learn to spell common English words or to write a legible hand; that gymnastics are a poor substitute for an out-of-door recess where a sufficiently large playground is available; that the moral influence of a good school is not generally appreciated."

"Mr. Parlin is a native of Maine, a graduate of Bates College, a student in Harvard and Clark in scholastic and professional special work, and his experience from the days when, as a lad in his teens he began teaching, has been that of eminent success in local and general leadership."

It Quiets the Cough

This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Were Minus Their Holiday Liquor

The police under Chief Police Burrell and Lieut. McKay made raids on six places in the Quincy Point district on Saturday night, and seized quantities of liquors that was evidently intended to make merry with over Christmas. Six places in all were visited, and liquor was seized at each.

The first place visited was the Madison house at 74 Madison street, conducted by Herbert Whittier. This was rewarded by a case of ale and a small quantity of whiskey.

Edward Ford's residence at 66 Broadway, received a call, and four cases of beer and a quart of whiskey were seized.

At a barn used by the Riverside express company ten cases of beer and six gallons of whiskey were confiscated.

Mary Robinson's house at 54 Broadway, was also visited, and two cases of beer and a small quantity of whiskey were seized.

The last place on the list to receive call from the police was the house of John Frasier, at 2 Wharf street. A pint of gin and a pint of whiskey were seized.

It was found on Saturday evening that Messrs. Hoxie and Broughton, were not invincible, the scores at Wollaston being:

First Mass of Rev. Michael Duffy

The Rev. Michael Duffy, who was ordained on Friday last, was the celebrant of the solemn high mass at St. Johns church at 10.30 on Christmas day, being his first public mass.

He was assisted by the Rev. Julian E. Johnstone, as deacon; the Rev. John J. Casey, sub deacon; the Rev. John J. Coan, master of ceremonies, and J. Howland Harkins of Niagara College, thurifer. Kertchmeir's new liturgical mass was sung by the choir.

The sermon was by the Rev. John J. Coan, the pastor, who spoke on "The Gospel of Today." In closing, he alluded to the fact that St. John's had given many priests to the church, and he hoped the record would be continued. He paid a high tribute to the young man who had now entered the priesthood, and asked prayer for his future welfare.

At the close Rev. Fr. Duffy gave his blessing to the members of the congregation presenting themselves at the altar rail.

The Rev. Fr. Duffy was celebrant of the solemn high vespers, which were held at 7.30 P. M.

Fr. Duffy is a native of East Brooks field, where he was born in 1879, being a son of John O. and the late Julia Duffy. His parents moved to Quincy in 1892. He prepared for college at Adams Academy in Quincy and Thayer Academy, Braintree. Upon graduating from latter institution he entered Alleghany College, New York, and completed his studies at St. John's Seminary, Brighton.

Road Master Jones of the Plymouth division of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. was at Atlantic on Saturday preparing for concrete platforms and other improvements.

AUTO "KID ERADICATOR."

Chicago Autoist's Scheme to Shoot Hot Air at Annoyers.

A novel device known by the sharply defined term of "kid eradicator" recently made its appearance in Chicago. Among motorists in that city it has attracted considerable attention, and as the inventor of the scheme shows no tendency to secure a patent the idea may be copied without fear of infringement upon prior rights, says the New York Times. The "kid eradicator" consists of a hot air jet placed out of sight near the rear step. When a small boy attempts to steal a ride, after the ice cart fashion, he unconsciously rings a small electric bell placed near the driver's seat. The driver then presses a plunger which shoots a jet of hot air upon the intruder's legs. It is said to be very effective, particularly when driving through sections of the city that are unusually infested with mischievous children.

The Chicago automobilist who has perfected this ingenious device does not believe in getting along with as few accessories to his machine as is absolutely necessary. Instead, he has developed a mania for equipping his car with as many fads and fancies as possible. He is said to hold the record for the number of fittings on his car. Besides the "kid eradicator" he has six lamps for various purposes, a clock, a barometer, a thermometer, a grade indicator, an odometer, a speed indicator, a huge horn known as the dragon, an electric bell, a steam whistle and a few other things.

The various attachments have cost the owner about $800, and his car is an object of curious interest whenever he travels to suburban towns. The lamps are lighted by electricity, which is supplied from storage batteries under the seats, and switches are located in the box on the left side of the dashboard. The lamps furnish light to the covered tonneau and can also be flashed upon the indicators in front of the dashboard.

PSALM AGAINST GRAFT.

Clergyman Thinks Adoption of Its Spirit Would End Corruption.

"The spirit of the Fifteenth psalm generally adopted as the standard of morals in the financial and political life of the United States would at once put an end to civic corruption and misrule," says a Chicago dispatch. "It would reform the methods of the stock market and the board of trade."

This was the assertion made recently by Rev. A. C. Douglas of Des Moines, Ia., before the psalmody convention in the Second United Presbyterian church at Chicago.

The Fifteenth psalm, to which allusion was made, reads as follows:

Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle?
Who shall dwell in thy holy hill?
He that walketh uprightly and worketh righteousness and speaketh the truth in his heart.
He that backbiteth not with his tongue nor doeth evil to his neighbor nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor.
In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoreth them that fear the Lord. He that sweareth to his own hurt and changeth not.
He that putteth not out his own money to usury nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved.

"I would drive boodler and grafter from executive offices, legislative hall and judicial bench," said Rev. Mr. Douglas, speaking of the psalm. "It would reduce the incomes of the McCalls and the McCurdys, the Rogers and the Rockefellers and make restitution of ill got millions to their rightful owners."

BAPTISMAL FONT IN BLACK.

Priest's Rebuke to His Parishioners For "Race Suicide."

The Rev. Francis H. Sinclair, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Roman Catholic church at Rochester, N. Y., recently registered a unique and striking protest against race suicide by causing to be draped in mourning the baptismal font in his church, says a special dispatch from Rochester to the New York Herald.

He was prompted to this act because for six weeks not one infant had received the sacrament of baptism in his church. The members of his parish were filled with curiosity and greatly stirred when they went to mass the other morning and found the mourning emblem draped so ostentatiously about the font.

It was not until after the close of the services, when the parishioners crowded forward and sought an explanation, that they learned the reason.

Experiments on Neuralgia.

Successful experiments were recently made in the treatment of neuralgia and hysteria with radium at the Salpetriere hospital in Paris.

The Burden Bearer.

When you get to thinking that your job is hard
And you envy other people and regard
Yourself with pity
And imagine that no other anywhere
Ever toted such a burden as you bear,
Don't become a foolish victim of despair—
Think of Witte!

You may labor where the soil is poor and thin
Or toil among the weary thousands in
The busy city,
And you may be justified in feeling blue,
But there's one who has a harder job to do
Than the cruel fates have sorted out for you—
Think of Witte!

Cheer up, oh, weary brother; cast away
The doubts that are the parents of dismay
And be gritty.
If with such a task as his he still can share
The glad hope that the future will be fair,
What right have you to give up in despair?
Think of Witte!

Milton's Poor And Needy

Editors of the Quincy Daily Ledger :

My attention has been called to the Ledger's recent comment on the request for contributions toward the giving of Christmas gifts in certain specific cases in Milton.

It would be unnecessary to notice the misunderstanding which exists in this matter, did it not indirectly reflect on those officials who have the care of the poor in this town.

Under the circumstances, however, I desire to state that of the seventeen children whom I especially desire to help, there are, with one exception, none from families whose names appear in the report of the Overseers of the Poor and it is my desire, by supplementing the patient endeavor of hard-working parents, by securing good medical and surgical service for the sick; by reenforcing the weak and finding work for the idle; to reduce the ranks of those who, by reason of misfortune, or of inefficiency, or even of folly, are always too near the necessity of asking for public relief.

This social work I desire to do, not only for the resulting benefit to the individual, but also, as I believe, for the public good and it is no way connected with the efficient work of the Overseers of the Poor, nor with public funds.

It is matter for regret that the press of our neighboring town of Quincy should not have been moved to cooperate in an out going of Christmas goodwill to children in any place whatsoever.

You will do me a favor by printing this communication.

Mary Wilson Fiske.

Milton, 25 December, 1905.

The Daily Ledger is pleased to print the above communication, and to assure the writer, further, that it will cooperate heartily (if the rich town of Milton desires assistance from Quincy, Boston and surrounding towns less fortunate) in relieving distress within its borders. The object is certainly commendable and we hope the ladies may be successful, but was it not a mistake to make a general appeal outside of Milton, especially in a Boston paper, for the relief of "numerous cases of need in the town of Milton." Is it not a reflection on the town of Milton, the people of Milton, and the press of Milton?—Eds.

Four Hundred Miles Per Day.

The United States cruiser Columbia arrived at the League Island Navy Yard on Friday, with two hundred marines, who returned after two years' service in Guantanamo, Cuba, and Colon. The trip was one of the fastest ever made by a naval vessel. The cruiser left the League Island Navy Yard on Dec. 10, with mariners to relieve those brought back today. There was some speculation as to whether the vessel would be able to make the trip of 4600 miles before Christmas Day. But the cruiser completed the voyage in less than twelve days, covering nearly four hundred miles a day.

Larger and Faster Battleships

A Washington dispatch to the Transcript says the next battleships authorized by Congress will probably not only be of 18,000 tons displacement, but the machinery will be so increased in power as to give them a speed of not less than twenty-one knots. Naval engineers see signs of advancing the speed of the largest vessels of war to twenty-two knots before the experts are done with the development in that respect.

This puts the battleship in the class with the cruiser of large dimensions, and practically, some of the officers of the service say, sounds the knell of the commerce destroyer, of whose usefulness much was heard in other days. The tendency is to increase speed and at the same time to lower the rate of the turning of the turrets. Perhaps the former element may be realized by the adoption of the turbine mechanism, with which extensive experiments are now in progress and of which several especially selected naval officers are engaged in making studies.

The strategists connected with the Naval War College and the General Board are laying their plans of naval attack and defence on the theory of an increase in speed of ships all along the line. This factor must be considered, in view of the general adoption abroad of designs of ships of greater speed than those hitherto built. The advance in speed is one of the most notable signs of naval development since the last battleships were laid down.

—Running is the only exercise that really beautifies.

Larger Salaries

Favored for Teachers in The Public Schools of City

The last regular meeting of the School Committee of 1905 was held Tuesday evening. All members with the exception of Dr. Peirce were present.

The Committee on Books and Supplies reported that the contract for fuel had been awarded to J. F. Sheppard & Sons the lowest bidders.

Superintendent Parlin made a report on salaries paid teachers of Quincy, compared with those paid in other cities of the state.

The report showed that the salaries paid Quincy teachers to be exceptionally low, being nearly 15 per cent. below the average of the cities of the state, exclusive of the six largest cities.

The report further said that most of the cities had increased salaries during recent years. The average increase of High school teachers within ten years was 18 per cent and of the lower grades 13 per cent.

There has been hardly any change in teachers salaries in Quincy during that time and practically none in salaries of grade teachers for 25 years.

Living expenses in Quincy have largely increased within this period so that the net earnings of teachers in this city are considerably less than they were 25 years ago.

The resignation of Thomas A. R. Gould, janitor of the Cranch school, was accepted and Daniel W. Corcoran was appointed provisionally.

Mr. Churchill, for the special committee, read the annual report of the School Committee of 1905.

The superintendent was instructed to report in print.

The report of the sub-committee on evening schools was given.

This report showed that the usual number of evening schools were maintained this season, having opened on Oct. 2 and after 40 sessions closed Dec. 12. The total enrollment at the Willard school was 188, with an average attendance of 59 plus. At the Adams school the enrollment was 286, and average attendance of 75. Enrollment at evening drawing school 61 with average attendance of 32.

The instructor of the evening drawing school was Samuel E. Gideon, an instructor at the Institute of Technology. It was his first season in Quincy and he proved himself unusually well adapted to the work and an excellent teacher.

The financial statement showed a balance of $208.14. This sum however will be used to pay for fuel already purchased and delivered.

The report follows:

Carol Singing By Englishmen

The residents of South Quincy have had a splended musical treat during the holidays in the Christmas carols sung by a choir composed entirely of natives of Cornwall, England, who have banded themselves together for the purpose of keeping up the old custom, as practiced in their native country, of celebrating the greatest day in the Christian calendar by singing the grand old carols suitable for the occasion.

Cornishmen seem to be naturally endowed with fine voices and they are heard at their best when singing those fine songs. The singing is done partly out door which makes it all the harder to get the best effect, but through hard practice all obstacles have been surmounted and the choir should be congratulated on their success.

The make-up of the choir is as follows:

Soprano,—William Charles Besanko, William Martin, George H. Whitcomb, Thomas H. Parsons, Charles F. Parsons, all of Penryn, Arthur Spiller of Bellavista.

Alto,—Edwin E. Tregaskis of Penryn.

Tenor,—William C. Warmington and Frederick T. Warmington of Penryn.

Bass,—Richard Reed of Follan-green, Thomas J. Newcomb and William C. Hutchings of Penryn, Thomas Neal and John Williams of Constantine, Norman Spiller of Bellavista.

Flutes,—Thomas E. Blackmore of Penryn, Henry J. Rendle of Constantine.

Cornet,—Archie Parsons of Penryn.

Tenor flute,—Nicholas Williams of Constantine.

Bass Baritone,—Edward J. Warmington of Penryn.

Cruiser Defective

A London dispatch says: The British second-class cruiser Encounter, which in her speed trials developed such serious structural weaknesses as to necessitate taking her back to the dockyard, where six months was spent in strengthening her with additional girders, appears from statements made by the crew commissioned to take her to Australia to have been but little improved. The Encounter was to have sailed Saturday, but orders were issued postponing the sailing until further notice. It is said that when the Encounter was running the average economic speed her decks literally buckled, and the vessel developed abnormal vibration. The second class cruiser Dido while carrying out her gun practice also developed defects, and was ordered to return to Chatham.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Mayor Whelton of Boston did a good thing when he shut down on a dance advertised to begin at 12.15 A. M. on Monday. Dances and entertainments are not wanted on Sunday night or after midnight on Saturday.

Robert H. Derrah, 309 Washington street, Boston, the very successful passenger and advertising agent of the Street Railway Companies, has our hearty thanks for his kind remembrance of us at Christmas time. Editors like all other persons like to be noticed, and when it comes from so obliging and popular agent, it is more duly appreciated.

Congratulations to Lawyer John E. Everett of Canton upon his marriage on Saturday to Mrs. Ida Merrill of that town. That he should have chosen to remain a bachelor so long has surprised his friends. We venture that he will not be a candidate for County Commissioner again now that he has all the comforts of home, but at the same time, should he be a candidate, he will win. Women often help along to success the ambitions of their husbands.

What does the Boston Herald expect to gain by advertising to the world that Massachusetts towns are at the mercy of Yeggmen? It is as true of parts of Boston as it is in the towns. Instead of providing protection, the Herald will undoubtedly increase the number of Yeggmen, and terrorize the people. The towns are also at the mercy of incendiaries, and conflagrations not incendiary. Must every town have a couple of steamers and a paid fire department? Must every town have its streets well lighted all night? Must every town have a policeman at every corner; a police signal system; a patrol wagon, a fire alarm system, a fortified police station, and all the equipments of a city like Boston? Robberies, assaults, incendiary fires, and worse crimes are more frequent in Boston than in the country towns, and Boston knows with all its protection that it is not absolutely safe.

For the Herald to seek and publish the opinions of chief of police on the question is a serious matter. Many unprotected towns have thus been exposed, and they are powerless to protect themselves. With taxes often at $20 per $1,000 it is out of the question for small towns to provide such police protection as Boston would consider sufficient, such protection from fire as Boston would consider ample, such well educated teachers for its schools as Boston demands, such well lighted streets as Boston, and so on. Even Boston with all its taxable property is unable to have these improvements without incuring an enormous debt.

Perhaps the system of taxation is at the root of all the evil. Such towns as Brookline, Milton, Cohasset, Wellesley and Manchester are favored at the expense of other municipalities. If the sum received by the State in bank and corporation taxes was distributed differently,—say for the public schools—the small towns would be able to have more comforts, and improvements, and protection.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

MRS CHASE'S WILL

Brothers and Sisters of Dead Woman Trying to Break It

TESTIMONY OF HUSBAND

Document Which Made His Son Heir to Million-Dollar Estate Was Drawn by an Astrologer --As to Family Relations

Salem, Mass., Dec. 27.—That the will of Mrs. Jennie Phillips Chase, whose death at Swampscott last September under circumstances indicating suicide is being investigated by the district attorney, was drawn by a professed astrologer, introduced to her by her husband, Dr. Horace Chase, the heir of her million-dollar estate, was brought out through Dr. Chase's testimony in the probate court.

Mrs. Chase in her will bequeathed her entire estate to her adopted son, Dr. De Forest W. Chase, a son of Dr. Horace Chase, her second husband. Young Dr. Chase died in Boston last week and the will, under whose provisions the property would revert to the husband, is being contested by the brothers and sisters of the dead woman.

Dr. Chase was the only witness, although an affidavit from Mrs. Helen M. Janes, one of the witnesses of the will, who has removed to Maine, in order, as she stated, to avoid being examined in court, owing to her nervous temperment, preceded the testimony of the widower. Mrs. Janes declared that Mrs. Chase appeared of sound mind when signing the will.

Dr. Chase, who is 74 years old, stated that he married Mrs. W. H. Culliton, nee Phillips, June 26, 1880. Mrs. Culliton had obtained a divorce from her former husband. Six months before her marriage to Dr. Chase the latter introduced her to Walter A. Gould, an astrologer. Dr. Chase testified that Gould drew the horoscopes of both he and Mrs. Culliton. The horoscopes each stated that marriage would follow in a few months.

Six months after the marriage Mrs. Chase adopted De Forest Chase, and in her will, dated six years ago and drawn up by Gould, she left him her property. Two letters by Mrs. Chase were introduced, in both of which she stated that she wished no contest over her will, as she wanted her adopted son to have the property.

Dr. Chase admitted that he knew the provisions of the will before it was signed, but denied that he suggested that Gould draw up the document.

Dr. Chase declared that his relations with his wife were as a whole wonderfully serene. She was very sensitive and he admitted that he had had cross words with her but never abused her physically. On one occasion he left her for six months, but they made an agreement before marriage to live together or apart as they deemed best.

In late years Dr. Chase said that he had had no intercourse with his wife's relations, and her brothers often passed her without recognizing her. While he was describing the circumstances attending the finding of his wife in the kitchen with the gas turned on, the hearing was adjourned until today.

Mrs. Chase, it will be remembered, died after several days' illness following her being discovered in the kitchen of her Swampscott home partially asphyxiated by illuminating gas. Suicide was the report of the medical examiner, who was also the family physician; but Mrs. Chase's blood kin and others were not wholly satisfied with the verdict. A police inquiry was conducted, the body was exhumed, and an autopsy performed. It was given out that this confirmed the report of the medical examiner that gas poisoning was the cause of death. Here the matter rested until now, when District Attorney Peters of Essex county has ordered an inquest and is conducting the examination of witnesses before Judge Berry at Lynn.

The inquest follows close upon the death of Mrs. Chase's adopted son and heir, the son of her husband, by which her property may pass into the possession of the latter.

Lone Survivor of Wreck

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 27.—Schooner Sakata of Parrsboro, N. S., has been wrecked and its entire crew of seven men drowned except Mate Williams. Captain Lermond of the schooner Helen Thomas sighted the capsized schooner on Dec. 23 and found Williams clinging to the vessel. He had been without food or drink for four days. Hunger had forced him to eat a portion of his oil coat. Williams has practically recovered from his experience.

Hummel Rearrested and Released

New York, Dec. 27.—Abraham M. Hummel, the lawyer convicted of conspiracy in the Dodge-Morse divorce case and released on $10,000 bail, was rearrested yesterday in order that the district attorney might question the right of the supreme court to admit him to bail. This question will be argued next Saturday. He was released again on $10,000 new bail.

Paper Concern a Heavy Borrower

Ballston, N. Y., Dec. 27.—The United Boxboard and Paper company has given the Trust Company of America a general mortgage of $2,750,000, with interest at 6 percent. The money is to be used in exchanging the paper company's mortgage bonds now outstanding to pay off liens upon property and for other corporate purposes.

Four Generations Were Present

It was a jolly party that gathered about the festival board at Young's hotel, Boston, Christmas day at the reunion of the John R. Graham family.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham of Bangor, were the hosts, and their guests included the sons and daughters, Mr. James T. Penniman and family, and the parents of their daughter's husbands.

There were 34 in the party which represented four generations. All of Mr. Graham's living children were present with the exception of two sons who are in the west. These children included three sons and five daughters. There were also four grandchildren.

After dinner there came a few extemporaneous remarks. Mr. Graham welcomed the party and expressed his pleasure that so many were present. Mr. James T. Penniman, Dr. Jones, Mr. Barbour, Mr. Ricker and Robert Graham also added a few words. The afternoon which had been one of universal pleasure closed with songs and dancing.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St., Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

THE Young Men's Christian Association OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

Sudden Death.

Sincerest sympathy of old and young is extended to Mrs. Herman Keller of Walker street in her recent sorrow, the death of her little son Earle. Mrs. Keller was left a widow before the first year of her married life had past, and her infant son, a bright, attractive little lad, filled the gulf which such early grief leaves behind it.

This year, the third of the child's advent into the world, unusual Christmas plans had been made by his young mother. A tree had been put up and trimmed with care, countless toys were ready to give surprise and pleasure on Christmas morning. The slight cold which the baby had was looked upon as mild and harmless, and this holiday was to be one long remembered for his years were those most impressionable in childhood.

But Sunday morning symptoms of meningitis developed and little Earle passed away about five o'clock in the afternoon. This sorrow has touched other hearts beside that of the mother, but sometimes the peace of hope surrendered is greater than that of hope fulfilled and this thought is extended to Mrs. Keller by those whose sufferings have been lived through and softened by years.

DOMINICAN TROUBLES

Washington Does Not Now Feel Called Upon to Interfere

Washington, Dec. 27.—For the present there will not be any interference by the United States in the difficulty which has arisen in San Domingo. The trouble is regarded by the state department officials as an internal one and so long as outside interests are not menaced this attitude of non-intervention will be maintained.

If, however, conditions should change materially, and lawless acts should be committed against Americans and American interests and involving the collection of the Dominican customs by this government, or other acts of violence occur which would make it proper for this government to interfere, this step will be taken and measures adopted to quell the trouble.

The secretary of war received a cablegram from acting Comptroller and Receiver of the Dominican Customs Edwards, dated at Santo Domingo, saying:

"Carlos F. Morales, dissatisfied with cabinet support, left capital last night with few followers. His intention is said to be to join the forces of Jiminia in opposition to the followers of Horacistas. Conflict between the two forces is imminent. Morales may make attempt to establish new capital and create a new cabinet. Political excitement, but without disturbance here. Receivership is not affected yet."

To Issue Call For Wives

Meeteetse, Wyo., Dec. 27.—Moved by the fact that the state census shows only 118 unmarried females, as against 1262 bachelors above the age of 21, the executive committee of the Gray Bull club has decided to issue a call to every commercial organization in this country to join in a campaign for bringing more marriageable females into Big Horn county. School districts are advertising in vain for teachers, and women help in all lines is in demand.

Poison In Political Punch

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 27.—At Torroon, Mex., nine persons who were poisoned at a banquet have died and many others are ill. It is alleged that the poisoning was part of political plot. Strychnine was put into a bowl of punch. All the dead are said to have been of one political faction. The members of the opposing faction who attended the banquet were not affected by the punch they drank.

Chocolate Drops Were Poisonous

Albany, Dec. 27.—Miss Elsie Smith, who was "Queen Titania" in the Albany Hallow'en carnival of 1904, has reported to the police that she received through the mail a box of chocolate drops containing poison. A druggist who analyzed the contents declares that the candy contained enough poison to kill the whole family. The police and postoffice authorities are investigating.

Havoc by an Earthquake

Boston, Dec. 27.—The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions has received a cablegram from Constantinople announcing a severe earthquake in the Harpoot villayet, in its eastern Turkey mission, which has destroyed many houses, rendering the people homeless and destitute at the beginning of winter. The shops which may be affected by the strike are "open shops."

Union Men In Fatal Quarrel

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Thomas Kennedy, a member of the Painters and Decorators' union, was shot and fatally wounded last night at a meeting of the union by James McGuire, a member of the same organization. Troops Show No Mercy to the Insurgents at Moscow

CITY IS BATTLE-SCARRED

Patrols Fire Upon People Who Gather In Groups--Troops Getting Upper Hand--Casualties Number Ten Thousand

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—A telephone press message from Moscow says the fighting in the streets continued throughout the day, but the populace is not participating and the troops are gradually getting the upper hand. In the quadrilateral near the Brest railroad station, bounded by Tverskaia street and the Tverskoi, Sadovia and Bronnia boulevards, the insurgents have fortified every inch of their lines with felled trees and telegraph poles and street cars, in front of which they have constructed a network of entanglements. Artillery is being used mercilessly.

Two of the four grenadier regiments have returned to duty and are fighting on the side of the government. Troops also have arrived from St. Petersburg.

The fires which destroyed the Brest station and other places Monday night have been practically extinguished and the danger of the destruction of the city by fire seems to be over for the present.

As a press correspondent drove through the accessible streets of the city he saw the patrols firing every time the people gathered in groups. In the Strastonoi boulevard he saw three volleys fired and a dozen persons fall, while the remainder fled. He met a dozen improvised Red Cross wagons bringing in dead or wounded, for whom there is no longer a place in the morgues or hospitals, necessitating the temporary use of residences.

All over the city there are marks of the battle which has raged in the streets for three days, and the distant booming of cannon shows that the fighting is not yet at an end. Houses have been completely demolished by the artillery and everywhere windows have been smashed by bullets.

Governor General Doubassoff has prohibited the opening of windows. The better classes are afraid to venture on the streets, owing to the fact that the numerous bombs and other deadly missiles are being thrown from the windows or roofs of houses.

Near the Triumphal arch could be seen the red flags of the insurgents flying above their barricades.

Soldiers surrounded the Continental hotel and artillery was brought up, as it was claimed that a shot had been fired from one of the windows. It was with difficulty that the landlord persuaded the troops not to demolish the building.

As the correspondent entered the telephone exchange he saw two agitators shot by a passing patrol. Artillery can be heard at work near the Nicholas station.

Two attempts on the life of the prefect of police by students, one of them a woman, were frustrated. The students were arrested.

The Bourse Gazette says it is reported that the prefect of St. Petersburg has been informed by telephone that the number of dead or wounded at Moscow has reached 10,000 and that when questioned he did not deny that such a report had been received.

The bourse today was barely steady at yesterday's decline. Imperial fours were quoted at 77 3-4.

May Follow Moscow's Example

Warsaw, Dec. 27.—The street railroad employes struck last night and the employes of the steam railroads are expected to follow suit. The revolutionists are threatening an armed insurrection similar to that at Moscow. Detachments of infantry occupy the railroad stations. The authorities have arrested many members of the trades unions and a number of revolutionaries.

Whole Population In Revolt

Paris, Dec. 27.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Matin says that a French engineer who has arrived from Baku, after traversing most of central and southern Russia, declares that the whole population is in revolt and that starving peasants are seizing trainloads of flour.

Bombs Sent by Mail

London, Dec. 27.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that letters addressed in the same handwriting to Count Witte, General Trepoff and Interior Minister Durnovo exploded while being carefully opened in the general postoffice.

Twelve Thousand to Fight Troops

Lodz, Dec. 27.—The workmen here threaten to begin a strike and an armed rising in the coal mining districts also is threatened. It is declared that 12,000 men are ready to fight the troops.

Disease Attacks Brooklyn Horses

New York, Dec. 27.—Afflicted with spinal meningitis, more than a score of horses dropped in the streets of Brooklyn yesterday and at least half of them succumbed to the disease before a veterinary could reach them. Every veterinary surgeon in the section has been called into service and they are busy trying to check the spread of the disease. One veterinarian was called to attend 18 cases, nine of which were fatal.

NO KNOWN PRECEDENT

Albany Woman Gives Birth to Babies Four Months Apart

Albany, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Alfred Wiltse of this city is the mother of a 3-day-old daughter, who, she insists, was born in 116 days, or less than four months after she had given birth to a son. Her story is partially vouched for by Dr. Moston, a reputable physician, who attended her. The father is employed in the New York Central car shops and both parents are a few months over 20 years of age.

Dr. Moston said last night that he believed the woman's story, although such an occurrence was, so far as he knew, unprecedented in authentic medical annals.

"The child is normal," he said, "and I saw the other child, evidently not more than four months old. Mrs. Wiltse told me that no physician attended the other birth, though one was sent for, and her only attendant was a woman with whom she boarded but whose present address she does not know. Mrs. Wiltse's mother and family all vouch for the truth of her story, and share in the surprise occasioned by the phenomenon."

Moran Employs Gum-Shoe Man

Boston, Dec. 27.—On account of the attitude of the Boston police commission in refusing him the services of an officer in his investigations regarding the sale of liquor at hotels in this city, District Attorney Moran has employed at his personal expense a detective to make the desired investigations. The detective began his work last night and visited the four hotels which, according to Moran's allegations, have violated that section of the license law relating to the maintenance of screens.

Through With Union Labor

Cleveland, Dec. 27.—Manager H. M. Sprague of the American Bridge company said last night: "We are through with union labor for all time. All our contracts covering structural work will be completed by non-union labor. We are paying even more than the union scale to our present force of workmen and getting better results at less cost than obtained under union labor bosses before the strike began."

"Florentines Are Idiots"

Florence, Dec. 27.—Much excitement has been caused here by the daring of thieves who seem to have been organized to steal art treasures. Last night they made a hole in a wall of the ancient house of Dante, from which they succeeded in carrying off several relics of the poet. The thieves wrote on one of the walls: "You Florentines are idiots. You have saleable things and don't know it."

State Treasury Fattened

Madison, Wis., Dec. 27.—Under a law passed at the special session of the legislature requiring railroad companies to pay back taxes before contesting assessments in courts, the Northwestern railroad has paid $225,834 taxes for 1905 and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad paid $464,258 taxes and interest for 1904 and 1905. It is expected all the smaller roads will follow.

Royal Arcanum Rate Agitation

Boston, Dec. 27.—Supreme Secretary Robson of the Royal Arcanum states that the supreme council's legal representatives have decided to appeal from the decision of Judge Gaynor of New York, which virtually modified the new rates that went into effect Oct. 1. The council has no intention of abiding by any decision against the new rates until it has been taken to the highest tribunal.

Preparing For the Fray

Albany, Dec. 27.—The contest for the speakership of the state assembly will be transferred from New York city to Albany within a day or two. Mr. Merritt, who has come to be regarded as the candidate of State Chairman Odell and those in sympathy with him, is expected here today, and Mr. Wadsworth, the preference of Governor Higgins, will probably be here on Thursday.

Pilgrimage to Mormon Hill

Rochester, Dec. 27.—A party of 30 Mormons from Salt Lake City arrived in Palmyra in a special car, having come all the way from Utah to inspect Mormon hill. When they arrived at the place where it is claimed Joseph Smith dug up the golden plates on which were the inscriptions that founded the Mormon Bible a short service was held.

May Spread Smallpox

St. John, Dec. 27.—Twelve men out of 20 quarantined in a lumber camp in Queens county because of a smallpox case have broken quarantine. Chairman Caswell of the county board of health, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Belyea and a lawyer, have started from Gagetown in an effort to round them up and arrest them.

Poisoned Candy Killed Child

Pittsburg, Dec. 27.—The coroner's office has been notified that William Deasy, 3 years old, died from the alleged effects of eating poisoned candy. A 5-year-old child in the same family shows the same symptoms of the younger child and but little hope for its recovery is entertained. An investigation is being made.

CANNON'S SERMON

Uncle Joe Compares Present With "Good Old Days"

NO CAUSE TO COMPLAIN

Nation Better Now Than Ever Before In Its History and the People More Honest and Moral --Easy to Wipe Out Politicians

Washington, Dec. 27.—Speaker Cannon was one of the callers at the White House yesterday. He desired simply to pay his Christmas greetings to the president, but was obliged to defer them, as the president had gone to the country for a horseback ride. The speaker was in excellent spirits and talked with his newspaper friends in a characteristic way.

"They say things are not now like they were in the old days; that we are becoming aristocrats; that there is no longer honesty in legislative bodies; that there is no ability at the bar; that we are liable to become a monarchy; that some strong man is liable to rise up and dominate everybody.

"But I say that there is no fair-minded man who studies the history of this country from the days of its foundation down to the present time and who deduces the difference between eight millions of people and eighty millions, who considers the telegraph, the telephone and the railroads, who will not say that we are markedly better, physically, mentally and morally, than our grandfathers or even our fathers."

"Then you believe the house of representatives is just as representative as it was in years gone by?"

"Yes, indeed," the speaker replied. "The house is just as representative a body now as it was when this country had only ten millions of people. If you listen to all that is said you might believe the country is fast going to the devil, is fast becoming a monarchy and will cease soon to be a republic. Why, I heard that same kind of talk when I was a boy, when we used to gather at camp meetings. They used to tell us that things were not what they were in the 'good old days.' You hear the same thing now; that the country is retrograding; that everybody is corrupt and dishonest, and that there is wholesale immorality. I do not hesitate to assert that this country is better today than it was ever in its history; that the people are better—more honest, moral and less disposed to yield to temptations that are put in front of honest men at every turn.

"The people are just as mighty now in the matter of elections as ever before and just as discriminating as to whether a man has done his duty. No man ever gets so big that he cannot easily be wiped off the political map. And how quickly the people do it, too. They settle a man so quickly that he is soon forgotten.

"I venture the prediction that few of the best read men in the country could sit down today and give off-hand the names of 100 men who have helped to make history in the house of representatives. The others were defeated and forgotten and that was the end. There was William J. Brown, who put through the house the appropriation of $30,000 to build the first telegraph line between Washington and Baltimore. He did the world an immense service, yet at the next election afterward he received hardly enough votes to count. The opposition put up a man who ridiculed the idea of sending messages by 'lightning' and he beat Brown by thousands of votes.

"So it is today, although a man's services now are not so easily condemned. Undoubtedly, we are better off than were our forefathers. The millenium is not here, it is true, and things will not be a bit interesting when everything becomes perfect. We are doing better, though."

Roosevelt Family on Vacation

Washington, Dec. 27.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by several of their younger children, left Washington this morning for a visit of some days to their country place in Albermarle county, Va. They will return to Washington Sunday night. The negro caretaker and his wife at the country home will do the cooking for the president and his family.

Accident to Eminent Scientist

St. Louis, Dec. 27.—Professor Gustav Hambach, aged 74, instructor of geology and zoology at Washington university and regarded as one of the most eminent geologists, was run down by a fire engine at a street crossing last night. His skull was fractured, his left leg broken and in addition to a scalp wound there are internal injuries. He may not recover.

Lafontaine Loses His Job

Montreal, Dec. 27.—Police Justice Lafontaine has been dismissed from the position as extradition commissioner by the Dominion government. Lafontaine issued writs of extradition in the Gaynor-Greene proceedings. It is said that Lafontaine incurred the enmity of powerful political friends of the law firm which represented the American contractors.

Blew Himself Up on Grave

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 27.—Despondent over the recent death of his daughter, George Auman, 50 years old, threw himself upon her grave and then exploded a stick of dynamite on his chest. The dynamite blew him into pieces. He was a railroad section foreman.

LITTLE ONES SUFFERED

Hungry and Cold While In Charge of Insane Father

Clifton, Conn., Dec. 27.—Taken suddenly with a fit of insanity while recovering from the measles, Hayden Watrous, a middle-aged man living in Mystic, gathered his five small children together and, putting them on a box wagon, started a week ago on a wild ride about the state, begging food from house to house and not allowing the children to leave the wagon at any time. The father and his children slept on the wagon every night and as the days passed the sufferings of the little ones increased so that when they were overtaken near here by Watrous' brother the youngest of the lot, a 2-year-old boy, was nearly dead.

The insane man's brother started in pursuit of Watrous a day or two after his brother left home and found traces of him in several towns, but just as he seemed about to overtake him the trail was lost and the insane man was not caught until last night. When he saw his brother he started to fight, and it was only after a desperate struggle that Watrous was subdued. He was bound with ropes, put in a carriage and taken to his home. The children were suffering terribly from the lack of food and clothing, and some of them are said to be in a critical condition.

Watrous was overpowered near Killingworth and the children were given food and clothing and were cared for by persons in the town. Killingworth is 30 miles from Mystic. The children slept in the open air, for on only one night did Watrous seek shelter under a shed.

Treible Dies From Axe Wounds

Westbrook, Conn., Dec. 27.—Coroner Davis held an inquest into the death of Hans Treible, who died as the result of wounds said to have been struck by his brother-in-law, Michael Fischer, and reports that Treible's death was caused by the brutal attack of Fischer. The alleged murderer declined to testify. He was taken to jail to await the hearing in the Westbrook court. Fischer, who is 76 years old, attacked Treible with an axe as the result of his suspicion that Treible had stolen a basket of apples from him.

Failure of Shoe Corporation

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 27.—Announcement is made of the embarrassment of Hathaway, Soule & Harrington, incorporated boot and shoe manufacturers. At a meeting of the corporation it was voted to make an assignment. The concern has an office at Boston and a large factory in this city. The firm is one of the best known in the shoe trade of New England. It is stated that the creditors will be paid in full. The amount of the liabilities is not stated.

Woman Santa Claus Fatally Burned

North Wilmington, Mass., Dec. 27.—Miss Josephine Garmann, housekeeper for August Grossman, died at his home of burns sustained while dismantling a Christmas tree. Miss Garmann, who was impersonating Santa Claus, wore a great deal of cotton batting on her clothing, and this, coming in contact with a candle, caught fire. She ran screaming into the yard, where the fire was extinguished, and it was thought she would recover until yesterday.

Digger Bumped Into Cartrige

Portsmouth, N. H., Dec. 27.—A dynamite cartridge, which failed to explode when Henderson's point was blown up last summer, was struck by the digger of one of a dredging company's dredgers, with the result that the craft was nearly sunk and several members of the crew slightly injured by being thrown against the machinery. The prompt arrival of two tugs undoubtedly prevented the craft from going to the bottom within a few minutes.

Carried Bullet In His Brain

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 27.—The mystery surrounding the death of Charles R. Wordin, a young man who died suddenly, was cleared up when an autopsy revealed a 22-calibre bullet lodged in the brain four years ago, when Wordin attempted suicide. A cyst formed with the bullet in it and last Sunday, according to the doctors, the cyst broke, allowing foreign substance about the bullet to escape, causing instant death.

Officers Shot and Stabbed

Torrington, Conn., Dec. 27.—While attempting to arrest a party of Italians who were fighting Robert Newitt, a policeman, was shot, and Chief of Police Hull was stabbed. Eight Italians were shooting at each other, when the police appeared and the Italians turned their weapons against them. The men under arrest and who will be in court are Donato Donaniello, Paul Grosso and Nicholas Manfredi, all being under 22 years of age.

May Delve Into Politics

Boston, Dec. 27.—President Whitney has informed the board of directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce that he will decline to accept a re-election as president of the chamber for the year beginning Jan. 1, partly for the reason that he desires to be free to do any political work which he might desire to undertake. In the last state election he was Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor on a reciprocity platform.

Changed Mind About Leaving World

Boston, Dec. 27.—Regretting his attempt at suicide, George Pettilo, aged 68, walked from his lodgings to a police station, more than a quarter of a mile distant, with an ugly wound in his throat that he had inflicted with a razor. Pettilo was taken to a hospital and will probably recover. Pettilo told the police that he was discouraged because of his age and loneliness.

The funeral of Mr. Jeremiah Callahan, who died at his home on Quincy avenue on Christmas day, was held this morning from St. John's church. Mass was said by Rev. Julian E. Johnstone. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

One thing concerning the Christmas observance worthy of note was the truly Christmas feeling and cheer put into the work of giving these children a good time, and Mrs. Wadsworth who is on the visiting committee for December, must feel especially blessed, when she remembers the great pleasure she gave, leaving them with their little hearts glowing like the Yule-log.

Snow shields have been erected along the east side of Hancock street on that vacant stretch nearly opposite the Tubular Rivet works. The street at this point has always been a bad one in winter. The wind has a sweep across it, and if there is a snow bank anywhere after a storm this is the place, and it is usually a good sized bank. These shields will serve to break the force of the wind.

Good Times for Y. M. C. A. Boys

Eighty-five boys took supper at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday evening, the occasion being the starting of a membership campaign to last just ten days. At the head table the captains of the membership teams sat, Arthur Osborn, Allison Marsh, Lee Brooks, 'Keet' Pinel, Paul Blackmur, and Everett Rhodes. After the supper, there was speaking by Mr. Gay and Mr. Noon.

Mr. D. W. Howard gave a most interesting and instructive talk on "General Sheridan in the Shenadoah Valley," which he illustrated by the stereopticon. The views were excellent, and the boys declare that the evening's entertainment was tip-top.

Tomorrow occurs another outing. The boys of the Boston and South Boston Y. M. C. A. will unite in an outing at Quincy. Some of the quarries, the Presidents' houses, the ship yard, and other places of interest will be visited. The party will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 8.45.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

New Corsets Have High Bust—Aprons For Litle Girls In Many Styles.

The new corsets all show high busts, and the woman who clings to low bust effects can find models at reduced prices on the bargain counter.

Aprons have come back into favor for little girls and have brought with them odd little age distinctions. For the tiny girls almost everything in aprons is made with a yoke and full skirt, while older girls wear aprons that are belted in and have a short, full skirt only from the belt. Then there is the play apron, made with sleeves, that covers the entire dress.

Lingerie shirt waists are again to be first matinee favorites and when the breezes blow are worn over a slip of china silk.

Heavy linen, called by the French "tolle ancienne," is the material employed in the smart tailored shirt waists. The most approved model has a double box plait down the center and is flanked by two similar ones arranged from the shoulders. Small pockets with pointed flaps are set on at the bust line.

The attractive blouse illustrated is of heavy white taffeta. The front has a vest fastened with scalloped buttonholes. At the bust the front fullness is gathered a second time under scalloped flaps. The bishop sleeves have tiny turnback cuffs edged with scallops. The collar and deep wrist cuffs are of Irish lace.

Delicate Children

The children cannot possibly have good health unless the bowels are in proper condition. A sluggish liver gives a coated tongue, bad breath, constipated bowels. Correct all these by giving small doses of Ayer's Pills. Genuine liver pills, gently laxative, all vegetable, sugar-coated.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

At the meeting of the execuitve board of the Quincy Women's club on Thursday morning at the club house it was voted to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Pfaffmann, on the death of her mother, Mrs. John Shaw, who is the first member of the club to pass away since the formation of the club.

Notwithstanding it is the busy holiday season there was a large attendance of members of the Quincy Women's club at Bethany chapel Tuesday afternoon to greet Mr. John Colby Abbott of Boston. Mrs. E. C. Bumpus, president, introduced Miss Elizabeth Johnson, chairman of the afternoon's program, who in turn in a few gracious words introduced Mr. Abbott.

Although suffering from illness, Mr. Abbott most delightfully entertained his audience and next to seeing personally the wonderfully beautiful castles of Ludwig the dreamer, was listening to Mr. Abbott's descriptions and seeing the pictures which were thrown upon the screen.

Much of Mr. Abbott's early life was passed in Bavaria and he was in Munich during the last of Ludwig's reign so that he was much interested in his subject, giving interestingly and instructively the career of the romantic, music loving monarch, especially his devotion to Richard Wagner and recognition of his great compositions.

No king has left behind such beautiful reminders of their reign as did this king of Bavaria, who was mad on the subject of beauty; surrounding himself with fragrant flowers, beautiful furnishings and in fact everything that could be produced by nature or man to enhance his surroundings. He built castle after castle, each more beautiful, so that the mountain fastnesses of the eastern Alps is dotted here and there with castles, which are now museums which attract many visitors.

The lecture was exceedingly interesting, from the pathetic boyhood of Ludwig through his romantic life to his final madness and tragic death, and one is more inclined to remember the beautiful results of his life rather than the extravagance of his reign.

A chorus is to be organized by members of the Quincy Women's club, with Mrs. Jennie B. Worster of Weymouth, as director. The preliminary meeting will be held at the club house on Jan. 8th, after the regular club meeting. All members interested are cordially invited to join the chorus.

QUINCY DAY NURSERY ASSO.

Among the many genial customs of Christmas there is not one that delights old and young, more than the Christmas tree and so it was at the Day Nursery on Saturday afternoon. There was a Christmas tree, with the beautiful decorations, its branches green, and sweet smelling in the desolation of our winter, bearing substantial gifts, and presents for fun too; bags of dainties, also different kinds of fruits.

Miss Christine Bumpus in her charming manner, led the little folks with games. After the Christmas carols had been sung and recitations given by the little ones, children, parents and guests, gathered round the tree, for the distribution of gifts. One little face was missed, however, but hearts, and thoughts, were with him in his little crib at the hospital. The children were most enthusiastic over their gifts, especially the books from their good friend Mr. Parlin. Unusual freedom was given them, during which time, dainty refreshments, were served to all, and the health, wealth and prosperity of the nursery was drank. Then Col. Anderson, the children's friend, entertained with all sorts of funny stories, which were greeted with laughter and the clapping of hands. It was to be regretted that more who are interested in this grand work could not be present to enjoy the children's party.

The January meeting of the Day Nursery association will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 2d at half past two, in the Council chamber at City Hall.

HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION,

The Hospital Aid association meets Thursday afternoon, Dec. 28, for the regular monthly meeting in the committee room at the Quincy Women's club house on Goffe street. A large meeting is hoped for, as matters of importance are to be talked over, especially that of an entertainment to replenish the treasury.

The Junior society D. R. had a very jolly Christmas party on Saturday afternoon at the New Century building, Huntington avenue, Boston. There was an informal entertainment of music, dancing and refreshments.

PICKWICK CLUB.

The Pickwick club is looking forward to their annual dinner on Wednesday evening, Jan. 3d. It will be their thirty-third anniversary dinner—an old club with a fine literary record.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

The New England Woman's Press association holds its annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 3d at hotel Vendome, Boston. Mrs. Frances H. Howard of Roxbury one of the oldest members of the association passed away at her home on Christmas night after a long illness, during which she was often remembered by members with flowers and substantial gifts.

It is said that some thirty thousand women belong to the Massachusetts Federation of Women's clubs. What a backing for any project! The fair to be held by the Federation, at Horticultural hall, Boston, in March, cannot fail to be a great success.

On Friday evening the Dorchester Woman's club have a special evening meeting which will take the form of a reception to the sons and daughters of members of the club, who are over sixteen years of age.

Children's afternoon of the Norumbega Woman's club on Saturday afternoon was a merry time for the little ones.

Masquerade At Wollaston

An exceptionally pretty subscription masquerade was held in Wollaston hall Tuesday evening by Messrs. Wallace Bennett, Herbert Percival and Harold Davenport. The costumes were varied, some being very elaborate, others simple or comical. The crowd was congenial and all seemed to have a fine time. This was the first masquerade that had been given in Wollaston hall for quite a while and everybody said it was a success and that another one a little later would be appreciated.

As the different couples arrived most of them walked up and bowed to the matrons, who were Mrs. George Bennett, Mrs. Charles Baker and Mrs. Lucy K. Arnold.

A eight o'clock Leavitt's excellent orchestra started playing, and the mesqueraders formed in couples for the grand march. After the fourth dance masks were removed and dance orders given out.

The hall was beautifully decorated with evergreen and flowers and was lighted with different colored lights. The gentlemen in charge should be congratulated on one of the prettiest parties ever given in Wollaston.

Those present in costume were:

Comical Sayings From the Mouths of Children

LITTLE Margie awoke one morning with a severe cold. Later, when her mother was arranging some flowers, she exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, I can't smell 'em! I dess my nose is deaf!"

Small Ethel had accompanied her parents to a family reunion, and upon returning home she astonished her mother by asking, "Mamma, was papa related to us before he married into our family?"

"Why, Tommy," said a fond mother, "I'm surprised that you don't want to go to school!"

"Huh!" exclaimed Tommy. "I reckon I'd be a whole lot more surprised if I did want to go."

"I'm never going to take another bath," said six-year-old Johnny.

"Why not?" queried his mother.

"'Cause," explained the youngster, "pa was reading about a man being found dead in a bathtub, and I ain't going to take any chances."

At Sunday school Grace had just repeated the text, "Love one another."

"Do you know what that means, Grace?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," answered the small miss. "It means that I must love you and you must love me. I'm one and you're another."—Chicago News.

A Pseudonym.

"Mamma," said nine-year-old Priscilla the other day, "girls are so silly!"

"What girls?" asked the sympathetic parent. Priscilla, by the way, is a Bostonian, and contempt for the frivolous is one of her characteristics.

"Mamma, all the girls in my class are so silly about their themes! You see, we write them every Friday, and it's so exciting to have them read aloud in the class. We don't sign our own names, but a—what do you call it?"

"Pseudonym," suggested the mother.

"Yes, that's it, and we choose our own names. But the girls are so silly! Susan signs hers 'Atlantic,' and Hetty signs 'Massachusetts,' and Gertrude takes 'Truth' and 'Pocahontas.' But literary names would be so much more sensible. That's what I always take, a literary name."

"And what might yours be—your favorite pseudonym?" asked the amused mother.

"Why, I almost always sign mine 'Ralph Waldo Emerson,'" responded Priscilla proudly, and then she wondered why her mother smiled.—St. Louis Republic.

Their Weakness.

The college professor led us across the campus and showed us the female football team.

"But," we protested, "they all have short hair. We thought football players wore long hair."

"Only male football players," elucidated our guide. "If girl players wore long hair they would begin a hair pulling match during the first struggle."—Chicago News.

Veto by Mayor

Of Order Relative to Municipal Lighting

The last meeting of the City Council of 1905 was held Wednesday evening. Councilmen Barry, Chamberlin, Hughes, Hynes and McLane were absent.

It was not a long meeting but everything was cleaned up, those matters not acted upon being sent over to the City Council of 1906.

A VETO.

Mayor Thompson returned without his approval the order "requesting the Mayor to petition the Legislature for special legislation that will enable the city to establish a Municipal Lighting plant for municipal purposes only."

The Mayor gives as his reason for not approving the order the following: "I consider the order as now drawn too restricted in its operation. Without going into the question of the advisability of establishing a municipal lighting plant, it would seem that the construction of one. "For municipal purposes only" such as is contemplated in the order, would be an unwise expenditure of the city's money. With 77 miles of streets reaching into various scattered portions of the city, the cost of equipping a lighting plant to be of service to all parts must necessarily be large.

"In such case, if we are denied the right to sell our product to private consumers, (as we undoubtedly would be by the terms of the order) it would, in my judgment, prove a burden upon the taxpayers of our city and fail in the very purpose for which it was constructed.

"I do not pass any opinion on the question of the construction or acquisition of such a municipal lighting plant as is now permitted in the general laws of the Commonwealth."

The vote whereby the order was passed was reconsidered and the veto of the Mayor was sustained.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

The Committee on State Aid reported upon an application for Soldiers Relief. Adopted.

MOTIONS, ORDERS, ETC.

Councilman Gassett offered an order transferring $348.03 from the appropriation for edgestone to that for Miscellaneous Highways of 1905. Adopted.

Upon motion of Councilman Adams all matters before the State Aid Committee were referred to the next City Council.

Upon motion of Councilman Gassett, amended by Councilmen Bass and Stone, all matters before the several committees were referred to the next City Council.

BOUQUETS.

Upon motion of Councilman Bass, a vote of thanks was extended to President Nichols, for the impartial and efficient manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the Council during the past year.

President Nichols in turn thanked the members of the City Council for their vote. He believed it showed their appreciation and he accepted it in the spirit given.

During his two years as President it had been a matter of personal pride to conduct himself so that he could have the satisfaction of having impartially served the members of the City Council.

It was not always an easy task to be impartial, the conflicting questions and personal interests made it difficult at all times to seem to preside with impartiality. If he had succeeded and retained the respect of the councilmen it was all the compensation he desired.

Upon motion of Councilman Stewart, a vote of thanks was extended to the Clerk of the Council and Clerk of Committees.

Upon motion of Councilman Stone a vote of thanks was also extended to the City Auditor.

Upon motion of Councilman Stewart a vote of thanks was extended to the City Messenger.

Last but not least the Council upon motion of Councilman Bass extended a vote of thanks to the members of the press.

CALENDAR.

The following orders took their second reading and were passed to be ordained under suspension of the rules.

Granting the Q. E. L. & P. Co. location for poles on East Howard, Miller streets and Upland road.

Granting the N. E. T. & T. Co. attachments on West Elm avenue, Huntington square, Stoughton street, Intervale street, Upland road and location for poles on Granise street.

Loan order for $17,050 to cover appropriations for Beacon street, North Payne street, Draining Gragg's pond, Coddington school lot, Wollaston avenue sidewalk, Edwin street sidewalk, Cottage avenue widening, Bates avenue widening and fire apparatus at Houghs Neck.

Transferring $335.77 to interest of city debt.

Transferring $480 to interest of sewer debt.

Transferring $755 to interest of water debt.

Refunding Jeremiah W. Donovan tax of $35.

TAX REFUND.

The order refunding Henry W. Hunt a tax of $100.58 took its second reading and the rules were suspended.

Councilman Piper opposed as he believed the tax was paid by the petitioner to strengthen his claim.

PRESIDENT NICHOLS.

Councilman Stone favored. Mr. Hunt had lost $4000 by the transaction.

Councilman Bass favored, as there was no doubt the tax was paid innocently. The case had all gone in before the court when it was paid.

Councilman Chase said it was morally right that the tax should be refunded. There was no valid reason why he should pay taxes on property that belonged to the state.

Principal Assessor Johnson in response to questions said that assessments were made on matters of record from Dedham. He had not looked into the data of this particular matter.

Mayor Thompson asked if there was any means in the order to pay it if passed. There did not prove to be any unappropriated receipts or unexpended balances? In the beginning of the year we appropriated every dollar we could and we take all the receipts that can be taken. When this is done if there are any receipts that have not been taken they are taken by the Assessors to reduce the tax rate, so that every dollar of the receipts is absorbed.

This year a number of matters have gone through and we have reached the limit. He believed that the limit had been reached if not overreached in unappropriated receipts and unexpended balances.

The Mayor then went into a general discussion of the financial situation making reference to the orders that had just been passed making transfers to interest. There are only a few more days this year and if the receipts did not come up to the amount anticipated there would be a deficit.

The Council then by a vote of 7 in favor and 9 against refused to pass the order.

The City Council of 1905 then at 8.56 adjourned sine die.

Dark Horse May Be Elected Auditor

The contest for City Auditor grows warm as the day for inauguration approaches. The contest has now narrowed down to three names. These are ex-Mayor Henry O. Fairbanks, Councilman Arthur W. Loud and ex-City Treasurer H. Walter Gray.

It is claimed by those interested that neither candidate has a majority.

It is figured out that Mr. Fairbanks would naturally have the backing of Wards Five and Six, while Mr. Loud would have the backing of Wards Three and Four. This leaves Wards One and Two to settle the question.

Mr. Gray according to report has six votes that he can count on. As twelve votes are necessary to elect there is a possibility of a deadlock. In that event some dark horse whose name has not as yet been mentioned publicly may be brought forward.

If the contest reaches this point, the chances are that all would unite on this dark horse, and elect him. At the present time it looks as though the dark horse would win.

Not So Slow In Chelsea

Gas at 40 cents per thousand feet.

The Gas and Electric Light Commissioners gave a hearing recently on the joint petition of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Chelsea Gas Light Company that the former company be authorized to sell gas to the latter company.

Attorney W. A. Moses, for the Chelsea Company, stated that the company had had a contract with the New England Gas & Coke Company, made in 1900, by which the Coke Company was to sell gas to the Chelsea Company for a period of ten years for forty cents per thousand cubic feet, the Chelsea Company agreeing to take 48,000,000 cubic feet per year.

Under the consolidation act the Boston company succeeds the New England Gas & Coke Company in this contract. Mr. Moses explained that the requirements of the Chelsea Company had risen to 75,000,000 cubic feet per year and it desired permission to purchase the extra gas from the Boston company.

Attorney Fred E. Snow for the Boston Company said it would cost the Chelsea Company at least forty cents per thousand cubic feet to manufacture gas and he thought that would be a fair price for the extra gas required. The Board took the matter under advisement.

Grand Lodge of Masons.

Quincy and Wollaston Masons attended the installation of the officers of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts at the Masonic Temple in Boston on Wednesday. John Albert Blake of Malden is the new grand master. Dr. E. Alden Dyer of Whitman was installed as deputy of this district (the 24th,) William H. Puffer of Milton over district No. 4, and Horace T. Fogg of Norwell over district No. 25. Howard M. Dow of Weymouth continues as grand organist, and Henry A. Belcher of Randolph is prominent on committees.

Funeral of J. F. Johnson.

The funeral of Joseph F. Johnson who died from the result of injuries received by being blown up in the quarries was held Wednesday afternoon at the Swedish Lutheran church the services were conducted by Rev. John A. Bernhard assisted by Rev. C. J. Johnson of Boston the burial was at Mt. Wollaston.

The services were very largely attended, the church being filled with friends.

The bearers were Henning Samuelson, John Holquist, William R. Lofgren, August Weeden and Fritz Swanson.

Inauguration Day.

An Inauguration Day number of the Daily Ledger will be issued on Saturday and on Monday the inauguration of the new city government will be reported in detail and the inaugural address of Mayor Thompson printed in full. The Mayor has intimated that he will have something of importance to say relative to city finances.

—Arthur Lyman, who was Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Committee during the last campaign and who virtually directed the fight on the Democratic side, has announced that he should not again head the committee.

—Henry M. Whitney has informed the board of directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce that he would decline to accept a re-election as president of the chamber for the year beginning Jan. 1, 1906. He is going to establish a reciprocity bureau.

Christmas At Quincy Point

The Washington Street Congregational church was the center of attraction last Saturday evening. A large gathering of children and adults came to see the open-fireplace, the three Christmas trees, and to listen to the entertainment of "Grandmother and her three little ones." Then Santa arrived amid a whirl of merriment and with him, a real live rabbit and two white doves. The doves, let loose, flew over the audience, blessing them with the benediction of Peace. Santa's letters and jovial remarks were full of local hits and pleasing reminiscences and references.

The singing at the church on Sunday, was rendered by a large chorus choir and reflected credit upon the musical director, Mr. T. B. Pollard. The Christmas music is to be repeated next Sunday.

A new picture, "Christ in the Temple," was given to the Sunday school last Sunday, by Miss Smith's class of boys. Master Sidelinger made the presentation speech; Superintendent Sherburne responded.

Sunday evening the school gave an enjoyable concert to a crowded house.

Next Sunday evening 10.30 to 12.05 there will be a Watch service to which all are invited. Rev. Lewis P. Atwood and the pastor will make addresses.

The church plans to observe the week of prayer, Jan. 2d, to 5th. On Tuesday evening, the Rev. Mr. Falcom will preside. On Thursday evening, the Rev. Lewis P. Atwood will address the meeting. On Wednesday and Friday evenings, the Christian Endeavor society has charge of the meeting.

Battleship New Jersey Going Into Dry Dock

Information was received this week at the Charlestown Navy Yard says the Boston Transcript, that the Navy Department has given the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy permission to drydock the new battleship New Jersey about March 15, and that the battleship will arrive at the yard a day or two beforehand, to be ready to enter when the dock is ready for her reception.

The New Jersey is a sister ship to the Rhode Island, built by the same company, and recently cleaned and painted in dock No. 2 before having her trial. From the fact that the New Jersey is to be docked on March 15, it is presumed at the yard that she will have her trial trip about a week later.

Orders have been received for the battleship Illinois to sail on Jan. 2, and the Missouri on the day following. Both ships are undergoing minor repairs to their hulls and machinery.

Love Tokens.

The ancient English custom of giving love tokens on the 20th of August died out many years ago. The custom was for "enamoured maydes and gentlewomen" to give to their favorite swains as tokens of love little handkerchiefs three or four inches square, with a button or tassel at each corner and a small one in the center. The finest of these favors was edged with narrow gold lace or twist and then folded up in four cross folds so that the middle might be seen. They were worn by the fortunate swains in their hats or on the breast. The favors were generally the handiwork of the "faire mayde" herself, and well she liked to work the most beautiful figures she could for her favorite suitor, but they became so much in vogue in Queen Elizabeth's time that they were sold ready made in the shops. This, of course, destroyed the romance of the custom, and hence its death.

Trapping the Parson!

As William Morris was an Englishman, it may not seem remarkable to Americans that he did not always get his jokes right end first. In a biography of her husband Mrs. Edward Burne-Jones tells of the ease with which he reversed them.

They had all been asking conundrums.

"Who killed his brother Cain?" asked Burne-Jones.

Morris fell into the trap at once. "Abel!" he shouted.

Later in the day he came in laughing.

"I trapped the parson, by Jove!" he exclaimed. "I asked him, 'Who killed his brother Abel?'

"'Cain,' he said at once.

"'Ha!' I said. 'I knew you'd say that. Every one does.' I came away and left him puzzled enough, and I doubt if he's found out yet what the matter was."

Sharks Delicate In Captivity.

Sharks are rather delicate in captivity, and it is difficulty to keep them in aquariums. Whatever care may be bestowed upon them they do not seem to be able to stand confinement, however large the tank or pool may be. In captivity sharks swim round and round the tank, nine times out of ten taking one course and never reversing. A shark has been known to keep its course for three or four months without change and, except for food, never halting, so far as it was observed. It would keep going all day long and would be found going in the morning just the same. If food was placed in its way, it would stop for several minutes and eat, remaining headed the same way. Presently it would start on again in the same direction on its rounds, moving slowly unless disturbed.

Necessities of a Happy Life.

There are two fundamental necessities for a happy life—namely, a useful occupation for mind and body and an outlet for unselfish affection. The first requisite for enduring happiness is in having work to do in which one believes. Such work always aims at the accomplishment of something useful. While this work must be done with fair efficiency, it should not be accompanied with too much drudgery or exhaustion.

The simpler the plan on which one's living is modeled the less will be the complications and disturbances caused by an overelaborate scale of existence and the more time will be left for the real duties and pleasures of life.—From "Vital Questions," by Dr. Henry D. Chapin.

BARROOMS CLOSED

No Liquor For Guests In Five Leading Boston Hotels

MORAN KEEPS HIS WORD

Went So Far as to Hire Private Detective to Obtain Evidence Against Hostelries--Real Phenomenon For Boston

Boston, Dec. 28.—The barrooms connected with four of the leading hotels in this city were closed this morning, and no liquor will be served under any conditions in any part of either of these hotels. The proprietors of Hotel Essex, Young's hotel, the Parker house and the Adams house, the hotels which District Attorney Moran declares have forfeited their licenses through violation of the "screen law," have decided to stop entirely the sale of liquor and await a more favorable time for reopening the bars.

The hotelmen refuse to state what will be done in the matter, but two courses are open to them—to await the issuance of new licenses, following the surrender of the old licenses, which will necessitate nearly three weeks of closed bars, or to await possible action by the legislature in the way of more liberal liquor legislation.

It will be the latter part of next week before the board of police can consider the applications for new licenses, and Boston meanwhile will witness the phenomenon of five of its leading hotels (the Touraine already having shut down) being unable to provide their guests with liquor.

In the history of the city, even in the strict prohibition times, this has never before been the condition. In this connection it is recalled that Harvey D. Parker, the old owner of the Parker house, was sentenced to the house of correction for a year and six months for violating the prohibitory law. However, he never served the sentence, succeeding in escaping by appeals and other legal delays.

In a statement last Saturday night, District Attorney Moran announced that if the sale of liquor at the four hotels mentioned was not stopped before Thursday morning he would himself take steps to end immediately the alleged illegal sales. On Tuesday the district attorney engaged a private detective to get evidence against the hotels. In the meantime all four of the hotels had applied to the police commission for new licenses.

Francis Peabody, Jr., counsel for the Hotel Essex, called on the police commissioners and asked permission to transfer the license of the Essex to some other party. Peabody was informed that in view of the pending charges of the district attorney the police board could not, even if it so desired, make any changes in the holding of licenses. Peabody had a stormy interview with the commissioners and when he emerged from the office he expressed his feelings vigorously.

Another incident in the controversy between the district attorney and the police commission was the examination by the commission of a Columbus avenue liquor dealer. This dealer has a store at the corner of Columbus avenue and Berwick park and in another portion of the same building, the Hotel Navarre, are District Attorney Moran's private apartments. The commissioners questioned the liquor dealer to discover if he ever served liquors to guests in the Hotel Navarre. The dealer answered that he did not, and after a brief interview he was dismissed.

Actors' In Fatal Tragedy

Danville, Ills., Dec. 28.—Charles H. Smith, a member of the "Two Johns" theatrical company, was shot and fatally wounded by F. C. Cooper, a member of the "Morris Island" company, in Smith's room in the Saratoga hotel. Cooper arrived unexpectedly from Pittsburg and found his wife in the company of Smith. An exciting scene followed, in which Smith assaulted Cooper with his fists. Cooper went out and later returned and shot Smith. Cooper was arrested.

Will Resist Printers' Demands

New York, Dec. 28.—At a meeting of the Typothetae of this city a final vote was taken on the question of resisting the demands of the printers for an eight-hour day beginning Jan. 1, and the vote in favor of resistance was practically unanimous. Resistance of the printers' demands had already been decided on, but the final test last night was made to see if there had been any change of opinion among the employing printers.

Jerome's Plurality Increased

New York, Dec. 28.—District Attorney Jeromes plurality was increased by nearly 5000 over the police returns made on election night by the official returns made public by the board of elections. His plurality is 15,064 votes. The gain was the result of corrections made by the board of canvassers and the counting of so-called void and protested ballots before Justice Gierich.

Tells Girls to Limit Hugs

New York, Dec. 28.—"If a man is obliged to stop in the midst of an ecstasy he is likely to come back again. Whereas if he is sated he is likely to hug another girl the next night. Therefore I say if you would keep your best beau limit your hugs," said Mrs. S. M. Cory of the Society for Political Study, in giving her advice to young girls.

CITY BREVITIES.

Some strenuous efforts are being put forth by the candidates for President and City Auditor for 1906 and meetings are being held.

If any of our citizens are in want of nice perfume for the new year they will surely find what they want if they go to the Weeks-Hill pharmacy on Temple street, near the stone church. There you will find the best that is manufactured; it is nice, strong and fragrant.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put toge her, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuos surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

INQUISITIVE JAPANESE.

An Illustration of the Thirst For Information by Orientals.

The thirst for information, which is one of the noticeable characteristics of the Japanese, was well illustrated by an incident that occurred recently on West Ninth street, in Kansas City, Mo. An old man who carried an ear trumpet with a tube attached was walking up the hill and was passed by a little Jap, says the Kansas City Star. The latter's bright eyes noted the trumpet, and after hesitating a moment he turned and hurried back.

"Say, what do you call him, talking tube?" he asked, tapping the old man on the shoulder and pointing to the trumpet.

The old man obligingly replied that the instrument was usually called an ear trumpet, or speaking tube. Then the Jap asked many questions—how the tube was made and where, how much it cost and whether or not it restored the hearing. Then, his curiosity gratified, he thanked his informant and walked on.

KOSHER COOKS FOR LINERS.

Innovation For Hamburg-American Company's Steamships.

Following its recent innovation of introducing a la carte restaurants on its ships for the convenience of its cabin passengers, the Hamburg-American line now announces the establishment of "kosher" kitchens for the benefit of Jewish emigrants to the United States, says a special cable dispatch from Hamburg to the Chicago News. All ships of this line carrying steerage passengers will now be supplied with "kosher" cooks appointed by a supervising committee of Hamburg rabbis.

This novel idea is supposed to be due to the personal desire of Herr Ballin, the German shipping king, director general of the line, himself a devout Jew, to afford to the thousands of his Russian and Polish coreligionists the opportunity to adhere to a porkless diet while journeying to the "new land of promise."

COULD NOT STOP TRAIN

Engineer Lyons' Testimony as to the Lincoln Disaster

Boston, Dec. 28.—It developed from the testimony before the state railroad commissioners of Horace W. Lyons, engineer of the pilot engine of the Montreal express which plunged into the rear of the Marlboro local train at Lincoln on Nov. 26, causing a loss of 17 lives, that Lyons not only saw the red fusee thrown out by the train ahead, but attempted to stop the express train by the application of the air brakes.

Lyons said that when his train passed Lincoln station it was a minute late, but he supposed that the local was at least five minutes ahead. At Lincoln he saw a fusee and a red light. He shut off steam on passing the fusee, and from that time did not turn on steam again. He also put on the air brakes and checked the train somewhat, but it did not stop. When he saw the lights of the local he put on the emergency brakes, but they did not check the train. He said that the local was not more than 100 feet ahead of the express when he first saw it. He said that the cause of the accident was his inability to stop his train after he had discovered the presence of the local, and admitted that his duty required him to bring his train under control after passing a fusee.

A railroad official testified that there was no difference, so far as capability is concerned, between the regular and spare engineers, but there was a difference in the rate of compensation. Lyons was a spare engineer. The hearing has been adjourned.

Express and Freight Collided

South Royalton, Vt., Dec. 28.—Several persons were slightly injured in a head-on collision here between a Montreal express and a freight train. Several cars of the freight train were hurled from the rails in the collision and wrecked. The engineer and firemen of both locomotives saved their lives by jumping after everything had been done to abate the force of the collision. Both engines were badly damaged.

Almshouse Inmate Missing

Ware, Mass., Dec. 28.—Miss Florence Towne, 22 years of age, disappeared from the town almshouse yesterday after having told another inmate that she was going to kill herself. Miss Towne has a son 18 months old and has brooded because the child stood in the way of her getting employment. A searching party is scouring the woods in the vicinity of the almshouse.

Young Man Saves Two Lives

Danbury, Conn., Dec. 28.—In the presence of a big crowd Harold Reynolds rescued Miss Irene Cole, aged 18, and her brother Henry, aged 19, from drowning in Lake Kenosia. Miss Cole and her brother had ventured out on thin ice, which gave way beneath them. Young Reynolds pulled them out of the water in a somewhat exhausted condition.

Life Sentence For Barto

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 28.—The jury in the case of Charles Barto, 21 years old, accused of the murder of Stephen Rinko by shooting, as the result of bad feeling between two cliques of Hungarians, returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. Judge Roraback sentenced the murderer to life imprisonment.

Proctor Hospital In Pittsford

Rutland, Vt., Dec. 28.—A state hospital for the treatment of incipient tuberculosis, provided for by a recent gift of $100,000 from Senator Redfield Proctor, will be located in Pittsford. This decision was reached at a meeting of the state tuberculosis commission held in this city yesterday.

Church Badly Damaged

Westerly, R. I., Dec. 28.—A fire which originated around the heating plant of the Calvary Baptist church here caused damage of about $7500. The church was recently repaired and a new organ installed. The instrument was badly damaged.

Decision Affecting Travelers

New York, Dec. 28.—The right to sign another man's name to a railroad ticket which has been sold by one passenger to another was affirmed by the supreme court here. This decision sets a precedent in the exchange of railroad tickets. Justice Leventritt held that the mere sale of the ticket carried with it the purchaser's right to sign to it the name of the man from whom he bought it.

Postoffice Salaries Too Low

Washington, Dec. 28.—In his annual report First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock says that the low salaries paid clerks in first and second-class postoffices is decreasing the standard of efficiency. It is impossible, he says, to induce efficient men to enter this branch of the service at a salary of $600 a year, with no certainty of promotion for perhaps several years.

Chicago Places Ban on Boxing

Chicago, Dec. 28.—All amateur boxing matches, sparring contests and pugilistic tournaments are to be prohibited in Chicago. The conditions surrounding the amateur tournaments of the Illinois club for the past two nights has caused the new order, which Chief of Police Collins declares is final and means the end of all boxing exhibitions in Chicago.

Another Railway Absorbed

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—A controlling interest of the preferred and common stock of the Scranton Street Railway company has been sold to the American Railways company, a corporation which controls street railways all over the country.

ARMED REBELLION

Poland Will Try to Cast Off Yoke of the Autocracy

PRECEDED BY A STRIKE

Complicates Situation For the Government, Which May Have to Practically Reconquer the Country--Insurgents in Baltic Provinces Are Well Armed

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—There is no further news from Moscow. A press correspondent there succeeded in getting the St. Petersburg bureau by telephone last evening, but he had only uttered the words "I am going to tell you a horrible story" when he was cut off. Since then nothing has been heard from the correspondent. The Seminovsy regiment of guards was dispatched to Moscow by train last night. This is considered rather ominous.

According to information received by the revolutionary leaders here, an armed rebellion on a large scale has been planned in Poland. The Socialist revolutionaries, encouraged by the success of the insurgents in the Baltic provinces and of the situation at Moscow, and in Russia generally, have decided that the moment has come to try to cast off the yoke of the autocracy.

The tactics to be followed are the same as those adopted at Moscow, the rising to be preceded by a general strike, which already has practically come into operation, bringing about half the railroads in Poland to a standstill.

An open rebellion in Poland would immensely complicate the situation of the government, as, if it should gain enough headway to warrant reasonable hope of success, it probably would draw in the entire population and the government would practically have to reconquer the country.

W. E. Smith, an American resident of St. Petersburg, who arrived here yesday from Berlin, reports that 8000 armed insurgents from the Baltic provinces have crossed the railroad between Redjitza and Pskoff, and that the whole country is lighted up by fires from burning residences. He says that the insurgents, who are well armed and who have a battery of machine guns, announce that they are "annexing" the region to the "Lithuanian republic." Rich landed proprietors and their families boarded the train at Pskoff with nothing but hand satchels. They told Smith that they were glad to escape alive.

Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador, made representations to the Russian government regarding the danger and the necessity for the protection of the property and employes of the New York Air Brake company at Lubertzi, an industrial town near Moscow, and he was promised that the protection desired would be given immediately in case of emergency. This perhaps accounts for the prompt action of General Doubassoff, governor general of Moscow, in dispatching a squadron of dragoons to Lubertzi yesterday. There was fear that the insurgents would attempt to seize the works of the company, which contain a large stock of explosives, the company having been engaged in the manufacture of shrapnel for the Russian government during the war.

Boy Threw Bomb at Cossacks

London, Dec. 28.—A correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, as an instance of the ferocity of the struggle conducted at Kharkoff, relates as follows what he calls a "typical incident:"

"A little boy was seen approaching Konny square, where a detachment of Cossacks was stationed. The Cossacks draw the line at children and the boy was allowed to approach unmolested. On arriving at the spot he paused, swung his right hand vigorously and then turned and ran. A violent explosion prevented the Cossacks noting his further movements. The boy had thrown a bomb which plowed up the ground. Fragments of horses were all around and some of the Cossacks were convulsed in the agonies of death, while streams of blood were flowing along the torn-up roadway."

Vatican's Protest to France

Rome, Dec. 28.—The Vatican White Book contains an interesting reference to the visit of President Loubet to Rome in April, 1904, on which occasion the Vatican addressed a protest to France and to the other Catholic states, the wording of the former being different from the latter. It is asserted that the difference in the protest forwarded to Paris was due to the Vatican's regard for France.

Indictment Against Coal Men

Cincinnati, Dec. 28.—The grand jury has returned a joint indictment against representatives of the leading coal companies in Cincinnati for "conspiracy in restriction of trade." It charges that these companies or their representatives have associated themselves together to fix prices of coal, and that the price to the consumers is controlled absolutely by them.

THE DOMINICAN ROW

Little Actual Change Results From President's Flight

Washington, Dec. 28.—The state department has received by cable from San Domingo advices to the effect that the diplomatic corps had been notified by the Dominican minister of foreign affairs, General Tejera, that the president (Morales) having abandoned the capital, leaving the government without an acting head, the cabinet had called upon the vice president (Caceres) to take charge, pending the temporary failure of the president to exercise his functions.

The city of Santo Domingo is quiet and the cabinet officers are exercising their functions without interruption.

As the situation is understood here, there has been no actual change in the dominant party of San Domingo as the result of Morales' abandonment. The fact is the party known as Moracia, of which Vice President Caceres is the principal figure, has all along controlled the cabinet, and this cabinet in turn, owing to the peculiarity of the Dominican constitution, has completely dominated the presidential office. As Morales was ambitious to conduct his own government he fell under suspicion of disloyalty to his party and was also suspected of intending to join the opposition, or Jiminez party.

What John Burns Stands For

London, Dec. 28.—John Burns, president of the local government board, made his first public address since his entry into the cabinet when he opened the election campaign at Battersea last night. He said his acession to office was the elevation of his constituents to power—the honor was theirs, but the work was for him. He had such strong sympathy with all the interests of the working classes, he said, that he had no sympathy to spare for the loafer, "cadger" or drunkard. His ideal was fewer workhouses, smaller charities, larger wages, more pleasure and less drink.

Distasteful to President

Washington, Dec. 28.—The following statement has been issued from the White House: "The president's attention having been called to the dispatch from Baker City, Or., to the effect that a subscription was about to be started for a wedding present for Miss Roosevelt, the president stated that, while he appreciated this evidence of good will, he hoped nothing of the kind would be undertaken. In fact, he wished particularly that the proposed work should not be done."

Explosion In Salvation Barracks

Chicago, Dec. 28.—A tank containing bromide gas, which was being used to operate a stereopticon lantern in the Salvation Army barracks, exploded last night and fatally injured Captain Follet, who was working the lantern. His left leg and left arm were blown off. His wife and daughter and three small children who were in the barracks escaped with slight injuries.

Army Officers In a Scandal

London, Dec. 28.—The war office, on the advice of the royal commission now sitting in South Africa, has ordered the prosecution of the officers concerned in the South African war stores scandal. It is alleged that officers of the British army during the South African war worked in collusion with contractors, entailing a loss to the government of $5,000,000.

Trouble For Another Middy

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 28.—Midshipman Decatur of Portsmouth, N. H., is charged with complicity in hazing at the naval academy and is to be tried by court martial. HAMILTON'S WAYS

Insurance Legislative Agent Kept No Books

A CONFIDENTIAL SERVICE

Gave No Checks as Retainers Because Absolute Secrecy Was Necessary In His Negotiations --Report Before Investigators

New York, Dec. 28.—Andrew Hamilton, the legislative agent for the New York Life Insurance company, who, according to testimony, was entrusted with hundreds of thousands of dollars by that company and has not accounted for $235,000, has been heard from by the legislative insurance investigation commission, but has declined to make an accounting.

A statement by Hamilton was presented by Secretary McCall of the New York Life, who went to Paris to secure an accounting from Hamilton. In his statement Hamilton says that he is unable to produce any books or accounts because he undertook the legislative matters for the life insurance companies with the express understanding that he was to make no accounting.

"No demand was made by me for vouchers from other people," says Hamilton, "nor were there any books or accounts kept by me covering same. Payment by my check would necessarily have disclosed the fact that the person receiving the check was under retainer by me, and would thus have necessarily hampered that portion of my work that was most efficacious, namely, absolute secrecy. Cash, drafts and certificates were generally preferred. I cannot produce any books of these particular accounts because none were ever kept by me."

Mr. Hamilton went into an exhaustive explanation of the reasons for organizing this confidential service, as he characterized it, and cited a number of legislative bills in which he has been interested. A list of expenses from 1899 to 1904 was appended to the statement. The sum of $235,000 unaccounted for, he says, would be greatly reduced by his running account still unsettled and open, and, as a matter of good faith pending a settlement, he offers to deposit $100,000 with the company.

Secretary McCall was questioned by Mr. Hughes as to what further light he could throw on the statement of Hamilton, but he said he could give no information. He did not question Hamilton's figures nor the large amounts for traveling expenses. He asked Hamilton for a full statement and relied on his honesty to explain everything. He did insist that Hamilton produce checks or checkbooks, but Hamilton said he had none.

When McCall was excused Henry D. Appleton of the state insurance department was called. He completed his testimony begun last Friday and during the examination was told that Mr. Morgan, former president of the Bankers' Life Insurance company, had testified that Appleton had said it would cost the Bankers' Life $50,000 to reincorporate. Mr. Appleton somewhat heatedly said: "If Mr. Morgan said that he is a liar."

Louis F. Payn, former superintendent of insurance of the state of New York, explained a large number of appointments of confidential examiners on the ground that an unusual number of examinations were made during his tenure of office.

The affairs of the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company were taken up and during this line of examination Payn stated that he had been opposed to Burnham as president of the Mutual Reserve and said he had tried to get him out. Hughes asked why and Payn flatly stated: "Because I thought him a crook."

A point of interest in insurance matters developed in the courts when Justice Greenbaum in the supreme court granted a writ of mandamus to Clarence H. Venner and 100 other policyholders directing President McCall of the New York Life to furnish them with a complete list of policyholders.

The board of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance company held a meeting and elected Emery McClintock, the actuary of the company, as vice president and director. He will be in active charge of the company's technical affairs. President-elect Peabody was also elected a director. These two succeed Elihu Root and Rufus W. Peckham.

Three Banks to Liquidate

Memphis, Dec. 28.—Three financial institutions failed to open their doors for business yesterday. The Merchants' Trust company, with a capital stock of $200,000, the American Savings Bank and Trust company and the Mechanics' Savings bank, smaller institutions, and allied with the first-named concern, have gone into liquidation. The cause of the suspension of the Merchants' Trust company is said to have been over loans on discounts.

Labor Debt on Satan Statue

Detroit, Dec. 28.—Lugged away in an old cart yesterday, Herman Menz's statue of the devil now is being guarded by a constable. The image was set up two months ago by Menz and created a sensation. Menz is not a believer in the Diety. A constable with a writ of replevin called at the home of the stone cutter and levied on the statue. Warren West had a claim of $51.40 for labor, part of which was performed on "Beelzebub."

WILL NOT PRODUCED

Mrs Chase's Relatives Claim That New One Was Drawn

Salem, Mass., Dec. 28.—The efforts of the attorneys engaged in attempting to prevent the probate of the will of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase of Swampscott, in which she left her million-dollar estate to her adopted son, were directed in the probate court in trying to show that a subsequent will, leaving the property to their clients, relatives of the deceased woman, was made and executed and that Mrs. Chase only made her first will through fear of her husband.

Charles G. Chick, a Boston lawyer, stated that he drew her will two years after the one offered for probate, in which Mrs. Chase left all of her property to her relatives. At his interview with Mrs. Chase, Chick said that the woman told him that she was obliged to make the son her sole heir, and that if her husband knew of her interview with the lawyer he would throw her out of the house.

William H. Niles, a lawyer, told of Mrs. Chase declaring her intention of making a will cutting off the adopted son, but the intention was not fulfilled. A servant of the Chases told of frequent quarrels between Dr. Chase and his wife and of Mrs. Chase's declaration that the adopted son was distasteful to her.

There was no attempt to produce the second will in court, counsel for the relatives announcing that it was for the other side to show what had become of the document. The case will be continued on Friday.

Flammarion on Martians

Paris, Dec. 28.—Camille Flammarion, the astronomer, talking on the subject of Mars, declared that the inhabitants of that planet are much more highly developed than the inhabitants of the earth. The Martians are a much older race than the inhabitants of the earth, representing what the latter will be several million years hence. Belief in their great intellectual superiority strengthens yearly with constantly increasing preciseness in astronomical observations. Flammarion supported his views by arguments derived from well known physical phenomena in Mars.

Pacific Islands For Sale

San Francisco, Dec. 28.—An advertisement appearing in a local paper offers for sale Fanning and Washington islands in the South Pacific, under instructions of the registrar of the British high commissioners' court for the western Pacific. Fanning island is well known. It used to be a port of call for the oceanic steamers plying between this city and the Australian ports, and the Canadian Pacific steamers now stop there on their way up from the colonies.

Agricultural Department's Invention

Washington, Dec. 28.—The latest novel experiment to be made by the department of agriculture is that of compressing tea into tablets, one of which will make a delicious cup of tea. As a result, what would ordinarily make a big package of tea can by this new and unique method be placed in a space about the size of a safety match box. The tea is grown at the department's experimental tea garden at Summerville, S. C.

Gordon's Resignation Accepted

Washington, Dec. 28.—The trustees of Howard university have accepted the resignation of President Gordon, which was offered after a demonstration made against him by the students in the university, when he was hissed and jeered as he entered the chapel. Most of the students in Howard university are negroes, and some of them charged that Gordon did not show proper respect for their race.

Gigantic Steel Combine

Pittsburg, Dec. 28.—The Chronicle-Telegraph says: A combination of iron and steel interests is being formed and likely will be perfected in a short time that will have a capital stock of about $150,000,000. John W. Gates, C. S. Guthrie and other leading men in the Republic company are said to be the promoters of the proposed big corporation.

Perhaps on His Death Bed

New York, Dec. 28.—Charles T. Yerkes, the Chicago capitalist, who also has extensive interests in London, is critically ill in this city, being kept constantly under the influence of opiates. Unless there should come a sudden change for the better Yerkes may not live throughout the day. Yerkes' wife, son and daughter are at his bedside.

Hazelton, Pa., Dec. 28.—The members of local union No. 3, United Mine Workers of America, have decided to present to Miss Alice Roosevelt as a wedding gift a carload of the best coal that can be found in the anthracite region in appreciation of her father's services in ending the great strike of 1902.

Values Finger at $5000

New York, Dec. 28.—One little finger is causing a vast amount of trouble to Dr. Theodore Lyons. Miss Margaret Hart, a dressmaker, is suing Lyons for $5000 damages, alleging that it was as a result of a lotion of creoline applied by him that the digit had to be amputated.

NOTES OF THE RAILWAYS

Pennsylvania Is Experimenting With New Concrete Bed.

SANTA FE PLANS A WRECK CURE

Appoints Inspector of Tracks and Roadway to Watch For Defects. Leipsic's Giant Railroad Station. Hospital Car on Southern Pacific For Convenience of Passengers.

An experiment is being made with a new roadbed on the Philadelphia division of the Pennsylvania railroad and should it prove efficient after a fair trial may be applied to the entire system, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A force of 500 men has been put to work laying concrete to serve as a foundation for the ballast upon which the ties and rails are to rest. This form of roadbed has been tried by various roads and in each instance has proved unsuccessful.

The chief virtue of the concrete is to prevent washouts and destruction of tracks by storms, to which the cause of many wrecks can be traced. Only five miles of this road will be laid until it has been thoroughly tested. Pennsylvania engineers say that the reason that concrete has been unsuccessful in the past is that the cement has been laid under improper conditions or has been subjected to treatment that detracted from its value.

Concrete roadbeds will be much more expensive, but if is believed that the additional economy in ties, which will not rot so quickly, will partly offset this.

With a view to minimizing the danger of disaster, the management of the Santa Fe has created the position of inspector of tracks and roadway, says the Chicago Record-Herald. T. S. Cafferty, formerly roadmaster of the company, with jurisdiction over the line between Topeka and the Missouri river, has been appointed to the new place. Mr. Cafferty will have jurisdiction over the property comprised in the eastern grand division of the road from Chicago to Newton and to Purcell, I. T.

The position is a much broader one than that of roadmaster and will insure a more rigid supervision over the physical condition of the road. It is the opinion of the management that an inspector will be able to discover defects in construction and material which otherwise would go undiscovered until a fast moving train found it and went into the ditch. The recent wreck of the California Limited train, in which so many were killed and wounded, is said to have been caused by the spreading of the rails, which presumably was brought about by faulty construction or materials. The new inspector will have under his control a large and efficient track walking gang, which will patrol the road day and night.

St. Louis, with its mammoth railroad station, is to be outdone by a German city, says the Philadelphia North American. Consul General Guenther of Frankfort, Germany, reports to the state department that, according to a German newspaper, the new main railroad station at Leipsic, now being constructed, will be the largest in the world—that is, in covered area—920,518 square feet. It will have twenty-six tracks. The cost of construction will be $30,940,000, of which the city of Leipsic contributes $3,808,000. Several millions are to be borne by the German federal postoffice department for a separate postoffice station, which will not be completed before 1904. At the present time the main railroad station at St. Louis, with an area of 39,450 square meters and thirty-two tracks, occupies the first place, followed in respective order by the South station at Boston, the St. Lazare station at Paris, Frankfort-on-the-Main, Dresden; North railroad station, Boston; Cologne and Munich.

An innovation in American railroad circles has been installed by the Southern Pacific system, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. A hospital car service for the transportation of sick and injured will be maintained for the convenience of its passengers. The hospital car, which has been introduced in Europe some time ago, is seventy-six feet long, has an operating room, a dressing room, a number of sleeping sections with upper and lower berths, a private room, with stationery bed, bath and lockers for the use of surgeons. An observation room, kitchen, quarters for nurses and all conveniences for medicines and instruments are also provided.

The first railroad engine ever run into Farmington, N. M., went there recently on a new branch of the Denver and Rio Grande railway from Durango, Colo. The new road, which is sixty miles in length, will open up a fine fruit country to Colorado markets.

Owing to inability of the old wooden freight cars to stand the impact of modern steel cars a rule has been adopted on the western lines that cars of up and below 60,000 pounds capacity shall not be placed ahead of the steel cars in making up trains.

The Chicago and Alton railroad has bought a strip of land about a mile and three-quarters long on the south side of its road about a mile east of Summit, Ill., containing 266.97 acres, for $133,214, being at the rate of $500 an acre. It will eventually be used for yards.

LINGERIE NOTES.

Blind Embroidery a Favorite Trimming—Seed Stitch Is Also Used.

The new nightgowns have effective touches given their sleeves by the introduction of hand embroidery on the sleeve itself and not only on the ruffle or cuff. Blind embroidery in its various forms is liked best for lingerie, although broderie anglaise holds its own splendidly. Seed stitch, that filling in of outlines with mere dots or stitches, is more popular than ever, but, of course, only on finer pieces.

Petticoats become more and more attractive each day in decoration. The handsomest of these lingerie petticoats are a mass of real valenciennes, and narrow widths are used, but quantities of it. The umbrella flounce is very full, and the lace insertions strip it all the way round, with every third or fourth row separated not like the others with narrow strips of material, but with long triangles of it, each embroidered with three polka dots. A large dot is placed in the widest part and two smaller ones above. At the top of the flounce polka dots are introduced in the same way, the largest just above the joining of the flounce.

Stout women should select as a material for their corset covers a rather firm linen that does not easily stretch out of shape, for a large woman necessarily prefers her corset cover a little tight.

Nearly all of the new corset covers are made with a tail piece—circular bits below the waist that take up little room. Some of the covers are cut in one piece from shoulders to hem and have the fullness about the waist put into tiny tucks, which end just below the waist belt and supply the right amount of fullness over the hips.

The camisole in the cut is made entirely of insertion and strips of material laid alternately. It is tight in the back, with slight fullness in front, and is set at the waist into a narrow band edged basquewise with lace.

FAD IN UNDERWEAR.

Steel Works Employee Covered His Body With Porous Plasters.

A new use for porous plasters was recently brought to light when it was discovered that a foreign employee of the Minnequa steel plant had converted a number of them into a suit of underwear, says the Pueblo Chieftain. It was not exactly a union suit, but was more on the crazy quilt order. The discovery was not made easily, and it was only after a strenuous effort that the foreigner was obliged to reveal to what use he had put the porous plasters which had been handed out to him "for medicinal purposes only."

As is known, all the employees of the Minnequa plant pay $1 a month for the privileges at the dispensary. Of the hundreds who call there each day comparatively few come to have injuries dressed. The balance are troubled with coughs and colds, rheumatism and a hundred other small ailments. A good per cent of them make regular calls and ask for liniment, salve or porous plasters without saying anything about their ailments. As a rule the attending physician takes it for granted that the men are in need of the different articles, and they are handed out without asking any questions other than to ascertain the name.

It was discovered, however, that the foreigner in question called almost every day for the plasters, and the physicians began to think that he was a healthy looking patient to be having so many pains. A few days later they were given the tip that there were some of the foreign employees of the plant who were wearing the plasters for underwear.

So a plan was laid to trap the artist who was doing the latest stunt in sanitary clothes wearing. They did not have long to wait, for on that evening the foreigner approached the window at the dispensary and whispered "Plaster." He was then invited into a room and was given to understand that it would please the court much if he would remove his clothing. The foreign gentleman realized that he "was up against it" and refused in no uncertain manner. However, he was given some help in doing the disrobing act. His ready to wear garments consisted of a shirt, a pair of overalls and a pair of shoes.

When these were removed, what the physicians and a few other workmen beheld was what resembled an Egyptian mummy. From the ankles up every portion of the foreigner's body was covered with porous plasters. They were pulled off until the operator grew tired of his task. Then the foreigner was given an unlimited amount of good advice, was told to get on his other articles of clothing and make a hasty exit. It is believed that a number of other employees are also exponents of the new fad.

PLAN TO SAVE TREES.

Details of Canadian Forestry Convention to Be Held In Ottawa.

The announcement that a Canadian forestry convention, called by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and having the support of the Dominion and provincial governments, is to be held in Ottawa on Jan. 10, 11 and 12, is not only of importance to the Canadian people, but to the United States as well, says a special dispatch from Ottawa to the Chicago Record-Herald.

The forest wealth of Canada is one of the best natural assets of the United States, and much American capital is already interested in its development. Anything therefore that will insure a permanency to those who invest their money in the Canadian lumbering industry and other industrial enterprises which owe their stability to the initial influences of the forest and increase their value must be of more than passing interest.

Hitherto the products of the forest on this continent have been regarded by most people in a similar light as the products of the mine. The more that was taken away the less, as it was usually considered, would be left. No serious consideration has in the past been given to reproduction of forest wealth, and as a result the forests have been cut or burned with great prodigality.

The principal divisions in which the subject will be discussed will include the national interest in the forest, the relations of the forest and the lumber, pulp and other industries of the country, forestry in relation to agriculture, the influence of the forest on water power and irrigation and forestry education. In Europe the forestry experts are now looking to Canada as one of the world's great sources for the lumber supply of the future. The United States is referred to as apparently feeling the pinch of decreasing forest supplies and is already drawing largely on Canada to make up the deficit.

It is pointed out that at the forest congress held in Washington in January last it was made clear that the United States considers the situation a grave one in so far as that country is concerned. President Roosevelt epitomized the matter when he stated that if the present rate of forest destruction was allowed to continue, with nothing to offset it, a timber famine was inevitable.

A PROPHETIC NOVEL.

Outlet of Lake Mentioned In "Allan Quatermain" Found In Africa.

A discovery of romantic literary interest has been made by A. T. Angell in British East Africa, says the London Mail.

While engaged in the survey of Lake Naivasha and its caves he found the hitherto unknown outlet of this fresh water lake into a large subterranean river. Lake Naivasha lies about 100 miles east of Lake Victoria Nyanza and is at an altitude of 6,000 feet.

Readers of Rider Haggard's story "Allan Quatermain" will at once recognize the locality. Naivasha is the lake with the marvelous caves which is described in the chapters which narrate the hero's plunge into the unknown in search for the mysterious white race. The grewsome incident by which the caves were discovered will be remembered—how the native servant Wakwafi dived into the lake and was "sucked with frightful rapidity" through the arch that gave entrance to the mysterious river and how his corpse followed the canoe throughout its subterranean passage.

"Allan Quatermain" was published sixteen years ago, and Mr. Haggard then offered in romance the solution of the lake outlet, which is now substantiated by fact.

Winter Watermelons.

Martin Schields, a gardener and rancher in Antelope valley, claims to have perfected a winter variety of watermelons, says a Gardenville (Cal.) correspondent of the Sacramento Bee. He has been raising melons for a number of years and by a series of experiments says he has produced a variety that will keep during the winter without rotting.

Japanese Advertising.

Pictorial advertising is progressing merrily in Japan, says Harper's Weekly. In one of Tokyo's leading newspapers appears a picture of a dairy yard with a dozen or more cows looking apprehensively at one another. Below the picture is this line in large type, "The squeeze-out place of the milk dealer."

A New Year's Resolve.

[By an unrepentant philosopher.]

Oh, the first of the year's too cold, I fear,
For the cause of a true reform.
'Twere better to wait for a later date
When things are a bit more warm.

The trouble that lies in the way of the wise
Who'd leave bad habits behind,
Their virtuous sniff is frozen stiff
By the chill of the winter's wind.

The good intent of the righteous bent
Is nipped in the frosty air,
And the new turned leaf soon comes to grief
And withers beyond repair.

Old Janus bold, with his blasts so cold,
Bites deep on the virtuous nose;
Reform is lost in the awful frost
That comes with the month of snows.

'Twere better by much to await the touch
Of a genial May day sun
For putting on ice your favorite vice,
With which you at last are done.

For the tenderest flow'r in nature's bow'r
That time can ever evolve
Is a sturdy oak—and that's no joke—
Compared to a good resolve.

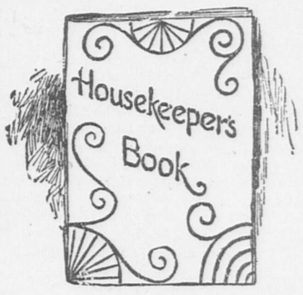

And that is why, with the new year by,
To my vicious ways I cling
And contra bonos mores go
Till the warmer days of spring.
—John Kendrick Bangs in Harper's Weekly.

HOUSEKEEPERS' BOOKS.

Much Prized at Yuletide—How They Are Constructed.

Housekeepers' books are trifles which are ever in demand, but which often have little beyond their usefulness to win for them respect. The clever notion of making a handsome cover that can be slipped over each new set of blank leaves in turn at once removes them from the commonplace and makes of them Christmas gifts that any woman of taste might offer. The one given in the illustration is made of sage colored agra linen and is perhaps as good as any that can be devised. To copy it purchase the necessary blank book and both linen and linen canvas as required.

Cut two pieces of canvas each the exact size of one cover of the book. Then lay these down upon the linen in such a way as to leave sufficient space between for the hinge or the back of the book—two inches above, two inches below and two or three inches beyond at each side, according to the size of the book. Make some smooth flour paste, and turn over and paste into the canvas the linen that projects both above and below. When that is quite dry cut a strip of lining silk half an inch larger all round than the linen, turn in the edges of each and baste the two neatly together. Slip stitch the edges firmly, then turn over into the silk the extra width beyond the stiffening and overhand the four ends together. Slip the covers of the book into the pockets so formed, and you will find that you have a perfect fit and that only decoration remains to complete the work. On the cover given the lettering and conventional figures were both couched with gold before making up, but any combination of color can be made or any other design either painted or embroidered with equally good results. Two ribbon loops, one at each edge of the cover, through which a pencil can be slipped, add a finishing touch and serve to keep the book closed as well as to keep the convenient pencil always at hand.

AN ORIGINAL OFFERING.

Christmas Gift For a Plant Lover and Housekeeper.

For a plant lover a plant stand is a very acceptable Christmas gift. In the accompanying sketch is an idea for a stand of a steady and substantial nature to hold four pots, or, prettier still, one large pot pushed well back in each compartment, with two smaller ones in front containing some plant of a trailing nature. In the latter case the "art" pot shown in the illustration could be dispensed with.

PLANT STAND.

The actual making of this stand would be best intrusted to a carpenter, but the panels flanking each compartment offer scope for the energies of the home worker. Beaten copper, carving and poker work would be equally effective, and the rest of the stand should be stained mahogany. Before the compartments are fixed on it would be a good plan to get the platform part covered with a sheet of zinc. The result would be a durable and thoroughly useful little bit of furniture.

If the original frame, sent the day before Christmas, be filled with growing plants, the artistic value is enhanced.

Needlecase Ideas.

Needlecases are such stupid, old maidish affairs, as a rule, and yet such necessary things, that an idea invented the other day is well worth recording for the benefit of the Christmas present maker.

A piece of flowered ribbon was used, lined with fine white flannel, just like the pin cases with which every traveler is provided. The management of the needles is the unusual part. Every needle, and there were dozens of them, was threaded, stuck in and its thread neatly wound around it.

Most of the needles were threaded with white cotton and black silk, but almost every color was represented as well, and, the original one being for a girl who wore tan and red most of all, a goodly supply of those two colors was included.

Of course there was every sort of needle, from the tiniest of glove needles to shoe and darning needles, each threaded with its proper kind.

Bids Opened

Many Contractors Would Like to Make High School Enlargement

There were a large number of builders at City Hall on Thursday afternoon when bids were opened by Commissioner Burke for making the alterations and additions to the High school building, for which $113,000 were appropriated.

The bids were opened at 4 o'clock, and there were so many present that instead of using the Commissioner's office, all interested were invited to the City Council chamber. Twelve bids in all were received for the complete work, ranging from $109,500 to $136,485. The contract was not awarded on Thursday, the bids being taken under advisement by the Commissioner.

The bids received were as follows:

John E. Locatelli & Co.	$109,500

Coburn & Boughton	110,916
A. Fales Son & Co.,	112,500

Not a Fair Deal Says A. L. Baker

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

At a recent meeting of the City Council an order was introduced relative to water assessments. If our Councilmen will study the rules and regulations of the Metropolitan Water Board they will learn that in cities in the Metropolitan district the regulations of water assessments are entirely in the hands of the Mayor and Water Commissioners.

If they will take the trouble to look up the water rates of neighboring cities they will learn also that water rates in our city are double the average rates of all the cities under the Metropolitan system.

With the above fact staring us in the face, it is little wonder that Boston buyers of real estate steer clear of Quincy.

Every year when the budget is presented to the Council, it contains an item of about $30,000.00 for water debt to be paid from water receipts. The above amount being about one-third of all water assessments, one-third of every water tax paid by the consumer goes to pay the water debt. I submit that this is not a fair deal.

Thousands of lots of land and scores of business plants are benefitted, and their value largely enhanced by the existence of a water plant, and they go Scott free, while land can be sold for double, because it is accessible to a water pipe.

The debt should be paid by taxation, and consumers pay for water by actual measurement what it costs the city delivered through the pipes, interest and maintainance included. This method is being introduced by nearly every city in the metropolitan district, and is the one fair business method. Some one has said this would raise our tax rate. What of it? It is about time our city stopped making our tax rate, and juggling figures; twisting appropriations, and raising assessed values to meet it. Let's get down to business, and if our tax rate belongs at $20 put it there. All debts incurred by the city, where the general public are benefitted should be paid by taxation.

A. L. Baker.

Letter Carriers Over Loaded

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

The emancipation proclamation of President Lincoln freed the slaves, but today the white men are becoming the slaves. It is a shame to pack such a load of mail matter onto a letter carrier's back and shoulders on a Sunday or any other day, as seen recently. Christmas days and election days the letter carriers are loaded down like a government mule with all kinds of bundles.

The Government should hire an express team to deliver the numerous bundles at Christmas. A few years ago if a mail carrier had three small bundles of letters to deliver on his route it was sufficient, but it is the same with the government as everything else, they keep packing it on to faithful public servants like the mail men.

Government ownership, Municipal ownership, or any other ship, the voter will some day cast his ballot to lighten the poor man's burden.

Serious Accident Fortunate Escape

Mrs. John O. Hall, wife of ex-Mayor Hall, met with a bad accident at her home Thursday evening. While descending the cellar stairs with a lighted lamp in her hand, she tripped and was thrown the whole length of the flight. She struck with great force on a bench at the foot of the stairs, receiving the blow on the lower part of the face.

Fortunately members of the family, who heard her fall, were able to give immediate assistance. Oil from the lamp was burning brightly under the stairway, but the blaze was extinguished before any damage was done.

Dr. Sargent, who responded to the call for a physician, found on examination that her injuries were confined to the lower part of the face and that while extremely painful, they are not likely to be serious in their effect.

Today Mrs. Hall is suffering considerably from the shock and painful bruises, but on the whole her condition is encouraging.

Nichols Is Out

Not Candidate For Presidency Of City Council For Year 1906

Editors of the Quincy Daily Ledger:

In a recent edition of your valuable paper there appeared an article referring to the Presidency of the incoming City Council, in which it was stated there would be a contest for this position.

Locality in which the gentleman who is to occupy the chair resides was to be a prominent feature, and that in the minds of some people there appeared to be a disposition on the part of Ward Five to monopolize the honors in this direction.

Contrary to the expectation of many, inside and outside of the City Council,

PRESIDENT NICHOLS.

the contest has materalized and it is current report that the Tax Collector, and some of the other beneficiaries of the city treasury, have decreed to transfer the so called monopoly to Ward Three with the purpose of consolidating the heads of the executive and legislature branches of our government.

Being unalterably opposed to trusts and monopolies, and to relieve the situation and remove the imputation that Wollaston is the seat of any such conspiracy, I shall cheerfully, in accord with my personal preference, return to the ranks in the Council of 1906.

I, therefore, desire to announce that I am not a candidate for re-election to the chair.

It is generally conceded that the representatives of Ward Five have in the past contributed earnestly, consistently and intelligently to all that makes for the best interests of our city and that she will in the future, still exercise a potent influence for good in city affairs.

Yours very truly,

Walter F. Nichols.

Wollaston, Dec. 26, 1905.

Dance of the Terpsichorean Club

One of the prettiest dancing parties held in Quincy this season was that of the Terpsichorean club, Thursday evening at Music hall. The young people were out in force fully one hundred couples being present. The hall in itself looked unusually attractive. The stage was set to represent a camp scene. In the distance was a hunter's tent while around it were trees, potted plants, flowers and shrubbery. Almost hidden among this decoration was Condit's orchestra which furnished music.

The party was matronized by Mrs. Joseph E. Riley, Mrs. Hugh C. McGrath and Mrs. Daniel J. Deasy. They received in one corner of the hall with a background of Christmas trees throughout which there burned colored electric lights making a very pretty effect.

Mrs. Riley was gowned in a white mousseline satin with Irish lace trimmings. Mrs. McGrath in a white mousseline satin with duchess lace trimmings and Mrs. Deasy, a white lace over pink silk.

The ushers were Richard H. McGrath, Edward D. Larkin, Walter E. Elcock, Henry F. McGrath and Joseph H. Elcock.

During the evening frappe was served by Miss Bessie Elcock, Miss Alice Dinegan and Miss Gertrude Larkin.

Many handsome gowns were worn by the ladies and the scene was indeed a pretty one.

Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, the floor being in charge of Joseph H. Elcock.

Guests were present not only from Quincy, but Waltham, Woburn, Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, Dorchester, South Boston, Brighton, Cambridge and Braintree.

Busy Week at The Y. M. C. A.

There being no school this week the Y. M. C. A. has been crowded daily with boys. A weekly schedule was arranged whereby something of interest is moving each day. The hall on the second floor has been given up as a game room, and several new games installed.

Thursday, the boys went on an outing with a group of Boston and South Boston boys led by Mr. W. B. Oliver, they visited the quarries, and the Presidents' houses, coming back to the Association building for lunch. In the afternoon they visited the Shipyard. There were 42 boys in the party.

The bowling alleys have been put in perfect condition again with a polished surface this time. Bowling will begin today for the first time this week.

The gymnasium work has been light owing to Physical Director Bugbee's illness, but will receive a new impetus from today as a man has been secured to take the work until Mr. Bugbee has recovered sufficently to resume charge.

The Association is particularly fortunate at this time in securing in this emergency Mr. A. A. Mason, a senior at the Springfield Training school, a man of rare promise. He was the captain of the Training School football team this year, and had much to do with its creditable showing against Yale, Harvard and Brown. Schedule work will go forward from today without further interruption.

The New Year's "Informal" reception will be held on Monday evening. A good program has been arranged. The Association orchestra will furnish music, and refreshments will be served. All young men whether members or not are invited to attend.

A New Candidate

Councilman Bass in Field For President of New Council

Councilman Lewis Bass, Jr., who declined to become a candidate for the presidency of the City Council in opposition to President Nichols, has in view of the latter's withdrawal decided to make a contest for position.

Councilman Bass has been chairman of the Finance Committee of the City Council for two years, and a member of the committee also in 1902 and 1903. He will enter upon his sixth year of service, a longer term, with the exception of President Nichols, than any of the members of the new Council. The fact that he is a lawyer by profession, and has at times acted as temporary president, makes him one of the most available candidates. He is one of the young men of the Council, being in his 35th year.

It has often been said that Ward One, which pays one-third of all the taxes, has not been as conspicuous in the City government as it should be. In the seventeen years it has had but one President of the City Council, the late E. W. H. Bass, and that was over ten years ago. When it comes to the locality side of the question, Ward One certainly has as good a claim as any ward.

The friends of Councilman Bass say the fundamental principle of the Quincy City Charter is the complete separation of the Executive department represented by the Mayor, and the Legislative department represented by the City Council. For this reason Ward Three should not have both the Mayor and the President of the Council. That would simply transfer what they call monopoly of Ward Five to monopoly of Ward Three.

City Council Held 39 Meetings

The City Council of 1905 was a busy one. During the year 39 regular adjourned and special meetings were held and the Council was in session 58 hours and 58 minutes.

The longest session of the year was 3 hours and 40 minutes, which was March 20, and the shortest session 11 minutes, on Jan. 27. The average length of meetings was one hour and thirty minutes.

The average number present at roll call was 16.

During these 39 meetings 39 communications have been received, also 157 petitions and 381 orders were introduced or reported on by various committees.

Fire in Large Tenement House

The alarm from Box 72 at 5.06 this morning was for a brisk fire in the six-tenement house on Cherry street, Quincy Point, owned by Mrs. Benjamin Johnson.

The fire started on the upper floor and was evidently caused by a defective chimney. It had made good headway when discovered. The kitchen was badly gutted and the fire worked up through the partition to the roof before it was extinguished. The loss is estimated by Chief Williams at $600. The fire started in the tenement occupied by Mr. Oldham.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Many a young man and his best girl will watch out the old year and watch in the new. It will be an excuse for stopping until after midnight on Sunday.

Talk about the country towns being at the mercy of Yeggman, the Herald will find trouble near home. The incident below did not take place after midnight but about 7 P. M. It was on Hancock avenue near the State House, too, and the victim lay on the sidewalk ten minutes. Here is the Herald's report in part:

"Trailed by two men bent on robbery, stunned by a blow from a club, and, when unconscious, scarred for life by a cut which extends from his left cheek-bone to the back of his head—that was the experience at about 7 o'clock last night of George B. Hendricks, who is employed in the counting room of the Boston Traveler."

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The prisoners in penal and correctionary institutions about the state had a Christmas dinner that was good and wholesome, and then had a chance to loaf. At which some of the people outside the jails scoff and say that the wicked get along better in Massachusetts than do some of the poor and honest who are in evil luck. It sometimes seems so at first blush; yet how hungry do you think you'd have to be to abandon your liberty and your right to go and come, and accept instead a bed and three meals a day and remain secluded from the people, behind lock and key most of the time, and in charge of keepers who would compel you to obey their slightest wish as law? Would a meal and a bed make up for all that, do you think? Anybody who envies a prisoner must indeed be in lamentably evil condition.—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ The city of Boston, failing to get a bid from brokers upon its latest issue of bonds, is to offer them over the counter at par to whoever cares to purchase them, and the fact is attracting considerable attention. It is an accepted, although unwritten, law of finance that bond issues must be underwritten and floated upon the investment world by means of syndicates of one sort or another, but no one has given any good reason why it should be necessary when the bonds are offered at an admitted value and are such as would appeal to the conservative investor, such as are city or government bonds. A popular bond issue and sale was once tried by the federal government, not so many years ago, and proved a success.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The Hingham Fire Department is the funniest ever. The Chief Engineer does not turn out to a fire unless he feels like it, and last summer a house burned down and he made no effort to hinder it. When he goes to bed he cuts out the telephone so that he shall not be disturbed. On Tuesday a junk dealer was burning the covering from a pile of electric light wire, when the fire got away from him started a grass fire which threatened some houses. The fire department turned out, but the blaze was extinguished without its aid. However, that did not matter, and the authorities assessed the junkie $50 for calling out the firemen. The report of the affair fails to state whether or not the Chief Engineer turned out. The size of the fine is presumptive evidence that he did.—Lynn Item.

MOVE FOR REFORM

Football Dangers Likely to Be Eliminated

CONFERENCE ORGANIZES

Executive Committee Is Chosen From Educational Institutions --Some Knocks and Bruises Necessary to the Sport

New York, Dec. 29.—A concerted movement toward reforming the game of football in the colleges and universities of America was begun here when the representatives of 68 institutions of learning agreed to act together in securing the adoption of rules and an enforcement of them, which will materially lessen the danger to players, will do away with mass formations and secure permanent officials for intercollegiate contests.

The conference perfected a permanent organization and appointed a rules committee of seven which will communicate with the representatives of Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Annapolis and Chicago universities, constituting the existing committee on rules, asking for an amalgamation with that body. None of the above mentioned universities was represented at the conference. If they refuse to join with the committee appointed here the latter will act independently and formulate rules for the guidance of the institutions ratifying yesterday's action.

The following permanent officers of the conference were elected: President, Palmer E. Pierce, West Point; vice president, Dean Wild, Williams college; secretary, Louis Bevier, Jr., Rutgers college.

An executive committee was elected and consists of the president, representing the New York section, the vice president, representing New England, the secretary, representing the middle states, and the following other members: Chancellor Strong, University of Kansas, representing the far west; President Welch, Ohio-Wesleyan, representing Ohio; W. L. Dudley, Vanderbilt university, representing the south. The member to represent the middle west was not chosen, but will be elected later.

The conference, which was the result of a call issued by Chancellor MacCracken of New York university, finally adjourned last night, subject to the call of the president.

The debate during the conference was spirited at times. The appointment of a rules committee to act with the existing football committee was the result of the stand taken by West Point in favor of such action as the most rational course for the conference to pursue. West Point suggested that the committee be limited to five members, but finally consented to its enlargement to seven.

The instructions to the new rules committee were those recommended by West Point. Captain Pierce, representing the military academy, declared that the academy authorities did not want all the roughness taken out of the game. Some knocks and bruises were necessary to the sport. He believed the present rules, slightly modified and thoroughly enforced, would bring about the desired change in the game. Among the many resolutions introduced the following were adopted:

"Resolved, that this conference recommends that the academic authorities of this country hold themselves as ultimately responsible for the conduct of athletics within their respective institutions.

"Resolved, that it is recommended that the executive committee of the permanent organization take cognizance among other things of the vital questions of eligibility of students who take part in athletic games and sports, and report at as early a time as practicable to themselves on rules and recommendations for the general conduct of all such matters.

"Resolved, that the actions taken at this conference on football shall be submitted to all colleges actually engaged in the game, with the request that the same be ratified and shall be binding on any institution only upon ratification by that institution."

Christmas Tragedy Proves Fatal

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 29.—Bessie Aug, shot in the head by John Adams, a boy, during a Christmas entertainment, died last evening. The lad is held in custody awaiting the action of the coroner. Adams sat behind the little girl during the entertainment. He had a small pistol. As the minister said "One, two, three," to start the class singing, Adams finished the sentence by saying "fire." He shot the pistol and the bullet lodged in the girl's head.

Tension In Money Market

New York, Dec. 29.—After having reached 110 percent on the stock exchange and 125 percent on privately arranged loans, the rate for call money late yesterday afternoon fell to 6 percent. Just before the close it advanced again and closed 15 bid, offered at 20. The stock market, except for an early decline in industrial shares, was fairly steady throughout the money tension.

Crew of Twenty-Five Drowned

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 29.—About 25 men, it is believed, were drowned when the British bark Pass of Melfort foundered on the rocks off Amphitrite point. The salvage steamer Salvor has started for the wreck. Wreckage is still coming ashore.

BODY EXHUMED

Authorities Are Looking Into Death of John Hammond

Barre, Mass., Dec. 29.—Developments in the Hammond death mystery, in which relatives of John Hammond, a farm hand, who died on Mrs. Bemis' Lake View farm a month ago, question his fatal illness, have resulted in the exhumation of the body and the delivery of portions of the same to Dr. Whitney of Cambridge for examination.

Under the direction of Deputy Sheriff Rice of Barre, Hammond's body was removed from its grave and taken to Spooner's undertaking rooms. There Medical Examiner Chamberlain performed an autopsy and later Deputy Rice started with the brains, stomach and intestines of the body for Cambridge. Chamberlain reserved his decision after his examination of the remains.

Dr. E. P. Bixby, who attended Hammond, still declares that his patient died of delirium tremens and that during his treatment of Hammond there was absolutely no sign of any other ailment.

He also states that the county can only pay his private secretary a salary of $900. As the private secretary is receiving a salary of $1500, Moran states that he will make up the difference out of his own salary, which amounts to $5000 a year.

The man saw the accident and with no deliberation plunged through the hole and came up with the boy. Then he disappeared.

DECLARED FALSE

Payn Says That Insurance Companies Did Not Pay Him

A STORY ABOUT $40,000

Said to Have Grown Out of Fight Between Officers of Mutual Reserve--Lawyers' Mortgage Company Receives Probing

New York, Dec. 29.—Louis F. Payn and J. R. Cady, who was employed at times as counsel by Payn while the latter was state superintendent of insurance, were the principal witnesses Thursday before the insurance investigating committee.

Mr. Payn, in reply to one of the first questions asked him, emphatically denied the report that he had received $40,000 from the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, and had allowed that company to write its own report of an investigation which Payn had caused to be made in 1899. He characterized the report as absolutely false in every particular and said it grew out of a fight between James D. Wells, former vice president of the Mutual Reserve, and President Burnham of the same company.

Judge Cady was brought into the investigation by reason of his having appeared before Payn in the interests of Prussian insurance companies applying for admission to the state. This application was denied by Payn at the time, but some two years later the Prussian companies were admitted. President McCurdy of the Mutual Life asked that the permission be held up until he could see Payn. This request was refused, but Payn had Cady call upon McCurdy.

Mr. Hughes asked if McCurdy said the Mutual Life would pay any money for a contrary decision. Cady said he did not, but that McCurdy offered a retainer in behalf of the Mutual Life, which he refused.

The New York office of the insurance department was inquired into when Robert Hunter, deputy superintendent of insurance, was called. Hunter could add nothing as to the conduct of the insurance department to what already had been supplied. It was brought out that through his influence he had had a medical examiner of the Equitable Life Assurance society in Poughkeepsie discharged.

Accumulative evidence on the allotment of the 1000 shares of stock of the Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance company, which, while held for the Mutual Life, were accredited to members of the finance board, was taken up in the examinations of Adrian Iselin and G. G. Haven of the finance committee, and of Frederick H. Cromwell, the present acting president of the Mutual Life.

Henry Morganthau of the Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance company told how McCurdy had become indignant because he had not been allotted shares in the Lawyers' Title Insurance and Trust company, and to appease him a block of Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance company stock was offered him, but he would not take it, and further gave Morganthau to understand that no applications for loans from either company would receive consideration from the Mutual Life.

When Cromwell was on the stand he was asked what consideration he had given to economies in the Mutual Life. He said he could not give exact figures for the record, but that there would be a saving of perhaps $1,500,000 next year. He added that the most unpleasant duty he had had to perform was that of headsman in discharging employes during the last few weeks.

Looking Into Hamilton Matter

New York, Dec. 29.—Chairman Fowler of the special committee of the board of trustees of the New York Life Insurance company gave out the appended statement for the committee last night: "The committee is engaged in a thorough examination of the Hamilton matter and will, at its conclusion, make a special report on the subject to the board of trustees. Until that time it will have no announcement to make."

Two More Resignations

New York, Dec. 29.—Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, and his son-in-law, L. A. Thebaud, who also was connected with the Mutual Life, have resigned from the directorate of the United States Mortgage and Trust company. Their resignations have been accepted.

Work For Special Grand Jury

Acting District Attorney Nott says that a special grand jury will probably be empanelled in February to consider the testimony.

Typothetæ Rejected Arbitration

Philadelphia, Dec. 29.—Efforts to have the printers' eight-hour day demand in this city arbitrated have failed. The Church association for the advancement of interests of labor last night issued a statement saying that its arbitration proposal "was accepted by the Typographical union, but no response whatever has been received from the Typothetae masters and we can do no more. It now looks like a fight all along the line."

HAZING OF KIMBROUGH

Ten-Minute Strain Sent Him to the Academy Hospital

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 29.—Court martial proceedings against Midshipman Coffin, a member of the third class, on the charge of hazing Midshipman Kimbrough of the fourth class, have begun at the naval academy.

Midshipman Hewlett testified that he had looked in the door of room 53 in Bancroft hall and that he had seen Kimbrough standing on his head and Coffin and Kimbrough's roommate in the room with him. The witness was asked to illustrate what "standing on the head" meant. He put his head on the floor and raised his feet a few inches from the ground in a series of jumps. The exercise apparently put much strain on the legs and arms and was hard on the head. Kimbrough also exhibited this performance to the court a little later.

Midshipman Kimbrough testified and it developed that he was unable to identify Coffin as the man who had hazed him. The rule, it appears, is that no lower classman must look at an upper classman under such circumstances and this was so rigidly observed in the present case that Kimbrough could not say that Coffin had hazed him. He told, however, how he had been hazed by being compelled to stand on his head until he gave out entirely. Then the midshipman who was doing the hazing threw water over him and compelled him to go on again. He brought the relation up to the point where he lost consciousness. He had regained consciousness, he said, in the naval academy hospital. His arms, legs and head were very sore.

The court admitted the testimony of Lieutenant Commander McVey as to Coffin's confession. Coffin, the witness said, admitted that he had stood Kimbrough on his head for about 10 minutes.

Highwaymen Easily Got $3000

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 29.—On a main highway and in broad daylight, Paymaster William Schieck of the Delaware River Quarry and Construction company was robbed of $3000 in cash which he was carrying in a satchel to pay off 200 Italian laborers of the company. With him was one man, but both were unarmed. Five men wearing handkerchiefs over their faces jumped out from behind trees, each man carrying a revolver. Schieck gave up the satchel without resistance. The robbers then backed into the woods, keeping Schieck's carriage covered with their revolvers until they disappeared from view.

Victory For the Government

Milwaukee, Dec. 29.—The United States government won the first victory in the private car rebate prosecution against the Pabst Brewing company, the Milwaukee Refrigerator Transit company and six railroad companies. Judge Sanborn handed down a decision overruling demurrers and also denied the motion of the Pabst company to strike out "slanderous allegations" in the complaint. There is no appeal from this decision and the case must now go to a trial on its merits.

Authorities Are Crushing the Moscow Revolt

MASSACRE NOW FEARED

"Reds" May Become Targets For the "Black Hundred"--Chief of Police Assassinated--Awful Executions at Riga

St. Petersburg, Dec. 29.—According to advices received by the government the rebellion at Moscow is entering on its final stage. The same guerilla warfare was continued yesterday, but on a smaller scale.

The principal danger now seems to be that the "black hundred" will complete the work begun by the troops and end the revolt with a horrible massacre of the "reds." The lower classes are represented as enraged at the attempt of the revolutionaries to overthrow the czar and it may be impossible for the authorities to restrain the fury of these classes once the opportunity is offered them. The attacks made on striking railroad men at wayside stations sufficiently shows the temper of the peasant class.

Four thousand strikers marched out of Moscow and completely destroyed several miles of the railroad track between St Petersburg and Moscow, 30 miles outside Moscow, in order to prevent the arrival of troop trains bearing the Seminovsky battalion of the horse guard, and the trains backed 20 miles to Clyne, where it is understood the troops will proceed on foot for their destination.

Victims All Marked Alike

London, Dec. 29.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph relates as follows the terrible operations of the "Vehmgerichte" in Riga: Persons disappeared mysteriously and a few days afterwards their bodies were found with identical marks—four bullet wounds on the breast, four on the back and the skull cloven in twain. Of the many brought before the "Vehmgerichte" one escaped death, but in doing so he was seriously wounded. He probably escaped death owing to some interruption of his executioners. This person says that he was seized and bound and hurried to the room in which the tribunal was sitting. The proceedings were brief. He was condemned to death, carried to the outskirts of the town, laid flat on the ground and shot.

A Cold-Blooded Performance

Moscow, Dec. 29.—All the members of the Socialist revolutionary committee have been arrested and a quantity of bombs, infernal machines and correspondence seized.

Three hundred revolutionaries invaded the residence of the chief of police at midnight and told him to bid an eternal farewell to his family because he was condemned to die The chief expostulated, but to no purpose. Realizing his awful position, he said farewell to his family and was hurried into the street and shot. His body was left lying in a pool of blood.

Officials Planning Revolt

Reval, Dec. 29.—The police and troops surrounded and arrested 70 persons while they were discussing the tactics to be used in an armed revolt. Among those captured were two city councillors and the acting mayor. The insurgents continue to drive into the city the troops operating in the country.

Passenger Trains Wrecked

Kieff, Russia, Dec. 29.—The rails of the Southwestern railroad were torn up at Sarni yesterday and two passenger trains were wrecked. Many persons were injured. There are heavy patrols in the streets of the city.

Field Guns In Public Squares

Kovno, Dec. 29.—The city is under martial law and the field guns in the squares and machine guns posted at strategic points have overawed the revolutionaries.

Odessa Under Martial Law

Odessa, Dec. 29.—Martial law has been proclaimed in this city. The strike, however, is nearly over. Hundreds of arrests have been made.

Rabies Prevalent In Mexico

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 29.—Great loss of domestic animals is being sustained in northern Mexico from coyotes and wolves with the rabies. Practically all the coyotes beyond the Rio Grande river are mad and the cattlemen are scouring the country and exterminating them. Several Mexican children have been bitten, with fatal results. The spread of rabies to Texas is feared.

Engineer Held For Disaster

New York, Dec. 29.—A coroner's jury which inquired into the collision of a Poughkeepsie train with a Stamford train on the Harlem viaduct rendered a verdict holding Engineer John Horn of the Poughkeepsie train for criminal negligence for alleged failure to obey the signals set for the safety of the trains. Horn was held in $2000 bail for the grand jury.

Shot Wealthy Father-In-Law

New York, Dec. 29.—Dr. J. W. Simpson, a prominent dentist, shot and killed his wealthy father-in-law, Bartley T. Horner, at the latter's home at Northport, L. I., while, as he claims, he was cleaning his shotgun. Simpson was last night placed in custody, pending the result of an inquest.

SAVE THE CONSTITUTION

Congress Is to Receive a Grand Petition to That Effect

Boston, Dec. 29.—The beautifully illumined petition to congress for the preservation of the old frigate Constitution, which Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte has suggested be used as a target for naval practice, is on exhibition in Boston city hall today and will be exhibited at the city hall in Chelsea tomorrow. Until Wednesday of next week the general public will be given an opportunity to sign portions of the petition, which will later be attached to the illuminated piece.

The illuminated section of the document is to bear the names of governors, former governors, legislators, and mayors of the seacoast cities in this vicinity, in order that the petition may go to Washington with as much prestige as possible. Already many signatures have been obtained.

Four Boys Drowned

Methuen, Mass., Dec. 29.—Matthew McAvoy and Stillman DeWolf, two Lawrence boys, had been skating on the meadows and ventured out on Spicket river, where the ice is seldom safe, except in the coldest weather, owing to the swift current. The ice broke and the boys were swept under and drowned.

Leniency Toward Young Forger

Boston, Dec. 29.—The appeals of his mother and sister, whose sobs touched the hearts of many in the courtroom, saved from state prison Harry L. Vining, a Brookline youth, who admitted numerous forgeries. Judge DeCourcey said his first intention was to send Vining to state prison, but that he would sentence him to Concord reformatory on account of one indictment. "But I am going to leave a memorandum stating the conditions," said the judge, "and if you are ever rearrested after leaving Concord you will be subject to a long sentence in state prison on the three remaining counts."

Will Aid In War Against Disease

Boston, Dec. 29.—A graphic exhibit of the weapons and methods which are being used against tuberculosis was shown, illustrated and described at the exhibition opened last night in this city. The building was entirely filled with beds, shacks, tents and models of portable hospitals, as well as charts and pictures, through which a large crowd was piloted by guides who described the various features. The exhibition was collected at the expense of the commonwealth of Massachusetts and will last for 10 days, during which many lectures will be given.

Wanted In Many Cities

Boston, Dec. 29.—Chief Inspector Watts announces that while there is little hope of inflicting punishment locally for some time to come upon Lawrence Volmer and Edward Fairbanks, who confessed in Elizabeth, N. J., recently to thefts in various cities, including Boston, amounting to $80,000, there is good prospect of recovering some of the valuables which were stolen from two Boston residences. Chief Watts states that if they served full terms in places where they operated it would be 40 years before Boston would be able to join in the punishment.

Incendiarism Is Suspected

Bristol, Conn., Dec. 29.—A fire of suspicious origin gutted the four-story Curtis block this morning and caused a loss estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000. Soon after the fire was discovered there was found in the cellar of the store of Morris B. Ernstein, a tailor, a burning pile of rags, matting and papers saturated with kerosene oil. Bernstein's place was attached for a rent bill of $150 yesterday by the owner of the building, O. A. Curtis.

Christmas Sorrow.

Editors of the Ledger:

Among those to whom this Christmastide bought only sorrow and grief is the family of Andrew S. Costa of 99 Phipps street. He died Sunday the 24th, and has left a widow and five fine children. A hard working man, and faithful husband and father, he kept his family comfortable and happy until this last serious illness. They are now entirely dependent upon the earnings of the mother and the generosity of friends. The oldest child, a girl of fifteen, is anxious to finish her business course at the Woodward school, and can do so if the mother can obtain work. She is ready to do washing, ironing and plain sewing. May I through your columns call attention to this worthy woman and her interesting children. F. C. Babcock.

Michael Kelley of Weymouth was severely injured at the Fore River yard Thursday while at work on the battleship New Jersey. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

A VERSATILE MAN.

F. Hopkinson Smith and His Many Achievements.

Although it is a common saying that a man who tries his hand at several trades is successful in none, there are exceptions to the rule. One of them is F. Hopkinson Smith, whose latest story, "The Tides of Barnegat," is now running serially in a leading magazine. He has achieved distinction in three such distinct fields as authorship, art and engineering. He built the sea wall around Governors island, in New York harbor, and the foundation for the statue of Liberty. He has a strong predilection for art, and his landscapes would have won him fame whether distinction had come to him in other fields or not. But he is probably best known as a story writer, though at forty-five he had never had anything in print.

F. HOPKINSON SMITH.

Mr. Smith was born in Baltimore in 1838. Asked one time of what achievement he was most proud, he replied, "The building of the Race rock lighthouse at New London, Conn." Mr. Smith was once traveling in a Pullman car and fell to talking with three drummers, who confessed that owing to the dull condition of trade they had not sold a bill of goods in a week.

"Well, I haven't made a sale for two months," said their chance acquaintance, with a smile.

"And your people keep you on?" asked one of his companions.

The fourth man nodded.

"What in thunder are you selling?"

"Lighthouses," said Mr. Smith.

A Very Good Name Too.

Kind Old Gentleman—What is your name, little girl?
Little Girl—Bohoo! Me name is Joy!

CHARMS OF CORN HUSKING.

Plan of Missouri Farmers to Procure Huskers.

The farmers of Brown county, in Missouri, have adopted a novel plan to get corn huskers, says the Kansas City Journal. They have joined together to advertise what a health invigorator corn husking is. Here is the circular they are scattering broadcast:

"Corn husking beats golf, automobiling, watching football games and sanitariums all hollow. You go down to the cornfield and get a job from a farmer, who thanks you for coming. You eat a hearty meal and go to bed early. You rise with the sun. You do a few chores around the farm yard till breakfast time. You eat as you never ate before. You go out to the field, take your three rows, husk the ears, throw them in the wagon that follows you and the other huskers. You hop lightly over the frosty ground from hill to hill. You breathe the pure, crisp air. You whistle and sing and enjoy life for the first time, and you begin at about 8 o'clock to long for the dinner bell that does not ring till noon.

"You can talk politics while you husk or you can discuss the life insurance investigation or you may catch up with the work alongside the girl who is husking in the other three rows and help her now and then, and you can listen to her and plan for the dance on Saturday night or you can do almost anything you please in an attempt to drown your appetite, and when the bell rings or the dinner horn blows you will have earned the meal that is awaiting you and the half hour's rest that follows, and you will feel as if you do not care if you ever see the smoky city again.

"And all through the afternoon you will wonder if it will ever be supper time and bedtime and if your hand can possibly hold out until you have got the end of the line. You will be tired, but you will be so well that you will pause now and then to wonder what you would do if you only had as much of everything else as you have of health."

The farmers of the corn belt should get together, as other interests do, and advertise the attractions of husking.

TO MAKE JIU JITSU A SPORT

With This End In View Clevelander Will Go to Japan.

A. Muehlhauser, a Cleveland jiu jitsu expert who has jiu jitsued 2,000 men at least in the encounters he has had, is to make a pilgrimage to Japan with the intention of meeting the leading wrestlers there and introducing the Japanese to his method of using their art, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He considers that in the line of sport he is a more advanced student than the fathers of the system and will try to inject the element of sport into their work.

As demonstrated by the Japs now jiu jitsu is a system of self defense rather than of sport. Muehlhauser has demonstrated it in Cleveland as an athletic exercise or a system of physical culture. It is this difference of view which accounts for the failure of the brown men to show what they claimed in their contests in Cleveland.

"Accepting the Jap proposition that jiu jitsu is not wrestling, but a way to disable an antagonist," said Muehlhauser, "in an unrestricted scrap of their kind an American would not be in it. How big or how strong a man is doesn't matter—in fact, the bigger or stronger the antagonist the easier it is to throw him by jiu jitsu. But on a wrestling mat it is different. The Jap can only use leg work. His is a system of setting traps, and about eighty-five of his trick holds require a kimono to work them. If you dress as they wish they have it on you at the start."

NOVELTY IN "DRUMMING."

Their Wives Now Accompany Traveling Men on Long Trips.

"The size of America is changing the habits of traveling salesmen," said John Molloy, chief clerk at the Baltimore in Kansas City, Mo., the other day to a Kansas City reporter. "It isn't so long ago that a traveling man would have thought you mad had you asked him why he hadn't brought his wife, but an increasing number of traveling men now bring their wives with them on their long trips through from east to west.

"A man will sometimes be away for eight or ten months at a time, and his home is just wherever he happens to be. Hotels provide certain courtesies to the wives, and the salesmen are availing themselves of them in large numbers every year. Salesmen tell me that they cover their territories more thoroughly as a result of the new custom. They are not so anxious to get back home."

An Automobile Street Sweeper.

A recent European invention that now is being brought to the attention of municipal authorities is an automobile street sweeping and watering machine, says Harper's Weekly. This device, which has been tried in Paris with some success, consists of a large automobile truck fitted with a tank having a capacity of 470 gallons of water. There is a twelve horsepower motor, which can use as fuel either gasoline, kerosene or alcohol and to which by bevel gearing is connected a rotary brush fixed diagonally across the frame of the vehicle. In front of this brush it is possible to discharge a variable amount of water to lay the dust, which is then swept to one side, while there are two discharge pipes at the rear pierced with fine holes from which water may be sprayed over a width of street of twenty feet. The new machine can accomplish as much as six street cleaners and several horse water carts, and its use involves considerable saving in labor.

A Man Without Flaw.

A WONDERFUL fellow was he whom I sing,
So courteous, manly and clever,
Who scorned to retort with a sarcastic fling
And spoke with cold irony never.
Though of course you have ne'er with this paragon met,
Since he lives in a past that's been buried,
His virtues you're never allowed to forget—
The man whom your wife might have married.

He never spoke crossly, he never complained
When things weren't in apple pie order,
And when she was worn, languid, nervous or pained
He sat on anxiety's border.
Her wish was to him inexorable law
And her cares on his shoulders he carried—
You've been taught to believe that he hadn't a flaw—
The man whom your wife might have married.

He was gifted indeed; he could both play and sing,
And he sketched with the art of a master;
He could fashion a verse of most metrical swing
Or carve bas-reliefs out of plaster.
Since you've often been thrilled when, in pets, she'd repeat
His list of accomplishments varied,
What a pity it is that you can't hope to meet
The man whom your wife might have married.

—Roy Farrell Greene in New York Press.

His Trouble.

Teacher (angrily)—Why don't you answer my question, William?

His Brother Sam (answering for him)—He can't, ma'am. He's got a pep permint in his speech.

Described.

Little Clarence—Pa, what is a boar hound?

Mr. Callipers—A bore hound, my son, is an exceedingly unfortunate dog belonging to a man who is the father of a bright baby, or has the dyspepsia, or is the second cousin of a great man, or once caught a big fish, or is in love, or expects to do something of importance after awhile, or thinks himself a logical candidate for something, or has just returned from abroad, or knows how to cure the grip, or is going to write a play, or persists in talking about himself when I want to talk about myself. —Tom Watson's Magazine.

Janey's Explanation.

"What's your standing in school now, Janey?"

"I'm at the foot of the class, please ma'am."

"At the foot of the class? Dear me. And why are you at the foot of the class, Janey?"

"Because I'm so meek an' humble, ma'am. Somebody has to be at the foot of the class, an' why not me?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Acquiring Knowledge.

Dumley—The lady in the other part of the house is learning to play the piano, her husband is struggling with the violin, I have a daughter who is studying the organ and a boy who is learning the banjo, and—

Chumley—What are you learning?

Dumley—Oh, I'm learning to get used to it.—Black and White.

Woman's Aim.

Dick—I am surprised that you told Katharine to throw kisses at Reggy Sapp when you are around.

Tom—Why not? Women can't throw straight, and when she aims them at Reggy they come toward me.—Detroit Tribune.

An Optimist.

"What's an optimist, papa?"

"An optimist is a man who can say everything's for the best with a note due and a boil on his neck."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Railroad Difficulty.

Reporter—Have you fixed the blame for that last accident?

Railroad Official—N-o, not one of the injured trainmen is dead enough to blame it on yet.—New York Weekly.

Made Sieve of Negro's Body

Athens, Ala., Dec. 29.—Alex McDonald, a negro, who attempted the life of Policeman Nichols at Elkmont, injuring him slightly, was pursued by a mob and brought back to the town with a rope around his neck and his body riddled with more than 100 bullets

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

EIGHTEENTH YEAR OF CITY.

Mayor James Thompson will again Take the Oath, But City Council Will Have New President and a New City Auditor.

Program for The Inaugural Day Ceremonies

MAYOR THOMPSON.

The ceremonies of the inauguration of the City Government of 1906 will not differ from those of other years.

As the hour of 12 approaches on Monday next the Mayor preceded by the City Messenger, City Clerk and Chaplain of the day Rev. William E. Gardner will enter the Council Chamber by the rear entrance.

The City Clerk will preside until after the City Council is organized. After prayer by the chaplain the City Clerk will administer the oath of office to Mayor James Thompson. He will then call the roll of the Council and administer the oath of office to them.

The Mayor will then be introduced and will deliver his inaugural address.

The City Council will then proceed to organize by the election of a president, clerk of council and clerk of committees, a city messenger and a city auditor.

The members will then draw for seats. It is customary for the old members to retain the seats they occupied last year.

The Council will then proceed with the regular order of business.

At this meeting it is customary to offer an order for the printing of the Mayor's inaugural and of the rules of the Council, and to authorize the borrowing of money in anticipation of taxes for current expenses.

There is also a member of the board of Managers of the Woodward Fund, and two trustees of the City Hospital to be elected. These are sometimes elected at the first meeting and sometimes it is deferred until the second meeting. They are elected by ballot.

The Mayors of Quincy each year with their politics, and the purality by which they were elected, are given below:

There have been rumors recently that Mayor Thompson would announce his appointments for city officers for 1906 at the inauguration of the new city government next Monday. His honor when seen yesterday said that there was no foundation for the rumor.

The Daily Ledger makes a few interesting comparisons between the new Council and the old Councils below. Where the Council of 1904 had only 3 new members the Council of 1905 had 11, and the new Council 13.

YEARS OF SERVICE.

	1906	1905	1904
First Year,	13	11	3
Second Year,	4	2	8
Third Year,	1	3	3
Fourth Year,	1	2	6
Fifth Year,	2	3	2
Sixth Year,	1	2	1
Seventh Year,	1	0	0

The members of the City Council of 1906 average younger in years than two previous Councils, but it is a difference of only a few months. The aggregate number of years of the new Council is 870 against 886 in 1905 and 885 in 1904, making the average for 1906 under 38 years, where it was a little over in the other years.

Councilman-elect McGilvray will be the youngest member, being only 22 years, while Councilman Spargo continues as the oldest and is one year older than a year ago.

50 to 60 Years,	2	1	2
Over 60 Years,	1	1	1
Aggregate Years,	870	886	855

A surprisingly small number of the new Council are Quincy born—only three of the 23—but 14 are Massachusetts born as in 1905. Seven were born outside of New England, and two of this number in foreign countries.

COUNCILMAN WILLIAM T. SPARGO.

Councilman Spargo, who returns to the City Council of 1906 for his fourth term, is one of the best known citizens of Ward Three, where he carries on an extensive granite business. Mr. Spargo was first elected to the City Council of 1901. He retired from service at the end of that year, and did not again enter the field until the fall of 1903, when at the earnest solicitation of his friends he again consented to become a candidate. He was elected and served with credit to himself and his ward in the Council of 1904 and again in 1905. Mr. Spargo was born in Cornwall, England, Nov. 18, 1841, and is therefore the oldest member in point of years in the new Council.

Considerable information relative to the make-up of the City Council of 1905 is contained in the summary below:

MADDISON M. CANNON.

One of the new members of the City Council of 1906 from Ward One was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1873. He received his early education in the public schools in his native place and at the Polytechnic Institute in Brooklyn and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston. In 1894 he went to Gloucester where he established himself as a civil engineer, remaining there until 1901 when he accepted a position with the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. as civil engineer where he is still employed.

The office of Councilman is his first public office, and his knowledge of Civil engineering should make him a valuable member of the City Council of 1906. He is married and resides at No. 29 Spear street.

GEORGE HUNTER

Is one of the new members from Ward Three. His nomination and election to the City Council was not of his own seeking, but he was put forward by the citizens of the ward who saw in him good City Council timber.

Mr. Hunter was born in Halifax, N. S., Aug. 24, 1858, and came to Quincy in 1885. His education he obtained in the public schools of his native town.

Since residing in Quincy he has been engaged in the granite business, and is now foreman of one of the largest quarries in the city. He is a member of Clan McGregor, O. S. C.; Quincy lodge, L. O. L., also the Manchester Unity, I. O. O. F.

BOSTON BROKERS FAIL

Hundreds of Creditors In New England and Canada

Boston, Dec. 30.—The recent boom in copper stocks on the Boston Stock Exchange, when prices went up in bounds, was an important contributing cause to the assignment of the stock brokerage firm of H. R. Leighton & Co. Although the firm is not a member of any stock exchanges, it has some 40 branch offices, all but three of them in New England. The outside offices are at Montreal, Halifax and St. John.

The assignee is Charles E. Allen of this city. In a statement the firm declares that the suspension was due to the failure of a member of the Boston Stock Exchange to meet his obligation to the company and to outstanding investments—in coppers to a greater or less extent—upon which necessary money could not be realized. There are several hundred creditors scattered throughout New England and Canada.

Assignee Allen says that he hopes to have the affairs of the company straightened out soon. The firm is a West Virginia corporation, organized in 1902 with a capital of $50,000. G. L. Babcock is president and H. R. Leighton secretary and treasurer.

No official statement of liabilities and assets of the firm has been issued, but it is thought that the liabilities amount to about $500,000.

Attempt to Burn Barracks

Newport, R. I., Dec. 30.—A sergeant discovered bundles of inflammable material in holes which had been made in the walls of the barracks used by the Eleventh siege battery company. One of these bundles had been set on fire and a further search disclosed a large bundle of oil-soaked rags and clothing in the attic of the building. The fire was extinguished without difficulty. The company came to Fort Adams from Fort Hamilton, N. Y. The barracks at the last named fort were burned while the company was stationed there and it has now developed that wihtin a few days several attempts have been made to burn the sleeping quarters of the men at Fort Adams.

SHE WAS UNHAPPY

Mrs Chase Confided Troubles to Her Friend

IN FEAR OF VIOLENCE

Said That If She Met With Sudden Death "Something Would Be Wrong"--Adoption of Doctor's Son Was Compulsory

Salem, Mass., Dec. 30.—The most sensational testimony which has yet been introduced in the Essex probate court in connection with the protested will of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase, was given by Mrs. Mary E. Trask, a dressmaker of Boston, and an intimate friend of Mrs. Chase.

According to Mrs. Trask, Mrs. Chase visited her frequently and freely discussed her family troubles, and on more than one occasion expressed a fear of violence at the hands of Dr. Horace Chase, her husband, and the father of her adopted son. Less than a week before her death Mrs. Chase visited the apartments of Mrs. Trask in Boston and at that time she informed her friend that if she met with a sudden death "something would be wrong." She also said that Dr. Chase had said he would kill her if he dared.

Mrs. Trask corroborated the testimony of previous witnesses in regard to Mrs. Chase's professed dislike for her husband's son. Mrs. Chase, the witness said, had told her many times that she had adopted the boy only because Dr. Chase compelled her to do so.

"She told me she had had trouble with her first husband," said Mrs. Trask, "and she did not want to have any with this one. The doctor, she said, had given her just one week to make up her mind to adopt his son and threatened to leave her otherwise. She said, 'I told him he was making a lash for his own back when he made me do this thing.'

"She said she did not care for the boy at all, and she said she felt bitterly at the time of the adoption. She also said that she simply could not stand another scandal, and at the same time she felt the adoption of a man only nine years younger than herself was such a foolish thing she should die on account of it.

"She once said that she had asked the doctor whether he had married her for mercenary reasons. She said he said he had not, and that as long as the estate on her death would go to her brothers she ought to see that he had not."

Mrs. Trask said she visited the Chase home in Swampscott on the day following the death of Mrs. Chase, but at that time Dr. Chase said that double pneumonia had caused the death of his wife. Nothing was said at that time about Mrs. Chase's death being caused by gas poisoning or about suicide.

Leonard H. Phillips, a brother of Mrs. Chase, testified that the members of his family were not aware that the death of Mrs. Chase had been attended by unusual circumstances until a week after her death. News of the death of Mrs. Chase was not communicated to the Phillips family until the night following the incident.

Dr. Chase was on the witness stand for two brief periods during the day, but his testimony was not of great importance.

Boon to Business Men

Washington, Dec. 30.—Through an important change in railway mail schedules the time of mail in transit between New York and San Francisco westbound, and between the same points eastbound, will be reduced practically 24 hours. From a postal standpoint it is regarded as one of the most important changes in railway mail schedules that has occurred in many years, affecting all points in the east having business with points west of the Missouri river. It becomes effective on Dec. 31.

Confidence In Business World

New York, Dec. 30.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that unseasonably mild weather accentuated the customary holiday week dullness in distribution of staple merchandise, but confidence regarding the future is more pronounced. Outdoor work is facilitated by the high temperature and lack of snow, making the year's total of building operations even greater than the most sanguine expectations.

Nordica Puts Out a Fire

New York, Dec. 30.—Mme. Lillian Nordica was given an ovation by a large audience at the Metropolitan opera house when she coolly stamped out a blaze on the stage near the footlights during a performance of "Gotterdammerung." Burning oil spilled from one of the chorus women's torches and set fire to the stage carpeting.

Rand to Leave Jerome's Staff

New York, Dec. 30.—District Attorney Jerome last night announced a number of changes on his staff, to go into effect Jan. 1. The most important retirement is that of Assistant District Attorney Rand, who handled the Nan Patterson and Abraham H. Hummel cases.

Morale's Whereabouts Unknown

San Domingo, Dec. 30.—The United States gunboat Dubuque has arrived here. The whereabouts of President Morales are as yet unknown. The city and vicinity are quiet. Business is dull and a feeling of unrest prevails. Several arrests have been made.

LIFE INSURANCE CLUB

Organized In Opposition to the Larger Companies

New York, Dec. 30.—With the adjournment of the legislative committee on insurance investigation last night the investigation of the last of the old line companies was completed. The last old line company taken up was the Life Insurance club of New York. This appeared to be a system of securing insurance without agents. In the examination of its president, Robert Wightman, it was brought out that the system is antagonistic to the larger companies.

The system seems to have originated with Wightman and he first put it into operation as an agent of the New York Life Insurance company. Subsequently his contract was abrogated by this company and he went with a Pittsburg company, where he said he did more business. He then organized this club and said the larger companies forced him to do it by a combination to keep his advertising out of the magazines. The Life Insurance club was organized about a year ago, and its first advertising appeared in November, 1905.

Sequel to an Elopement

St. Louis, Dec. 30.—Lieutenant Edward Scharrer of Stuttgart, Germany, and Miss Wilhelmina Busch, daughter of Adolphus Busch, the brewer, will be married in the near future at the Busch mansion here. Scharrer and Miss Busch eloped Wednesday night to Belleville, Ills., but they were unable to secure a marriage license at the late hour. Miss Busch telephoned to her father, who replied that if she intended to be married to come back to St. Louis and be married at home. Thereupon Miss Busch and the lieutenant returned to Busch's home.

Joke Cost a Student's Life

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 30.—Several students of Notre Dame university last night planned a mimic hold-up of a friend, expecting him to pass a certain point where they lay in wait. Louis Roquela, a student, came along, and the students, thinking him their victim, ordered him to hold up his hands. Instead, Roquela drew a revolver and fired. The bullet struck Claude A. Bagby and he died in five minutes. Roquela is crushed over the affair, although he supposed the attack on him to be genuine and acted on the defensive.

Franco and Venezuela

Washington, Dec. 30.—The French ambassador has received a dispatch from his government, which, while denying the report that an ultimatum has been sent to Venezuela, adds that the only negotiations now pending between the two countries are in the hands of Mr. Russell, the American minister to Caracas, and these relate to the withdrawal of the note concerning M. Taigny, the French representative, which the latter's government considered offensive.

Preliminary Court Established

Boston, Dec. 30.—District Attorney Moran claims it is the true function of a public prosecutor to sift the evidence beforehand in order to save the court all the trouble and expense possible. In the past three weeks the new district attorney has personally investigated 489 cases and finally disposed of 200 of them, while but 24 were tried in open court during that time. Of the cases investigated 45 were nol prossed.

Elevated Car Caught Fire

New York, Dec. 30.—Burning insulation on a subway train running 50 feet in the air along the Broadway viaduct created some excitement among the passengers last night and resulted in a serious delay in traffic caused by the shutting off of the electric current. A short circuit caused the blaze, which started among the wires under the body of a copper-sheathed car, which was not badly damaged.

Roundup of Alleged Fakes

New York, Dec. 30.—A spectacular raid was made by detectives on the headquarters of a gang of alleged wire-tapper swindlers in a double parlor apartment of a hotel. The raiding party took 16 prisoners and seized a quantity of racing paraphernalia, a telephone with dry battery connection and cards announcing the New Orleans racing entries.

Higher Wages For Railway Men

New York, Dec. 30.—The Interborough Rapid Transit company, which operates the subway and elevated railroads of New York city, announces an increase in the pay of employes, to take effect Jan. 1. Train clerks, starters and ticket choppers, who work 12 hours a day, will, after Jan. 1, be given two days off with pay each month.

Two Negroes Hanged

Gadsden, Ala., Dec. 30.—Jack Hunter and Vance Garner, negroes, were hanged here for the murder of Mrs. Jane Smith, a white woman, who was assaulted and killed in this city last spring. Will Johnson, convicted of the same crime, was reprieved by the governor until Feb. 9, pending the examination of later evidence.

A Ten Percent Advance

Providence, Dec. 30.—Beginning Jan. 1, an increase in wages will go into effect in several departments of the Earnscliffe woolen mill. The Earnscliffe mill did not cut wages at the time of the general reduction several years ago.

STRIKE A FAILURE

Hopelessness of Russian Conflict Is Apparent

END OF MOSCOW REVOLT

Government Will Now Endeavor to Suppress Uprising In Baltic Provinces--Land-Hungry Peasants May Rise

St. Petersburg, Dec. 30.—The suppression of the insurrection at Moscow and the certainty that similar uprisings elsewhere will be crushed mark the collapse of the first attempt of the "reds" to overthrow the government arms and administers a defeat from which it is not believed in government circles the revolutionaries can quickly recover.

Now that the smoke of battle is clearing away the utter hoplessness of the conflict seems to be apparent. The populace held aloop and not a single military unit actually joined the revolutionaries. Even the general strike crumbled under their feet by their challenging and precipitating a conflict before the proletariat organizations were prepared.

The government secured a comparatively easy, though ruthless victory, and it is believed in official circles that the organizations have been so demoralized and disrupted by the blow and by the arrest of their most able leaders that it will be impossible for them to attempt the coup planned for the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday."

In desperation, undoubtedly, the revolutionaries will again have recourse to acts of terror which they will spring at the most unexpected moment.

The country has quieted down and the cabinet now hopes that the elections to the douma are assured and that the government can devote its time to the suppression of the revolt in the Baltic provinces, and more especially to the solution of the agrarian question.

If means cannot be found to in some measure satisfy the land-hunger of the peasants before the spring, the universal opinion is that the peasants everywhere will rise. The landed proprietors seem to be convinced of this to such an extent that the landlords in the neighborhood of Minsk are calling their tenants together and are voluntarily arranging the distribution of a portion of their private holdings upon terms satisfactory to the peasants.

Calls For Final Struggle

St. Petersburg, Dec. 30.—Peter Struve, editor of The Osvobojdenie (Emancipation), publishes a ringing article in which he admits the defeat of the attempt aimed at the overthrow of the government. He says the attempt of course was madness and was bound to be extinguished in blood. Nevertheless, he says, there was a heroic spirit behind it which should terrify the government. "Another such victory and the government is lost," says Struve, who summons all the forces of emancipation to bury their dissensions and to unite in a final struggle.

Telegraph Service Resumed

Warsaw, Dec. 30.—The chief of the postal telegraph bureau says that the regular service has been resumed. During the last few days 600 Socialists have been arrested. There was some rioting yesterday, during which the troops frustrated attempts to build barricades.

Work Resumed at Moscow

Moscow, Dec. 30.—Work has been resumed in most of the factories. The town council is organizing a system for the relief of the families of the victims of the recent disturbances.

Revolutionaries' Plea

Riga, Dec. 30.—The revolutionaries are posting placards in five languages, ordering the inhabitants to disarm the police and soldiers and to barricade the town.

Woman Dead and Husband Dying

Woodsville, N. H., Dec. 30.—Mrs. Albert Craig died here from the effects of severe burns received in the overturning of a lighted kerosene lamp. Her husband was also terribly burned in an attempt to smother the flames, and there is almost no chance of his recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Craig were about 60 years old.

Job For an "American Citizen"

New York, Dec. 30.—General Theodore A. Bingham of the United States regular army called on Mayor McClellan, who had offered to appoint him as police commissioner of New York city. He has the offer under consideration and expects to give his answer today. General Bingham says he is neither a Republican or a Democrat, but an American citizen.

Bryan Disappoints Filipinos

Manila, Dec. 30.—Filipinos who spoke at the banquet given to W. J. Bryan demanded the immediate independence of the islands and said they were looking to him to champion their cause with the American people. Bryan, in his response, made no promises and the natives were disappointed.

Woman's Head Almost Severed

New York, Dec. 30.—Lizzie Nelson, a negro woman, 30 years old, was murdered in a room in her apartment last night and William Nelson, 40 years old, also a negro, is under arrest, charged with the crime. The woman's head was nearly severed from her body with a razor.

An Annual Reckoning

A New Year's Story

By HOWARD FIELDING

Copyright, 1904, by Charles W. Hooke

ON the first day of every year I quarrel with Sir Robert Denning. This is inevitable; it has become a habit. I quarrel with that man on other days also, but they have no settled places in the calendar. The 1st of January, however, is a date that can be depended upon in this matter.

I am a conservative by the decree of nature; I have a fondness for old customs and observances. For instance, I make good resolutions on New Year's day, and one of them always relates to Sir Robert Denning. I resolve to get the better of him and to make an end of the violent and bitter controversy between us.

I will explain as briefly as possible my grievance against Sir Robert. If told in full the story would be long and would involve many wrongs which I shall not mention here. I will try to make the whole matter comprehensible by relating only the pitiful romance in which Sir Robert and Sylvia Mayne and Arthur Tyrrell were the principal characters. This takes me back to the time when Sir Robert was living in the town of Barlock, near Birmingham, England, before he came to America. I have never been in England and have not had an accurate description of Barlock, but I know what happened there. It was in the highest degree important to me.

Robert Denning inherited from his father the remnant of a considerable fortune, including a controlling interest in a bank. The bank was in a bad way and threatened to involve the whole estate in disaster, but Robert put its affairs to rights within one year after he took charge of it, for he was a much better business man than his father had been. The two had differed radically upon questions of business policy, and they were estranged at the time of the elder Denning's death.

One of Robert's first administrative acts was to demand the resignation of the bank's cashier, who was old and somewhat feeble and would have withdrawn voluntarily except that he had a wish to toil a few weeks more and round out forty years of service. Besides, there was the matter of a pension which he had been led to expect, but did not get. On the day when he was finally compelled to yield his place to a more serviceable man he said to Robert by way of farewell:

"You're a great man o' business, a grand man o' business. You've done much for this bank already, and I'll not deny it. But the best thing you've done for it by long odds was worrying your old, incompetent father into his grave."

I can imagine Robert's amazement and righteous indignation. He never was able to believe that any person was sincere in accusing him of wrong. His rectitude was in his own eyes the fundamental certainty which must be obvious to all men. It could not be questioned except from dishonest motives or mere spite, as in the present instance.

Robert would never argue with a dishonest man nor deign to defend himself from the assaults of malice, and of course it was beneath his dignity to quarrel with a discharged employee. Therefore to the charge that he had killed his father he replied with a cold statement of a general truth, as was his custom in such cases.

"A man is better dead than bankrupt," said he and turned his back upon the old cashier.

Though he loved money, Robert was no miser. He lived in fine style and would pay the price of anything that he desired. He bought shrewdly, but never grudgingly, and he knew how to make a pound worth two by having it ready at a moment's notice. A prompt loan to a man of exalted station paved the way to knighthood, and the banker became Sir Robert when he was about thirty years old.

In Sir Robert's house there dwelt somewhat less than a dozen poor relations. They were a part of the young man's inheritance from his father, and the only portion which decreased as the result of improved management. All the men among them eventually went to work and found another abode. The old maids and widows remained, and one young girl named Sylvia Mayne, who was very distantly related to the Dennings.

In Barlock there lived an engaging young man named Arthur Tyrrell. He was a great student in a cheerful, haphazard fashion, and his conversation was adorned with bright blossoms gathered from among the wild weeds which the world calls knowledge. He extracted sense from philosophy and human nature from history. He was a cultivated musician who loved melody. He had written a novel as whimsical as life.

Tyrrell had a small property, and his various artistic occupations yielded him some income, yet he was always in pecuniary trouble. His name would always be turning up on a bit of paper, and he would be asked to pay money which he did not have.

A note of Tyrrell's went to protest at the bank one day, and, though he made the amount good at a great sacrifice, he could not re-establish his credit with Sir Robert, wherefore all whom he owed began to press him most unmercifully.

He grew to be a typical sinner whose name was serviceable for illustration when Sir Robert addressed the old maids and widows and Sylvia Mayne upon the proper conduct of life. Sylvia was then eighteen, and she knew no more about money matters than the bushmen know about the geometry of X dimensions. She knew Tyrrell, however, and thought him the most agreeable man in Barlock. Her ideals of personal beauty were thoroughly satisfied by Tyrrell's bright blue eyes and yellow hair, by his grace and manliness and courtly bearing. It was a great surprise to her to learn that he was not a good man. Her notions of evil were based chiefly upon the dishonesty of two servants in the house who had stolen silverware and had been sent to prison and upon her observation of certain shifty eyed tricksters who kept little stores in Barlock. Certainly Mr. Tyrrell was not like these.

Sylvia's moral training had savored of Puritanism, and she had been taught that evil is attractive and good repellent. Her own experience had not seemed to justify this doctrine until the case of Arthur Tyrrell offered proof conclusive that the gloomier view of the world was the true one. She confessed to herself that she would never have known that Mr. Tyrrell was a whited sepulcher or a red apple offered by the old serpent that tempted Eve. She had entertained some foolish dreams about him, and she reproached herself for them, for she loved honor and honesty and especially the moral strength which is superior to all temptation.

It was her doubt of Tyrrell's strength which probably turned her away from him. Sir Robert was keen enough to see this, and no doubt he was sincerely glad that Sylvia should have begun to find out what sort of man this fellow Tyrrell really was. It is always easy to accuse an amiable person of weakness and to carry conviction to the mind of a girl who has been taught (and verily believes) that all the virtues are hard as iron.

About this time there was a fever in Barlock and its vicinity for investment in a certain gigantic enterprise. Persons of distinction visited Sir Robert in the interests of this project, and they used his bank in various ways that were profitable to the institution. Personally Sir Robert made a small investment, and upon learning of this all Barlock stood ready to risk its savings. Depositors began to withdraw their money from the bank in order to invest it, and this was undesirable from the banker's point of view. So he stood up boldly among his fellow citizens and said that the great enterprise was speculative and that he could not advise any one to put a penny into it unless he was perfectly willing to lose. Moreover, he called attention to the fact that investors, in addition to the usual risk of loss, ran also the chance of being assessed upon their shares in case of failure. This utterance checked the run on the bank and was repeated by Barlock people, and especially by Sir Robert, after the great venture began to sink toward ruin.

Among those involved in the disaster was Tyrrell, but he had not invested very heavily. He would have escaped utter wreck except for the assessments which Sir Robert had mentioned, and he was among the first to counsel resistance of payment upon the ground that the whole transaction was fraudulent.

At this point Sir Robert's rectitude stood forth sublime. The enterprise could not be fraudulent, because he himself had lent it a measure of sanction. It was speculative, because he himself had said so. The victims should pay their assessments, because he had warned them of the possibility and because he paid his.

"It is a matter of honorable business obligation," said he. "A man must pay his debts."

Sir Robert paid the trifling sums demanded of him, and he did so with a loud noise. Tyrrell protested and tried to draw the others after him, but they feared Sir Robert. Tyrrell could not fight alone nor join in time with the dissatisfied in other cities. The upshot of it was that he went bankrupt. Sir Robert lost £400, which he could well afford.

Tyrrell left Barlock in disgrace and went to London, where, to his own great surprise, he throve. About two years later he returned to his native town to pay the last of his debts there. He came bearing honors which he had won in the larger world and with a heart full of the hope of high achievement. But the hope died in an instant, and the laurels already won turned to dry leaves upon his brow, for the first news he heard in Barlock was that Sylvia's hand was pledged to Sir Robert. The wedding occurred within a few days, and Tyrrell carried a broken heart in his breast when he went back to London.

Five years later, as the result of steadily increasing and irreconcilable differences, Sylvia left her husband's home, never to return. She fled in secret, for thus only could she take her son with her. The letter which she wrote to Sir Robert has come into my hands, and it is one of my most treasured possessions. Therein she states with precision the reasons for her act, reasons which she had stated less calmly perhaps to his face long before.

"You are a dishonest man," she wrote. "You do not pay your debts. Out of ten thousand kinds of obligations justly due you pay but one kind. You pay in money, and upon every other reckoning you are bankrupt.

DECLAIMED BUSINESS PRINCIPLES OVER THE CRADLE.

"I was dependent upon you when I was a child. Your father took me into his house. If I was not there by right I should not have been there at all. I was not old enough to decide. He was the judge. When you came into your inheritance you found me under your roof. You should have sent me away or have done your duty by me. There was no middle course.

"Your duty was to teach me honor and honesty. You taught me dishonor and fraud. You should have shown Christ's world to me, where love and kindness and sympathy are current coin. You showed me only the temple of the money changers before the Master drove them out, and you taught me by act and word that this was the true holy of holies where all good men worshiped."

She then lays bare the sordid life she led with him. For all the outpouring of her mind and heart he paid her only in dross. All his thoughts were of money; all his moral judgments were rendered in terms of money. He could talk of nothing else, think of nothing else and hope for nothing higher.

When their son was born Sir Robert was relieved of a terrible mental strain. He had feared the child might be a girl and worthless for money making, and he had never kept this anxiety secret from her. His sole ambition for his son was that he should follow in his father's footsteps and win the respect of banks. Sir Robert declaimed business principles over the child's cradle and undoubtedly drove his wife into a species of insanity by unceasing reiteration of his low aims and sordid plans for their child.

Her determination that the boy should never give a comprehending ear to his father's instruction was undoubtedly the leading motive for Sylvia's conduct. It is true also that she had learned to understand the fraud that had been practiced upon her in regard to Arthur Tyrrell, as the following passage in the letter proves:

"You would not have forged a deed of Arthur Tyrrell's property and offered it to me for sale, but you did not scruple to forge a character for him and pass it upon me for genuine. You ruined him through a partnership with swindlers, and every act of yours throughout that time was shaped upon the basest and most sordid self interest."

Probably this reference to Tyrrell led Sir Robert to believe that Sylvia had fled to him. Tyrrell was supposed to be in America, and Sir Robert crossed the ocean, vowing vengeance. Tyrrell, who was really in England, heard of these occurrences and promptly followed Sir Robert, but neither of them ever saw Sylvia again or ever saw England, for Sir Robert became involved in business enterprises in the new world and grew much richer here, while Tyrrell died soon after reaching these shores.

As for Sylvia, she lived a quiet life and earned her own bread and her son's. The boy had a childhood full of love, a youth made beautiful by increasing helpfulness to her and a manhood rich in honors. He was not in the least like his father; but, alas for the sad miracle of the pertinacity of sin, his son was unpleasantly reminiscent of Sir Robert, the banker of Barlock, with whom I quarrel once a year, as I said in the beginning.

Why do I quarrel with a man who died so long before I was born? Because he was my great-grandfather, the rascal! None of his actual wealth descended to me, but perhaps I owe my money to him just the same. I have been in the banking business now for twenty-five years, and it seems to suit me. I understand credits. I judge men by their capacity to pay what they owe on the day when it is due, though I can't help knowing that some of them are a long way behind with their more important obligations.

In order to get the better of wretched old Sir Robert, who dwells within me, I make it a practice on the first day of the year to forgive the debt owed to me by a delightfully irresponsible nephew of mine, and it is the more fun because he always thinks I'm not going to do it. He accumulates indebtedness during the year and comes to me in great distress at the end of it. Then rises up old Sir Robert to tell me that this youth can't be honest or he would pay his debts, and I have to call upon the gentle spirit of Sylvia Mayne to set me right. The boy is honest enough, but he doesn't understand money; that's all. Perhaps I've spoiled him by lending him so much. In that case I owe him reparation. I must make the young rascal a sufficient annual allowance and thus pay my debt to him.

$60,000,000 OF DEPOSITS

Trust Company Did Not Have Dollar in Cash In Vaults

Buffalo, Dec. 30.—President Curtis of the New York State Bankers' association created a mild sensation at a meeting of bankers here last night by his criticism of the operations of trust companies in the banking business with practically no reserve. In New York city, he declared, the trust companies have over $1,000,000,000 on deposit and less than 2 percent cash in their vaults.

"The present situation," he said, "is, to say the least, uncomfortable, and is a matter of much concern to those who have studied the subject. Let the banks of the Clearing House fall 2 percent below their customary 25 percent reserve and it is heralded all over the country in large type and a financial crash is propesied."

The last report of the superintendent of banking, he said, showed that one large trust company in New York had nearly $60,000,000 of deposits and did not have one dollar of cash in its vaults. It is true, he added, this company had a large bank account, but this money left on deposit must be invested.

Resolutions were adopted declaring the failure of trust companies which conduct a banking business to maintain a proper reserve to be a menace to the business community.

Bequest to Dog, Parrot and Birds

New York, Dec. 30.—Cecilia A. Wolsey, formerly a performer on the vaudeville stage under the name of Lillian Western, who died a week ago, bequeathed $15,000 for the care of her dog, parrot and a cage of love birds. Harriet E. Gates is charged with the care of the animals and Miss Wolsey's will provided that she shall have the use of $15,000 for that purpose. After the death of Mrs. Gates the remainder of the money will go to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to care for Miss Wolsey's pets if they outlive Mrs. Gates and, if not, to care for other homeless animals.

Death of Financier Yerkes

New York, Dec. 30.—Charles T. Yerkes, the noted railway financier, died in his apartments at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, where he had been ill for more than six weeks. Yerkes suffered from a complication of diseases, growing out of a severe cold which he contracted in London early in the fall. Despite statements said to have come earlier in the day from the wife of the capitalist that she would not go to the Waldorf-Astoria, she relented and went to the hotel and was present when he died. This was the first time Mrs. Yerkes had been at the hotel during her husband's illness.

Has Deserted Fiz For Good

St. Paul, Dec. 30.—A special to The Dispatch from Sioux Falls, S. D., says: Mrs. Robert Fitzsimmons, wife of the pugilist, who is alleged to have come here for the purpose of securing a divorce, said: "Bob need not talk of reconciliation to me. I expect he will be here soon and I am willing to talk of compromise in the matter of property, but will never consent again to live with him."

Murder Charge Against Simpson

Northport, L. I., Dec. 30.—At the inquest held here over the body of Bartley T. Horner, who was shot and killed by his son-in-law, Dr. J. W. Simpson, a New York dentist, Simpson was held on the charge of murder and taken at once to prison to await the action of the grand jury. Horner was for years the southern representative of the Lorillard tobacco firms and was worth about $100,000.

Must Consult Universities

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—The intercollegiate football rules committee, after a prolonged discussion here last night, decided that its members had no power to amalgamate with the committee of seven appointed by the New York university conference without first consulting their respective universities. The old committee will communicate with the new committee as soon as possible.

Punishment of Union Slugger

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Five officers of the Carriage and Wagon Workers' union and two hired sluggers last night were found guilty of conspiracy, and all of them will be sent to the penitentiary, unless they are granted new trials. The severest punishment was inflicted on Charles Gilhooley, leader of a gang of sluggers, who was sentenced to the penitentiary and fined $2000.

Squiers' Farewell to Cuba

Havana, Dec. 30.—Herbert G. Squiers, the former American minister to Havana, gave a farewell reception last night on his yacht, the Norseman, which was attended by all the members of the diplomatic corps and their ladies, as well as several hundred American residents of Havana and a few Cuban friends.

Wrestled to a Draw

Cleveland, Dec. 30.—A wrestling match here last night between Tom Jenkins and Dan McLeod, with a limit of half an hour, was declared a draw, neither man getting a fall. Jenkins, however, won $100 because he remained 15 minutes without being thrown.

Tax Contests Won by Quincy

The State House correspondent of the Daily Ledger says:

The State Board of Appeals sat yesterday in its annual capacity, which is one day in the year, as a State board of equalization, to regulate the distribution of corporation taxes between the State and cities and towns. In the first place the State collects the taxes, and then they are distributed to the cities and towns according to the residence of the stockholders.

Certain taxes were held by the State which the assessors of Quincy claimed should go to the city, and the city won in every case. The sums are not named, nor the details of the cases as given out by Treasurer Chapin, who is chairman of the board. But the cases were as follows: John F. O. Wilkins as executor, Adams real estate trust; Mary Cahill as executrix, R. D. Chase in trust for Frank C. Gilbert, R. D. Chase in trust for Jane C. Gilbert, H. E. and C. Theodore Hardwick as trustees, N. S. Hunting as executor for Julia M. Hunting, and lastly, Arthur C. Roberts, the last case being waived.

There was a list of 15 in Milton, where the town won, namely, Henry F. Bigelow, Mary G. Boardman, Elizabeth W. Burgess, Mary Chickering, Robert Saltonstall, J. C. Fairchild, Charles H. Floyd, Mabel Hunt Slater, Mary T. Tucker, Roland Hayward, Alice C. Milliken, Frances A. F. Saltonstall, Elizabeth M. Stone, James Tucker, and Rebecca L. Tucker. One case of the town against Mabel Hunt Slater was lost, and the town of Webster won.

Twenty Fifth Annual Entertainment And Dance of Clan McGregor

One of the annual events looked forward to with thoughts of enjoyment is the annual entertainment and dance of Clan McGregor, O. S. C. The Clan's reputation as royal entertainers is well established, and the twenty-fifth annual held at Music hall last night only added another mark of merit to their reputation.

The custom in other years has been to present a drama. This, however, was omitted this year, and in its place was an entertainment. The program was given under the immediate direction of Chief Alex. Cowe, and that it pleased the large audience present was evinced by the hearty and spontaneous applause that greeted each number.

The doors were thrown open to the public at 7.30 and as the people gathered they were ushered to their seats by Alex T. Black, Angus D. Martin, Norman E. Ross, Alex Michael and John Hutchison.

The entertainment opened at 8 o'clock with a selection by the Granite City orchestra.

Chief Cowe briefly welcomed those present in behalf of the Clan.

The first number was a Highland Reel, which was danced to the music of a bagpipe by Clara Lillie, Jennie Mitchell, Grace McKenzie and Evelyn Cowe. The little misses were dressed in white with plaid sashes over their left shoulders and the graceful manner in which they executed the movements of the dance was a great credit to themselves as well as their instructor, Thomas Mitchell, who accompanied them as piper.

Other numbers on the program included solos by Miss Tina Crawford, Miss Mary C. Ogilvie and Thomas E. Clifford; William Elrick, comedian, and Scottish dancing by Master Thomas Mitchell.

Miss Crawford has a deep, rich and strong contralto voice, and her rendering of the Scottish airs was a treat. She was especially good in her selection "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."

Miss Ogilvie has a well rounded and sweet soprano voice. Her selections were well known Scottish airs, which afforded her ample opportunity to show the range of her voice.

Mr. Crawford's singing was also greatly enjoyed, and it is hardly necessary to add that each of the soloists received encores. They were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Thomas Milne.

Mr. Elrick's reputation as a comedian has long been an established fact, and on this occasion he was at his best.

Master Thomas Mitchell, the champion sword dancer, drew the admiration of the audience. His father was the champion for many years, and now that the father has retired, his laurels are being well sustained by the son.

During the rendering of the program Royal Secretary Peter Kerr was introduced, and he spoke briefly of the organization and what it stood for, the good work it had been doing and urged all to affiliate themselves with it.

Dancing was commenced at 10.30 and continued until 4 o'clock in the morning. The march which opened the dancing was a feature, and was led by floor director John M. Troop and Miss Helen Troup, and was participated in by seventy-five couples.

At midnight, during a brief intermission, refseshments were served.

Home Wedding.

At the home of her parents, 6 Buckley street, West Quincy, Miss Etta L. Beaulieu was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Leslie Wheble of Quincy by Rev. E. N. Hardy of Bethany Congregational church on Wednesday evening, Dec. 27.

The bride was handsomely attired in white taffeta silk and carried bride roses. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Stella Wheble. Miss Harriet Beaulieu a sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Arthur Wheble brother of the groom was best man.

After the ceremony and congratulations, refreshments were served, followed by vocal and instrumental music.

The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheble left amid showers of confetti for their new home at 407 Summer street, Weymouth, where they will be at home to their friends after February first.

More Money Is Probably Necessary for High School Enlargement

From an examination of the bids received for building the additions to the High school, all appear too large to admit of the work being done within the appropriation of $113,000.

At the time this order was passed by the City Council it was believed that the appropriation was more than sufficent, and that there would be a balance on the right side.

Since that time the price of material has advanced considerably, the advance on brick alone being over $1 per 1000.

The lowest bid received was from John E. Locatell & Co., for $109,500. This does not allow anything for architect's fees or supervision, so that it would seem almost necessary to ask the City Council to make an additional appropriation. Just how much more will be needed is a question.

It is extremely unfortunate that work could not be commenced immediately. The weather has been exceptionally favorable, and considerable could have been accomplished.

If the City Council must be asked for more money it will mean a delay, as work cannot be commenced until sufficient money is provided for the complete job.

Young People's Union.

The Young People's Religious Union of First church will meet in the church parlor Sunday evening as 7 o'clock. After the usual praise service Miss Florence Faxon will speak on the "Advantages of a Definite Aim." It is hoped that there will be a large attendance for this is a very practical and interesting subject, and those who have heard Miss Faxon know that an interesting evening is in store for them. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to come.

New Signals.

There have been many inquiries as to what the red and white flags carried on some of the street cars mean, as well as what the meaning is of the pole that has a red band in the white painted space on the stop poles.

Both of course have their uses. The red and white flag on the front end of a car denotes that there is a car following to the same destination. The old method was for the motorman when meeting a car, on a turnout going in the opposite direction, to inform the other motorman that a car was following.

Sometimes the motorman may forget to do this, and then there is likely to be trouble. A motorman meeting a car on a turnout, displaying red and white flags, knows instantly that one or more cars are following the car showing the flag.

The red band on a stop pole means that a car may stop on the opposite side of a crossing. The general rule is that a car must cross a street crossing before coming to a stop. A motorman seeing the red and white marked pole stops his car before he crosses the street crossing.

—The Textile World Record is authority for the statement that the number of new textile mills constructed in the United States during the year was the smallest in five years—amounting to 245, against 290 in 1904, 334 in 1903, 262 in 1902, 255 in 1901, and 400 in 1900. This is considered notworthy in view of the wonderful prosperity prevailing, and is accounted for on the ground of lack of labor, which is so greatly in demand in other lines of industry. It is stated that 20 per cent of the cotton machinery in the South is now idle, simply because help cannot be obtained to operate it.

FOR OUR READERS

The Two Vanrevels

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

Here is a love story to satisfy the most romantic—a real story about people who might have been real; people through whose veins the red blood, stirred alternately by love and hate, surges tumultuously.

"The Two Vanrevels," says a writer, is at least as good as "The Gentleman from Indiana" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" put together, since it combines all the best elements of both books.

And this is saying a whole lot.

Unquestionably the best thing Mr. Tarkington has done. —New York Press.

The merits that recommend Mr. Tarkington's novel are an original and engrossing plot, a romantic daintiness and grace that give its due to dramatic strength, and a well conceived and well developed hero-villain.—New York Mail and Express.

The Two Vanrevels

A powerful love drama full of fire and action

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "The Gentleman from Indiana," "Monsieur Beaucaire," etc.

The Heroine—a beautiful girl just out of a convent school.
Her Father—the wealthiest and most important man in his town, owning half of it.
The Hero—an admirable young American but hated by the heroine's father.
The Villain—the hero's rival for the hand of the heroine.

We need hardly assure our readers, who know the author's reputation, that out of such material he has made a magnificent love story which will fascinate the young and please every member of the household.

The scene is laid in Indiana in the early days of the republic, affording an excellent picture of the manners, customs and clothes of that period.

Delightful story, and adds materially to the success already scored to Booth Tarkington's credit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Who for President?

Mr. Piper Surprised Mr. Bass Confident

The controversy that has developed within a few days over the presidency of the City Council has completely overshadowed all other matters that are to come before the City Council, when it meets for organization next Monday.

It was quite generally understood that there would be a contest for President between President Walter F. Nichols and Councilman Walter E. Piper.

The open letter of President Nichols published yesterday stating that he was not a candidate, together with the announcement that Councilman Lewis Bass, Jr., was a candidate, has put a new aspect on the affair.

It is understood that early in the week a meeting of those favorable to the candidacy of Councilman Piper was held at one of the hotels in City Square. At this meeting it was said that fourteen of the new City Council were present and that two others who were expected were unable to be present.

If favorable these would give Councilman Piper sixteen votes. As but twelve votes are necessary to elect this would appear to give Mr. Piper a strong hold on the office. At this time the only ones mentioned for the office were Councilmen Nichols and Piper.

It is quite generally admitted that President Nichols withdrawing, the logical candidate would be Councilman Bass.

Councilman Piper says that if he had known that Mr. Bass intended to become a candidate that he should not have opposed him, and would not have entered the contest. Not supposing that Mr. Bass was a candidate he had entered the contest and should now stay in to the finish.

As to any trade being made in connection with the office of City Auditor, of which there have been rumors, Councilman Piper branded it as false. He declares emphatically that he has made no trade as to City Auditor, and furthermore had made no promises as to committee appointments if elected.

Whether Councilman Bass can draw any of the supporters from Councilman Piper remains to be seen.

Now that he has entered the contest, Mr. Bass is not letting any grass grow under his feet, and he is pushing all his energy to win out. He says that he believes he has a fair chance of success.

It is generally regretted that such a contest has arisen, which has brought out a strong expression of feeling on the part of President Nichols, for it is for the best interest of the city that the City Council of 1906 should work together harmoniously.

—Railway managers may well feel disheartened over President Roosevelt's suggestion that railway employees are underpaid. But it is difficult to see how the President can expect the railroads to accept a reduced income and at the same time increase expenses by raising the wages of the workmen. One effect of the President's declaration, however, ought to be a halt in the wild advance in prices of some of the railways of the country.—Banker and Tradesman.

—Man has proven to be curiously unfitted for living in a circular room. At the Minot Ledge lighthouse, beds, table, benches, etc., are fitted to the circular shape of the tower in order to economize space, and it is reported that five cases of well-developed insanity with a number of cases of lesser mental trouble have developed among men employed there. The specialists assert that with no angle on which it may rest, the eye roves round until the effect is maddening.—Boston Budget.

Thayer Academy Notes.

The class of 1905 held its first reunion on the evening of Friday Dec. 22. After dinner at Hotel Thorndike the members of the class with Dr. and Mrs. Gallagher attended the Hollis Street theatre. There were present from Harvard,— John T. Beach, Harold B. Bryant, Joseph G. Morrison, and Ferdon Shaw; from Dartmouth,— Thomas A. Fardy, Allison C. Palmer and Howard F. Whipple; from Vassar,— Edith A. Sprague, and Helen T. Waite, and also Clara N. M. Holbrook, and Fred S. Wright.

On Wednesday and Thursday Dr. Gallagher was at the meeting of the Head Masters' Association in New York, where he was to speak Thursday afternoon on the subject to be opened by Pres. Tucker of Dartmouth "The Secondary School as a field for effective moral instruction and braining."

Today at one he is to speak at the meeting of the Alumnae of the Girls Latin school of Boston at the Hotel Vendome and tonight joins in the reunion of the Academy class of 1883 at hotel Buckminster.

There will be a basket ball game in Thayer gymnasium next Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock between Thayer alumni and the regular team.

—Opponents of temperance have gleefully noted the dissatisfaction following the classification of sweet cider with alcoholic drinks, and the attacks on the Boston hotels by District Attorney Moran. In carrying out his ante-election promises, Mr. Moran has gone so far that his prosecution savors of persecution. The hotels, restaurants, and drug stores have all been made to feel his heavy hand, and now the liquor interests anticipate that the pendulum of public opinion will swing to the other side, and that the eleven o'clock law, the law forbidding the sale of intoxicating liquors within a certain distance of schoolhouses, and other temperance measures will be swept away. The legislature may be easily influenced to do these things if the members do not fear their constituents at home. It is for the people of Massachusetts to bring to bear such pressure and influence on their representatives that this danger of retrogression in temperance legislation may be averted.—Somerville Journal.

—It must be hard lines to exist in Wilmington, Del., just now. Owing to the scarcity of water, the town council has forbidden the use of bath tubs for a month at any and all residences in the municipality. What a paradise for the real hobo that place will be during the month.

Very Few Councilmen

J. LEONARD FERGUSON

A new member from Ward Four, was born in Gloucester, and was educated in the public schools of that place and Quincy. He has held many positions of trust and honor in the societies with which he is affiliated. He has also been treasurer and president of the Quincy Clerks' Association and treasurer of the Ward Four Republican Committee. He is at the present time assistant superintendent of one of the largest insurance companies, having charge of Norfolk County. That he is popular has been clearly shown by his election on the Republican ticket in a Democratic ward.

COUNCILMAN POLK

WILLIAM T. DONOVAN

One of the new members of the City Council from Ward Two, was born in that part of Quincy known as Quincy Point, Nov. 29, 1880. He has resided in the house where born and in the next house around the corner all his life.

He attended the Washington school, graduating in 1894. The following September he entered the Quincy High school, graduating from the business course at that school in 1896, at which time he received a certificate for the course.

While at the High school he paid particular attention to stenography and typewriting, and upon graduating secured employment as a stenographer in Boston with a boot and shoe firm. He remained there but a short time when he accepted a position in the real estate office of C. E. Jennings with whom he remained six years, or until February, 1903, at which time he accepted a position in the office of the Inspector of Machinery, U. S. N., at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company's works where he is now employed.

COUNCILMAN SAWYER

WENDELL H. HULL.

The new member of the Council from Ward Five, is one of the popular young men of Wollaston. He takes a deep interest in all matters pertaining to the prosperity of Quincy and his real estate holdings make him a permanent rather than a transient citizen.

He is one of the leading salesmen of the well known men's furnishing house of Simons, Hatch & Whitton Co. of Boston, the largest in America, and this fact gives him a wide acquaintance with business men.

He was with the well known house of March Bros., Pierce & Co. of Boston until their dissolution. At this time he accomplished a truly wonderful sale by placing practically their entire stock.

Mr. Hull was born in 1866 in Essex, Mass., where his father, Dr. William H. Hull, still resides. Councilman Hull was educated at Essex and Boston.

He began business with Brown, Durrell & Co., when at age 19 he became a buyer for one of their departments.

Mr. Hull and his charming wife are both active members of the Wollaston Congregational church. Their only son Charles is now in his third year at the High school. Their beautiful home is a new house number 30 Park street.

Mr. Hull has been very zealous in the enlargement of the High school. All meetings of the Council when this question was liable to come up for discussion or action found him an interested spectator, and he has been eagerly sought by the anxious parents of Ward Five for his opinion, advice or information.

His well known business activity and honesty have blessed his efforts with an ever widening circle of customers. It is perfectly safe to venture the prediction that Mr. Hull will not vote on any of the questions coming before the Council until he thoroughly understands the subject matter.

WILLIAM H. DEACON.

One of the new Ward Three Councilmen was born in England, Nov. 16, 1861, and came to America in 1881. After spending three weeks in New York City he decided to come to Quincy, where he found employment as a granite cutter with the firm of Adam Vogel & Sons. West Quincy, and has ever since made Quincy his home.

Being very much interested in his trade as a granite cutter, he was one of the first to make application to the evening drawing class in 1885 and followed these classes diligently until Jan. 1, 1889, when he started in the granite business on his own account on Center street, under the firm name of Cole & Deacon. In 1892 Mr. Cole retired from the business and Mr. Walter Deacon became interested in the firm, and the name was then changed to

COUNCILMAN DEACON

Deacon Brothers and has been continued under that name ever since.

Although interested in politics for a number of years, this is the first time that Mr. Deacon has aspired to any public office.

OTTO GELOTTE

Who will represent Ward One, is one of the best known of our Swedish residents. He was born in Sweden, June 5, 1871, and came to this country and to Quincy in 1890 and has since been a resident of this city. He has always taken a deep interest in the welfare of the city and has served on the Republican ward committee for several years. He is a safe man to have in the City Council and will weigh carefully all questions before that body. He is employed as a granite cutter which business he has followed for many years.

COUNCILMAN NICHOLS

JOHN MOIR.

Is one of the new Councilmen from Ward Six. He was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, November 2, 1878. At age of four he arrived in Quincy, where he has since resided, and was graduated from the Willard grammar school, West Quincy.

For the past twelve years has been in office of, and is now confidential clerk to Lafayette G. Blair, Esq., a leading member of the Suffolk bar.

Previous to moving to Ward Six a little less than six years ago, he resided in Ward Four. Has always been a Republican in politics. He is unmarried, and resides with parents.

ARTHUR C. BEAL

Although one of the new members, has the distinction of being a Councilman at-large. He has been a resident of Norfolk Downs so called since 1891. He was born in Falmouth and was educated at the public schools of his native place and at Derby academy in Hingham. He learned the printers trade which he has since followed. He has worked at his trade at various places including the Daily Ledger office. Some six years ago he accepted a position as instructor in printing at the Industrial School for Crippled and Deformed Children in Boston where he is now located. The office of Councilman is the first political office he has ever held, although he has been an officer in the fraternal organizations of which he is a member.

COUNCILMAN BEAL

DR. HERMAN W. GROSS

One of the new Ward Two Councilmen, was born in Philadelphia in 1872. In choosing the medical profession for his vocation he followed in the footsteps of his father and grandfather. After completing his school education he entered the University of Pennsylvania, devoting his first two years to the study of biology, and four subsequent years to medicine. He was graduated from the medical school in 1895.

Moving to Boston, immediately after completing his course, he obtained his early hospital experience in the Children's Hospital of Boston and in the Boston City Hospital, receiving diplomas from both institutions.

Early in '98 he located in Brookline, but a few months later was commissioned first lieutenant and assistant surgeon in Sixth Mass. Infantry, U. S. V.

COUNCILMAN GROSS

and served in that capacity until the regiment was mustered out in '99. He was with the Sixth regiment during the Porto Rican campaign of the summer of 1898. After the close of the Spanish American war, he resumed practice in Brookline, continuing until Sept. 1901, when he gave up his Brookline office and accepted the position of assistant resident physician of the Massachusetts General Hospital. This office he held for about two years.

In January, 1904, he moved to Quincy and has since remained here, his chief work at present being in connection with the accident department of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

COUNCILMAN STONE

CHARLES J. McGILVRAY

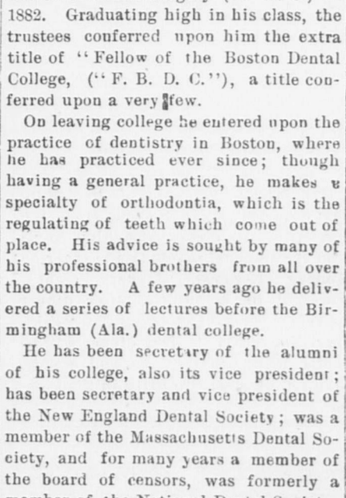

The new Councilman from Ward Four, was born in Quincy, Nov. 26, 1883. He attended the public schools of Quincy and graduated with honors from the Quincy High School, being class orator of the class of 1901.

After leaving High school he studied law in the office of David A. Ellis of Boston and in the evening law school of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association, practically completing the four years course in two years, and prosecuting his studies with such diligence that he was able to pass the bar examination successfully last June. He was admitted to the bar and is now engaged in the practice of his profession with offices in the Board of Trade Building, Boston, and in West Quincy. He is a member of Quincy council, Knights of Columbus, and St. Mary's Total Abstinence Society.

DR. ALFRED H. GILSON.

Is one of the new Councilmen from Ward One. Born in Boston, April 17, 1855. Educated in the primary school on Warren, now called Warrenton street. Then the Quincy grammar school on Tyler street, and later, on account of a change in the ward lines, the Brimmer school on Common street. Then he went to the English High school on Bedford street, where the R. H. White store now stands.

Graduating in 1873, he entered the employ of Fuller and Whitney, civil engineers and surveyors. They were known as the "Back Bay engineers," as they were employed by the Boston Water Power Company, who owned all the water, and marshes bounded by Exeter and Beacon streets, Longwood avenue and the railroad. This section was filled with gravel brought from Brighton and Newton, and is now the residential section of the "Back Bay."

In 1879 he entered the Boston Dental College, graduating with the degree of doctor of dental surgery (D. D. S.) in 1882. Graduating high in his class, the trustees conferred upon him the extra title of "Fellow of the Boston Dental College, ("F. B. D. C."), a title conferred upon a very few.

On leaving college he entered upon the practice of dentistry in Boston, where he has practiced ever since; though having a general practice, he makes a specialty of orthodontia, which is the regulating of teeth which come out of place. His advice is sought by many of his professional brothers from all over the country. A few years ago he delivered a series of lectures before the Birmingham (Ala.) dental college.

He has been secretary of the alumni of his college, also its vice president; has been secretary and vice president of the New England Dental Society; was a member of the Massachusetts Dental Society, and for many years a member of the board of censors, was formerly a member of the National Dental Society, which is composed entirely of members delegated from the State societies; is an honorary member of the Georgia State Society; was one of the organizers of the Brimmer School Association, the oldest of the Boston Grammar School Associations, and has been its president, and for seven years its secretary; is also secretary of the English High School Association.

He has always taken a great interest in the public schools, and was the first private citizen to give a United States flag to a public school to fly over the school house.

Dr. Gilson is one of the few private citizens of this State who holds a commission as justice of the peace and notary public from the hands of the Governor. He is P. M. W., and present recorder of Merry Mount lodge, A. O. U. W., serving for 14 years. Is a past ruler of the R. S. G. F.

Dr. Gilson came to Quincy, 1873, and took up his residence at 6 Linden place, where he has lived ever since. Was married in 1883, to a Quincy young lady, and has a son and daughter, both graduates of the Coddington school; the daughter also from the Woodward, and the son from the High school.

He is a property owner in Wards One d Five.

COUNCILMAN BASS

RALPH W. HOBBS.

One of the new Councilmen from Ward Six, has been a resident of Atlantic, for nine years, and his prominence in some of the hot political contests in Ward 24, Dorchester, and the Tenth Congressional district made him well known previously.

Mr. Hobbs was born in Boston, Nov. 1, 1870, and his business is the management of real estate. He is a property holder of the city, and resides on Clark street with wife and two children.

He is a member of Norfolk Union Lodge of Masons and the Squantum yacht club, also secretary of the Ward Six Republican Committee. As he is an aggressive and ready debater, Ward Six will have a worker in Councilman Hobbs.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put toge her, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

QUEER CONTRACTS

Wasteful Expenditures of Boston's Public Moneys

REPORT OF INVESTIGATOR

Officials Failed In Their Duty and Contractors Were Not Conscientious--Political Patronage at Expense of the City

Boston, Dec. 30.—The report of United States District Attorney French, who, until his recent appointment as federal prosecuting officer, was district attorney for portions of Norfolk and Plymouth counties, and who was retained by Acting Mayor Whelton to investigate the charges of fraud in connection with the contracts for renovating the Back Bay Fens in this city, was made public last night.

Mr. French says in his report: "It may, I think, be confidently asserted, first, that in the execution of this work as a whole there has been a wasteful expenditure of the public moneys; second, that those officers whose duty it was to see that the work was economically and advantageously done have lamentably failed in their duty; third, that, with one or two exceptions, the contracts have not been conscientiously performed by the contractors; fourth, that this form of contract is readily adapted for use as a means of distributing political patronage at the expense of the city; and, I have reason to believe, fifth, that such contracts were resorted to largely for that purpose.

"I am conscious that those who have been expecting a sensation will be disappointed by this report. Nevertheless, I have found a condition of things so serious as to justify a demand for immediate action on the part of those having authority to act in the premises."

Mr. French reports that the city engineer and the street department have aided him in his investigations, but the contractors have not shown him any courtesy. In this connection he says:

"The contractors have not only shown no disposition to help me in respect to this information, but have, for the most part, indicated resentment that I should venture to ask them to co-operate in ascertaining and presenting to the public the true facts bearing upon the matters under investigation. This I cannot help regarding as a most significant circumstance. Failure to give light by those who have the power to do so, particularly when their own conduct in the premises is called in question, is commonly and justly regarded as an admission that there is something to conceal."

Mr. French further reports that certain evidence from outside sources tended to show the existence of a conspiracy on the part of one or more of the contractors with one or more of the city officials to defraud the city. He thereupon stated the case to Chief Shaw of the Massachusetts district police, and asked him to detail two detectives from his staff to assist the district attorney in verifying this information.

"For reasons which seemed to him sufficient and which I have no reason to criticise," says French, "Mr. Shaw refused to comply with my request unless directed to do so by an executive order. I thereupon applied to the governor, who, upon the advice of the attorney general, declined to issue such an order."

The report of French is very exhaustive and gives in detail the findings which have been given above.

Apple Tree as Tombstone

Charlton, Mass., Dec. 30.—While digging here E. L. Barnum found the skeleton of a man about four feet below the surface. The skeleton was face downward, the knees beneath the skull and the feet bones extending backward, indicating that the body had been forced into a small hole. Above the skeleton was an apple tree of about 45 years' growth, the roots growing among the bones. Investigation shows that Frank Knight of Charlton, who went to Worcester in 1860 to buy supplies, has never been seen since.

Summer Pays a Brief Visit

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 30.—This city was visited by an electrical storm of mid-summer proportions last night which caused considerable alarm for several moments. Vivid flashes of lightning were followed by tremendous claps of thunder, which shook the entire city, many buildings trembling on their foundations. Many electric wires became crossed and in the height of the storm the fire bells rang for 10 minutes without a stop. In about half an hour the wind and rain ceased.

New Evidence In Hackett Murder

Readfield, Me., Dec. 30.—After five months' investigation of the murder of Mattie Hackett at Kent's Hill, the authorities now claim to have found new evidence in the case, consisting, it is said, of a statement made by a girl, who says she overheard a conversation between two persons relating to the murder. The statement apparently strengthens the original theory that a woman committed the murder.

Notes Mysteriously Returned

Leominster, Mass., Dec. 30.—As mysteriously as they had disappeared, four demand notes for $5000 each which Francis A. Whitney reported about two weeks ago had been lost were returned to him intact, through the mail, without any word of explanation accompanying them. The package had been mailed at Leominster. No letter accompanied the package and Whitney has no clue to the sender.

Chipman, in a fit of jealousy last night, shot six times at Isidore Monnier, 22 years of age, with whom Mrs. Chipman was playing checkers. The three shots which took effect were inflicted from behind and doubtless will prove fatal. Paquette was arrested.

Biddeford, Me., Dec. 30.—Two men employed in the paint shop of the Saco & Pettee mills are dead as a result of drinking a quantity of wood alcohol. They are Alfred Fortin, aged 46, and Joseph Fecteau, aged 35. The former leaves a widow and one child, the latter a widow and six children.

BOSTON THEATRE.

"Fantana," that merry, mighty musical comedy, which, from its initial performance, has met with unstinted approval at the hands of Boston Theatre audiences, and which played to the largest receipts of any holiday show in Boston on Christmas Day, is rounding out the first half of its engagement at the big New England playhouse. Coming to Boston with its extraordinary record of 350 nights at the Lyric Theatre in New York City, and six months in Chicago, it was a forgone conclusion that the Shubert show would prove one of the greatest treat of the dramatic season in New England. That it has done so is unquestioned. Night after night the Boston Theatre is crowded to the doors, and the enthusiasm of the audiences is announced. Jefferson De Angelis, who heads the Shubert aggregation, and who is recognized everywhere as the peerless prince of comedy, was never so well placed as he is in the role of Hawkins, the Commodore's valet, in "Fantana." He has a particularly able and efficient side partner in Miss Toby Claude, the sweetest, most captivating little bundle of femininity that Boston playgoers have been favored with in many a day. It is a significant fact and one which the public should bear in mind that "Fantana" is to be seen nowhere in New England outside of the Boston Theatre It remains at the Boston a fortnight longer. There are Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The promise of a Dickens drama at the Castle Square Theatre has aroused no little curiosity and expectation. Next week that promise, made at the opening of the present season by the Boston Stage Society, will be fulfilled with the production of a new dramatic version of "Oliver Twist." For many years the pathetic story of the little foundling has awakened the sympathies of novel-readers and play-goers, "Oliver Twist" being among the most popular of all the Dickens stories. It will be produced at the Castle Square in a new version by Comyns Carr written especially for Beerbohm Tree and presented by him with great success at his theatre in London.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

The opening of the New Year at Keith's will be inaugurated with an unusually strong variety program. The topline features of the program will be "The Poster Girls," a clever fantastic conceit, written by James Forbes. The "Sunny South," a song story of Dixie, presented by a clever double sextet of colored singers and dancers, equally divided as to sex and depicting the old-time plantation scenes, is the best act of the sort that ever been put together. The surrounding show is a notable one including several European entertainers and well-known vaudevillians of this country. Prominent on the list are the Pichianis Sisters, a sextet of clever European female acrobats, who work in full dress; Frank Gardner and Lottie Vincent, in a spectacular fansaty.

EMPIRE THEATRE.

The intense interest shown in the production of "The Silver King" at the Empire Theatre has again proved the good judgment of Manager Morison in the arrangement of the season's repertoire. The play has held a prominent place on the English speaking stage for nearly a quarter of a century by reason of its interesting story, well planned scenes and situations, and the opportunities it affords for good dramatic work on the part of all the members of a company engaged in its production. The Empire stock company is well equipped for this sort of dramatic work and the stage departments are all shown to their best advantage in the scenic and mechanical effects called for in the play.
